Growing Girl Scout Program Needs Money

Girl Scouting is growing in sixteen-county West Texas Girl Scout Council, and with growth comes the growing need for more funds to support fast expansion," Royce Adkins, 1969 drive chairman, announced this

The Girl Scout Council has requested a $1,000 goal for the 1969-70 school year.

The major portion of this expense is for the full-time staff of people who directly serve our volunteer leaders of girls. Mrs. Mildred Deaton of Abilene is the field director who works with local volunteer personnel. Another portion of the funds is used to provide office staff and services to leaders of troops.

Program for girls costs dollars as well as volunteer manhours. Most of the staff time is spent in program development The Girl Scout program centers around activities in the arts, the home and out-of-doors. Activities, resources, materials and techniques are provided by the Girl Scout council to our local volunteers.

Activities of The Negro People

Miss Beverly Yvonne Hill research the G.Y.H. (Growing Youth of Haskell) in a play at the Neighborhood Center, Sat-Title of the play was "Life in Haskell." Miss Hill has shown a great interest in the youth. She is very concerned about their activities.

Miss Hill built the play on "Vices" of Haskell, About 25 children took part, Miss Hill says the purpose of the Club is to emphasize the so-called, No Harm Misdemeanor, in the community and grow to a maor crime. If we as parents are thinking, we will join with Miss Hill and help to promote this program. If one child can be helped-the effort will not be in Money was raised for financing the projects of the club by selling tickets. This group meets each Saturday at 1:00 p. m. Future dates and time will be announced at the regular church services and in the weekly report. For more details contact Miss Hill or call the pastors of Hopewell and Independent churches.

Mrs. Bessie Hanson and daughter are visiting in Gallup. N. M. with her children, the Rev. and Mrs. Jas. Wallace Hanson.

We sincerely express our sympathy to Mrs. John Hammon at the passing of her husband, Mr. John Hammon, who passed away in the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

About 15 years ago a group of school teachers from Maryland got together with the Internal Revenue Service in Washington and designed a simple kit for the every-day uniformed (tax-wise) school teachers who were well trained in educational methods, to use to teach students how to prepare their income tax return. Be-tween 40 and 50 million young Americans have taken this course and about 41/2 million took the course during 1969, and at least this many or more will learn something about taxes in 1970. Commissioner Thrower has sent a letter to all of the secondary school principals offering them the free Teaching Taxes materials for the coming year. Many adult education groups, such as the home demonstration club or the retired employees associations, and others that have regular training programs also order the material. If you need teaching material, write to the Teaching Taxes Coordinator, P. O. Box 1738, Dallas, Texas 75221, and tell him how many adult students you have in the group. (Teachers who did not receive the regular order form for their school can also order this way.) He will arrange for the 1970 course to be mailed directly to you next January

Tax Questions And Answers

Q—I'm now retired and have Social Security and my company pension to live on. Will any of this be taxable?

A-Social Security benefits are not taxable. Your company pension may or may not be taxable depending on whether you contributed to its cost. If the pension plan is of a type where the pensioner's cost is recoverable within the first three years, the pension is tax-the Soil Conservation Service. Fred Kupatt, farmer in the Sagerton Community, has consistently applied cotton burs to the soil on his farm for several years. He uses his own bur truck to haul the burs from the gin and scatter over the land. Fred says the addition of cotton burs has conserved water by reducing runoff and evaporation, and has resulted in higher crop yields. W. J. Earles of the Paint liberate other plant foods stored in the soil. Open sandy soils are made more friable with a crumb like structure with the addition of organic matter. Each ton of cotton burs applied to the soil contains from $7.00 to $10.00 worth of plant food. Burs should be applied at a rate of three to five tons per acre, Experiment station results have shown an increase of 35 pounds of lint cotton per ton of burs used. The addition of nitrogen fertilizer hastens the transformation of cotton burs into active organic matter. Soil organisms feed heavy on nitrogen during decay of plant residues and may cause a depres sion of plant growth during the process, Cowger said.
