School Board Meets Thursday Night

The Jayton school board faced a light agenda last Thursday night, as they met with all members present.

On motion by Fowler, seconded by Parker the board voted to approve oil lease to Hayes Oil Co. on land owned by the school for $509.46.

On motion by Gregory, seconded by Harrison the board voted to purchase a milling machine from Mendorf, with low bid.

In routine matters, on motion by Kelley, seconded by Harrison the board voted to approve minutes of previous meeting. Also on motion by Kelley, seconded by Parker, they voted to pay the bills.

This was followed by a motion to adjourn.

Everyone Is Needed In Booster Club

"WE WANT EVERYONE" IS THE DESIRE of the Jayton High School Booster club.

What you do when you join the booster club is to give your support for all the Jayton High School activities and activities.

You are not required to have children in school, engaged in athletics to join the club and be a member, but what you do have to do is to have the school spirit and desire and will to help our Jaybirds to victory every week.

Since beginning their membership drive, the members have swelled to 75 members, but there is still room for more.

The boosters meet on Tuesday nights in the school cafeteria at 7:30. Everyone is invited.

William A. Riley, Secretary of State: "The public will be informed about U.S. commitments in the Egyptian-Saudi accord."

Anwar Sadat, Egyptian President: "The Soviet boycott (of the accord) was a flagrant provocation and attempt to divide the Arab front."

WILLIAM A. RILEY, Secretary of State, will moderate the forum.

KENNETH SCHOLZ is an internist and specialist in rheumatic diseases in Big Spring. He will present part of the program for the Arthritis Forum in Jayton.

Public Forum on Arthritis Is Set For Jayton Sept. 26th

Interested persons are invited to attend a Public Forum on Arthritis, the Number One Crippler, at 8 p.m. Friday, September 26, at Kent County Community Center. The program is being jointly sponsored by the Family Living Center of Kent County Extension Service and the Plains Division, West Texas Chapter, of the Arthritis Foundation.

William A. Riley, internist and specialist in rheumatic diseases in Big Spring, will moderate the forum. A graduate of Baylor University School of Medicine, Dr. Riley has been in private practice in Big Spring since 1967. He is a member of American Medical Association, Howard County Medical Society, American Rheumatism Association and a member of the Medical Committee of the Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

Participating will be Dr. Kenneth Scholz, associate professor of Orthopedic Surgery at Texas Tech University School of Medicine. He is also a member of Baylor medical school and is the author of numerous publications. He is a member of the American Board of Orthopedic Surgery, Lubbock-Crosby County Medical Society, Texas Society for Team Physicians, International League of Surgeons, and the Medical Committee of the West Texas Chapter of Arthritis Foundation.

Robert Horton, a registered physical therapist from Big Spring, will be the host of the forum. A staff member at Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, Horton has been in Big Spring since 1968 and is active in Texas Physical Therapy Society.

Arthritis strikes one in 10 Americans; each fourth house contains a person who has arthritis. Contrary to popular belief that arthritis is an "old folks disease," rheumatoid, which is the most painful, painful and prevalent type, comes from birth to age 30 or 40. Each year there are 600,000 new arthritis victims, 250,000 of which are children. The economic toll in lost wages and medical bills last year was $9.3 billion, and the American people were bled of $4.8 million in quack "cures" and remedies. There is no known cause or cure for arthritis.

West Texas Chapter was instrumental in getting a Department of Rheumatology at Texas Tech University School of Medicine. Less than one-third of the medical schools in the United States have such departments; there are only 10 rheumatologists in the nation.

Attention to establishing and maintaining a research laboratory at TTU, the Texas Chapter supports scholarship and fellowship funds that go strictly to young men and women who wish to pursue the study of arthritis and the rheumatic diseases at TTU. These projects are maintained entirely by West Texas Chapter; they receive no state, federal or national funds. In addition to the program to be presented Friday night, there will be free literature (a part of the continuing education program supported by the West Texas Chapter) and a program of self-help aids.

Everyone is cordially invited regardless of race, creed, national origin, or economic circumstances.

Brian Cleveland Takes The Chronicle Football Contest

The Jayton football contest this week drew more entrants than it has in several years. Some were pretty good, but quite a few missed four and five games.

Taking first place was Brian Cleveland, who missed no games.

Floyd Hall was second, again this week, missing two games. Three people missed three games. To determine third place three people missed three games. The tie breaker score was 8, Billie Fowler had it 22, John Gibson 40, and Gus Fincher 44. This gave Fowler third place.

Get into the contest, it is a lot of fun, and boosts high school football, and particularly the Jaybirds. Anyone can enter, even the sponsors—and its all free.

Kent County Gets Approval For Terrace Rebuilding

Due to extra rains in late May, early June and continuous rains this summer, terrace systems have been severely damaged in various parts of the county, it is reported.

The ASC County committee has recommended and the county has been approved for a program to assist farmers to restore damaged terrace systems. Where the damage is severe to the extent that farmers need more than the normal maintenance to restore the damage, then the program provides assistance up to 80 percent of the actual cost of restoring the system.

Terraces that were functioning at the time of the damage are eligible to be restored to current terrace specifications. Terraces that had row crops that did not follow the terraces will not qualify for assistance.

Producers that feel they have damage to their terraces, that would meet the eligibility standards must apply for assistance by Oct. 10, 1975. This is so even though the repair cannot be started until the current crops are harvested.

All applications must be made in the A. S. C. S. office in the court house in Jayton.

The chapter parents will be Mr. and Mrs. SoRelle and Mr. and Mrs. Rider. Mrs. Kathy Owen is the F. H. A. sponsor.—F. H. A. reporter and historian.

Bicentennial Briefs

A great many people figured prominently in the colonies before and after the war with the British. We know a great deal about George Washington, John Adams, Samuel Adams, Benjamin Franklin and Thomas Jefferson, to name a few — but there were other Americans, other nationalities, less known personalities, who let us not forget, one such person was a man by the name of Crispus Attacks.

On the Boston common there is a monument which was erected in his honor in 1888.

Crispus Attacks, was born in Farmingham, Mass. in about 1728. He was the first of five to die in a volley of British shots, when he fought with friends during the "Boston Massacre" March 5, 1770 on King Street.

He was identified by a witness as a stout black man, a sailor.

The Farmer's Income

Even though the number of American farmers continues to decrease (because of mechanization, the trend toward huge farms), farm production and productivity continue to increase.

This is a tribute to both American technology and the American farmer. And this impressive performance is currently enabling the nation to feed itself and millions outside the United States, and to achieve an international trade surplus.

Yet the farmer's individual income still lags; he continues to receive only 42¢ of every food dollar. The per capita income of farmers is still well below $4,000, while the national average is above $5,000.

Truth On Grain Crop

Much confusion and emotionalism have resulted from the sale of over nine million metric tons of grain to the Russians in recent weeks and months. The reason for the current disquiet stems from the U.S. experience in 1972, when in a secret arrangement the Russians purchased about nineteen million tons of grain.

That 1972 sale, which at that time was possible through private dealers, caused food prices in this country to rise, and produced much criticism. As a result, Congress enacted legislation which requires dealers to report all important foreign sales to the Department of Agriculture within twenty-four hours.

This year's sales are, so far, about half the 1972 total, and no export subsidies or government credit is involved. Moreover, this year the nation is harvesting a record grain crop. The wheat crop just harvested totaled about 2.2 billion bushels, a record. Corn production is forecast at 5.8 billion bushels, also a record. Soybean production is expected to be the second highest in the nation's history, about 1.46 billion bushels.

As a result of this record harvest, rather large surpluses of grain are likely this fall despite recent sales to Russia. In fact, without these sales, the surpluses could have driven prices down to an undesirable low.

Because the price of wheat accounts for only about four cents in a one-pound loaf of bread, the effect of this year's sales to Russia (so far most of the Russian purchase has been of corn) could not be very great, even if wheat prices firmed as a result. But because little wheat has been bought by the Russians, as yet, compared to 1972, the rise in grain prices, in spite of record U.S. harvests, is obviously emotionalism caused by a psychological reaction in the market linked to memories of 1972.

Most likely, there will be further Russian purchases of U.S. grains this year—wheat in particular. But even after such sales the prospect is that carryover wheat stocks will have risen considerably after the 1975 crop year.

The Jayton Jaybirds Post Important Win Over Spur Friday

One of the best sports rivalries exists between the Jayton Jaybirds and the Spur Bulldogs, and the Jaybirds always take special delight when they can go to Spur and beat the Dogs right there in the snake pit. And this is just what they did last Friday night—bringing home a very hard fought, and well earned 8-0 victory.

Many water soaked fans watched through a continuous downpour—the Jaybirds got on the victory side of the scoreboard in the second quarter, and then guarded it very stingily. The touchdown climaxed a 67-yard drive, highlighted by a 24 yard pass from tailback Mark Fincher to quarterback Bobby Kelley after Kelly had pitched to ball to Fincher. Fincher then ran the final 9 yards for the game only TD, and then came back to run the ball the 3 yards for the two point conversion.

Jaybird fans then sat on seats edge as the Bulldogs made their most threatening drive the last two minutes of the game. With a little over two minutes left on the game clock, Spur gained possession of the ball on the Jaybird 25 yard line, and drove down to just inside the Jayton 15 yard line, but ran out of time before they could move the ball again.

Jaybirds dominated the most of the statistics of the game, leading in first downs 10 to 5, and led in rushing 153 yards to 49 yards. Spur held a slight edge in passing, two of 8, with one intercepted for 26. Jayton completed one of two, and had none picked off. The Jaybirds lost two fumbles, while the home Bulldogs did not have a single miscue.

Jayton was penalized three times for 25 yards, while the Dogs had five penalties walked off against them for 37 yards.

The Jaybirds were forced to punt five times for a 35 yard average. Spur punted seven times for 32 yards average.

The Jaybirds will host the Aspermont Hornets this Friday night at 8 o'clock. This will be the last of the pre-conference games. Beginning the next Friday, all games will go into the district record book.

This should be a top game. Don't miss it.

Cigarette Advertising

As it becomes more and more accepted that cigarettes kill and incapacitate millions, world opinion is building to ban all cigarette advertising and even to ban cigarettes.

In Britain a government-financed monitoring group is protesting the present situation there—where cigarette advertising is already banned on television and censored by an industry-publishing group in the press. The group says cigarette advertising continues to be misleading and to project false information.

In Norway all cigarette advertising was banned in July. Sweden is now launching a 25-year plan to ban smoking altogether. (Other countries traditionally follow the Scandinavian lead in beneficial programs of a pioneer nature.)

In Washington the Federal Trade Commission has proposed stricter controls on the content and claims of cigarette advertising in this country, and undoubtedly progress in this direction is only a matter of time. Meanwhile, smoking on public carriers, in public places and in hospitals and theaters is steadily being more and more proscribed and some public-service-minded newspapers refuse to accept cigarette advertising.

Orville Freeman, former U.S. Secretary of Agriculture:

"We need to work out with the Russians a consistent purchase plan."

Screw Worm Population In Kent County Getting High

Twenty-one screwworm cases have been confirmed in Kent County since August. A number of additional unconfirmed cases are being treated. A Texas Animal Health Commission representative was in Kent County last week and termed Kent County a "hot spot" for screwworms. The northeast part of Kent County has been the area with most cases reported. This portion of Kent County had sterile screwworm flies dropped by air by representatives from the Mission Screwworm Control Lab on Tuesday, 9 September. Several cases have been reported around Clarendon. This area was included in the fly drop during the past week.

The Screwworm Lab reports the nearest infestation in Howard County, Taylor-Calihan County area, Throckmorton County, and Burk Burnett in Wichita County. A confirmed case in Dickens County is from a farm on the Kent-Dickens county line. A confirmed case in Stonewall is two miles from the Kent County line. Other counties in this area have not reported any screwworm cases.

Livestock and pet owners are urged to submit samples of larvae (worms) from the wound of an animal for laboratory identification. Mailing kits for this purpose are available from the County Extension Office.

Livestock owners are encouraged to avoid shearing, docking, ear marking, branding, and other wounding to their animals until cool weather sets in. Spraying or treating with a USDA approved insecticide can reduce the risk of screwworm infestations. Unavoidable wounds such as navels of newborn calves should be treated with an approved insecticide.

The release of sterile males among known screwworm populations is the primary tool of the Screwworm Eradication Program. Female flies usually mate only once in their lifetime. Sterile flies will be dropped as long as screwworm cases continue to be sent to the Mission Lab, Kent County had only two cases last year, compared to 165 cases during an epidemic year in 1972. Prior to 1972, Kent County had only one case during the preceding eight years.

Simmered Beef Shanks

2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
 1 tablespoon salt
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 3 to 4 pounds crosscut beef shanks
 1 tablespoon shortening
 1 cup tomato juice
 2 tablespoons snipped parsley
 1/2 teaspoon dried basil, crushed
 4 medium potatoes, pared and quartered
 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour

Combine 2 tablespoons flour, salt, and pepper in a paper or plastic bag; add beef shanks, one at a time, and shake to coat. Brown meat in hot shortening in Dutch oven. Add tomato juice, parsley, and basil. Cover and simmer 1 1/2 hours. Add potatoes; cover and simmer 30 to 45 minutes more or till potatoes are tender. Remove meat and potatoes; skin off excess fat from pan juices. Add enough water to juices to make 1 cup liquid; return to pan. Mix together 1/2 cup cold water and 2 tablespoons flour; stir into juices. Cook and stir till thickened and bubbly. Serve with potatoes. Serves 4 to 6.

Ham and Potato Scallop

1 fully-cooked ham slice, cut 1/2 inch thick (about 1 pound)
 5 cups thinly sliced pared potatoes
 1 10 1/2-ounce can condensed cream of mushroom soup
 1/4 cup milk
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 1/4 cup chopped green pepper
 Dash pepper
 2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cut ham in serving or bite-size pieces. Place half the potatoes in greased 2-quart casserole. Cover with ham pieces. Place remaining potatoes atop. Combine soup, milk, onion, green pepper, and pepper; pour over potatoes. Dot with butter. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350°) 1 hour. Remove cover; bake 45 minutes longer or till potatoes are done. Trim with snipped parsley. Makes 6 servings.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 SUMMARY OF PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS (S. J. R. NO. 11)
 SPECIAL ELECTION NOVEMBER 4, 1975

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the separation of powers, legislative and executive provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article II, Separation of Powers, is amended to:
 Provide that the powers of government of the State of Texas are divided among three distinct branches: legislative, executive, and judicial. Except as otherwise authorized by the constitution, members of one branch may not exercise any power properly attached to either of the others.

efficiency of the executive branch.
 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the SEPARATION OF POWERS, LEGISLATIVE, AND EXECUTIVE PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."

If adopted by the voters, will become effective January 1, 1976, except Article III, Section 5, which becomes effective January 1, 1981.

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the judiciary provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article V, The Judiciary is amended to:
 Establish a unified judicial system consisting of the supreme court, court of appeals, district courts, and circuit courts. Existing county courts and county judges are continued until otherwise provided by law. All judges (except municipal judges), district attorneys and district clerks must be elected by the people. The supreme court and the court of criminal appeals are merged into a single court of last resort, and this supreme court is authorized to provide for efficient administration of the judicial system and to balance case loads. Individual rights for a trial by jury and appeal by the accused are continued. The state is granted the right to appeal in criminal cases in limited circumstances, and the legislature is permitted to establish methods of appeal to the courts from decisions of state agencies.

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the voting and election provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VI, Voter Qualifications and Elections, is amended to:
 Provide for registration and qualifications for voting including voter residency requirements to be established by law. A citizen of the United States who is at least 18 years of age and who meets the registration and residence requirements provided by law is a qualified voter unless the person has been convicted of a felony and for that felony is incarcerated, on parole, or on probation, or unless the person is mentally incompetent as determined by a court. Voting by the people in all elections must be by secret ballot, and the legislature shall provide by law for residence, registration, and absentee voting requirements, for the administration of elections, and for the protection of the electoral process. The general election for state and county officers is to be held in even-numbered years on a date prescribed by law.

 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the VOTING AND ELECTION PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

Article III, The Legislature, is amended to:
 Continue the present structure of the legislature consisting of a senate with 31 members and a house of representatives with 150 members. The present organization and procedure of the legislature are continued except that the provision allowing closed executive sessions of the senate is omitted. Provisions on the conflict of interest of members of the legislature are continued, as is the governor's power to veto bills or line items in appropriation bills. The article provides for single-member senatorial, representative, and congressional districts. A compensation commission is created to recommend the compensation and allowances to be received by members of the legislature. The legislative compensation, set by law, may not exceed this recommendation and does not take effect until after an intervening general election. The article provides for annual sessions of 140 days in odd-numbered years and 90 days in even-numbered years, and a veto session of 15 days upon request of three-fifths of the membership of each house. The legislature may meet in organizational sessions prior to the convening of the legislature in regular sessions.

Article IV, The Executive, is amended to: Continue the present status of the governor and all other statewide officers, and include the commissioner of agriculture as an executive department officer. The governor is limited to two consecutive terms. The governor is authorized to designate chairmen of state boards, and to remove gubernatorial appointees to state agencies for cause unless the removal is vetoed by the senate. The article mandates the legislature to provide a new governor-elect an appropriation so the governor-elect may organize an office prior to inauguration, and permits the legislature to grant powers of fiscal control to the governor. All governmental agencies, with several exceptions, have a life of not more than ten years unless extended by the legislature, and, at the regular session held in odd-numbered years, the governor shall submit to the legislature a report on the organization and tax of two cents on the $100 assessed valuation to provide funds for the State Building Fund. Provides that all real property and tangible personal property must be taxed equally and uniformly in proportion to market value. Existing exemptions from ad valorem taxation are continued. The present dedication of motor fuel taxes for highway purposes and the Available School Fund is retained. The "pay-as-you-go" principle for the operation of state government is retained. The legislature shall establish separate formulas for appraising land to promote the preservation of forest land devoted to timber production. The $3000 exemption from state ad valorem taxation for residential homesteads is continued and the legislature by law may increase this amount. A separate $3000 exemption from ad valorem taxation by political subdivisions is provided for the residential homestead of persons at least 65 years of age and the political subdivision may increase this amount. The legislature by law may exempt from ad valorem taxation certain property owned by veterans' organizations, non-profit water corporations, and persons in need because of age or disability, and economic circumstance. The legislature may also exempt property to preserve historical, cultural or natural history resources. Taxpayers are provided a new method of correcting inequitable tax assessments by paying ad valorem taxes under protest and suing for a refund in a district court. State debt may be authorized by law only if approved by a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and submitted to and approved by a majority of the qualified voters of the state voting on the question. Public funds and public credit may be used only for public purposes and no public funds or public credit may be used to influence the election of a public officer. The article prohibits a retail sales tax on agricultural machinery or parts, fertilizer, feeds or seeds, prescription drugs or medicine, or food, except food sold by restaurants for immediate consumption. An assessment voted by marine food or agricultural producers on their product sales is not a tax if provision is made for the individual producer to receive a refund of the assessment when the producer does not desire to be assessed.

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the education provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VII, Education, is amended to:
 Provide that the Permanent and Available School Funds and the county public school funds are continued for the support of the free public schools. The State Board of Education is retained and the Permanent and Available University Funds are continued for the benefit of The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. A new Higher Education Fund for Texas is established for the benefit of colleges and universities outside The University of Texas and Texas A&M Systems. The state ad valorem tax of ten cents on $100 valuation is continued as the source of revenue for the Fund. The ten cent higher education tax may be changed by law within the ten cent maximum. The legislature may allocate by law a portion of the Higher Education Fund to certain state vocational and technical institutes. The article provides that the public education system must furnish each individual an equal educational opportunity, but a school district may provide local enrichment of educational programs exceeding the level provided by the state consistent with general law. Authority to issue Permanent University Bonds is continued but the bonds may not exceed 30% of the Permanent University Fund.

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the finance provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article VIII, Finance, is amended to:
 Provide that state taxes may be levied and collected only by general law and to prohibit any state ad valorem tax on real property or tangible personal property except the ten cent tax provided for in Article VII and a effective January 1, 1979.

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the local government provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article IX, Local Government, is amended to:
 Provide that the counties of the state are those that exist on the date of adoption of the local government article and that county boundaries may be changed if approved by a majority of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. Counties may be merged or county seats relocated if approved by two-thirds of the qualified voters in each affected county who vote on the question. The present elected constitutional county offices are retained and four year terms of office are provided. The voters of a county may create additional offices, eliminate offices, or combine the duties and functions of offices. The voters may also grant ordinance making power to the governing body of the county. Cities and towns having more than 1,500 inhabitants may become home-rule cities. Tax limitations are established for operating purposes for cities and counties and the legislature is required to fix debt limits for cities, towns, counties, and school and community junior college districts.
 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the LOCAL GOVERNMENT PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective on September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the general provisions of the Texas Constitution. Article X, General Provisions, is amended to:
 Provide the basic requirements relating to public officeholders such as the official oath and residency requirements. The provision defining the separate and community property of spouses is retained, and the protection of a homestead from forced sale is continued. The legislature is required to protect certain personal property from forced sale. Current wages for personal service are not subject to garnishment. A private corporation may not be chartered except under general law, and no bank may engage in business at more than one place in this state. The legislature must provide for the regulation of bank holding companies. The present system of local-option elections for the prohibition or sale of alcoholic beverages is continued. The legislature is required to prohibit lotteries and gift enterprises but may permit certain bingo games and raffles. The presently existing provisions for retirement benefits of teachers and other public employees are modified to allow the state to contribute more than 10% of the state's general revenue to the environment of the State of Texas is to be protected and established, and the legislature is required to implement and enforce this policy. No state funds may be used to remove surface water from the river basin of origin if the surface water is necessary to supply the reasonably foreseeable water requirements of the basin for the ensuing 50 years, unless the removal of water is sufficiently replaced to the point of removal from outside the state or is on a temporary, interim basis. The seaward beaches of the Gulf of Mexico and coastal submerged lands belonging to the state are held by the state in perpetuity for the people, and subject to reasonable limitations prescribed by law, the public has the free and unrestricted right of use and benefit of the beaches. The provision is continued that, except as otherwise provided by law, a rate of interest in excess of ten percent a year is usurious, and that if a contract does not specify a rate of interest the rate under the contract may not exceed six percent a year. Discrimination against handicapped persons is prohibited, and a goal of the state is established to provide every resident access to adequate, comprehensive health care.

 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the GENERAL PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the mode of amending provisions of the Texas Constitution. The proposed article will be the last article of the constitution. If only Proposition No. 8 is adopted, the article will replace Article XVII of the present constitution. If other propositions are adopted, the article will be appropriately renumbered to remain the last article of the constitution. If all propositions are adopted, the article will be Article XI. Article XVII, Mode of Amending the Constitution of the State, is amended to:
 Establish a procedure for constitutional amendments requiring a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and majority approval by the voters. The calling of a limited or unlimited constitutional convention with voter approval is provided. The question of whether to call a constitutional convention must be submitted to the people every 30 years.
 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the MODE OF AMENDING PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

tributed more than 10% of the state's general revenue to the environment of the State of Texas is to be protected and established, and the legislature is required to implement and enforce this policy. No state funds may be used to remove surface water from the river basin of origin if the surface water is necessary to supply the reasonably foreseeable water requirements of the basin for the ensuing 50 years, unless the removal of water is sufficiently replaced to the point of removal from outside the state or is on a temporary, interim basis. The seaward beaches of the Gulf of Mexico and coastal submerged lands belonging to the state are held by the state in perpetuity for the people, and subject to reasonable limitations prescribed by law, the public has the free and unrestricted right of use and benefit of the beaches. The provision is continued that, except as otherwise provided by law, a rate of interest in excess of ten percent a year is usurious, and that if a contract does not specify a rate of interest the rate under the contract may not exceed six percent a year. Discrimination against handicapped persons is prohibited, and a goal of the state is established to provide every resident access to adequate, comprehensive health care.
 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the GENERAL PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the mode of amending provisions of the Texas Constitution. The proposed article will be the last article of the constitution. If only Proposition No. 9 is adopted, the article will replace Article XVII of the present constitution. If other propositions are adopted, the article will be appropriately renumbered to remain the last article of the constitution. If all propositions are adopted, the article will be Article XI. Article XVII, Mode of Amending the Constitution of the State, is amended to:
 Establish a procedure for constitutional amendments requiring a two-thirds vote of each house of the legislature and majority approval by the voters. The calling of a limited or unlimited constitutional convention with voter approval is provided. The question of whether to call a constitutional convention must be submitted to the people every 30 years.
 The wording of the proposed constitutional amendment as it will appear on the ballot is as follows:
 "The constitutional amendment revising the MODE OF AMENDING PROVISIONS of the Texas Constitution."
 If adopted by the voters, will become effective September 1, 1976.

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT
 Revising the mode of amending provisions of the Texas Constitution. The proposed article will be the last article of the constitution. If only Proposition No. 10 is adopted, the article will replace Article XVII of the present constitution. Home Demonstration Club Has Meeting

After an adjournment from June to Sept. 10, the HD Council met at the Kent County Community Center.

Seven members who will be the 4-H answered roll call, Chairperson, as Mrs. Bill Perkins has moved from the area. Mrs. Koonce gave good reports on all 4-H activities.

Mrs. W. W. Hodges had charge of the recreation, a true or false set of questions on how to save fuel and electricity. "Should you leave your oven timer on the entire time the recipe calls for, or should it be cut off for a few minutes before and let the food continue cooking on the enclosed heat?"

Mrs. Earnest Thomas had the thought for the day, "You tell what you are by looks, speech and facial countenance." Thank you notes were six workshops attend, so that they may bring the results to our club.

Jayton and Girard gave good reports on the September meeting.

The next council meeting will be Oct. 9th at 2:pm in Jayton. The programs will be "Cleaning and Oiling Sewing Machines", by the agent, Mrs. Bobby Stanaland.

You are welcome to attend the club meetings. Reporter

Exercise

Recent new studies confirm earlier findings that regular exercise for the body is the best way to maintain healthy organs, especially a healthy heart.

Heart attacks, which incapacitate so many Americans—kill many of them—can often be prevented, experts now tell us, by regular exercise—which builds the heart muscles.

Other exercises do wonders for the various parts of the body; for example, regular eye exercises can rest the eyes, restore capacity and reduce discomfort.

Steve doesn't mind. Only a little. He knows Dad has to travel. And some days Mom must work the swing shift.

Steve doesn't mind. Not very much. It's just that food doesn't make a dinner. It's like a vacuum when you're alone. And the evening—what's to do?

Such vacuums can affect adversely the developing personality of a child. They can also test a child's sense of security and self-reliance.

We claim no expertise in child psychology. Our concern, however, is that there be no Sunday morning vacuum. A Steve whose character is being molded by spiritual and moral training, a Steve whose home has the atmosphere of religious conviction and integrity . . . such a Steve is better equipped to meet the tests of loneliness and freedom.

In many families we cannot alter circumstances — but we can foster quality of character to cope with it. The Church is ready to help!

SURVEYING

On Strike

By Charles Richards

Here's the lead paragraph in a front-page story in Wednesday's Avalanche-Journal:

"A strike by New York's 65,000 teachers virtually shut down public schools for the city's 1.1 million students Tuesday, while in Chicago, schools remained closed as a week-long teachers' strike continued."

In October of 1968, United Press International transferred me from Little Rock to New York City, and one of the first "shockers" that hit me was the fact that NYC teachers were on strike, and had been since school began. Almost two months into the school year, students had been to less than a week of classes.

Doris and I and our daughter, Stephanie (13 months old at the time) lived in an apartment building catty-corner from a high school and block down from an elementary school.

Can you picture schools with tall iron fences around them? They looked like "institutions" of some type. Every day when school was out (when they did have classes), they'd put a big lock through chains on the gate.

In New York, you seldom see a school surrounded by a wide expanse of lawn, playgrounds, parking lots and football stadiums. Immediately next to schools in New York City you see grocery stores, skyscrapers, businesses, homes, businesses, homes, businesses, homes.

One of the first days after we had moved to New York, we walked down a sidewalk next to the elementary school near our apartment house. We saw three boys looking out of the window in their classroom. One of them gave an obscene gesture.

In the weeks to follow, the garbage men went on strike for higher wages, and in New York the garbage isn't in back of the houses, it's in front, where all the pedestrian traffic is. After a week or so, the smell was putrifying.

Then the police and firemen went on strike, separately. First it was the firemen. They wanted as much money as policemen, and when they finally got it, the policemen went on strike, demanding that they be paid more than firemen.

While we were in New York, doctors and nurses went on strike. And grave-diggers went on strike.

An Italian league that was headed by a Mafia chief was protesting against the Staten Island Advance for publicity the newspaper had been giving to Mafia operations. The league felt the publicity was unfair to Italians, and several truck drivers delivering the newspaper were beaten severely.

The same Mafia chief was shot a year or so later in a demonstration of the Italian league near Central Park.

Just when I hadn't thought of any of that in weeks or months, there was that front page story in Wednesday's Avalanche-Journal, sending the memories flooding back.

Ain't it good to live in Levelland?

I guess you also noticed the story back on page 12-A of the Wednesday A-J? AFL-CIO president George Meany said he would suspend for a month the boycott on loading grain for ships bound for Russia... after President Ford pledged to try to work out long-term grain arrangements with the Soviet Union...

President Ford was pledging to work out an agreement through which Russia would keep its grain-buying from American farmers to a minimum. Meany doesn't like the idea of consumer prices rising because of the supply-and-demand factor that favors the farmer.
He doesn't mind if consumer prices go up because of the soaring union wages, because the unions come out way ahead. But since farm workers aren't unionized, it just hurts the union worker's pocket book when the price of grain, and subsequently other grocery items, goes up a few pennies.

It's amazing what you can do, the "taboo" places you can gain entrance to if you just look like you know what you're doing and walk in a place as if you have every right to be there.

There have been numerous times that I've been sent places to report on crises of various sorts (when I was with UPI), and I learned that lesson by experience.

If a hurricane has just hit a city, for example, like it did Brownsville in 1966, plenty of places are cordoned off that you're not allowed, either because wires are down, police don't want looters in a downtown area, or there's an area that top officials are working and they don't want a conglomeration of people in the area.

You walk up and meekly ask if you can go in, you can't. The young police patrolman then tells you no, sorry, but those are his orders and you must turn back.

But walk up briskly, looking as if you had every right in the world to be there, not showing any doubt, maybe even saying, "Excuse me," as you brush by the officer, and he doesn't even challenge you. But let the officer know you have any kind of doubt yourself that you can get in, and you can forget it.

There was a new TV series that began Tuesday night (I didn't see it, but someone told me about it) called "Switch." A former policeman and a former con man were teaming to stop other "con man" operations, and in a "Mission Impossible" type operation, they gained their access to the places they needed to get by just "taking on" some title or position that would justify entrance, and then acting that part for all the world.

Three plainclothes policemen tried the same ploy last week in Titusville, Fla. They were turned loose in a department store with orders to shoplift everything they could get their hands on, and the store says they got away with "a pile of loot and no challenges."

They were so obvious that store clerks apparently didn't even think of anything suspicious. The three plainclothesmen just picked up a 3-HP outdoor motor and carried it out of the store; that was the easiest of all, they said.

They also walked out with a bowling ball, some sleeping bags, a coffee maker and several men's shirts.

Imagine picking up several shirts, hiding them under your coat and trying to walk nonchalantly out the front door. One of the ladies would probably scream and the store detective would nab you at the front of the building.

But instead, pick up the shirts, walk with them in plain sight under one arm with a coffeemaker under the other arm and head out the front door. Chances are you just might make it. A sales girl looks suspicious and then says, "He couldn't be THAT stupid. He must have exchanged something."

One of the plainclothesmen in Florida said he was stopped by a clerk as he carried the coffee maker out the door "but she was just trying to sell him some other merchandise."

Only the store manager was aware of the scheme. The police chief said the idea was to alert local stores how easy it is to get away with extensive shoplifting.
