He was one among 1100 students receiving diplomas during the 1968-69 academic year at New Mexico State University in Commencement Exercises Saturday Night, May 1.

Flag pole at the Girard School has been dug up and moved to the Girard cemetery. Here it is pictured flying one afternoon this week. A funeral of a Girard pioneer had just been held at the Cemetery only a short time before (this picture was taken) (Chronicle Photo).

Group of Jayton school kids are shown here taking a rest from swimming in the local pool. The water was very warm the afternoon this picture was taken. Quite a number of students have been enjoying the pool this summer.

Twenty-two students and teachers from the area served by West Texas Utilities Company attended the 9th Annual Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas in Austin. The conference began on Tuesday, June 3 and ended Friday, June 6.

The Symposium was jointly sponsored by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation and the University of Texas. West Texas Utilities is one of the sponsoring companies for TAERF.

Some 500 selected high school science students and teachers who attended the session enjoyed the rare opportunity of hearing lectures by some of the nation's outstanding nuclear scientists.

The Foundation was formed for the primary purpose of conducting the world's first and largest privately financed research effort in the field of nuclear energy. Currently, the Foundation and General Dynamics Corporation are jointly sponsoring a program in nuclear fusion research aimed at controlling thermonuclear reactions for the production of electric power. Fusion is the energy process of the sun and the stars.

The Foundation was formed for more than just the research program alone. The aim of the Foundation and WTU is to assist in the advancement of the knowledge of nuclear science in Texas schools. Also, they want to bring to students and teachers a realization of the privileges, responsibilities and opportunities which scientific discoveries in the field of nuclear energy present.

WTU has paid all expenses for the 22 students and teachers attending from schools in the area served by the company. Lecturers at the Symposium were chosen from top men in their field. They are from various colleges and universities throughout the country, as well as Gulf General Atomic, Inc. of San Diego, California; Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory, Los Alamos, New Mexico; and Maxfield Clinic and Radiological Center of Dallas.

The Nuclear Science Symposium at the University of Texas was designed to broaden the mind, encourage the study of nuclear science of university life.

There are over 1,000 accredited senior high schools in the State of Texas. Jayton can be justly proud of its high school for having been selected by the University of Texas as one of the 150 high schools in the state invited to send a student and teacher to the Symposium.

THOUGH HIKE NOT REALLY AIMED AT HIM

Prime Rate: John Q. May Pay Anyway

The consumer winced a bit when he heard that banks Monday again had raised the basic interest rate they charge for loans.

The impact wasn't as hard, perhaps, as the first sight of the bite the income surtax took out of the paycheck last year. That bite was clear cut.

But still the consumer wasn't fully consoled when bankers tried to tell him Monday that the increase wasn't aimed at him.

Monday's increase was in the banks' "prime rate" of interest. It was the fifth hike since December. And the one per cent jump Monday boosted the rate — which started in 1934 at 1½ per cent — to another all-time high, 8½ per cent.

Just what the "prime rate" means, why it was increased and how it can affect the consumer is developed in the following questions and answers:

Q. What is the prime rate?

A. This is the interest rate banks charge their biggest and most creditworthy customers.

Q. Who are these customers?

A. Corporations, generally. Giant utilities seeking to expand their operations, or businesses aiming at new growth. And their credit rating must be A-1 quality for the rate.

Q. Does it mean that a loan on a new car or new appliance automatically will go up?

A. No. These consumer rates follow the demands of the market and fluctuate on their own.

Q. Won't this affect mortgages?

A. Not directly. The bulk of home mortgages comes from savings and loan institutions, which don't have a prime rate as such. The savings and loans by law do not operate in the same commercial areas as do banks.

Q. Why did banks raise their prime rate?

A. Other money markets were charging 8½ per cent interest before the banks hiked their prime rate Monday to 8½ per cent from 7½.

Borrowers who normally would obtain funds from the bond market, for example, were turning to banks because they charged only 7½ per cent.

Q. Couldn't the banks have done anything else besides raising their prime rate in order to cut down lending?

A. They could have been more selective in making their loans, but can you see a bank president telling Mr. Ford that his reason for wanting a loan wasn't as good as the reason Mr. General Motors gave?

Q. What happens if some companies still will pay the 8½ per cent, even though others refuse?

A. If borrowing and spending continue to fuel the fires of inflation, it will continue to drive everything up. Thus, the consumer pays,

BRENNAN 'RESIGNS'

High Court Justice Quits As Teacher

Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan Jr. has quit his teaching post at a summer seminar for judges, it was learned Tuesday.

Brennan quit the faculty of the Appellate Judges' Seminar, held annually at New York University since 1956, 10 days to two weeks ago, the director, Prof. Robert Leflar, told a reporter.

Leflar, a University of Arkansas law professor, spoke in a telephone interview from Little Rock.

Subject Of Scrutiny

Leflar said he understood

Brennan is severing all off-the-bench activities "except his membership in his church."

The nonjudicial affiliations of Supreme Court justices has been a subject of scrutiny and controversy since Abe Fortas' relations with the Wolfson Family Foundation were exposed last month. Fortas subsequently quit the court.

The seminar director said Chief Justice-designate Warren E. Burger is scheduled to continue on the faculty this summer.

However, Leflar said, he understood Burger will drop out also if the U.S. Judicial Conference calls for restrictions on such activities.

Curbs Considered

The conference, the 25-member policymaking arm of the federal judiciary, met at the Supreme Court Tuesday on special call of retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren. The judges are considering restrictive curbs on the nonjudicial conduct of federal judges.

Brennan has taught at the seminar each summer since 1958, except for one year when he was abroad. Burger has been on the faculty eight years.

Leflar was unable to say exactly how much expense money has been paid to Brennan and Burger because he said the information was at his university office in Fayetteville.

Payments Estimated
But Leflar estimated Burger received about $2,000 and Brennan "two and possibly three times as much."

The director explained that Brennan taught the full two-week seminar, five days a week, six hours a day, for 10 days, while Burger attended usually for two or three days at a time.

The last two years, Leflar said, he sent Burger $400 rather than have him eat meals and other expenses. Each time, the judge paid $100, saying his expenses were not gone that high, Leflar said.

Refreshers Course

The seminar is a refresher course for state supreme judges and federal appellate judges.

Dean Robert McKay of York University Law School described it as a bar review session, designed partly to discuss and develop judicial techniques and administrative McKay said in a telephone interview that 25 state and four federal judges and from two Canadian provinces will attend this year.

He said the faculty will include Kenneth Diplock of the House of Lords; Justice Kenison of the New Hampshire Supreme Court; Samuel E. Elerts of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court; Walter V. of the Illinois Supreme Court; Chief Judge Roger Tegen of the California Supreme Court; Judge John Minor Wright of the U.S. Circuit Court in Orleans; Leflar and members of the N.Y.U.

Girard POT SHOTS

Pete and Bonnie closed their grocery store Saturday and left for Dayton, Ohio, where they will visit son, Sandon and family for a couple of weeks, then head for parts unknown. Yep, alternatives will miss the grocery store being closed and like a lot of folks we will drift from town to town looking for bargains, might even find a freight line with a twenty mule team freighting groceries from as far away as Waxahatchie. Anyway a little pioneer spirit might be good for the Free State of Kent.

Funeral services were held Thursday in the Girard Baptist Church for Cecil Hagar, 61, a life resident of Kent County. Rev. Lee Hollis Sweetwater and a former pastor of the church here, preached the funeral service, assisted by Bobbie Ted Gallagher, County Judge of Kent Co. The citizens and neighbors extend deepest sympathy to the Hagar family.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hagins from Hamlin visited in the George Darden home Thursday after attending the Cecil Hagar funeral.

Some forty-five boys and girls of this community attended Vacation Bible School at the local Baptist church all of last week. The school closed Friday.

This Thursday, June 12, is regular meeting night for the Kent County Grandparents Club. Place: local Home Ec Cottage, time: 7:30 p.m.

The Girard Home Demonstration Club met with fifteen members present at the Home Ec Cottage Wednesday. Mrs. George Darden was the hostess.

Mrs. Clifford Scott recently underwent surgery in the Hamlin Hospital. She is now back home.

Ten directors and officials of the Kent County Fair attended a meeting of the Dicken-Kent Fair Association in the Willie Room at Spur on Tuesday night of last week. Plans for the Dickens-Kent Fair to be held in Spur in October were made.

Some twenty five interested people attended. Jesse Morrison, mayor of Spur and president of the fair association, presided.

Funeral services were held Thursday, June 5 for childress for Mrs. Fay Wilson, a sister of Mrs. Virgil Kilpatrick of this community. Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick returned to their home here Friday after attending the funeral. Mrs. Wilson had been ill for a number of years.

About the most silly laws we know about is the 1948 Gun Act. Just because Martin Luther King and the Kennedys was killed with a gun, Congress makes a big deal out of same. Bought a box of 22 shells the other day to kill skunks, had to produce SS card, and answer questions that will have no effect whatever in the prevention of crime. Should the Government corner all the guns that are owned by law abiding citizens? How are they going to prevent criminals from going to the border and buying all the guns they want? And when all the guns are attacked in the White House, what is Congress going to do about pocket knives and ice picks?

Attending the installation of officers of the Order of the Eastern Star in Spur last Saturday from the ole' home town were the Pete Sherers, the George Dardens, the Woodrow Hodges and the Glenn Spradlings.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Jo Hodges and daughters and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Don Hodges and daughters from Abilene and Floydada visited over the weekend with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Hodges.

Charlie Kimmel has purchased some grocery fixtures from Pete Sherer and will handle some groceries in connection with his Mobil Station in Girard.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Webster from Post visited last weekend in the home of his sister, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bural.

Visiting last week in the Jake Simmons home were his son and wife from East Texas.

Mrs. Ted Darden visited last week in the home of her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Morgan in Roscoe.

From the Free State of Kent, that's it, folks.

BASEBALL

By PETE FRITCHIE

Washington, D.C.—If someone doesn't slow down the high-flying Baltimore Orioles pretty soon, this year could be a repeat of 1966. And that year the O's ran over the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight shocking World Series games.

The Birds are in the toughest division of the American League and will not win it the easy way. They must play the Tigers, Red Sox and Yankees more games than western division teams. Yet they are streaking away from the field and look stronger and stronger. Great pitching and timely hitting are carrying them along.

The big test for the Birds might not come until late in June, when they will meet the world champion Tigers eight times in ten days, beginning June 27th in Baltimore and ending July 6th in Detroit. Then they play Boston eight between July 10 and July 20th! This is a time that could make or break the Bengals and Sox also, for in between that set with the Birds the Tigers are taking on the Red Sox in three (July 1, 2 and 3).

The Birds are leading the field in the American League's eastern division even though Boston has been red hot and though both Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich of Detroit have been pitching good ball for the champions.

The difference has been that Baltimore, with McNally, Cuellar, Phoebus and Palmer, has been getting consistent pitching from the whole first-line starting staff while Boston has, at times, had problems and Detroit has received little help from its third and fourth starters.

Unless that torrid pitching pace being set by the O's falters, it is going to be hard for their competitors to catch them and their 38-year-old manager, Earl Weaver.

Boston may even prove tougher opposition for the O's than Detroit, on the basis of bean-town play thus far. Whatever happens, the race in the junior league's eastern division is a dramatic one.

NAMES CHIEF JUSTICE

President Richard Nixon has named Warren Earl Burger, federal appeals court judge, as his choice as the 15th chief justice of the United States. If confirmed by the Senate, Burger will replace Chief Justice Earl Warren who has resigned.

ON JOB FUTURE

The Labor Department has predicted that about 3.5 million jobs will open up each year through the mid-nineteen-seventies despite increasing automation. It revealed most job openings would be for teachers, secretaries, salesmen and truck drivers.

Attorney General John N. Mitchell has advised Congress not to advise new laws to control campus disorders. Mr. Mitchell cited three laws now available for use should present investigations warrant their use.

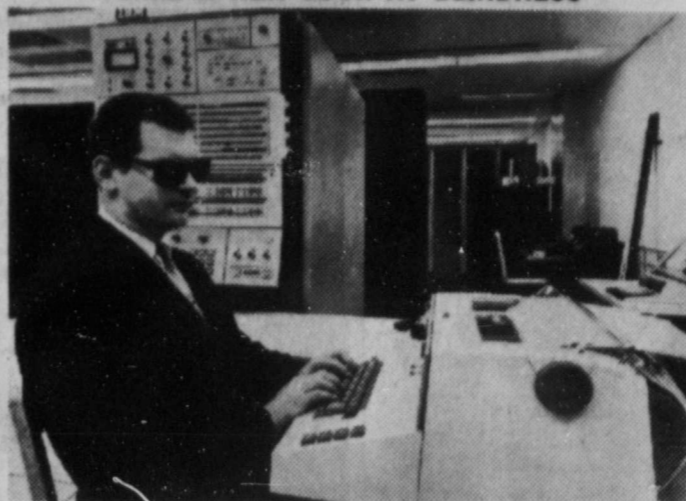

KENNEDY ON WAR TACTICS
Senator Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass) has challenged the administration's military tactics in Vietnam which drew immediate rebuttal from Republicans. In his latest criticism, he said the assault on Hamburger Hill was "senseless and irresponsible."

F.T.C. & CIGARETTES

The Federal Trade Commission has proposed that all cigarette advertising prominently carry the warning that "cigarette smoking is dangerous to health and may cause death." The warning would go into effect after June 30 when the present cigarette labeling law would expire unless renewed by Congress.

Earl Weaver.
Boston may even prove tougher opposition for the O's than Detroit, on the basis of bean-town play thus far. Whatever happens, the race in the junior league's eastern division is a dramatic one.

TAKE A NEW LOOK AT BLINDNESS

How does a person react when blindness strikes? Where can he go for competent assistance?

Actually, each person reacts differently, according to M. Robert Barnett, executive director of the American Foundation for the Blind. The key factor in adjusting is professional counseling, which is available through local agencies for the blind all over the country.

Unfortunately, blindness for centuries has been linked with helplessness, and today many people still think and speak of "the blind" as a class apart from our normal society. The fact is that there are more than 30,000 blind college graduates in the United States.

There are blind teachers in public schools, blind college professors, blind executives in business and government, blind computer programmers, and blind scientists in many fields. There are blind children attending school with their sighted peers.

This progress is largely the result of the assistance and guidance of hundreds of com-

TEEN PROBLEMS START WITH THE "HYPER-PHASE"

Suddenly there comes a time in the life of every child when the whole world changes! Yesterday's games appear "babyish". Balanced eating patterns give way to erratic fads. Parents seem to lose their ability to understand. Tears flow for no apparent reason. Old truths are questioned. Old standards are bases for rebellion.

What has happened? The child has reached what authorities now call the "hyper-phase," that period from age 11 to 18 when a youngster becomes hyper-sensitive, hyper-emotional, hyper-active and hyper-impressionable. He is giving way to the adult—with all the physical and emotional confusion that accompanies such a transformation.

For nine out of ten young people one of the first signs of the hyper-phase is often a problem skin condition. Teen authorities report that troubled skin is usually the first problem that a maturing youngster has to handle all on his own. The reasons for acne-like outbreaks are not known, but for the youngster in his or her hyper-phase the added burden of an unattractive skin can show up in poor social relationships, poor scholastic performance and conflicts at home.

Laboratories have been studying this hyper-phase problem for years, and they report that although there is no known cure for acne, it can be alleviated. The secret is an anti-bacterial cleanser for scrupulous cleanliness of the face and hair. The Colgate laboratories have just developed a foaming anti-bacterial cleansing formula named Hyper-phase, after this period of a child's development, and geared to alleviating the skin problems associated with it.

Using the foaming liquid cleanser instead of a bar soap, say the authorities, eliminates the excessive scrubbing that can irritate the skin and help spread infection. The Hyper-phase laboratories advise washing thoroughly but gently three times a day and at bedtime with this anti-bacterial liquid, paying special attention to the forehead, nose, and chin—which is called the problem triangle. Rinse with warm water, then splash with cold, and dry with a clean towel, say the experts.

Another pointer: after shampooing with Hyper-phase, don't add any oil or grease to the hair, as excessive oiliness plays a large part in creating acne.

This cleanliness ritual is teen-formulated to help prevent skin problems and in so doing it can help clear up the personality problems caused by skin troubles during a youngster's hyper-phase.

Here is another mystery scene. This is a windmill in a pasture, near a Farm to Market road in Kent Co where a herd of cattle are watering. It should be easy to identify, the way it is leaning. The first person to correctly identify it, gets one year of free reading to the Jayton Chronicle.

SUMMER-SUITED—A crisp look for summer is the two-piece cotton suit with fashion's new longer jacket. It's black plaided with white, it's banded in white braid. Designed by Jeanne Durrell of Texas.

DPS Needs Patrolmen

A call was issued today by the Texas Department of Public Safety for applicants to fill a recruit training school to begin in July.

Applicants must be between the ages of 20 and 35, a height of at least 68 inches, a weight of not less than two pounds or more than three and one-half pounds per inch of height, and be in sound physical condition. They must have completed high school or submit a certificate approved by the Texas Educational Agency showing an equivalent educational background. They must be a citizen of the United States, and be of good moral character.

Those selected will take their basic training at the Texas DPS Law Enforcement Academy in Austin. This training period is approximately four months in length. Upon graduation, the patrolmen will be assigned to one of the four uniformed field services—Highway Patrol, License and Weight, Motor Vehicle Inspection and Drivers License.

Because of the short time remaining to test applicants, immediate inquiry is urged for young men to contact the nearest DPS office or patrolman.

THREE TEXAS GOVERNORS joined forces in Austin Monday as they spoke before a large group of prominent Texans assembled for the organizational meeting of the Governor's Committee of 500. Left to right are Governor Preston Smith and former Governors Price Daniel and John Connally.

The Governor's Committee is the organization set up to campaign for the passage of Constitutional Amendment 2 in the August 5 special election, the next step in the Texas Water Plan.

Governor Smith said, "This is one of the most important elections in Texas history. It will determine whether or not Texas can act in time to meet the future needs of an adequate water supply."

Former Governors Connally and Daniel gave their full endorsement to the amendment. Each spoke in behalf of its passage. Another ex-governor, Allan Shivers, was to have been present but he was called to the bedside of his son, Allan Jr., 23, who was seriously injured in a swimming accident at Eufaula, Alabama, on Friday. Young Shivers is in the hospital in Columbus, Georgia.

NO DOMINO GAMES
The domino players developed a problem recently but now all is going well. When hot weather came on and with no air conditioner and all of the hot air, the games were broke up. Not now that is settled with an air cooler. Plenty games now to be played.
