Health Care

As Congress moves toward enactment of much-needed health care legislation, one of the novel ideas proposed is prepaid (preventative) health care. Under such a system individuals pay a fixed fee monthly and are covered for hospitalization, office visits, physical examinations and immunizations. House calls cost a small, additional fee.

The idea behind prepaid health care, such as one program begun years ago in California (the Kaiser-Permanente health plan) is to keep patients sufficiently healthy that few medical and hospital services are necessary. Experience has shown much can be accomplished in this field.

Whether or not this approach is taken, Americans are now looking to Congress to enact a health care program, this year or next, which will provide all with health care insurance to pay hospital and office-visit bills and to protect them against catastrophic illnesses.

It's not acceptable that twenty per cent of the population has no hospital insurance, that half the poor are not properly immunized against childhood diseases, that the disability rate for those below the poverty line is fifty per cent higher than for those with incomes of $10,000 or more and that death rates for nonwhites are so much worse than for whites.

The Oil Shortage

Although the oil shortage this year is not expected to be really serious in most parts of the country, the situation could become extremely serious in a few years, and the key to whether oil supplies in this country are adequate then lies in the Middle East.

Crosby Noyes, writing in the Washington Star, reports that whereas the nation until recently supplied all of its own energy needs, today we must import thirty per cent of our petroleum. By 1985, it's estimated, we will be importing over 50 per cent, regardless of what is done to increase U.S. production.

Taking into consideration the precarious political position of the United States in the Middle East, and recent blunt warnings from several Arab countries that unless we change our pro-Israeli policies oil shipments will not be increased, one doesn't need to look further to appreciate the grim potential in the present situation. The dim, uncertain future facing the nation in this field is one of the major reasons why U.S. firms are being encouraged to conclude massive oil production arrangements with the Soviet Union.

There may be other possibilities, perhaps from the vast reserves now being tapped under the North Sea. But it seems safe to say the United States, once self-sufficient in petroleum, is on the road to a far more vulnerable energy position in the years ahead, which must affect national economic and security planning.

NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Reporters are divided on the question of Watergate's effect on Senator Ted Kennedy's chances for the 1976 Democratic nomination. Most assumed originally that any scandal marring the Nixon Administration (and White House) image would help Kennedy.

It was also assumed such a scandal would handicap Vice President Spiro Agnew, since he will be inevitably associated with the outgoing Nixon Administration in 1976. Republican delegates might want a fresh face, one who can't be tarred and feathered with Watergate.

Some newsmen feel the atmosphere generated by the Watergate fiasco will, however, also handicap Kennedy, who himself lives under the shadow of scandal. And they point out that Democrats turned away from Kennedy to head the Watergate investigation partly because his role would appear inappropriate. (One can imagine some of the replies he might not question others on hiding facts.)

So it may be that Kennedy will not thrive in the atmosphere of Watergate, if that atmosphere still prevails in 1976. He may nevertheless get the nomination—for who else is there? He may get the nomination and be defeated in the election because of an atmosphere influencing most Americans to favor someone completely free of suspicion of scandal.

Agnew, it's conceded, is hurt and the name which comes to mind, again, is Nelson Rockefeller—still waiting in the wings to be called. Rockefeller isn't connected with Watergate and with a westerner or southerner as a running mate would have good chances in the east as well as elsewhere.

Yet the Vice President is

still the favorite of conservatives and many moderates. Thus it could be the Republicans will nominate Agnew and Democrats Kennedy in 1976—both of whom could be affected by an atmosphere of scandal.

Eye Drops, Etc.

One of the galling features of the good life in America is the ridiculously high prices of many drugs, medicines and pills. Those who travel abroad see first hand how high, comparatively, U.S. prices are for many of these items.

Eye drops come to mind as an example. To buy one of today's leading eye drop solutions one pays a dollar or more for half an ounce! One suspects production costs of the solution are about ten cents or less.

That brings to mind a famous breakfast drink—priced for a long time now almost as high as coffee. At last several chain stores began offering a competing product, which looks and tastes the same, for much less, with a nice profit still figured in. We know too that the public has long been bilked by cereal prices, perhaps ten cents more being charged for cereals with nutritional value (vitamins added)—vitamins which cost the producer a penny or two.

In the present inflationary atmosphere too many prices have no relation to costs; let the buyer think, and beware.

Are you renting land... when you should be renting money?

There are many good reasons why it takes some land of your own to be sure of a future in agriculture. You're always welcome to drop by our office and talk over the advantages of taking out a long-term mortgage on farm or ranch property. Right now could be the best time for you to start using borrowed money to buy land... instead of using your own money to rent or lease.

Uniform Planting Early Season Weevil Control

A uniform planting date can be an effective part of a boll weevil control program. This is especially true when all producers within an area plant their cotton in a period of about one week. By having all the cotton planted at the same general time it will be in the same stage of development and early cotton will be eliminated. Early cotton greatly increases the productive potential of the boll weevil because it lengthens the growing season to the point that the boll weevil can produce up to a complete generation before later cotton reaches the 1/3 grown square stage of development.

When cotton planting is delayed large numbers of boll weevils die before squares are 1/3 grown. Squares must be 1/3 grown before boll weevil egg laying activity can begin. Boll weevils begin to leave overwintering habitat in the Rolling Plains during early to mid-April. In 1969 peak movement of weevils was detected on pheromone wing traps in late May and early June. Generally, peak numbers of oversintered weevils are found in cotton fields the week after 1/3 grown squares are present. When cotton is planted in mid-May it will be the first week in July before 1/3 grown squares are present. Many boll weevils which emerge from overwintering habitats in April and May do not live until the first week in July. But many of these boll weevils will live to mate and deposit eggs in earlier planted cotton.

Control of overwintered boll weevils prior to the 1/3 grown square stage of cotton can also help in reducing boll weevil control. In fields where boll weevil populations of 50 or more weevils per acre are detected, a chemical application a few days before the 1/3 grown square stage can greatly reduce the damage caused by boll weevils during the growing season.

Letters To The Editor
Dear Editor,

I would like to take advantage of this column to express my disapproval of the Little League program in Jayton.

There are enough boys going out for the team so that two Little League teams could be formed and no boy would have to be told, "You can't play well enough." Every year since we moved here, there has been at least one boy who has been deeply hurt because he was the only one out of his room who was not chosen. There is no telling what the psychological affects have been. It could instill a bitterness that would last a lifetime.

I also believe there ought to be a rule on both teams this year that every boy gets to play at least two full innings in every game. They have this rule in many towns. It is terribly disheartening to the boys when they make all the practices and try their very best, and then they never get to play in a game.

I sincerely believe a team's spirit depends upon whether or not the entire program is fair or unfair. Even our two boys, who did make the Little League team, don't feel the program is fair. There are bound to be others who feel the same way. With this much bitterness, how can there really be any team spirit?

If enough parents and boys would express their disapproval, the program would have to be changed.

Boys' feelings should be more important than a trophy!
Sincerely,
Mrs. Glenn Phillips

CARD OF THANKS

A motion was made that the Girard H. D. Club have charge of the Rodeo, at Girard. The motion did not carry.

Other motions were, to buy trash cans at the center, also a croquet set will be purchased for the Community Center.

The next program will be "How is your health," at the center, Mrs. Turner will be hostess. 11 members and five visitors were present.

Come, meet with the club.

INTERESTING NOTES ABOUT THE SENIORS

About 88% of the graduating seniors are planning to enroll in various colleges and universities over the state this fall, states Ralph Newton. This is very outstanding according to most high schools over the state.

Marilyn Bennett, J. H. S. twirler this last year has made plans to enroll in Angelo State University and study business. Jane Brewer, Drum Major, has made plans to go to Abilene and enter L.V.N. School.

Keith Cave, State Finalist in Track plans to enroll in Western Texas College. His field has not been fully decided upon.

Judith DuBose, Kent and Dickens Fair Queen Most Beautiful has turned her thoughts to Angelo State in the business field.

Brad English, Best All-Around and Regional Golf Qualifier is going to Southwest Texas State University and enter in the field of Chiropractic.

Tommy Johnson, Most Friendly and Regional Track Qualifier has plans to go to West Texas State University, and study business.

Pam Kelley, All-District Basketball, Miss J.H.S., Best All-Around, Regional Poetry Qualifier, and Cheerleader, is entering the field of Special Education at Angelo State.

Parker Kidd, All Area Football, Mr. J. H. S., Regional Qualifier in Golf and Track and Football Beau plans to go into Radio and T. V. Communications at Abilene Christian College.

Max Martinez, Vice-president of V. I. C. A., is undecided, but may enroll in Angelo State and study business.

Stephanie Owens, Football Sweetheart and Cheerleader, has made plans to study Sociology at Texas Tech.

Robbie Panter, Annual debutante sales to underwrite the program. These goals were met two months ago, Woodson said.

The new Division was organized under guidelines of the TFB's Expanded Program adopted by voting delegates in a special session in March 1971. They provide that all TFB marketing programs are to be administered under the authority and direction of TAMDA and its Board of Directors, with the advice and counsel of producer advisory committees.

Counties in which the program will operate include Armstrong, Bailey, Carson, Castro, Collingsworth, Deaf Smith, Floyd, Gray, Hale, Hansford, Hartley, Lamb, Moore, Ochiltree, Parmer, Randall, Swisher, and Wheeler.

lion during the last trading year in 1961. Other reasons are given, such as creating a better feeling in the Western Hemisphere since a number of South and Central American groups favor a new association with Castro's Cuba.

There is another side to this coin and on it are at least four good reasons in opposition to readmitting Cuba to the family of nations in the Western Hemisphere.

First, Castro has shown no indication that he wishes to re-establish relations with the United States. He has found it popular in the communist and left wing world to blame us for his domestic failures. He has shown no willingness to compensate Americans for losses of property he stole.

Although his success is now minimal in efforts to stir up revolution in the Latin American states, he is still willing to export his brand of communism where he can. Castro continues to draw on the Soviet Union for his military supplies and to a great extent depends on Russia to support his domestic economy. Those ties with the Soviet Union almost brought on a nuclear war and continue to threaten the peace and security of this whole part of the world.

It was Fidel Castro who broke relations with the United States in the first place and who persisted in using us as a punching bag before our neighbors to the south and, as to that matter, all the world. In the name of reform he confiscated more than $81 billion of American-owned property and to this day none of it has been paid for. He fomented revolution and in the process, killed, robbed and imprisoned thousands of his own people.

The burden of proof should be Castro's-- to show responsibility to earn a readmission to the family of nations of the Western Hemisphere. More than anything else, we should have positive commitments that the island will not be available to accommodate the Russian military in violation of the Monroe Doctrine.

A Mother's Love Is A Haven In The Storms Of Life

A Mother's Love is like an island In life's ocean vast and wide, A peaceful, quiet shelter From the restless, rising tide...

A Mother's Love is like a fortress And we seek protection there When the waves of tribulation Seem to drown us in despair...

A Mother's Love's a sanctuary Where our souls can find sweet rest From the struggle and the tension Of life's fast and futile quest...

A Mother's Love is like a tower Rising far above the crowd, And her smile is like the sunshine Breaking through a threatening cloud...

A Mother's Love is like a beacon Burning bright with Faith and Prayer, And through the changing scenes of life We can find a Haven There...

For A Mother's Love is fashioned After God's enduring love, It is endless and unfailing Like the love of Him above...

For God knew in His great wisdom That He couldn't be Everywhere, So He put His Little Children In a Loving Mother's Care.

city delivery, only an average of one of six was delivered within 24 hours. Some of them took more than three days. Only about 15% of the mail was delivered as quickly as the postal services say the mail should be moved.

And mail without the zip moved just as quickly as the zipped mail. I was visiting a few days ago with a rural carrier, out of an office in the Wichita Falls area. He said the new policy on Saturday mail was really putting the crimp on rural carriers and their Saturday mail. He carries in a community of about 2000 people. The office has only one person to handle the mail Saturdays. This means the carriers have to work the city mail in order to get their mail.

Over in Lubbock they have an election coming up, to determine if they will spend a few million dollars on their light plant. If you favor municipal light plants, against private enterprise, you could consider the one in Lubbock a good thing, and a money maker. It pays back into the general fund each year about a million and a half dollars. And, perhaps for political purposes, they have been building up this fund, rather than keeping the plant up. But the thing many Lubbockites resent, and if I were a resident of the hub city, I would be the same way— is the spending of public funds to hire a high priced publicity firm to brain wash the people about the issues.

Who wants to help pay for a program, the sole purpose of which is to have himself brainwashed?

And my guess, is that this hiring of the word merchants, to push the bond issue, may have a back lash effect, and could well defeat the issue. People are funny about such things, you know.

I was reading in one of the area papers where the highway patrolman (DPS) serving that area had asked the Commissioners Court to buy a radar unit to go in his patrol car, and had offered the court the usual bait, by promising them "that it would make them money."

This is a practice long employed by members of the patrol, which I think should be stopped. If the DPS itself don't stop it, then the Texas Legislature should stop it.

On a number of occasions I have been a visitor in a Commissioners Court meeting, and heard the court discuss the buying of a radio, or a radar for the highway patrol. And, in some counties they have even been asked to buy air conditioners for the patrolmen.

Why can't the DPS buy its own equipment for its vehicles?

Why are they allowed to bait the commissioners with the fat plum that they will see they get their money back, by using this equipment to hand out more tickets, and bring more fine money into the county treasury?

In case someone connected with DPS would like to counter this statement by saying they don't promise to "get you more money" just save your breath, I have heard them say this, and other newsmen are quoting them making such statements.

A note to Bill Heatly, Renal Rosson, R. B. McAllister, Doc Blanchard and other members of the Legislature -- can't this practice be stopped?

BILL WALLACE RECEIVES READER'S DIGEST AWARD

Bill Wallace, valedictorian of the graduating class of Jayton High School, has been given the Annual Award of the Readers Digest Association for students who by their successful high school work give promise of attaining leadership in the community, it was announced by Ralph Newton, principal.

Wallace will receive an honorary one-year personal certificate from the editors "in recognition of past accomplishments and in anticipation of unusual achievement to come."

The Readers' Digest Association is presenting these awards in senior high schools throughout the U. S., to the highest honor student of the graduating class. Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bilby Wallace of Clairmont.

Alaskan Fruit Salad

With a spark of lemon—
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/2 cups lemonade
1 3- or 3 1/4-ounce package regular vanilla pudding mix
1/2 cup whipping cream
1 11-ounce can mandarin orange sections, drained
1 8 1/4-ounce can crushed pineapple, drained
1/4 cup maraschino cherries, quartered
Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup of the lemonade. In medium saucepan, combine the remaining lemonade, the pudding mix, and the softened gelatin. Cook and stir over medium heat till mixture thickens and bubbles. Chill till partially set. Whip cream; fold in oranges, pineapple, and cherries. Chill till mixture mounds; turn into 4-cup mold. Chill till firm, 4 to 5 hours or overnight. Unmold. Garnish with additional fruit, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

Brush Spraying Season Is Near

By Rhett H. Johnson
District Conservationist
Approximately April 25th, the old mesquite started showing its true colors. It put forth those light green leaves, that shows spring should be here.

Old Mr. Mesquite is busy pumping away at the stored moisture supply at a rate approximating 4 or 5 times the rate of grass water usage. There are approximately 319,446 acres of mesquite in Kent County that need brush control to allow this moisture waste to be converted to grass production. Wouldn't it be nice to see the water, which is not used by the grass, flowing out of springs instead of being wasted by a mesquite.

This can happen! West of San Angelo, a number of ranchers entered into a brush control program and controlled all of the mesquite over a large area. They managed their grass and improved their range condition and cover. To their delight, they noticed springs developing that had never existed during their life time. The old dry creek flowed continuously. This was a wonderful sight and accomplishment for these people. This occurred during a time when the people living in San Angelo were rationing water. This cool clear water, flowing down that once dry creek bed, was the water left over after the grass had used all it could, and water that at one time had gone into producing tons of undesirable mesquite.

Aerial spraying season is near. The forty day countdown from first leaf appearance will put the mesquite spraying starting date on approximately June 3rd. The spraying season will last approximately 50 days.

The exact date to spray depends on a number of items. The most important is soil temperature should be at least 75 degrees at 12 to 18 inches. This will give the best possible root kill according to recent research. Second, watch the leaves. They should have just turned to the dark green color. These two items will put the spraying date well into the fifty day spraying period.

Aerial spraying is a fast economical means of controlling mesquite brush. It should be used when there is a seed source of the better grasses available on the area to be sprayed.

The Soil Conservation Service, cooperating with the Duck Creek Soil and Water Conservation District, will be glad to assist you in analyzing your brush control problems.

Making plans for the future is often a way to escape work for the present.
