The Texas Cowboy Reunion Best of All

Stamford, Tex., July 8.—The Texas Cowboy Reunion which closed its annual three day meet here Saturday night was the most successful from all standpoints in the seven year's history of the organization, according to Reunion officials who have just completed a check-up on the 1936 show.

Three semi-cloudy, cool days, ideal weather for a holiday crowd were awarded by the weather man for the event and added materially to the comfort of a capacity crowd that thronged the grandstands and bleachers at nearly every performance, and swelled the attendance by at least twenty per cent over any former year. The record heretofore stood at 55,000 persons for the three days.

Rodeo officials credit the increased attendance to improved facilities for taking care of visitors, to a better and faster performance by the contestants, and to the nationwide publicity that has been given the Texas Centennial Celebrations, of which the Texas Cowboy Reunion was a part. There were many guests here from far-away states, a glance at parked automobiles often revealed license plates from California, Oregon, Illinois, New York and other states just as far distant.

Three rodeo performances daily beginning at 8 o'clock a. m. and lasting until 10 o'clock or later at night, followed by a square dance at the bunkhouse and another dance at the Country Club, in addition to other special features, provided entertainment from early till late for everyone who wanted to put in a full day.

The rodeo had four standard contests that were held every day. These were bronc riding, wild-cow milking, steer riding and calf roping the winners being awarded cash prizes daily. Buck Hawkins, Denton won first money in bronc riding on the opening day, and Dan Wiley of San Angelo was the winner on both the second and third days. Top money to steer riders went to Ralph Ramsey, Strawn; Bob Miller, Albany and Woody Lewis, Eustace, Texas respectively on the first and third days.

In the wild cow milking contest Vaughn Harris, Big Spring, won the money Thursday, followed by Jap Stoker of Breckenridge on Friday, and the Saturday's award went to Vester Parrish, Wingate, who did the job in seventeen and one-fifth seconds. Some speed was likewise shown in the calfroping. Leo Huff of Dora and Sig Faircloth from Ranger divided honors on Saturday with a time of seventeen seconds flat. Lester Durham, Amarillo, won Friday with twenty-one seconds, and Leonard Wright Breckenridge was Thursday's winner on account of twenty one and two-fifths seconds.

In the old timer's calf roping contest Wade Swift, Ranger won with twenty-nine and four-fifths seconds. First prize to the most typical cowboy over 55 years of age went to J. E. Betts of Paducah. Miss Mary Louise Purdon, Stephenville, was first prize winner of Sponsors and was presented with a saddle. Other prize winners were Miss Walter Faye Cowden, Midland; Miss Amie Lee Spires, San Angelo; and Miss Glyn Weatherby, Sweetwater.

A sourdough biscuit contest between chuck wagon cooks was judged by Governor James V. Allred. Richard Bolt, cook for the 6666 outfit tied with Lee Kelly, cook for the SMS Spur outfit for first honors and each received a Stetson hat — gifts of the Governor of Texas.

Attend Funeral of Relatives Fatally Injured in Car Wreck

Mr. Joe Earnest, Judge and Mrs. J. B. Earnest, Roy Earnest and Mrs. Seals Earnest of Spur went to Pontotoc Mason county, Texas, Tuesday after being notified of the death of four relatives in an automobile wreck near Boerne, Texas. The fatalities included Mrs. Ruth Needham and two children, J. F. Needham, Jr., and Roberta Louise Needham age 4 and 2 years respectively, and Mr. Ben Ferguson. The accident also claimed the life of one other, Dr. T. L. Moody head of the Moody Sanitarium at Boerne, Texas. The cars met in head-on collision six miles from Boerne late Monday evening. Ferguson, the little girl and Dr. Moody died instantly. Mrs. Needham and the little boy succumbed to their injuries Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Needham and her children had been spending their vacation at Pontotoc, and had started home in response to word that Mr. Needham had been injured. Ferguson, Mrs. Needham's brother-in-law had volunteered to drive for them, Dr. Moody was driving alone. Eye-witnesses could assign no reason for the terrible accident unless a tire blow-out could have caused one of the cars to swerve into the path of the other.

Mrs. Needham is survived by her husband, J. F. Needham of Freer, Texas, an engineer for the Humble Oil Co., and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Will Bush of Pontotoc.

Ferguson is survived by his wife and two children his parents and several brothers and sisters, among them Aaron Ferguson, of Jayton.

Funeral services for the victims were held Wednesday afternoon at Pontotoc and interment was made in the family cemetery near Pontotoc.

Mr. Earnest and party returned to Jayton Thursday.

We are unable to express the deep feeling of sorrow that this horrible tragedy brings to us. It is beyond words to express. We can only offer our sincerest sympathy and ask the Omnipotent One to spare others including ourselves such a tragic fate.

Bank Failures

In the Comptroller's report for 1934, it was pointed out that during the 12 years from 1921 through 1932, an average of 901 banks, State and National, with average deposits of $407,093,383, closed each year. The record of national bank suspensions constituting actual failures from 1912 up to and including 1929 will be of interest.

During this period 2,430 receivers were appointed. The difference between the number of suspensions representing actual failures and the number of receivers appointed is accounted for by the fact that in some instances it has been necessary to appoint receivers for the purpose of completing unfinished liquidation of banks formerly in voluntary liquidation or enforcing stock assessments against shareholders of banks the collection of which was necessary because of unsatisfied indebtedness of such institutions. Included in such group of non-actual failures are numerous instances of appointment of receivers for banks formerly in conservatorship where partial reorganization were effected prior to such receivers' appointment.

From November, 1932, to March 4, 1933 there were 101 national bank failures, with deposits of $101,676,600. Of the 1,417 national banks unlicensed as of March 16, 1933, at the close of the banking holiday, 334 with deposits at suspension of $679,392,353 were subsequently declared insolvent and placed in receivership as actual failures. In addition to these 334 receiverships, there were but three additional national bank failures, with deposits at suspension of $700,856, from March 16 to October 31, 1933. One national bank closed during the report year 1934 with deposits of $41,950, and four closed during the report year of 1935 with total deposits of $5,398,802.

Culture Club to Present Play Tuesday Night

Members of the Jayton Culture Club will present a one act comedy, "Crazy to Reduce," on next Tuesday evening at 8:00 in the High School Auditorium. The price of admission will be 5c and 15c.

The plot of the play concerns the results of the local newspaper's announcement of a "form" contest the winner of which to be given a leading role in a Hollywood production. When the ladies of Whangville read this announcement they flock to Dr. Liveforever's, (Mrs. T. Jones) Reducing and Developing Emporium to be "fixed up for the contest."

A few interesting characters in the play are the twins, played by Mrs. George Stephens and Mrs. O. W. Coats; Mrs. DuBois Wellington Humphrey Van Dozen, Mrs. C. J. Robinson; Mrs. Tiny Waite, Mrs. Bake Robinson; and the musically inclined trio, Mrs. W. M. McLaurry, Mrs. Marvin Fuller, and Mrs. J. B. Earnest. Others taking part in the production are Mmes. Bill Vencil, George Branch Bonard Cox, Eldon Wade, William Alexander, Tom Jones, and Misses Mary Robinson, Doris Mae Sewalt, and Bess Robinson.

Mrs. William Alexander is directing the play.

The public is cordially invited to attend.

The Democratic Platform

The Democratic platform in striking degree possesses the strength of understanding. Not that it yields or recedes or apologizes. Entirely the contrary. It points forward. It does not rant and strut and swagger, as political declarations are wont to do. In effect it says, calmly and simply and reservedly: "We meant it, and we will keep on from here."

"We have" and "we will continue" recur again and again as the theme. The "net" is, carry on. That tone appears most significantly in the part which deals with the Constitution. No dramatics here. But rather a tone of firm patience.

Dealing in a wide and inclusive way with the nation's problems, such as wages, hours, child labor, working conditions, floods, dust storms, droughts, neutrality, questions of State or Federal approach the platform says in substance:

We have tried, we have met obstacles, we will try again to see whether we can do the job without a change in the Constitution—but do the job we will, and not confine ourselves to the single phase which has been belatedly recognized by the Republican opposition.

To all those who had expected something radical, the Democratic platform of 1936 will be a deep disappointment. It will reassure the great mass of reasonable Americans that the Roosevelt Administration if given four more years of power will yield not an inch in its purpose to restore prosperity and promote the safety and happiness of the people.

Since any political platform is relative, in the sense that it must compete with the platform of the opposition, here is the contrast, as we see it, with the one that was born in Cleveland:

Whereas the Republican platform looked forward with trepidation, backward with longing and sideways with apprehension, the Democratic looks only in one direction — straight ahead along the course already charted.

Whereas the former was full of contradictions, giving the appearance of having been constructed by liberals shoveling in one paragraph and reactionaries the next, there is in the Democratic platform that precious element called unity, than which there is nothing more potent, in literature or in politics.

July 21, Special Day For 6666 Ranch Hands

Fort Worth, July 8.—All present and former hands of the 6666 Ranch of King and Carson Counties are invited to a reunion at the Frontier Centennial July 21, show officials announced Monday.

Arrangements for the special day were made at the request of John C. Burns, trustee and general manager of the S. B. Burnett Estate, through Frank Reeves, Sr., livestock editor of the Star Telegram.

In discussing the designation of a special day, suggested that such a courtesy toward all the larger ranches in Texas would create a great deal of interest in attendance particularly among the old timers and that it would be in keeping with the spirit and purpose of the Centennial.

"I am sure that the employees of these ranches would greatly appreciate such recognition," he added.

Burns also made the point that some of the ranches might have their chuck wagons at the grounds for their particular special day, and each outfit could serve meals to its own ranch hands.

"It would mean a real reunion for many of the old boys of the range to gather around the chuck wagon again and talk about former days on the range," he declared.

$60,000,000 Additional Taxes

The people of Texas have been crying to high heaven for some years about the taxes they are paying to support the State County and Local governments. There has been more written on this subject than any other one subject that has come within the notice of the people. As for talking about HIGH TAXES you can hear it any time you find two or more people discussing the affairs of the country. Reduce taxes has been one long and continuous cry for the past ten years.

But now comes four people running, so they claim, for Governor, and each and all of them weeping and wailing over the folks in Texas who are sixty-five years old and older, whether they are millionaires or financially down and out, claiming each and all of them should be paid by the State of Texas $15 per month pension, and promising the people that if they are elected, this pension will be paid.

To do this thing they are promising to do, would necessitate the collection of sixty million dollars annually by the state of additional taxes. In the first place it is not within the power of the Governor to do this most absurd and impossible thing, which every man and woman who can read knows. Second: $60,000,000 in additional taxes placed upon the camels back, the tax payers of Texas, would be the last straw. Third: If these gentlemen were the kind they should be to fill the governors office they would not attempt to persuade folks to vote for them on such sloppy, slushy, mushy, maudling, misstatement of facts.

The people who pay the taxes are willing to be taxed that the state may care for those who are unable to care for themselves. But what tax payer would be willing to be taxed to pay a pension to anyone who was well able to take care of themselves? You tax payers please think this over. If you believe you should be loaded down with an additional tax to an unknown amount up to sixty million dollars, to pay everyone sixty-five and over in Texas $15 per month then vote for any of the candidates for governor besides Allred, for Allred says "SIXTY-MILLIONS of additional Taxes is beyond the ability of Texas tax payers to pay."

Best Crop Prospects Kent County Ever Had

While we have only been living in Kent county for the past 16 years we have met quite a few persons who have lived here from 30 to 45 years and its not only our opinion but the general opinion of practically everyone that never before in the history of the county since its organization have crop prospects been so good.

We have had almost a perfect season since the beginning of the year. It has rained the kind of rains that were needed and they have come just as they were needed. We have had very few sand storms, and the hot days in June did no damage because we had the moisture to temper them down to where they were just extra good growing days instead of crop burning days.

We are now past the danger of hot winds. We have unlimited moisture in the ground. Tanks and water holes are all full. The crops, look so good, there is no way to compare them with the crops of the past years except to say they are the best ever. Cotton fields planted early are telling that picking will start in August, and other fields planted late tell us there will be cotton to pick in Kent County when "Spring Time Comes Again, Gentle Annie."

There are some farmers who will have maize to head this month, and there are other farmers who will have maize to head in the late fall. Corn fields with roasting ears and other fields planted to June Corn assures us of plenty of corn feed pork for the winter killings. Green pastures, fat cows, fatter calves, and still fatter steers. Nature and God are doing their best for this part of Texas this year and the farmers are taking advantage of the situation and doing all they can to cooperate and bring things to a successful conclusion and the most wonderful harvest we have ever known.

Our county agent is preparing to start a campaign for the building of trench silos among the farmers of the county. It's a splendid idea. With good trench silos the farmers can save all his feed of every kind and should next year prove a short one, they will have no feed worry as the county will make enough this year to supply their need for at least two, if they can only save it and one of the best and cheapest ways to save it is to put it in a trench silo.

7,500 Attend Post July 4th Program

Post, July 5.—Seventy-five hundred attended the Centennial program held at Two Draw Lake Saturday breaking all previous records of any celebration ever held in Post. The Parade was about one-half mile long. It was headed by six cowboys carrying flags representing Texas under six flags. They were followed by J. Wright Moor and his grand daughter and O. B. Kelley, Garza County's first sheriff. There were over 100 cowboys and cowgirls, ages ranging from 3 to 85 years. Mrs. H. C. Wells, the first white woman to be married in Garza County, came from Del Rio to attend.

One of the outstanding floats was a unique log cabin scene. One had a spinning wheel and negro singing old plantation songs. On another was a woman carding cotton.

The Presbyterian Children's Hospital of Korea float was also unique. Baptist Church representation of foreign missions was good. The Methodist float was a replica of the church building and Sunday service in progress.

Graham Chappell School's float carried an old time hill billy band.

The American Legion float was a war scene.

Al Bird had an old time ox cart. The most comical float was that on which Homer McCary and Red Duckworth rode a "bicycle built for tv." The parade was followed by a musical program at the lake which was under the direction of W. F. Pesson. Jay Slaughter was master of ceremonies in the afternoon there were horse roping calf roping and various other entertainments. Novis Rodgers won the trick and fancy roping.

Large Crowd At Girard Rally

We don't know whether you were at Girard, Wednesday night, but if you were not there you missed something that will not come your way again soon in this life, and never in the life to come.

It was open night for seekers after political preferment in Kent county. The array of candidates present was magnificent and the show put on was worth the money. Better than five hundred were present and to say they enjoyed every minute of the time spent with the candidates is only telling the truth.

Rallich Beaver acted as master of ceremonies, and he is a good one. The first party called to the platform was M. A. Darden of Girard who delivered in a few short sentences the welcome address. M. A. is a character and one of the sincerest men in the county. When he says anything he means it and when said welcome to the candidates and welcome to the audience, those present knew it came from his heart.

The first speaker was Hon. Howard Davidson of Rotan, Texas, who was present for the purpose of representing the Governor. But as none of the other candidates for Governor had a speaker present, Mr. Davidson cut his talk short and merely presented the facts that Gov. Allred had a battling average of .800 in spite of the fact that there was an organized opposition to the Governor's program within the legislature directed in part by a previous governor of the state as well as by a disappointed candidate for Governor.

A telegram from Congressman Mahon was read to the audience and was greeted by cheers of the audience. The candidates for District Judge, Messrs Ratliff and Grindstaff presented their claims for the District Judges office, both of whom are good speakers and both received rapt attention of those present and goodly cheers when they concluded their talks.

The candidates for district attorney followed after the candidate for District Judge. Adcock of Kent was the first man to the bat and was followed by Robinson of Haskell who in turn was followed by Chapman of Haskell. These young men are great speakers and supplied considerable entertainment for the audience, and any of them will make for the district a splendid District Attorney.

The main attraction was the candidates for the State Legislature and folks that part of the show was worth the money. Mr. Craddock was the first man to the bat and he spoke for Craddock and not against any other candidate. Harris followed Craddock and Harris is a young man making his first political race and seems to be making good at the job. He has developed into a good campaigner as well as a good speaker. Mr. Merritt followed Harris. Merritt is a fire eater. He goes to the records and turns on the juice and makes folks feel as if they were getting their money's worth. Westfall our present Representative was the last man at the bat. He is a good platform speaker. He stands by his record and tells folks he is proud of it and has nothing to take back.

The speaking ended at about 11 o'clock and all went home happy and glad they were there. Those Girard folks are great people. They are enthusiastic. From the cheering none could tell who made the best impression. We will all know more about it when the votes are counted. But it was a great and good meeting thoroughly enjoyed by all. All parts of Kent County were well represented and many were present from adjoining counties.

Election Day

Just two more weeks and then election day. It is time for the voters to do a little hard, common sense thinking. We should take the moon eyed promises of many candidates and cast them into the trash can and keep faith with those who have kept faith with us, remembering this: "He who promises most as a rule delivers the least." Its easy for the candidate to say - elect me and I will bring the heavens above the sun, moon and stars and lay them at your feet, but the voter would be a blooming sap, who believed him, and voted for him on such promises. Between now and election use your head in order that on election day you will be well qualified to properly use your pencil.

SOAP FOR SQUASH BUGS

Ordinary soap dissolved in water and used as a spray has been found by Mrs. O. C. Lawrence to be an effective remedy for killing squash bugs.

One half pound soap is used to three gallons of water. She says the vines should be sprayed at least three times to kill the young bugs that will hatch out on the vines.

To make the remedy more effective use one teaspoon of kerosene to each gallon of water and be sure to spray under the sides of the leaves. The spraying should be done early in the morning. This spray will not harm the vines.

CYP STAINS REMOVED FROM PORCELAIN

"Yellow stains on porcelain caused by 'gyp' water may be removed by wiping the stain with a few drops of dilute oxalic acid," said Mrs. G. H. Brown of Jayton.

When the stain has been dissolved by the acid, the porcelain should be washed with soapy water. This remedy also removes iron rust stains from tubs and lavatories, caused by leaky faucets.

To dilute the oxalic acid, use equal amounts of acid and water, and pour the acid into the water.
