AT HOME IN THE FUTURE

Fabric of Society

Tomorrow's fabrics are in experimental stages today. New weaves will incorporate "thermocouple" so that drapes, for example, will both heat and cool a room. Heated carpets are in the offing and you'll be able to "turn on" the family room floor for warmth and comfort.

Superficial fabrics will have unusual qualities. Clothing will not be sewn together but heat-sealed and bonded at the seams. Electrostatic effects may give cloth a 3-dimensional quality, making it stand out from the body. Fabrics that merely rustle today, will emit chirps and violin-like sounds in the future.

Miracle fabrics are already around now. Bonded wools mean an end to "scratchy" dresses: acrylics shed spots when water-dipped. Another useful fabric is Handi-Wipes, an all-purpose non-woven cloth made of a porous rayon. Soft as chambray, yet durable, this cleaning cloth is effective wet or dry for dusting, wiping, polishing, dishwashing. It rinses out fresh and dries quickly, ready to be used again and again.

Mrs. Marvin Taylor, organist, provided wedding music.

The bride's attendants wore floor-length dresses of royal blue crepe featuring empire waists.

A reception in the home of the bride's parents, followed the ceremony. The couple then traveled to Carlsbad, N. M. They live at 3102 4th St., Apt. 190, Lubbock.

GO-GO JUMPERS SPRING INTO FALL FASHION

of the tie blouse. This disarming combination, plus an A-line skirt, in Misses sizes Pattern #2020.

Even the classic gray flannel jumper is a whole new groove when it becomes a swinging coattress. This versatile design for sizes 8-18 is also terrific in tweeds, cool in corduroy and, in dressy velveteen, can even go to a party. Like the other jumpers, #2075 can be made "mini" if you see fit.

A simple square-necked jumper can be very hip when it's the basis for several super outfits! Brightly plaided and worn over a turtleneck, it's smashing for dashing from class to class. Make it in a pretty pastel wool, with matching wraparound coat, and you have a big city costume that also goes out on the town. Or provide yourself with a "fur" coat to throw casually over a jumper-and-pants outfit. It's all in Pattern #2059 for Misses and juniors.

There's more wardrobe wizardry in McCall's V-neck jumper with wing-collared blouse. The outfit is sensational by itself, or over the pants that come in the pattern, #2040 for misses sizes (not shown). Putting the component parts together can be lots of kicks, especially when you mix prints, plaids and tweeds for the wild new "scrambled" look.

However you wear them, jumpers are something else—but nothing else can take their place!

Haskell County Past And Present H. D. Club Members; Agents Honored

The spring tea was a successful and gala affair as past and present Home Demonstration Club members and agents from all over the county, as well as distant places, gathered in the community room of the Haskell National Bank Wednesday, July 16, at 3:30 p. m., to review club days from pioneer days of 1927 to the present space age of 1969.

The serving table was centered with an arrangement made by Mrs. E. L. Wyche, who opened the program by giving a vivid description of it. The arrangement consisted of a piece of driftwood which suggested rural living in pioneer days, bringing to the minds of those present the inconveniences without gas and electricity and other luxuries of this day. The fan and tall arrangement was representative of the beauty and improvement the Home Demonstration work has added through the years. To complete the piece, Mrs. Wyche portrayed the "blast-off and splash-down from the moon."

Mrs. J. R. Davis, chairman of the Triple E committee welcomed guests and introduced Mrs. Carl Bailey, pianist, and Mrs. Eldon Klose, song leader, who led the group in a "sing-song."

Seven charter members from 1927 to 1935 were honored and seated at the head table, including Mrs. Luther Toliver, who was given special honor by the Jesselet club, devoting 42 years of active service to the club. Mrs. T. M. Patterson was honored by the Centerpoint Club for her outstanding work and long years of service of that club. Also honored were Mrs. A. C. Denson, Mrs. L. B. White, Mrs. Lewis Hester, Mrs. Herbert Bosse, Mrs. Howard Montgomery and Mrs. Ray Overton.

The pioneer club learned such things as how to can their vegetables, make rugs, their clothes, mattresses and even how to make their own cheese. Clubs in the space age study such things as freezing foods, sewing, social benefits, education on wills, money management, loans and 4-H activity.

The record reveals there were not any clubs organized from 1935 to 1942. There has been a total of 40 H. D. clubs organized in Haskell County, but only six still remain, showing that rural living is becoming a thing of the past, just as cooking with driftwood and the horse and buggy.

A representative from most of the forty clubs gave a short history of their club, revealing when it was organized, who the charter members were, how it got its name, who the H. D. Agent was, and what type of program they enjoyed.

Other special guests were District Agent, Fern Hodge, of Vernon, Mrs. Reynolds Wilson of Denton and Mrs. Peggy Taylor Vaughtner, past county agent.

BACK FROM VISIT
Mrs. John Lackey has returned from a visit with her two daughters, Mrs. W. L. Davis of Morton and Mrs. Ch. Davis of Clovis, New Mexico. She was returned home at the Stamford Inn by Mrs. Davis.
Mrs. Lackey reported a very delightful trip, and stated she saw some wonderful crops.

FARMER IN A FAR-OFF LAND

MY TURNING POINT
By Moritz Thomson

I've just come back from several years in Ecuador where I lived and worked in a sea-coast village as a Peace Corps Agricultural Volunteer. There were about 250 Volunteers in Ecuador at that time, and my only claim to uniqueness is that I was a part of that 1 per cent of Peace Corps Volunteers who are over 30 years of age.

This troubled me all through my stay in South America, not because I was 30 and involved with a group whose average age is 24 (that part was wonderfully stimulating) but because only 1 per cent of the Peace Corps is made up of my age group. I came away convinced that the Peace Corps is simply too great an experience to be squandered mainly on the young, and I was really puzzled that so few people my age have responded to the Peace Corps challenge.

Let me tell you something about the hardest, the most difficult part of my entire Peace Corps experience. It wasn't in the lousy food that I sometimes had to eat, nor the long stretches of infinite boredom of living in a backward village, nor the shock of trying to exist and function in a strange culture at the village level. It wasn't in the frustrations of trying to reach people with my little bag of agricultural simplicities, completely revolutionary in that Bronze-Age agriculture. And these were all very real problems, too, believe me. No, the hardest, most difficult time was picking up the Peace Corps application at the post office, filling it out, and sending it off to Washington. That application sat on the kitchen table for weeks while I thought about it. Because the truth is that for the average farmer over 40, in sending in the Peace Corps application he is almost inevitably saying to himself, "I am going to change my way of looking at life."

It is a hard and terrible decision to make for any man who has been raised and lives by our American tradition that equates success and happiness with money. It implies that until that moment he was moving in the wrong direction, and this is a horrible thing to have to face when he is half way down the road.

It is a hard and terrible decision, because it must be done against that natural rigidity which begins to harden our characters and narrow our horizons and our aspirations at about the age of 40.

This is one of the sadnesses of growing old, that rigidity does occur and that one by one the doors of possibilities which lead to new experiences slowly close and lock until one's sense of choice is more and more restricted, and one goes on out of habit in that safe, secure world one knows.

And this is the wonder of the Peace Corps for the older person—that once you have made that frightfully difficult decision and have said "no" to simple security and "no" to the doubtful satisfactions of being a square hole in a square peg with the future all neatly laid out to the very end—a lot in Florida where you will go when you retire or the very lot in the cemetery where you will rest forever—then suddenly those locked doors fly open again. In the profoundest sort of way the whole thing is like suddenly being young again.

I guess if you say to yourself, "Oh, no, I don't want to be young again; I don't want to have to go through all that again," then Peace Corps is simply not for you, for it isn't an easy experience. The difficulties are ones that to my knowledge no one has ever even mentioned; they are the simple difficulties of once more being forced to see and be involved in a world as fresh, as beautiful and as terrifying as the world you saw in your youth. And you face it again with the same uncertainty and vulnerability.

The real difficulties then are personal. Let me go back to my own experience.

I farmed for almost 20 years beginning in 1945 right after the war. Admittedly I was somewhat emotionally dried up by the war and wanted only the comfortable security of farm life, that insularity which would be involved closely and mainly with seasons, the open fields, the winter rains, the hot dry summers. And it was a good life made challenging by all the technological changes that swept agriculture in those years.

Suddenly, after about three months of training to prepare me for the shock, I had been catapulted from serenity into another, very real world, a world in which (and we yawn when we read the figures) 300,000 people die of hunger and malnutrition every month. I guess we are all pretty much formed by our environment and by whatever realities are put before us, and so this new world of hunger and deprivation was bound to change me.

After I had been in the Peace Corps while I suddenly realized that in all those 20 years on my farm I had cried only once—and that was when I had taken my old dog to the vet to be put away.

And I thought to myself, "Why, that's only one more time than a dead man cries." For the truth was that living among the poorest people in the world had made me aware of what life is really all about for most of the people in the world, and, man, it's the truth, I learned how to cry again.

But here is the important thing: life didn't become only sadder for me, though, of course, it was, but it also became more valuable, more beautiful, more moving. There is real beauty in the fierce pride and dignity of the very poor as they struggle to exist; there is real beauty in a poor man when he comes to you with complete trust and says, "Amigo, I'm tired of being poor; show me how to change."

So when I say that Peace Corps will teach you how to cry again, it's not for the sadness of the world, it's the beauty of the world and the essential dignity and strength of man to endure that makes you weep, sharing his pride. These are things you have to see to believe.

I guess what I want to say is simply that the value of the Peace Corps experience for the older person is in its capacity to rip away all the tired old ways of seeing things and let you see life fresh and new like a child again in all its beauty and its terror.

For some people this might be a gift without a price; for some, a burden too heavy to be lifted. Each of us, depending on what gives meaning to his life, decides this in his heart.

IT'S A FINANCIAL FACT

A TYPICAL RETIREMENT PROGRAM PLANNED IN 1935 FOR A 1979 RETIREMENT WAS DESIGNED TO YIELD $80 A MONTH—AND THAT'S SUPPOSED TO PAY RENT, UTILITY AND GROCERY BILLS WITH A LITTLE LEFT OVER. IT WOULD HAVE WORKED—IF IT WEREN'T FOR INFLATION.

PLANNING FOR YOUR RETIREMENT TODAY'S YOUNG COUPLES SHOULD KEEP IN MIND THAT THE COST OF LIVING IN THE YEAR 2000 WILL BE THREE TIMES HIGHER THAN AT PRESENT. THIS COULD BE A PROBLEM FOR FAMILIES ALREADY STRETCHING THEIR BUDGET TO MEET TODAY'S RISING COSTS.

THAT'S WHY IT'S ESPECIALLY IMPORTANT TO PLAN EARLY AND CAREFULLY FOR RETIREMENT YEARS. A TRAVELER'S FINANCIAL PLANNER CAN SUGGEST A FLEXIBLE FINANCIAL PROGRAM THAT CAN HELP MAKE YOUR RETIREMENT YEARS TAKE-IT-EASY YEARS.

WTCC Committees Take Actions On Constitutional Amendments

Water bonds, increased legislative salaries, increased bond rates, death benefits for voluntary firemen's families and additional funds for the Texas student loan plan all received the approval of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce State Affairs committee and the executive committee of the regional chamber this week.

No action was taken on three of the amendments: No. 1—to eliminate several obsolete sections of the constitution; No. 4—Exempting non-profit water supply corporations from taxation; and No. 5—Increasing the ceiling on assistance to four classes of needy to a maximum of $80 million from State funds.

Opposition was voted on amendment No. 9, which would provide for annual sessions of the state legislature.

All of the nine amendments to the Texas Constitution will be voted on by Texas voters on August 5.

George McCleskey, Lubbock attorney, chairman of the WTCC Water Bond Committee, said, "The Water Bond amendment is one of the most important issues ever placed before the Texas voters. It is imperative that it pass if we are to have the water for municipal and domestic use in the coming years. None of the bond money is to be spent on agricultural water. It is anticipated that Federal funds will be provided for agricultural needs and these funds will be repaid by the water users.

"Since the bonds will be sold 'as needed' it is not anticipated that they will be sold immediately in the high interest market. As an actual fact, no bonds will be issued until they are authorized by the Texas Legislature."

State Affairs Chairman Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba said, "We took no action on three of the proposed amendments but this does not indicate opposition to them. We simply feel that those particular amendments are not within the scope of matters usually considered by the regional chamber of commerce."

The WTCC offered support also for increased salaries for members of the legislature, as it did last year when the question was placed before the voters of Texas.

"With the interest rates on bonds now limited by state law, it is most difficult to market bonds which are desperately needed by many issuing agencies. Removal of the limitations which now exist and establishment of a 6 1/2% ceiling will assist in the sale of bonds by various agencies within the State," according to a spokesman for the committee.

The committee voiced approval of the payment of death benefits to voluntary firemen's families and the families of other employees of the State who perform hazardous duties, who are not presently covered by such legislation.

Increased demand for college educations within the next years will provide a drain on the existing funds for students, the committee has been most successful far and of the 30,000 loans ed only 23 have delinquent the TOP. The additional million bond issue will sufficient funds for the plan through 1978.

Amendment No. 9, which for annual sessions of the legislature, was opposed by the WTCC group. Senterfitt was that the feeling of the was that the Governor's efficient authority to call sessions when needed additional expense imposed annual sessions simply at the cost of State government.

Tax Questions And Answers

(This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.)

Q—A company I interviewed about a job has offered to pay my expenses if I will visit their headquarters. If I take the money will it be taxable for me?

A—Money received as a reimbursement for travel expenses incurred in being interviewed for possible employment is not taxable and does not have to be reported. However, if the reimbursement is more than your expenses the excess is taxable.

Q—I received several thousand dollars in cash as wedding gifts. Do my husband and I have to pay income tax on the money?

A—No, the recipient of gifts is not liable for income tax. If you deposit the money in a savings account, however, the interest earned will be taxable just like other interest. Persons making a gift may have to pay a gift tax, depending on the value of the gift.

Q—I just reached 65. Can I have my tax withholding reduced?

A—Yes, persons 65 and over may claim an additional exemption for income tax withholding purposes. To do this, fill out a new Form W-4, Employees Withholding Exemption Certificate, and give it to your employer.

Q—Can I get the man who prepared my return to represent me when I appeal my tax case?

A—It depends on his qualifications. If the tax advisor is a certified public accountant, a lawyer or has passed a special examination given by the Treasury Department, then he can represent you. Someone without these qualifications but who prepared the return, can assist the taxpayer during the examination of the return but not thereafter.

Q—What records do I need for tax purposes on gifts to charity?

A—To substantiate a charitable contribution deduction, you will have to show the amount of the gift, the date and the name of the organization. If you make a gift of property, keep a record of its description and how you figured the value. Cancelled checks, receipts and other records will be needed for this substantiation. When you make a cash contribution to charity ask for a receipt, so you will have a record of the gift.

For additional details send a post card to your district director requesting a free copy of Publication 528, Income Tax Deductions for Contributions.

Haskell Livestock AUCTION

Pho. 864-2624, Stamford Hwy.

THERE WUZ MORE BULL THROWIN' THAN BULL DOGGIN' AT THE RODEO THIS YEAR!

SATURDAY, JULY 19, 1968

The market at Haskell Livestock Auction Saturday was still on the decline, with some classes of cattle selling as much as $5.00 a hundred cheaper than they were one month ago. The plainer type cattle were the ones showing the most effect of the cutback.

Cattle receipts were 1,367. Hogs 198.

Hogs still were selling good, with tops at 25. Majority of hogs, choice 1-2 grades 200 lbs. to 225 lbs., 24-25; 1-3 grades 200-235 lbs., 22-24; 2-3 grades 185-240 lbs., 20-22; 2-4 grades, 260-280 lbs., 19-22. Sows 16-19; Boars 12-14; Feeder Shoats 16-20.

Bulls 22-24. One outstanding bull brought 25.10. Light bulls 26-30.

Butcher cows choice 16-18, some outstanding high yielding kind of cows still reached up to 21.

Canner and cutters 14-16; Old shells down to 9.00.

Butcher calves, choice 26-31; good 24-28; standard 20-24.

Feeder steer yearlings choice 26-28; good 24-26; common 18-24.

Feeder heifer yearlings choice 26-27; good 24-26; common 17-24.

Stocker steer yearlings choice 28-30; good 25-28; common 20-25.

Stocker heifer yearlings choice 27.50-29.50; good 25-27.50; common 20-25.

Stocker steer calves, choice 32-36; good 28-32; common 22-28.

Stocker heifer calves, choice 28-30; good 25-28; common 20-25.

Cow and calf pairs, choice $250-$300; good $200-$250; common $140-$200.

We still seem to be able to sell these good Charolette pairs above 300, but on the other types it seems they are weaker. Four of our good feeder buyers said they simply could not pay as much as some of the feeder cattle were bringing Saturday. The Chicago market still continues to break prime steers and heifers. But I believe if we can hold our cattle and not flood the market, we will see a rise in September. Pray for a rain.

Job Opportunity

We have been advised that Haskell is one of two towns in this general area that is being considered as a re-location site for an apparel manufacturing company. This move is contemplated due to the present labor shortage where the firm is located.

On the basis of the above information we will be conducting interviews at the chamber of commerce office for experienced floor supervisors who can train women in the apparel industry.

Interested persons should contact the local office on Monday, July 28th, to August 8th, 1969.

Activities of The Negro People

By BEVERLY HILL.

Sunday School was opened on time with the superintendent, George Billington, in charge Sunday morning. Regular church services were held. Rev. Jackson's message was directed more to the young people.

The Aggregation of choirs will meet at the Mt. Zion Church in Seymour, Texas. The Rev. J. C. Vaughn, pastor, July 27.

Revival will begin at the Hopewell Baptist Church Monday, July 28. Rev. L. T. Jackson of Stamford will be Conductor.

A backyard study session was attended by three young ladies of this community. It was held at the residence of Mildred Robertson and was conducted by Rodney Kellie. The session consisted of young people studying about the Christian way of life. Pat Franklin, a senior at McMurry College; Janie Franklin, a transfer student to McMurry; and Beverly Hill, a senior at Haskell High School, all expressed that they enjoyed it very much. All three are members of Hopewell Baptist Church. When asked what she appreciated most in this session, one person exclaimed, "It makes you think."

A group from this community will be taking a trip to the Rev. Eliason and wife of the City. Commissioner Bledsoe and Raymond Higgins who was director of the Vacation Bible School.

The Homecoming has come and gone at the Independent Baptist Church. The Lord blessed them spiritually and financially. Members and friends from several towns were present.

The Chamber of Commerce gave the souvenir packets. James Powell furnished the meat A. J. Williams barbecued. This was a big day for all. Visitors in the service were the Rev. Eliason and wife of the City. Commissioner Bledsoe and Raymond Higgins who was director of the Vacation Bible School.

Let us find some way to say "Thank You" to these people who helped us. The Negro people of the community made a great contribution to the Homecoming. Many of them did not give money but made a donation with food or volunteer work.

Cotton garments guaranteed not to shrink more than 1% will not lose their fit.

Time To Get Off The Tax Treadmill?

If you feel as though you're on a tax treadmill, don't worry about it. You are.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States observes that the Federal Government is spending tax money a lot faster than you can earn it or send it in.

If it takes you an hour to fill out your tax return...and most people struggle with it longer than that...the government will spend 22 million in the same amount of time, before you even get the envelope stamped.

The calculation is based on the Federal Budget for fiscal 1970, which proposed outlays of $192.9 billion...$100 billion more than 1960 just 10 years ago.

Because the total figure is so large as to be almost incomprehensible, it may register more clearly in terms of spending speed. Counting every day and every hour during the year, including weekends and holidays, the spending is: $22.02 million per hour; $367,000 per minute; $6,116 per second.

Converting dollars into feet, that's a spending speed of nearly Mach 6...almost six times the speed of sound, 1,088 feet per second.

No wonder taxpayers are beginning to question why they should pay higher taxes, when the Federal government keeps spending more and more.

It's not too late to ask for a showdown. Congress has just begun to act on fiscal 1970 appropriations bills. The National Chamber is urging further reduction in spending plans for 1970. Taxpayers should ask their legislators to insist upon significant cuts.

Ray And Lusk Are Attending Training School

College Station: Floyd Lusk and Billy Jack Ray, Haskell Volunteer Firemen on the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department of Haskell, are attending the 40th Annual Texas Firemen's Training School. The school, attended by more than 2,400 men representing some 470 cities from approximately thirty states, is being held on the Texas A&M University campus this week.

Firemen Lusk and Ray are being sponsored by Haskell County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward their cost of the school. Since volunteer firemen are interested in attending this school to help do a better job of fire-fighting and fire prevention, the County Farm Bureaus and the Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies in the statewide program have sponsored 100 firemen at the school.

The Insurance Company believes volunteer fire departments have been very effective in reducing the amount of loss involved by fire in rural areas. It is their hope in sponsoring this program that the firemen will help the Haskell Volunteer Department to better serve the residents of Haskell County.

FIGHT BACK

FIGHT BACK

Fight the price/cost squeeze on your wheat with NITROMITE, Shamrock's fine brand of anhydrous ammonia. A preplant application of NITROMITE speeds early growth, producing lush, high-quality forage (and plenty of it!)—an important factor if you plan to graze cattle this winter. And the cash crop? NITROMITE delivers the most usable nitrogen per dollar to help increase yields without increasing cost appreciably. So come harvest, even if prices are low, you make out. If they're good, you'll be the big winner. Put down NITROMITE now. It'll give you a fighting chance in the marketplace.

Bragg of Stamford, Texas, Executive Vice President of the Rolling Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., is now attending the 37th Annual Institute for Organization Management, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and the American Society of Executives, being held this week at the University of Santa Clara.

Designed to provide training for organization managers which they cannot get in colleges and universities, the institute is a nine-year program which includes three years of basic management studies, three years of advanced management studies, and three years of post graduate seminars. Mr. Bragg is participating for his first year.

District Director Ellis Campbell, Jr., emphasizes that the right to represent clients in tax and other matters before IRS is limited to those who meet the highest standards of technical proficiency and ethical conduct.

The examination will be held in the Dallas District Office on September 29 and September 30, 1969, for those tax practitioners who are not attorneys or certified public accountants. Stamford Area Agricultural Annual Meeting

The first Annual Meeting of the Stamford Area Agricultural Association will be held Thursday night, July 24, at the Council Room of the Stamford City Hall, beginning at 8:00 p. m.

Purpose of the meeting, according to Charles W. Stenholm, Chairman of the Association, will be to review activities for the past year, fill expiring director's terms of John Ed Youngquist and Cliff Cobb, and plan activities of the association for the coming year.

The purpose of the SAAA is to promote and care for the interests of rural land owners, farm and ranch operators at all levels of government, local, county, state and federal. There are, at present, 95 members in the association. It is hoped that all land owners in the area will see fit to join and thereby strengthen the organization, according to Stenholm. All members and prospective members are especially urged to attend this very important meeting.

Greater Use of Cotton In Linen Supplies Service To Be Stimulated

The greater use of cotton in linen supply services will be stimulated through an advertising campaign to be launched this fall by the Cotton Producers Institute.

According to Charles W. Stenholm, Stamford, a CPI trustee, the linen supply industry is currently using approximately 400,000 bales of cotton annually. Services include such items as rental sheets and pillowcases, towels, tablecloths, napkins and uniforms.

In the towel field, cotton's position is being challenged by paper. In sheets and pillowcases—as well as table cloths and napkins—hotels, restaurants, and other institutional users are turning to durable press blends. Blended uniforms are making inroads, too. CPI will feature full-page ads in national publications stressing the freshness, softness, absorbency, and hygienic qualities of cotton. The economy, efficiency and convenience of linen supply services will also be emphasized.

The advertising messages will be directed to executives in the motel-hotel field, hospital and nursing home administrators, college and university officials, food and lodging managers, beauty and barber shop operators, and business management executives. CPI is coordinating its selling efforts with those of the Linen Supply Association of America, headquartered in Miami Beach.

The linen supply campaign is part of the $10-million CPI research and promotion program for 1969. It is financed by cotton growers through dollar-a-bale payments under the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Advertising doesn't cost . . . It Pays!

DIMMING FREEDOM'S LIGHT

We seem to live in an age of the decree, the ultimatum and the demand... all aimed at achieving the good life by some sort of shortcut process.

Exponents of force usually have a macabre ending... by violence. In modern time, classic examples have been Mussolini and Hitler.

VIETNAM VIEW

(As reported by Marine Corps Combat Correspondents) By Cpl. Frank Frazzone

AN HOA, Vietnam—Corporal Russell Tate, 5417 NW 64th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., takes special pains to make sure that the men with him camouflage themselves well when going out at night.

Tate was in charge of a six-man night defensive position 200 yards from his company's perimeter. The Marines were part of "B" Company, 1st Battalion, 3th Marines, operating in southwestern "Arizona Territory."

"It was about 11 p. m. and I had just finished my watch. I laid my rifle down next to me and was just starting to relax when I heard someone 'diddy-bopping' down the trail," Tate explained.

Scant minutes later two unsuspecting North Vietnamese Army (NVA) soldiers carrying AK-47 assault rifles came into view.

"We let them come down the trail and it wasn't until they were standing about two feet from me that they noticed us. But, instead of firing at us, the leader slapped me on the shoulder and started laughing. Evidently, he thought we were more NVA lying by the trail waiting to ambush a Marine patrol."

Tate yelled for them to surrender and it was only then that the NVA realized what a mistake his partner and he had made.

The NVA turned and started running back along the trail, Corporal Tate and Pfc. Jim Seeley, 35111 Lucia St., Fremont, Calif., fired.

"As soon as we opened up we started taking fire from down the trail," Seeley stated.

The Leathernecks returned fire on the enemy until the NVA broke contact.

"We could hear them running through the bushes trying to get away as fast as they could," Tate concluded.

A search of the area the next morning produced six dead NVA, lying on the trail or near it.

Captain Gene Castagnetti, 47379 Humana Rd., Kaneohe Bay, Hawaii, commanding officer of "Bravo" Company, commented, "Our men move well camouflaged at night and they know the terrain. The NVA don't expect us to be night fighters, so we do the unexpected."

On several occasions, NVA have talked with our Marines thinking they were also NVA. "Now that's camouflage!"

By Cpl. John Ehlert

CHU LAI, Vietnam—There have been many operations in Vietnam, involving Leathernecks of Marine Aircraft Group 13 (MAG-13). However, no operation has been quite as pleasant as one which culminated recently at the recreation hut of MAG-13's "Fightertown."

This operation involved those universal aspects of servicemen away from home—a sweet tooth and fondness for home-baked cookies.

"Operation Cookielift" was initiated by a Costa Mesa, California housewife, Mrs. Darrilyn Oliver, who took the idea to her city council where it was received with enthusiasm.

From there it mushroomed into an operation involving many southern California residents, including citizens of Santa Ana, Newport Beach and Garden Grove.

Soon, housewives were busy baking cookies. Businesses and service clubs provided supplies and finances for packing and mailing. Girl Scouts, church groups and school children also helped with shipping.

A room in the Costa Mesa city hall was designated as the operation's "command post." The Costa Mesa Pilot ran a special edition to ask for support in the project.

The mayor of Costa Mesa, Alvin L. Pinkley, had a personal interest in the operation, sometimes dubbed the "Chocolate Chip Offensive" by the local press.

HASKELL COUNTY HISTORY News from Weinert...

30 YEARS AGO (July 28, 1939)

For the first time in a number of years, the scholastic census to the county indicates an increase of approximately 200 children of school age over the total for 1938, according to records in the office of the county superintendent, Matt Graham.

Dr. and Mrs. T. W. Williams and son, Temple, spent Monday and Tuesday in Fort Worth. Mrs. Hettie Williams returned home Sunday after a vacation spent in Mineral Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adkins and son, Royce, Mrs. Myron Bird and R. E. Weaver visited Mrs. R. E. Weaver in the hospital in Wichita Falls, Sunday. Cecil Weaver and Miss Margaret Donnell of Albany joined them there for a visit.

C. E. Phelps, Eugene Hunter and Courtney Hunt were in Seymour Friday to attend the rodeo. Miss Mildred Chapman returned home Thursday from a visit in the home of her uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Chapman of Talco. She was accompanied home from Wichita Falls by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Halie Chapman.

Mrs. O. M. Guest was in Mineral Wells the latter part of last week. She was accompanied to Fort Worth and Dallas Sunday by Mrs. Buford Cox and Mrs. Lois Henshaw. Mrs. Guest and Mrs. Cox will purchase fall merchandise for the Personal Shoppe.

Capt. and Mrs. H. K. Henry and son, Pat, of Winstboro, arrived in Haskell, Tuesday for a visit in the home of her father, G. F. Mullino. Capt. Henry will return to camp in that city Sunday. Mrs. Henry will be in Haskell for several weeks.

Travis Everett and family, former residents of this city, who have been living in Stamford for the past several months have moved back to Haskell, and Mr. Everett has accepted a position with the West Side Barber Shop.

Work was begun on the Weinert State Bank building of Weinert, Monday morning. The walls of the building which were recently destroyed by fire, will be removed and the foundation for the new building will be run in concrete. J. Dyer of Stamford, contractor, has a large force of men at work clearing away the debris of the old building.

Mrs. C. D. Long has returned to Haskell for late summer and fall after spending nearly a year with her children at other points over the State. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Mrs. J. A. Brouss and little daughter, Betty, from Tyler.

Misses Catherine Mullino and Lucy Cummins have sent cards to home folks from various parts of their trip to El Paso, Old Mexico, Los Angeles, and Long Beach, Calif. They will return via Salt Lake City and Colorado.

Monday morning of this week marked the beginning of the erection of two new rooms and the repairing of the old school building at O'Brien.

Will Stegemoeller, living near Sagerton stated that from a block of 140 hens of mixed breeds, which he keeps on his poultry yard, he sold and made use of $167.00 worth of eggs from the first of January until the last of July.

Messrs. Audie Stocks and R. A. Hays announce this week their entry into the dray business in Haskell. Both of these gentlemen are well known and experienced in this line of work, having been engaged in the business with Geo. B. Fields in the past. Two wagons will be put to work by the new firm and they are prepared to do all kinds of hauling.

T. E. Matthews, secretary of the Haskell commercial club, attended the meeting of the clubs at Sweetwater, Tuesday. Judge Kinnard and Clyde F. Elkins attended court at Aspermont Monday and Tuesday. Judge S. W. Scott made a professional trip to Anson Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fields and I. D. Killingsworth left Friday night for Galveston. Mr. John Therwagner of the Weinert community was in the city Thursday. He reports that after all the storm, hail and other calamities he got 900 bushels of wheat from 100 acres of land. He also has a large acreage of oats to thresh that will turn out equally well.

The Gulf clouds reached Haskell Thursday about 9:00 o'clock a. m. We supposed this change in the weather was caused from the storm in Galveston.

Mr. J. U. Fields, accompanied by Misses May and Annice, left Saturday to visit the Seattle Exposition. They will also visit Salt Lake City, San Francisco and Los Angeles, Calif.

Post Master Jno. B. Baker made a business trip to Ovalo the early part of the week. George Courtney has returned from a trip to Tucumcari, New Mexico and reports that we have better crops in Haskell County than he saw anywhere else in his travels.

Mr. N. McNeill of the McNeill & Smith Hardware Company, has returned from Tarpion, on the coast near Corpus, where he and a party of friends spent a few days fishing.

T. B. Russell of the firm of Cason, Cox & Co. left Monday for Aransas Pass, where he joined Mrs. Russell who has been visiting her parents at that place.

The weather reports still sound like a broken record. Just enough indication of rain to tease one. The crops are holding up pretty well, for the intense heat to be so long lasting. Cotton especially looks good, and the maize here is turning red.

Revival services at the First Baptist Church have been set for August 3-10, with Bro. Harry Garvin from Fort Worth as the Evangelist and the pastor, Bro. Ross Anderson will be leading the singing. During the week the morning services will be at 10:00 and the evening services will be at 8:30 with prayer meeting and choir practice at 8:00 each evening. Make plans to attend. Everyone is welcome.

DA NANG, Vietnam—A ringing klunk sound on his helmet and Lance Cpl. Thomas L. Lain, 1806 W. 27th St., Pine Bluff, Ark., thought, "I'm dead!" But the enemy grenade dropped harmlessly to the ground without detonating. Lain had just gotten too close to an enemy sapper, one of four who penetrated the defense perimeter of the 2nd Battalion, 1st Marines command post south of Da Nang. A fire team leader on the battalion's reaction force, Lain was searching for enemy soldiers. He spotted someone under a building. Assuming it was one of the Marines who had set up a defensive position when the enemy attack began, Lain bent down and flashed on his light. Lain said, "We looked at each other for a minute and then he reached around, swung an arm and tossed the grenade at me." Once Lain realized he wasn't dead, he jumped aside. Other members of the reaction force right behind him took care of the enemy sapper. "I was pretty shaky the rest of the night and I must have prayed a thousand 'Thank You's' between then and the morning," Lain said. He then expressed a perfectly understandable sentiment, "I'm sure glad they make mistakes in producing those grenades."

In the second game Haskell cut down the Abilene Kiwanis team, 4-0, as Wayne Zeissel fired a four-hitter.

Clyde Topples Haskell 3-2 In NBC Tourney

In the National Baseball Congress District Tournament at Rose Park, Abilene, Saturday night the Clyde Raiders knocked Haskell out of the tournament, 3-2, as short-top Randy Allen stroked a sacrifice fly to center, scoring Robert Hill with none out, and the bases loaded in the last of the seventh.

It's home freezing and canning time. Now in the peak of their season, fresh fruits and vegetables offer highest food value, best flavor and lower than usual prices on Texas products for preserving.

Canning and freezing usually can save money if foods used are in season.

Canning equipment and a home freezer involve a large capital investment. If a homemaker decides to preserve foods her first question should be: "Will I use the equipment enough to offset its cost?"

A freezer doubles for home freezing and for buying special on foods at the food store. Additional freezer expenses include equipment depreciation, interest on money paid for equipment, repairs and electricity.

Although pots and pans treated with non-stick coatings do not need scouring, rinsing is not sufficient to keep them functioning at peak efficiency. It takes thorough washing in hot soap or detergent suds to prevent a build-up of food residue which would eventually cause food to stick.

We recently had a request for this recipe that comes from the kitchen of Mrs. John Larned of Haskell.

Fig Preserves
3 cups figs (mashed up)
3 cups sugar
1-4-oz. package of strawberry jello
Mix all ingredients and cook for 15 minutes on medium heat. Mrs. Larned suggests using some red food coloring.

AIRMAN PEISER TO WEAR DISTINCTIVE SERVICE RIBBON

Airman First Class John R. Peysen Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Peysen of Munday, is a member of the 483rd Tactical Airlift Wing that has earned the U. S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award.

Airman Peysen, an aircraft mechanic at Cam Rahn Bay AB, Vietnam, will wear the distinctive service ribbon to mark his affiliation with the unit.

The wing, flying the C-7A Caribou at several bases in Vietnam, was cited for meritorious service.

The airman is a graduate of Munday High School.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To The People of Haskell:
This is a very inadequate way to thank you for all that you have done, but it would be impossible to write each of you.

You were all so nice to me this year and you always have been that and I only wish I could have won the "Miss Texas" title for you.

The send-off on Sunday was so nice. It was just the exciting touch we needed to really get us going. The ads, flowers and telegrams kept us going and made us feel so good that home-folks were thinking of us. The words of encouragement and confidence will never be forgotten.

You're such a warm, friendly people that I only wish I could have represented you further.

Sincerely yours,
Marsha Shaver

WASHINGTON
 "As it looks from here"
OMAR EURLISON
 Congressman 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Those vacationers who have been to or through a strange city probably feel they have spent about half their time navigating clover leaf, circles, overpasses and underpasses.

During this season here in Washington, it is a common sight to see the wife looking at a map trying to figure out where they are and where they want to go. The man is firmly set behind the wheel, usually in the wrong lane. The kids are delighted and free of the bewilderment shown on the faces of their parents.

Most all cities now have bypasses of downtown areas. Most have adequate signs for those who know where Exit F leads but the stranger is looking for Exit 12, since that is where he wants to go according to the map. But also on the freeway is fast flowing traffic and proper research is cause for being run over.

Coming to that place where a ramp to the right has a sign saying "To Highway 41 North," according to all instincts, the sign's location, and, maybe even a compass points to the South, is pretty confusing. The half circle leads up to an overpass on the road you have just left and when on it you are headed North. More than likely the overpass was not even noticed when you passed under it.

Washington, D. C. is one of a half dozen cities originally laid out under an engineering plan before it was built. Major L'Enfant gave our street plan its variety and rhythm, or at least that is what he intended. Most of us are accustomed to the simple grid, free of encumbrances such as circles and intersections fixed like a wagon wheel. Trapped in on one of these, the unaccustomed tends to cautiously drive toward an egress only to be frightened back by those who are familiar with the place and trying desperately to make the next light. The native afoot and on wheel knows where he is going and goes there taking direct routes and anticipating changes ahead. To the visitor such changes come as a surprise and even as a shock.

Not all cities have the system of "folding in" traffic as is found in many places in Washington. This is where the flow of traffic into arterial streets come from two different directions like egg whites are folded into a soufflé. The unfamiliar driver is terrified and rightly so. When not trapped in these situations, he tends to drive slowly and weave from lane to lane with the quite obvious look on his face to suggest he is wondering where the White House could have gone.

When the touring motorist is in this city, he is often greeted with blowing horns and dirty looks.

Of course, this should not happen anywhere and especially in the Nation's Capital. The visitor is no stranger at all. He belongs here and here belongs to him as much as it does to anyone else. He is at a disadvantage in the traffic and needs all the help he can get instead of abuse. In the first place, consideration is decent, and in the second place, it is more safe for him and those who know their way to recognize the visitor's situation.

It would behoove cities to make efforts to see that the visitor is encouraged with some friendly signs of understanding. Again, here in everyone's Capital, everyone owns the place and he has every right to check on his property.
