Fireworks finalize Stratford's Fourth festivities

The water polo set up by the fire department provided a fun way for these youngsters to cool off at the annual Fourth of July festivities.

Children of all ages were able to enjoy themselves in the various racing events. These contestants are trying to make it to first place in the sack race.

One of the highlights of the Fourth of July festivities was the Ugly Legs contest. Here the winner, Jody Taylor is about to be revealed.

The annual Stratford Fourth of July festivities wound down with a bang Monday as a good-sized crowd watched the spectacular fireworks display. This ended an evening of food, fun and patriotism at the City Park.

Several food booths opened, starting the evening by offering food and drinks for everyone. Many youngsters found a fun way to cool off at the water polo competition. A patriotic musical program with the theme "Our Pride is Showing" commemorated the pride of Stratford, the school, Texas, the United States and for God.

The Ugly Legs contest, a beauty contest in reverse, featured some of the ugliest legs in Sherman County. The audience judged the winner, Jody Taylor, and the runner up, John Lavake.

After the four winners of the ice cream freeze-off were chosen, the ice cream was sold to the spectators. First place winner in the freeze-off was Mary Hill with her Vanilla Velvet. Barbara Dettle placed second with her Tutti-frutti ice cream. Third place went to Coldwater Manor Nursing Home with the entry of Peach Brandy with Bananas. Marty Bain placed fourth with Cookies and Cream ice cream.

The dunking board provided an opportunity for several people to get even with someone or a chance to see someone get wet. The final events of the evening were races for all ages of children and adults.

Letter

To The Editor

Dear Editor,
A situation developed in Stratford on Fathers' Day, June 19, 1983. A father, mother and their three children and a niece and nephew were involved in an automobile accident. The two adults and their five year old nephew were killed. The seven year old niece was unhurt and the couple's three small children, ages eight months, two years and three years, were all placed in the Dumas hospital. The Stratford EMT unit responded to the accident call and took the survivors to Dr. Harlow. It was determined that two of the children were not in need of hospital care and the next question was what to do with these two. As there were no relatives available the Department of Human Resources was called. After further investigation one more child was sent to the hospital. This left the seven year old girl alone. Because Sherman County does not have any foster homes for either emergency or long term cases, she was taken to Dalhart and placed in foster care until relatives could be contacted. Later Sunday night one of the children was sent on to Amarillo to St. Anthony's Hospital for further treatment. At this point, there were two children in the Dumas hospital, the eight month old boy and the three year old girl, their two year old sister was in Amarillo and their seven year old cousin in Dalhart.

The reason I'm writing you this letter is to let you know of the tremendous outpouring of love and concern shown these children. Being new to Stratford, I'm sure you are not aware of the way our people are willing to step in when someone is in need.

This particular situation lasted from Sunday until the following Saturday. All of that time the two children in Dumas hospital had volunteers staying with them around the clock and the little girl in Amarillo had volunteers during the daytime and evening and special care from the nurses at night. When word of the accident got around people volunteered to do what they could. Stores were opened to get necessary items, including formula and bottles for the baby. A list of 40 Stratford people, some Dumas people and two former Stratford folks who now live in Amarillo all rotated shifts so the children would not have to be alone. Also there was a volunteer to set up a schedule and let people know when they were needed. Needless to say everyone soon became attached to these kids and by Saturday the children were responding to a little spoiling.

On Friday the little girl in Amarillo was brought back to Dumas so all of the three children could be together. The niece in foster care had been picked up earlier in the week by an uncle and taken to her grandparents' home in Ft. Worth. As their father was a military man, the other three children were kept until Saturday when a military plane could be sent to pick them up and transport them to their grandparents who were awaiting their arrival in South Carolina.

All of the people who have been involved with these children gave their time and love willingly, expecting nothing in return.

The accident was a terrible tragedy for this family, but as one person said, they were fortunate that it happened in a community where people still will get involved with strangers and give of themselves.

I just wanted to let you know, as a member of the Sherman County Child Welfare Board, I am proud of my neighbors and am sure you will discover the best people in the world live right here.

Wes Side Story

by Wes Brown, Editor

It seems certain things suddenly appear to be odd at the strangest times. Take chewing gum for example. This is one of the oddest substances that has ever been created by man. This thought came to me as I was scraping a wad of the stuff off the bottom of my shoe.

Having chewing gum on the bottom of my shoe is the most frustrating situation in life. No matter where I park my car, my first step out is on a big piece of gum that has been chewed, spat out and left in the hot sun until it is the right consistency to stick to anything.

Of course, I don't notice until I take my second step and my shoe sticks to the pavement. I usually keep on walking, hoping to get it off by walking. Instead, tiny gravel sticks to the gum and when I walk down the sidewalk I make funny clicking noises. If the gravel doesn't stick to the gum, the gum invariably comes off as soon as I enter a store with nice carpet.

When I was a youngster, my parents had a hard time convincing me that I was supposed to put the gum in my mouth and chew it without swallowing. It seemed logical if I put something in my mouth to chew, it should be swallowed. Most children seem to have this same reasoning. When they discover they can't swallow it, they do the next best thing, take it out of their mouth and play with it. They usually play with it until it either sticks to their fingers or gets too dirty to chew again. Then they throw it on the ground to get stuck on someone's shoes.

But why was chewing gum invented in the first place? Surely it wasn't invented just to get stuck on shoes and under the desks at school. My theory is a scientist was trying to make a cheap source of protein to feed the hungry people of the world when he accidentally discovered chewing gum.

He tried one of the variations of his formula and tasted it. He chewed it for several minutes when the idea struck him he could make some money with it. He gave some to his wife. She tried it, but after a while she got mad at his stupid experiment and threw the gum on the floor saying it tasted funny. The scientist stepped on it before he could tell her how much money he would make.

It was not long until bubble gum was invented. This is stranger than regular chewing gum. I wonder which came first, the bubble gum or the bubbles? If the bubble gum came first, who taught everyone to blow bubbles? If the bubbles came first, who decided to make a gum just for this purpose?

When I was going to school, chewing gum in class was strictly forbidden. Along with the other students, I didn't understand this rule so it was broken often. Usually the punishment was just throwing the gum away.

I had one English teacher who could sense who was chewing gum even though the student was doing his best to hide it. I would have bet she could tell who was thinking about chewing gum. I remember the time I got caught chewing gum in her class. I wasn't actually chewing it, it was just sitting in my mouth while I just thought about chewing it.

The teacher turned and looked at me about mid-way through the class. "You are chewing gum, aren't you?"

This took me by such a surprise that I didn't have a chance to swallow the gum to avoid detection. I stammered out an affirmative. With a stern expression she made me throw the gum away.

At that point in high school, we thought it was smart to throw away half of the piece of gum. This usually satisfied the teacher that the gum was thrown away and we still had gum. I should have quit while I was ahead. After I threw away the half piece, I returned to my desk.

About five minutes later, the teacher looked at me again. "You still have gum, don't you?"

The silence in the classroom was so thick it could have been cut with a knife. I was given the ultimate punishment—I was sent to the principal's office. I had heard stories about what happened to students who were sent to the principal's office. Those stories haunted me as I walked down the long corridor to the office.

Fortunately, the principal was not in. The superintendent happened to be in, though. He must have understood about gum. He simply wrote a note to the teacher that said if I got caught chewing gum in her class again, I would be severely punished. Relieved, I took the note to the teacher and never even thought about chewing gum in that class again.

Another teacher asked me what the difference was between a student chewing gum and a cow chewing cud in a field. After I told him I didn't know, he said it was the intelligent look on the cow's face.

For the first time in many years, wheat was stored on the ground in Sherman county. According to Don Riffe at Stratford grain company, the grain is being stored on the ground because of the PIK program, not as much grain is being moved around. Average bushels per acre have been as low as 16 bushels on wheat that was hulled on, up to 80 plus on irrigated wheat. The averages have been running about 35-45 bushels per acre on dryland yields. Riffe said that this was the best year he has seen in his lifetime. He also said that he hopes that everyone understands the delays caused by the heavy traffic, everyone throughout the area is having the same problem, Riffe said and some people are wanting to unload at Stratford that don't normally do so.

To celebrate National Ice Cream Week, July 10-16, the Coldwater Manor Nursing home will host a homemade ice cream supper July 14 at 6:30 p.m. Bring a freezer of ice cream to the Home and help celebrate National Ice Cream Week.

ABILENE-Tamara Deann Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson of Stratford, was one of 713 spring graduates at Abilene Christian University.

Wilson received a bachelor of science and home economics in home economics education.

ACU awarded degrees to 615 undergraduate and 98 graduate students during commencement exercises in Moody Coliseum May 1. The group was the largest class ever to graduate from the university, which is the fourth largest private college or university in Texas and the largest affiliated with the Churches of Christ.

Tip Top Twirlers

Tip Top Twirlers Square Dance Club met June 11 at the County Barn. The dance was opened at 7:30 p.m. with a workshop conducted by Ron Woods, our regular club caller. Dancers learned new plus-one moves and reviewed some old ones.

The regular dance started at 8 p.m. with Ron calling to a good crowd of members plus dancers from visiting clubs of Gruver, Keyes, Spearman, Boise City, and Dumas. We certainly enjoyed the evening of dance with a little mischief from the "spoon-passers" thrown in.

At intermission refreshments of sandwiches, chips and dips, and cookies were served.

Our next dance will be July 9. This will be a Sadie Hawkins Dance, all dances ladies' choice. There will be the usual workshop at 7:30 p.m. and dance at 8 p.m. Dancers, come dressed Dogpatch style (or any which way). Cake and ice cream will be served. A reminder: we are not dancing at Coldwater Manor this summer.

Hope to see you Saturday whether you are a current member or not. We'd love to see any past dancers back. There are a lot of helping hands if you feel rusty about your dancing.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR L. STOKES

by Timmie Brown, reporter

Sherman County Older Texans met in regular session May 26 at noon. For those who wished to have their blood pressure checked, representatives from our local EMT were present to do so. The meal was served by Baptist WMU members. A vote of thanks goes to both organizations for the kind services and attention shown us.

President Howard Etheridge called a meeting of SCOT Board of Directors on June 22. At this meeting a proposed budget was read and discussed. The decision to present this proposed budget to SCOT members was reached.

June 23 was regular meeting day for SCOT. President Etheridge chaired the meeting. About 100 were present, including a goodly number from Coldwater Manor and two guests.

We were very glad to welcome Wes Brown into our community. Wes is editor of the Stratford Star. We wish him success in this business venture and trust that he will find happiness and contentment among us.

John Erickson from Perryton, a writer and author of several books on cowboy life was a welcome visitor also. We Older Texans are really appreciative and supportive of people who record and with stories re-live episodes that we can clearly understand and enjoy. Thank you, Mr. Erickson, for coming to visit.

In a session following the meal, B.A. Donelson presented the proposed budget discussed at the Board meeting. Members understand that the adoption of a budget was vital to SCOT's making application for a grant to secure money to make repairs and prepare our building for use. It is a modest and reasonable budget for our community resources. SCOT members voted to accept the recommendation. Howard declared there were no dissenting votes.

Now at long last due to persistent and far-seeing effort by many people, it is becoming possible for SCOT organization to have a permanent home, a base from which service to aging people of Sherman County can be continued for years to come.

The meal was bountiful and delicious. The fellowship was enlivening and pleasant.

Thank you, First State Bank, for the meat for the occasion. Thank you, Ladies of Christian Church, for serving us so well and graciously.

Withholding on interest could be repealed

Overwhelming public response is being credited for the delay and almost certain repeal of the unpopular tax withholding law on interest and dividends.

Last week, Treasury Secretary Donald Regan granted a one-month delay in the scheduled start of the tax collection law and acknowledged that the 1982 withholding provision probably will be repealed. The law previously was due to take effect July 1 but will now be delayed until August 1.

The law would require banks and other financial institutions to withhold 10 percent of interest and dividend payments to promote taxpayer compliance and speed up tax collection.

Sharon Brown of the First National Bank of Amarillo is a member of the American Bankers Association Marketing Committee which was instrumental in organizing bank customers for a letter-writing campaign to their legislators.

"Part of the reason for the campaign was to inform the public and let them know about the tax," Brown said. "We also wanted to give them the opportunity to respond to their legislators."

"We didn't expect the response to be as great as it was, but we knew it would take broad consumer response to get the bill repealed," Brown said. "I think it is important for the public to understand that if they will speak out, their representatives in Washington will listen."

Bank consumers have been against the tax withholding law because of the loss of income from interest taken from their accounts and because of what many perceive as a further encroachment by big government.

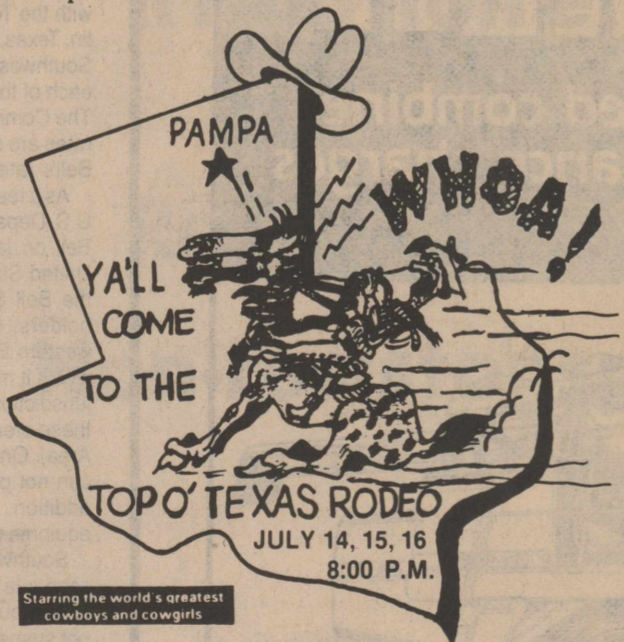

Bankers have been against the law because of the expense of additional paperwork and added pressure on computer operations. They also are concerned about strained customer relations as account holders realize the banks are withholding a portion of the interest.

Kerry Dambaugh, an employee in Jack Hightower's Washington office, agreed that public response has been the major factor in the repeal of the tax law. Hightower has received 13,500 letters from his constituents in the 13th Congressional District.

Dambaugh said the one-month delay in the start of withholding also came about because the public is still confused about what would happen if the law went into effect. The delay would allow time to clear up public confusion, she said.

Dambaugh said she believes if the President vetoes the repeal passed by both House and Senate, then Congress will still have enough support to override the veto.

Now with an extra month to work, bank lobbyists are waiting to see whether the House and Senate can resolve the differences between their respective repeal bills.

Time to control white grubs in lawn

The white grub is our most troublesome pest in lawns, and it is nearing the time of the year when insecticide treatments need to be applied.

Lawns suspected of harboring grubs should be examined during late July and early August. Take plugs of grass 3-4 inches in diameter and 4 inches in depth. Tear plugs apart and thoroughly examine for small white grubs. Examine a total area of 1-2 square feet by taking plugs from all parts of the lawn.

Treatment is justified when more than 4 grubs are found per square foot.

The key to effective control is getting the insecticide to the root zone of the grass where the grubs are feeding. Granular materials are used, follow the treatment immediately with 1/2 - 1 inch of water. If a liquid spray is to be used, prewater the lawn with a 1/4 inch followed by the treatment and then water as described for granular materials. A surfactant added to the liquid sprays enhances control.

Home food preservation season

The "moisture blessed" spring season Sherman County experienced has enabled residents to enjoy a bountiful yield of fruit crops, especially cherries, this summer. Other residents are spending time in their vegetable gardens caring for the plants in anticipation of enjoying the fruits of their labor. These crops are a welcome change for family meals and can be enjoyed throughout the year with proper home food preservation.

The Sherman County Family Living Committee and Texas Agriculture Extension Service are sponsoring Food Preservation Workshops from 5:30 - 7 p.m. at the County Extension Office July 12, 14, 19, and 21st. The following topics will be discussed:

- July 12 - Jams, Jellies, and Preserves
- July 14 - Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables
- July 19 - Canning of Fruits and Vegetables
- July 21 - Drying of Foods at Home

Participants of the workshops will learn how to test foods for the proper amount of pectin, pH level of foods, use of a pressure canner, waterbath method, the safest method of canning tomatoes, and adventures in food drying. As a bonus of the workshop, participants will learn how to make their own antioxidant product for freezing unit.

The workshops are open to the public and are free of charge.

A free Pressure Canner Testing Clinic will be held at the County Extension Office beginning at 9 a.m., July 19. The purpose of the clinic will be to check pressure gauges for accuracy and there is no charge to the public for this service.

Educational Programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socio-economic level, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin. References to commercial products or trade names are made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service is implied.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective August 1, 1983, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission (PUC) at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

As a result of the settlement of a lawsuit brought by the U.S. Department of Justice against AT&T, Southwestern Bell, on January 1, 1984, (or as otherwise ordered by the United States District Court) will no longer be a part of the Bell System, but will be owned by public shareholders. Under the terms of the settlement, Southwestern Bell has identified 15 areas in the state within which it may provide service, and the federal court with jurisdiction of the settlement has tentatively approved these areas, called LATAs (Local Access and Transport Area). On or about January 1, 1984, Southwestern Bell can not provide service between these LATAs, and in addition, must transfer to AT&T customer premises equipment that it leases to customers.

Southwestern Bell has filed a proposed revised rate schedule with the PUC reflecting these changes. These rates would become effective August 1, 1983, if they are not suspended by the PUC; however, it is expected that they will be suspended and that the rates ultimately set by the PUC will become effective on or about January 1, 1984. If the rates were to become effective as filed, they would produce a 48.2% increase in Southwestern Bell's unadjusted test year revenues (or a 76.36% increase in Southwestern Bell's test year revenues adjusted to reflect the effect of Southwestern Bell's divestiture from AT&T). Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

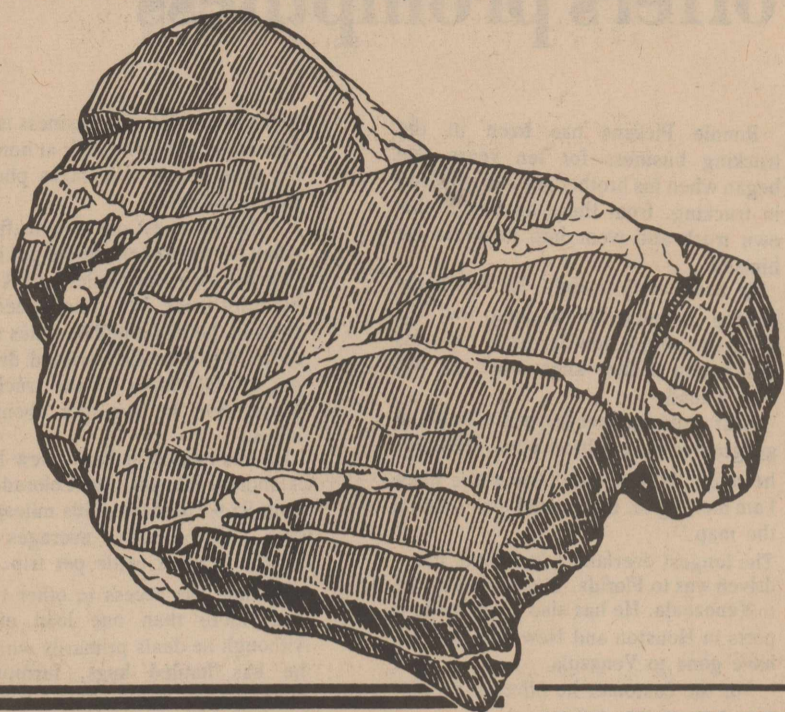

While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in rates for intraLATA interexchange toll services, any change in those rates could also affect customers of other telephone companies. Southwestern Bell is proposing changes in the structure of the present private line and foreign exchange services. Changes in these rates may affect customers of other telephone companies. Any change in the rates for any interLATA services offered by AT&T or a subsidiary after January 1, 1984, could affect customers of other telephone companies.

Ronnie Pickens has been in the trucking business for ten years. He began when his brother got him involved in trucking, from there he bought his own truck and went into business for himself.

He hauls cattle mainly. He has been driving a truck for so long that his children can tell how far he is from his destination if they knew when he left with a load.

"Our children have learned a lot about geography since I have been driving," he said. "If they didn't know the place I am hauling to, they would look it up on the map."

The longest overland trip Ronnie has driven was to Florida. That load went on to Venezuela. He has also taken loads to ports in Houston and New Orleans that have gone to Venezuela.

For the customer he offers a prompt delivery on time, the business is a family operation. When he isn't at home one of his sons or his wife takes phone calls from customers.

"Our youngest son took his first order when he was seven and he got it right."

Ronnie owns the trailer and is buying his third truck. When he traded his old truck in, he had a million miles recorded on it. When he first started driving he put 150,000 miles on the truck in two years. Now he averages about 80,000 miles.

He has hauled in Texas New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas and Colorado. Now about 95-97 percent of his mileage is in Texas. He usually averages about 140-150 head of cattle per trip.

Ronnie has access to other trucks to haul more than one load of cattle. Although he deals primarily with cattle, he has hauled hogs, furniture and watermelons in his cattle truck.

Ronnie prepares to check over his truck before leaving to haul a load of cattle.

This is the third truck Ronnie has owned, he averages about 80,000 miles a year in his trucks.
