RC&D Projects Improve Resources And Entire Community's Economy

"Resource conservation and development (RC&D) projects help people take better care of their natural resources and, at the same time, improve their community's economy," said R. V. Earles of Haskell, Texas.

Earles, who lives in the Paint Creek Community of Haskell County, is a Director of the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District. He is currently serving as chairman of the steering committee of the Big Country RC&D. The Big Country RC&D project, currently being organized and formed, comprises twelve counties and eight soil and water conservation districts in this area of Texas. Earles said that he had just recently received confirmation from Cecil Mayes, Executive Director of the West Central Texas Council of Governments, that WCTCOG would act as Co-sponsors of the project along with the various counties and SWCD's.

The Big Country RC&D comprises the counties of Haskell, Knox, Jones, Stonewall, Fisher, Nolan, Mitchell, Scurry, Kent, Dickens, Garza and Borden

The Wichita-Brazos, California Creek, Upper Clear Fork, King, Stonewall, Duck Creek, Mitchell, Upper Colorado and Garza Soil and Water Conservation Districts are the eight SWCD's involved.

Earles stated that by-laws and application committees had been named and were currently at work. Earles said he expected the by-laws to be ready for adoption at the next quarterly meeting of the steering committee, and that the application would be developed within the next six months.

Earles said that local leadership will direct the entire program with the Soil Conservation Service furnishing the technical assistance needed. Civic clubs, Chambers of Commerce, community governments, and other groups will be asked soon to endorse the program.

"If you have a project in mind for your community or county," Earles said, "project proposal sheets are available at your local SCS offices. Secure one, fill it out, and return it to the SCS personnel in your locality."

Approximately 113,000 Americans Died As Result of Accidents In 1970

The National Safety Council reports that approximately 113,000 Americans died as a result of accidents in 1970, a decrease of two per cent from 1969.

Disabling injuries totaled approximately 10,800,000 including 400,000 that resulted in some form of permanent impairment. The cost of accidents in 1970 was approximately $26 billion.

Traffic fatalities in 1970 numbered 1,100 fewer than in 1969, according to the Council. The 55,300 total for 1970 represents a two per cent reduction from the 1969 toll of 56,400. In addition, the mileage death rate per 100 million vehicle miles traveled dropped from 5.3 in 1969 to 5.0 in 1970—the lowest rate in history.

This reduction occurred despite the fact that there were three million more licensed drivers and four million more motor vehicles on the road in 1970 than in 1969.

Deaths from public accidents are also on the decline. Public deaths decreased five per cent from 21,000 in 1969 to 20,000 in 1970. The decrease of 1,000 deaths can be attributed to fewer fire and burn fatalities, as well as fewer deaths due to falls and aviation accidents. This was the first fatality-free year in commercial air transportation. No passengers or crew members died on scheduled domestic air transport flights.

Preliminary figures indicate that snowmobile fatalities increased in 1970, however.

The 1970 death toll for work accidents was unchanged from the 14,200 reported by the Council in 1969. Disabling injuries totaled 2,200,000. The cost of work accidents in 1970 was $9 billion. In addition to the 14,200 persons killed at work, 42,200 died in off-the-job accidents.

Since the Council was organized in 1912, the greatest progress in accident prevention has been among children under 15 years of age. All other age groups also showed improvement except for the 15 to 24 age group, which had a seven per cent increase in accidental deaths.

Tax Questions And Answers

Q—When can I expect to get my W-2?

A—Employers are required to issue W-2 statements on 1970 wages paid and taxes withheld to their present employees by the end of January. Since this falls on a Sunday, the deadline for employers to issue these statements is February 1.

Anyone who left a job before the end of the year should have received a W-2 within 30 days after his last pay check.

Q—My husband is over in Vietnam in the Army. What should I do about our tax return?

A—You are not required to file a return until 180 days after he leaves Vietnam. If you want to file earlier because you are expecting a refund, indicate in the space where his signature should go that he is serving in a combat zone.

Q—If someone dies during the year, does an income tax return have to be filed if there was any income or earnings?

A—Yes, the same general tax filing requirements apply to taxpayers who are deceased. There are special provisions, however. For details, send a post card to your local IRS office and ask for a copy of Publication 559, Federal Tax Guide for Survivors, Executors and Administrators. It's free.

Q—Does the income tax surcharge apply to all money earned in 1970?

A—Yes. The income tax surcharge rate for 1970 is 2½ percent.

Q—I have income from a farm I own as well as from a part-time job. Do I come under the filing provisions for farmers?

A—You do if at least two-thirds of your gross income is from your farm operations. If that is the case and you do not file a declaration of estimated income tax by January 15, you

April Draft Call In Texas Is Announced

The April draft call by the Department of Defense is for 17,000 men, all for the Army. Colonel Melvin N. Glantz, State Director of Selective Service for Texas, announced the April draft call in Texas as 1,033.

Most of the men selected for induction in April will come from the first priority group for 1971, however, a few men in the extended priority group, who were needed by their local boards to fill the March call, but who were unavailable for induction in March for several reasons, will be included.

Glantz said the limitation on lottery numbers for April would be the same as in earlier months of 1971. He explained that no one in the 1971 first priority group with a lottery number above 100 would be inducted.

The State Director said the pre-induction physical examination call for Texas in April will be 4,001 men.

Glantz pointed out that the special call for the Department of Defense for Doctors and Dentists, which is being processed within the next few days, is separate and apart from the regular draft call.

Farm Bureau Programs Discussed In Conference At Wichita Falls

Several Farm Bureau programs and activities, including plans for constructing a brand new state headquarters building, were discussed in a District 3 conference of county Farm Bureau presidents, on March 10th in Wichita Falls.

Marvin Plemister, president of the Haskell County Farm Bureau, represented the local county organization at the conference. Also attending this conference were: Weldon Norman of Rule and Harlan Weinert of Wichita Falls.

Construction on the four-story, contemporary design building of approximately 100,000 square feet, is expected to start in the near future, County President.

Plemister reports. New headquarters for the Texas Farm Bureau will be located on a beautiful suburban site overlooking Lake Waco in northwest Waco.

Smith Building Co. of Waco. The architectural firm of Bush & Dudley of Waco, in association with the firm of Harrell-Hamilton of Dallas, designed and planned the building.

When the Texas Farm Bureau moved its headquarters to Waco from Brownwood in 1938, it moved into a rent-free, two-room office over the Waco Chamber of Commerce. The Farm Bureau had a membership of only a few thousand farmers and ranchers at that time.

As the Texas Farm Bureau grew, it changed locations in Waco three times, moving to its present location in the Citizens National Motor Ramp Bank building in June, 1958. The organization has outgrown its present office quarters.

The state's largest general farm organization has 121,158 member families in 204 organized county Farm Bureaus.

SCUBA-DIVING DIETITIAN IS NOW EYEING SKYDIVING

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article written by Sherrill Tucker, Reporter-News Staffer, about Haskell's own Milia Perry appeared recently in the Abilene Reporter-News:

A woman of many talents and many interests is Miss Milia Perry, 23-year-old director of the Dietary Department of Hendrick Memorial Hospital. One of her many interests is cooking, as might be expected of a professional dietitian. She is as much at home in the vast kitchen of the hospital, supervising the preparation of meals for hundreds of people, as she is in her own kitchen, cooking a gourmet dinner.

She is at home under the water, as she is a certified scuba diver in the Professional Association of Diving Instructors. And she is at home on top of the water as an avid water-skier. Soon she will be at home in the air also. Her latest interest is skydiving.

Miss Perry recently enrolled in a skydiving school in Abilene and has made two parachute jumps from an airplane at an altitude of 3,000 feet.

She said she wasn't sure just why she took up skydiving, but the fact that she likes a challenge might have had something to do with her making the decision.

"I have always liked a challenge," she said. "I like to do things that are demanding of my ability."

Miss Perry (her full name is Milia Rhay Perry) said her brother made a free fall parachute jump about a year ago and told her it was a frightening experience. He told her that was one thing she would never be able to do.

"So I guess I made up my mind then I was going to do it," she said.

Miss Perry said it was rather unusual for girls to parachute. But, she said, her instructor, Lou Sparks, said girls make better students than men.

"Girls have much better physical form," Miss Perry said. "And, too, they are more willing to learn. Boys think they know everything already, and they don't learn as much with that attitude."

She said for the first five times a student jumps, the rip cord is attached to a static line and so the chute opens automatically, but the sixth time by the student has to open the chute himself. After six jumps he can then start training for free fall jumps.

"I am looking forward to the free fall jumps," she said. "I think it will be one of the most exciting things I have ever done."

Miss Perry described what it was like for her on the first jump she ever made from a plane.

"I was sitting crouched in the open door of the plane and the wind was just terrible," she said. "Then the instructor tapped me on the back and I knew I had to jump. I just pushed forward with my legs and I was out of the plane. There was just quiet then, no wind and no sensation of falling. It was a strange and wonderful feeling."

"After a few seconds the static line pulled the rip cord and the chute opened. There was a little jolt when the chute opened and then I was just floating down."

She said she was in complete control of the chute at all times and could guide it down.

"I am not too good at guiding the chute to a landing yet," she said. "I missed the landing zone by about a mile and a half the first time."

She said skydiving is a safe sport, depending on the individual. If a person knows what they are doing and are careful, it is safe. If they don't know what they are doing and are careless, then it can be very dangerous.

Miss Perry said learning to land was not one of the most difficult things. The first few jumps, the instructor tells you not to look at the ground, because if you watch the ground come up to meet you, you are apt to stiffen up and might hurt yourself upon landing.

She said she did make very good landings all the times she jumped and received no injuries at all.

The parachute training center where Miss Perry is receiving her instruction is the Elmdale Parachute Service, one and a half miles east of Old Abilene Town on IH20 access road.

Miss Perry jumped from a height of 3,000 feet. Professional free fall skydivers leave the airplane at heights of 13,000 feet and fall earthward at speeds of up to 120 m.p.h. before the chute opens at about 1,600 feet above the ground. By maintaining absolute control of their body during the fall they can land within a 1,000 foot circle target area. They reach the ground going only 2 m.p.h. And there seems to be no end to her interest. After she masters skydiving, she plans to become an airplane pilot, she said.

Haskell County History

40 YEARS AGO (March 5, 1931)

Mrs. W. T. Sarrals and Mrs. Press Perry were visitors in Stamford, Thursday, the guest of Mrs. J. W. Ladd.

Mrs. Frank Williams and Dessie Kennedy motored to Mineral Wells and spent the weekend with their mother and sister, Mrs. J. F. Kennedy and Olla Bell.

Sam A. Roberts, accompanied by his son, Paul Wesley, made a business trip to Dalhart last week, and were detained several days in Amarillo on their return by a heavy snow and rain in that section which made the roads impassable.

Miss Ida Neinast, beauty operator at C. Hunt & Co's store, attended the Hair Dressers Convention in Dallas last Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. T. J. Arbuckle and Albert Lemmon visited their sister, Mrs. Dr. Morris of Spur last Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. R. V. Robertson returned the first of the week from Denton where she spent the weekend with her daughter, Miss Ruth. Miss Gaylet Robertson of Seymour accompanied Mrs. Robertson.

Joe A. Jones, county judge, has been appointed county chairman of the Citizens Military Training Camps for Haskell County. A number of local youth have enrolled each year for the one month's schooling offered by the Government.

Sheriff W. T. Sarrals, aided by Luther Highnote, deputy, destroyed a quantity of liquor and beer.

Mrs. Jesse Edwards, who for the past few months has operated the Sandwich Shop on the south side of the square, has leased the Fox Hotel and assumed the management of the business the first of this week.

Mesdames Hill Oates and Mary Oates went to Abilene last Thursday.

Rev. E. Gaston Foote and Ben Bagwell made a business trip to Amarillo this week.

60 YEARS AGO (March 11, 1911)

Judge A. C. Foster and family of Rule were in the city on several occasions lately. Judge Foster has purchased a new auto and has been making good use of the machine, which is one of the best we have seen used by a private family.

Mrs. Alice Nolan left Monday for Alabama in the interest of the Nolan estate. She will be gone a month.

Mr. E. E. Marvin has received a fine new Overland car he ordered for Dr. Weaver of Rule a few days ago. The car is the prettiest auto we have ever seen. It is built for economy and speed, capable of making 60 miles an hour. The machine is a model 46 and the latest make of the perfect car. The levers are all inside the car which gives the body a smooth artistic outline. When first seen on the streets of Haskell, the new car created a sensation and everybody admired the beautiful machine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jones of Rule left Monday to visit relatives at Amarillo and points in New Mexico.

On March 28 and 29 the Board of Missions of the North West Central Conference will convene in Haskell in a two-day session.

Capt. W. M. Wood was in the city Thursday. Capt. Wood is one of our pioneer farmers from the northeast side.

Messrs. Herman Weinert and J. E. Robertson of Weinert were in the city, Tuesday.

T. P. Park of Rochester called at the Free Press Monday.

On Tuesday evening, March 7th, the elegant country home of Dr. and Mrs. Thos. A. Pinkerton was thrown open to a number of their Haskell friends.

Ever imaginable amusement had been thoughtfully planned by the host and hostess and every minute was pleasantly spent.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Whitaker, a 9 lb. girl.

Rotarians And Guests View Patriotic Film

With the president, Bob Herren, presiding, members of the Haskell Rotary Club met Thursday, March 11, for their regular noonday luncheon session at the City Cafe.

J. B. Gipson was program chairman for the day and showed a Patriotic film, entitled, "The Spirit of '76", which was based on the Declaration of Independence. The colorful film portrayed many of the hardships that the men under General George Washington suffered to win independence from England.

C. A. Thomas introduced guests, Inez Mobley and Pauline Cooch, guests of Abe Turner, president of the Haskell National Bank; Harlan Jones, manager of the General Telephone Company's Seymour office who was a guest of Bob Philpot, and Harry Trevennick of the Abilene Rotary Club.

Invocation was given by Andy Anderson and the song session was led by R. C. Couch with club pianist Gail Barnett furnishing accompaniment.

In a short business meeting, "Prexy" Herren called for a vote by members relative to a sign for the Rotary at the Little League baseball field. After some discussion club members voted to make the donation of $10.00.

Herren also announced that the Abilene Rotary Club was sponsoring the annual Rotary Conference in that city April 15, 16 and 17, and urged that a good attendance from Haskell be present for the three-day meeting.

Many times as we pick up the daily papers, or listen to the news on radio or TV, the world around us appears extremely bleak. Let's stop for a minute, however, and look at the other side, the positive side.

The vast majority of our people...regardless of race, creed, color or economic status...are respectable, reasonable, responsible citizens.

Last year for example: More than 196,000,000 of our people were not arrested.

More than 89,000,000 married persons did not file for divorce.

More than 115,000,000 individuals maintained a formal affiliation with some religious group.

NATIONAL LAWN AND GARDEN WEEK SLATED MARCH 20-26

The beauty and utility of plants is one of the topics being stressed during National Lawn and Garden Week March 20-26.

J. C. Yeary Jr., district conservationist for Soil Conservation Service at Haskell, said the event is being sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the national officers of garden clubs, Lawn and garden trade groups are also behind the effort.

This year's theme "Country Green for City Living" stresses the special values of rural plants which enhance outdoor beauty and improve the environment for rural and urban residents.

"Conservation farmers who plant grasses on depleted range-land or idle cropland in the Haskell area do a lot for outdoor beauty," Yeary said. "In fact, sound soil and water conservation on the landscape is the key to a beautiful countryside. Any well managed grassland or farmland adds to the country green concept."

Yeary said Soil Conservation Service officials are using the occasion to invite the public to visit the SCS plant materials center at Knox City. Hundreds of plant selections are being evaluated at the center to try to find improved strains that will solve several conservation problems. He said the best time to see the plants is in late summer when most are in bloom or producing seed.

"Several new grass strains are now in use across the country because of our plant materials work," Yeary said. "Some of the ones being used in Texas include King Ranch bluestem; Greenville switchgrass; El Reno, Uvalde and Vaughn sidecoats grama; and Selection 75 Kleingrass."

The kleingrass selection was released two years ago and has proven so popular that more than a million dollar's worth of seed was planted last year in Texas.

"However, some of the most fascinating work underway at Knox City is our work with plants for wildlife," Yeary said. "Since wildlife and livestock co-exist in the same land, they use many of the same plants. We are trying to select plants valuable to livestock and wildlife which can be grown profitably for seed."

Yeary said that his office gets questions nearly every week from people wanting to know what plants to include in grass plantings that will have special value for wildlife. Unfortunately, the number of plants he can recommend for seeding is limited. It's not because there is a shortage of plants what wildlife like—the problem is buying seed for these plants.

Yeary explained that 53 selections of forbs and shrubs thought to have value for wildlife are being evaluated at Knox City. This is in addition to more than 400 strains of grasses, many of which are also useful to wildlife, which are being grown. Several legumes are also being evaluated.

He pointed out that many forbs (broad leaved, herbaceous plants) are not only good wildlife food but are equally useful to cattle, horses, sheep and goats. If ways can be developed to grow these plants profitably for seed production, it will make it more feasible to plant them.

Selections from two such forbs—englemannsdaisy and Maximilian sunflower—have shown up especially well at Knox City, Yeary said.

Englemannsdaisy is especially desirable as a wildlife food because it is a cool season plant. A selection made in the Texas Hill Country has done so well that it is now being grown for seed increase at Knox City. Field plantings at several Texas locations will be made this year.

Don Comedy Is Listed In "Who's Who"

DON COMEDY

Don Comedy, sophomore student at Cisco Junior College, has been chosen for listing in the annual publication, "Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges." It's basic concept is to provide a democratic, national basis for the recognition of outstanding campus leaders. Each student named has been nominated following a screening by a faculty committee after being initially nominated by a department head.

He was named to the Dean's List after the fall semester, using the 3 point system. A grade point average on twelve or more semester hours work of 2.5 or better was the necessary criteria for making the Dean's List.

Comedy was also awarded a Photography Scholarship for the spring semester at CJC. Many of his sports pictures have been used in the Haskell Free Press, and in the college annual.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Comedy of Haskell.

than $160 billion in income taxes.

More than 49,000,000 students did not riot or petition to destroy our system.

More than 9,000,000 of our young men did not burn their draft cards.

More than 4,000,000 teachers, preachers and professors did not strike or participate in riotous demonstrations.

Never before in history has a people accomplished so much and asked so little.

Don't let anyone sell you the idea that ours is a sick society. It's far from perfect, but it is also far and away the most enlightened, most unselfish, most compassionate in the history of the world.

Sunday's dust storm was a sampling of the "Dirty Thirties." From all indications we may be in for a number of dust storms, if much needed moisture does not come soon. Even though soil conservation practices are necessary and help greatly, we realize it takes the cooperation of nature, along with soil-soaking winter and spring rains to control the devastating dust storms.

For the past several years, Sister More has been addressing farm groups across the nation calling for a federation of existing farm organizations, beginning at the county level, as a necessary first step in the development and implementation of more realistic and sound farm programs.

Another always important feature of the day's events will be the election of three directors. Terms of current directors, O. G. Lewis, Rule, and Leo McKeever, Berryhill, expire this year. Both men have been renominated to serve for Lightweight Crossbred Barrow at the San Angelo Stock Show. Ed placed 2nd in his class and was nominated for the showmanship award.
