Lions Elect Officers For 1971-'72 Term

Upon recommendation of the nominating committee, Haskell Lions at the noon-day luncheon meeting, Tuesday, at Felker's Restaurant dining room elected the following officers and directors to head the organization for the 1971-'72 term:

- CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN
1) Everyone present be responsible for getting the block they live on, cleaned up.
2) Gain permission from out-of-town property owners to clean vacant lots.
3) Organize a volunteer group to furnish trailers and pickups to haul off trash, along with the city.
4) Cooperate with Rotary, who is involved in getting all old cars removed from the city.
5) Beautify places that must be used for unsightly storage by planting shrubs and trees around them.
6) Use publicity to keep the drive going and continue asking for cooperation of all citizens.
7) Contact the Governor's office for help in organizing the drive. A bill now in the legislature involves towns under 5,000 getting permission to condemn falling-down buildings and destroy them and clean property for safety and cleanliness.
8) Repaint all city trash barrels in the downtown area.
9) Invite the junior high and high school students to help.
10) Remember that the girl scout Brownie troops collect aluminum cans.
11) Personally, and through publicity, contact all residents on all highways entering Haskell, and ask them to help create beautiful entries to town.
At the end of the open discussion, Mrs. Lane asked each organization to supply at least two people for the organization of the clean-up committee, and all agreed to do so.

Magazine Club Year Is Closed With The Installation of New Officers

The Magazine Club met April 6 at the club rooms for the final meeting of 1970-1971. Miss Nettie McCollum, president, presided over the business session. At this time reports of officers were read and accepted. Mrs. J. G. Vaughte, reported on meeting in which representatives of all civic organizations met to discuss many projects for Haskell. The "Clean-Up" program was the first in importance. Numerous other ideas were discussed, some of a long range nature. Mrs. Vaughte commented on the fact that all representatives were most enthusiastic.

The installation of officers was the feature of this last meeting. Mrs. Ramon Liles was the installing official. She cleverly performed the ceremony, using the idea of "Books" as each officer-elect was addressed and had read to her the duties of the position to be filled. This unusual idea was most fitting because the Magazine Club has always been "book conscious". An interest in literary works is the very heart and soul of this club. Reading material was the embryo of which it was organized in 1902.

Miss McCollum took the place of president for another year. Mrs. Liles presented her book "Gunsmoke". She explained that any president is likely to need a little "Gunsmoke" to carry out her duties. Mrs. Raleigh Lemmon, elect 2nd vice president, was given the book "Black Beauty". Mrs. Liles said that the job of finance chairman would often be in need of a fast and beautiful horse to get around and carry on the work.

Mrs. R. C. Couch Sr., as recording secretary, was presented the book "Twins". Sometimes her duties would seem to be double—thus the "Twins" was appropriate.

Mrs. Hill Oates, accepting the work of the treasurer, was given the book "The Wizard of Oz". Mrs. Liles remarked that often the treasurer has great need of being a wizard.

Mrs. L. R. Burkett, accepting the position of parliamentarian, and Mrs. K. H. Thornton, the reporter's job. These two women were presented the book "Little Women." Their work keeping things in order and stating facts is seemingly quiet but getting results just like "Little Women" always do.

The high point of the ceremony was the gathering up of all the books and presenting them to the Haskell County Library. Mrs. Liles being the donor. The club is indebted to Mrs. Liles for the interesting installation and the gift of books.

Mrs. R. L. Lemmon, Mrs. Conner Christian and Mrs. R. C. Couch were hostesses. They served punch and cookies.

Trucks: The Farmer Driver's Dilemma

EXEMPTION OF DRIVERS OF FARM TRUCKS from the proposed federal regulations was requested this week by the Farmers Union. NFU President Tony Dehaene for broad exemptions to avoid hardship to farmers whose supplies and equipment for production must be hauled to farms, and whose commodities must be to market.

ON APRIL 22, 1970, the Department of Transportation brought forth its proposals in 11 pages of small print in the Federal Register. Omitted in this small print mention that the exemption of drivers of farm trucks was being eroded. Drivers and over would have to take periodic physical and mental examinations. Drivers would be prohibited outright from driving farm trucks. The new regulations go into effect on January 1, 1971.

ON DEC. 18, 1970, SCARCELY TWO WEEKS BEFORE THIS DATE, the Farmers Union and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives joined in a letter to the Department of Transportation asking for postponement of the regulations affecting farm drivers. The Department agreed to a 6-months postponement.

FEW ASPECTS OF FARM BUSINESS ARE MORE IMPORTANT to farmers than transportation. The very nature of a farm—requiring space uncluttered by trucks, warehouses, and markets—calls for special efforts. Supplies and equipment for production purposes must be hauled to the farm. Commodities that are produced on every farm is its truck. Among the duties of nearly every boy who grows up on a farm is driving a truck, first around the farm itself, and then to the market. It is the nature of farming that such jobs occur during the production and harvest seasons when manpower is in shortest supply. Youngsters are pressed into duty. Other workers on the farm will be moved from job to job, including driving. It is difficult to assess the cost and difficulty for farmers that would be created if all farm drivers were required to go through the regulatory red tape, and if young operators were prohibited entirely from driving. It would be impossible to shift workers from truck to truck. A possible alternative to young drivers might be older and retired whose driving reflexes are past the peak. Most of this driving occurs on secondary roads. As a matter of fact, the safety record of farm drivers has been excellent; much better than the record of urban drivers.

SINCE POSTPONEMENT OF THE REGULATION, the Farmers Union and other farm groups, as well as Congressmen and Senators, have taken up the problem. Meetings between farm group representatives have been held to develop a coalition effort. Conversations with DOT officials have occurred. The primary DOT official is Dr. Robert E. Kaye, the director of the Bureau of Motor Carrier Safety. On April 1, Dr. Kaye proposed an exemption of all drivers of vehicles under 10,000 lbs. loaded weight. The Farmers Union said the proposal clearly didn't go to the heart of the problem with farm truck drivers. Loaded weights of farm trucks vary widely from commodity to commodity. The states have their own regulations for farm drivers. Those regulations reflect the special conditions in the respective states. The Farmers Union is concerned about safety on the highways and believes state regulations deal better with the different areas. Nobody is proposing that drivers of over-the-road common carriers be exempted. But drivers of farm trucks should be. Dr. Kaye promised another meeting with farm groups on April 29.

Willard Mullins, President

Civic Center . . .
bring more people to Haskell, and all phases of accommodating them must be worked.

To show further progress, R. C. Couch reported that the advertisement for bids on the new water supply lake for the City was in the offing in the very near future; the hiring of a negotiator to buy the land involved; and the immensity of the lake planned for future increased water storage. All these preliminary reports were brought out to show the vastness of the plans for the future progress and growth of our home town.

Couch then went in detail into the dream of a 'Haskell Memorial Civic Center', and explained why it should be a memorial. Many, many local residents have lived here their entire lives, and would love to dedicate a portion of such a building to their families—the families who struggled to settle Haskell County, and who can be immortalized in the "Memorial Hall" of the building.

Many, many people who no longer live in Haskell County—but who will always call Haskell 'home', would love to do the same thing for their family in the 'Memorial Hall.' This will give them a dignified, proud memorial that is everlasting and beautiful, while adding to their home-town as nothing else ever could.

Facilities in the proposed center could include seating space adequate for the many big, big events that make Haskell the progressive proud city it is—Homecoming, Frontier Days, Hey Day activities, and countless other events such as conventions and special entertaining of prestigious visitors to our town.

At the end of his talk, it was almost anticlimactic that the vote was unanimous on the Friday and Saturday nights. Rodeo dances are also scheduled during the annual Frontier Days Celebration and Jaycee Rodeo.

Mattie Muriel Felker, chamber membership chairman, met with the board and discussed at length the membership structure and the need for a concentrated drive for new members to assist in lending financial support to the chamber of commerce. Cards were given to board members on 16 prospective members and in the near future a big drive will be conducted by the committee on adding new members and re-evaluating the dues of present members.

A discussion was held in regards to the annual Hey Day and Little Miss Hey Day Pageants coming up in the near future with Frances Lane as chairman. It is hoped that the dates for the colorful and popular pageants can be established within the next two weeks.

the Burson family that softens any problem, and originated a top old house years ago.

Vernay, C. G. Jr., and brother-in-law PeeWee Norman were tearing off its tin roof. They had pulled all the nails except one at the top of each piece of tin. C. G. and PeeWee moved off the tin strips when it was time to pull that final nail.

Vernay didn't. He was sure that it wouldn't slide, and it was easier to do that way. C. G. and PeeWee couldn't convince him, but he found out—fast—he was wrong.

With his first tug of a nail, Vernay, tin and all, went sliding off the roof. C. G. managed to grab him just as he was going over the edge and Vernay was pretty shook at the close call. "Don't worry, little brother!" they laughed, "You're going to be alright!" And the saying stuck with the family, and is used to answer any problem any of them have—man or woman.

Entertainment was a rarity back when the Burson children were small. Perhaps this is what developed their closeness and their valuable sense of humor—a gentle humor that the senior Bursons passed down to their family. The 'mesquite bean pie' episode is typical.

C. G. Jr.'s wife, Lee, is a first-generation American, and proud of it. Her parents came to Los Angeles from Italy and Lee had never lived anywhere but the center of one of the world's largest cities when he brought her to Texas. The family took her into their hearts on sight, but never failed to take advantage of her 'city' upbringing when the occasion arose—especially her husband.

The couple lived out in the country on a farm when she came to Texas. One night when C. G. came home from work, Lee asked, "C. G., what are those beans lying around the trees around the house?" He solemnly told her that they were mesquite beans, and made delicious pies.

She innocently gathered some beans voted to dispense with the chamber's monthly night meeting for May, June, July and August.

next day and put them on early that morning to boil, as he had instructed. Several members of the family stopped by during the day and, with absolutely no coaching from C. G. they carried the joke on as they arrived. They invariably peeked into the steaming pot and asked what was cooking. She'd tell them and they would—with a perfectly straight face—suggest that she add just a touch of cinnamon or a little honey, or whatever came to mind. Only about sundown did her husband tell her the truth, and only after most of the family had dropped by with suggestions, and stayed to watch the outcome!

Lee's great sense of humor is enjoyed by Mr. Burson as much as by any other member of the family. All the in-laws have been accepted in the same way, and learned to laugh with the others, even when the joke's on them.

Pioneering a new country develops a sense of humor and strong character. It also breeds a man with a genuine love of God and family, with a deep sense of honor, and with a true sense of what it means to be a friend and neighbor. On the Texas frontier, your word and your handshake was your bond, and your neighbors were often your lifeline. Both were valued and respected. Mr. Burson is this kind of man... a gentle man, a gentleman, a self-made man, and a true Texas pioneer. He's a breed of man that is passing from the American scene.

His kind of man won't come our way again, across these vast Texas prairie lands that progress had brought into the twentieth century. But, through God's guidance, his teachings and his character will show for

Roaring Springs Man Purchases Haskell Business

C. P. Woodson announced this week that he had sold Woodson Radio and Electric, to Charles Owens of Roaring Springs.

Owens has been connected with Thacker Supply Company of Roaring Springs for the past 22 years, taking care of their radio, T.V. and appliance repair work. He has also been keeping up the cable system at Roaring Springs.

Mr. Owens, his wife; one daughter and two grandchildren, will move to Haskell by June 1st, to take over the business and plan to make Haskell their home. They are members of the First Baptist Church.

In speaking of the change in ownership of the long established business, Woodson said: "Mr. Owens is the type man and Electronic Technician we have been looking for to take up where we leave off."

"It is rough to leave a business that we have grown up with, but age and health demand it. We are not going very far... only to our new home at Lake Stamford." Woodson said.

A LONG DAY'S JOURNEY

Hanaie Plantation, Hawaii
April 12, 1971
(By Billie Cadenhead)
For years we've talked of coming to Hawaii for our 25th wedding anniversary. The thought was much more dream than anticipation, to me. The dream began to unfold into reality on a Pamper Jet this morning as we left Abilene for Dallas.

Airman Completes Basic Training

SIDNEY D. SMART

Airman Sidney D. Smart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert E. Smart, of Rochester, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Texas. He has been assigned to Chanute AFB, Ill., for training in fuel services.

Airman Smart is a 1970 graduate of Rochester High School. His wife is the former Karen Lee of Rule.

the outskirts of our fair city and watched the sun slowly sink beyond the blue horizon... no hills, no trees to obstruct God's magnificent handiwork. As the golden ball of fire drops out of sight, streams of light of gold and silver seem to stretch forth their magnificent beams for one final departing glimpse at mother earth's inviting blankets of tilted soil...

Have you watched a full moon rise with all its beauty and glory? Have you driven out into the country-side and whiffed the aroma of freshly tilled soil... then if you haven't you have missed the beauty that Haskell and Haskell County offers.

Naturally newspaper people are a bit prejudiced... but we think there is no better medium of advertising than through the columns of the newspaper, whether it be a weekly, bi-weekly, tri-weekly, or daily. What we read usually stays with us... for at least a while, but we dare say that very few persons can tell the name of the product advertised over the T.V. or radio only a short while after the program has gone off the air.

several tour groups, a large number of wives and families of servicemen going to join the men on R and R from Vietnam, and a lovely array of young ladies to care for our airborne needs. The ship's steward, Samuel Jones of Braniff in Dallas, gave us the Hawaiian time when we were in flight. The mammoth 747 kept me busy looking at its many wonders. The seats were nine across with two aisles. There were six rest rooms for the back three plane sections and two for the first class. I counted three different kitchen areas.

The stewardesses were kept busy with constant serving. Although they and their costumes (Island pant suits of lush pink print) looked glamorous, they certainly worked hard during the seven-hour flight.

About 10:15, Hawaiian time, I thought I'd sighted the Sandia Peaks east of Albuquerque, N. Mexico. The Captain announced that we were 125 miles south of Albuquerque, flying at 35,000 feet at a speed of 550 miles per hour. In succession we saw Grand Canyon, Mojave Desert, and the snow-peaked Sierra Nevada in the distance. Clouds scattered and drifted in broken patterns above, below and around us. Through their feathery lightness we could identify the coast over Los Angeles and Catalina Island as we swept out over the Pacific about 11:30 a. m.

With only fathoms of ocean below, the movie could not keep my attention from the spectre of sea and sky outside our window. Except for out-stretching billows of clouds, the world shown blue where sea and sky intermingled. Indescribably majestic.

Someone's sons or husbands or fathers man the ocean contact station with which our Captain made radio contact at 2:15 p. m. Our ship flew 125 miles south of their tracking station at an altitude of 3500 feet, straight on course for the Island State.

At 4:30 the Captain announced (for those who were not already glued to their window as we) that the Hawaiian Islands were in view. We passed to the south of the larger island of Hawaii, recognized Maui from its map shape which we'd often studied, and cruised over the middle island, Oahu, which houses the part of Honolulu. We could distinctly identify Pearl Harbor and Waikiki Beach. At 4:43 p. m., we landed at Honolulu International Airport.

By pre-arrangement with our steward, we remained on board, while other passengers left to take pictures in the luxurious lounge area of the first class section. This picture taking caused us to miss the Urki Wiki bus which takes incoming passengers to the main terminal. Our Steward met another Braniff worker who graciously took us from Braniff's modern, new terminal to our shuttle flight center, Aloha Airlines.

We trod about through the busy litter of construction and expansion in and around the Honolulu terminal. From T.V. movies, that building appeared familiar. We enjoyed discovering the Oriental Gardens, lush with flowers, fish, palms, pools, streams and beautiful people. Our attention was drawn to the enticing shops and the openness of the walls which consisted of "stacked" sections of glass doors thrown back so that in doors and out mingled in the mild climate. Dark descended by 7:00. Our shuttle Jet was a few minutes late and our flight LHue, Kauai took us into a dark sky broken only by scattered lights of civilization below. At LHue I talked briefly with an Air Force Colonel's wife whom we'd met on the 747 trip over.

We learned that he's in Vietnam and she and three teenage daughters live in Mineral Wells. After the 36 mile drive to Hanaie Plantation on the northern side of Kawai in our blue rented Nova, I felt anew the truth of my answers to the Colonel's wife when she'd said: "It's been a long day, hasn't it?" My reply, "yes, but a good one. How wonderful to think that in a few hours you, who were half a world apart yesterday, are now here together!" How far we've all come today. It was a long journey. It has been 20 full hours since this day began. Hawaii. I can hear your night surf and feel your sea breezes. I thrill at the prospect of seeing you tomorrow!

News from Rule

MRS. DALE LEWIS

Philadelphian Club Meeting
The Philadelphian Club of Rule met Thursday, April 15, at 10:00 a. m. for one of its most interesting programs of the year. A brief business meeting was held at the Club House, presided over by the president, Mrs. Clyde Grice, at which time, Mrs. W. S. Cole was elected the Club's new president. The program director, Mrs. C. F. Norman, introduced the program theme for the Texas Day Program entitled, "Challenge-G-Gratitude for our Texas Heritage." The Federation News was given by Mrs. H. J. Claud. Mrs. Norman then gave a brief account of the history of the Old Raynor Courthouse, a famous landmark in our area. Mrs. J. E. Geer followed Mrs. Norman with some facts about the Camp Cooper or Putnam Ranch and the Fort Griffin area which the group toured immediately following the brief meeting in Rule. Mrs. Clark Grice and C. F. Norman were hostesses for the meeting.

Ten members and one guest left Rule and drove to Fort Griffin State Historical Park near Albany, where they were met by a lovely lady, Mrs. Carrol Putnam, who had previously invited the group to tour her 100-year-old ranch home. Sack lunches were spread together in the park area at Fort Griffin and enjoyed by the group. Mrs. Putnam directed the group "thru and around" the old Fort Griffin area, several ranches and interesting landmarks, to her home, the Camp Cooper Ranch, located about 7 miles "as the crow flies" (if crow is a good navigator) from Fort Griffin, and approximately 25 miles from Albany, in Shackelford County. Her home, the second of two homes built in the 1870's by the second sheriff of Shackelford County, John Larn, is still occupied by Mrs. Putnam. The Putnams have 4 grown children. Mr. Putnam had lived in the house from 1907 until his death in 1970, and his parents before him. The house was constructed of stones and materials taken from the abandoned buildings of the old camp. The house, still in good repair, featured 5 fireplaces which the Putnams found quite adequate until about 20 years ago when they added butane service. There were many, many interesting features of the house. Only a few yards from the house, surrounded by a rock fence, are graves with tall markers of John Larn and his child. Beside these graves, also in a fenced area, is the grave of Mr. Carrol Putnam, on the burial site he requested upon his death last year.

The members making the tour were very grateful to Mrs. Putnam, a most gracious hostess, for her warm hospitality and for giving a day of her time in helping others appreciate a part of their Texas heritage. The following made the tour: Mrs. Clyde Grice, A. R. Eaton, O. G. Lewis, James A. Lisle, W. D. Payne, J. E. Geer, A. D. May, R. K. Denton Jr., Cecil Lewis, Frank Campbell, and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Spencer.

Adult Education Classes Completed

A thirst for knowledge and a desire to better oneself is as old as life itself. For many, especially in our ever growing Latin American population, the parents have a sincere desire to learn to read and write in the same language their school-aged children are using at school. Mrs. Mildred Chambers of Rule has had a group of nine Latin Americans enrolled in Adult Basic Education classes. They are learning to read, write and speak English. Some bring a school aged child with them to serve as interpreters. Their tenacity in attending and their enthusiasm, especially as they learn to read, is very rewarding. For some this is their third year to attend adult classes.

Mrs. Chambers stresses the need for these parents to attend adult education classes before their children start to school so their communication can be in the language of the school, thereby helping the parent help the child.

Fourteen adults attended the required number of nights taking advanced courses preparatory to obtaining high school diplomas, or plan to take the exam in April or May. Linda Simpson taught this group. Of this group one was a minister and needed a diploma in order to get licensed; another wanted to meet requirements to get into religious education; one to get a promotion in Community Action Project; another was in line for promotion at factory where she works. All of them wanted the satisfaction of getting their high school diploma.

Classes in typing and book-keeping were offered to those who had their high school diploma. Three people completed the bookkeeping course. Six completed the typing course. Mrs. Faye Dunnam taught these courses. One student, a college graduate, wanted these courses as a review in order to do substitute teaching in nearby schools; one had a bookkeeping job waiting for her when she completed the course.

In each group, students expressed the self satisfaction of striving to learn new things and improve themselves. For many housewives, being with other adults in a common cause serves as a morale booster. As one woman said, "I can't drop out. We have a son who might drop out of college and I have to set an example by staying with it."

Dr. Rhew's brief message was based on the days following Easter and then gave Sentences of Praise. The invocation was given by the Pastor, Rev. Joe Walker which was followed with the people's participation of the Lord's Prayer.

The Chairman of the Board of Trustees, Vernon Mahler, presented the paid note on the parsonage to Dr. Rhew. Other Board members are Audie Verner and J. C. Lewis. The act of dedication was followed with a responsive reading by the people and Dr. Rhew, who also offered a prayer of dedication and the benediction was given by Rev. Walker.

Following the dedication services in the parsonage, the group enjoyed fellowship, pie and coffee in Fellowship Hall. Approximately 35 attended.

Application of Conservation Plans At Highest Peak In Several Years

Farmers and ranchers of Haskell County are taking full advantage of the dry weather during the past nine months. The application of needed conservation measures is at the highest peak it has been for several years, according to Harry G. Koehler, Conservation Technician of the Soil Conservation Service.

Koehler said that over 1.2 million feet of parallel terraces have been constructed since last July. 22 farm livestock water ponds have been completed, 35 acres of waterways constructed and seeded, and close to 7500 feet of diversions have been constructed.

Koehler reported that the following cooperators with the California Creek Soil and Water Conservation District have applied one or more conservation measures:

- M. E. Overton, 83,810 ft. parallel terraces and 2,912 ft. of conventional contour terraces.

Are you going to let your gas heating sleep through another summer?

Why not put it to work as an air conditioner?

It's a simple matter to install a cooling unit to your gas heating system. You can probably use the furnace blower and ductwork you already have. You'll save up to half the installation costs of starting from scratch.

Temperature control in your home is a year-round proposition, but not an expensive one. We have special rates for gas air conditioning during the summer. And no matter what the season, you may less for what than electricity.

Another nice thing about gas central air conditioning is its simplicity. There are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs. Wake up your gas heating to central gas cooling. You'll sleep better this summer.

BUICK BARGAIN DAYS ARE HERE

Buick Bargain Days are saving days.

A bargain price on a stripped-down car is no bargain. But a Buick or Opel at a bargain is something else again. Because we're not selling some special stripped-down model. We're selling Buicks and Opels, the same great cars, we've sold all year.

With one difference. The deals have never been better. Which means that you can move out in a new Buick or Opel at a price that's hard to believe. When Buick talks about a bargain, we give you something to believe in.

Opel 1900 Sport Coupe. With a 1900 cc. four-cylinder engine that operates efficiently on low-lead or no-lead gasolines. Hydraulic valve lifters for quiet engine operation, power front disc brakes and more.

Skylark Custom. With Buick's exclusive nickel-plated engine exhaust valves for smoother operation on today's cleaner fuels. Comfort-Flo ventilation system and more.

Your Buick-Opel dealer will give you better reasons to buy a new car now than anybody else.

The business of auto safety.

Auto safety is everyone's concern. But it's our business. And we think the attention that's being paid to auto safety now is a good thing. Because it will result in better driving for everyone. And, frankly, better driving for everyone means better business for us. We say Buick is something to believe in. That's why we're trying to make it easy to be safe by putting in safety features that work by themselves. You don't have to do anything to make them work. Like side guard beams. And the energy absorbing steering column. And the cargo guard between the trunk and back seat. They start "working" even before you get in the car. But two safety features, two of the most vital, worthless unless you do something first. Seat and shoulder belts. Unfastened they do nothing. And you've seen enough statistics to know what a difference they can make. But that's not all you can do. Because the most effective safety feature of all can't be added to our cars or anybody else's. That feature is you. And the way you drive. Which should be defensively. And rested. And safe. We're all in this together. And together we can solve the auto safety problem once and for all. And the time is now.

Your Community Action Program

By Ethel Plea

CAP 4-H Report

The Haskell Community Action Program will go into its new year May 1st, if we are funded for another year. As we have stated in the previous years, we have not accomplished the many things we had hoped to. Yet, the community as a whole has responded more this year than in the past. Projects have been undertaken this year that had not in the past. The one big project that had been discussed for a long time finally got underway a few days ago but has not been completed. With this being clean-up week the chairman, Mr. Pete Amaro and co-chairman, Mr. Ollie Lewis, are asking the full cooperation of the community as this is a very important project. The city has done a good part of the clean-up such as burning and dragging the areas. But it is left to us as how we feel about our section of the city. Ours can look just as nice as the other side of town if we work and think as an individual. Please come to the Community meeting each first Monday of the month to voice your opinion on the situation and projects you would like to see going. We are too prone to say, "If they would do so-and-so." Who are they? Come on Haskellites...let's get where the Action is...the Action is in the community.

In the program we have Family Planning, Gardening projects, 4-H clubs that need leaders, sewing classes that need instructors... I'm sure you're saying anyone can teach sewing, but that is not true. If there is anyone interested in gardening on a large scale...CAP has the necessary funds for it. If you have dishes, silverware or anything that you might think can be used at the Center...please call 864-3053. Men will be at the Center to paint Thursday and Friday nights...Nominations were made at the last board meeting for new members to the CAP board for the new year...they have not been closed, as several were not present to accept the responsibility, so in the community meeting come and discuss this as citizens of the community. Let me say, I am not contradicting the report given in last week's paper...this is just a reminder to the people of the poverty areas and interested residents.

raised. There were three brothers, including Ted, former Weinert resident, and three sisters. Their mother was also able to attend. She is 91 years old.

Beautyrest by Simmons
It gives every part of your body a good night's rest.

To keep your curves in the right places, you've got to keep your spine straight—even while you sleep. For that, you need a Beautyrest mattress.

The Beautyrest has separate coils, so while some of them yield to your hips and shoulders, others provide support for the small of your back. Your spine stays straight while you stay curvy.

And, because it custom-shapes itself to your very own figure, you'll find the Beautyrest is firm, but not hard; comfortable, but not mushy. You get all the restful, refreshing sleep you need to stay beautiful, Beautiful.

So keep your shape standing up. Take a Beautyrest lying down.

For normal firmness, sleep on a Beautyrest Supreme; or take the Back Care Beautyrest for extra-firm support. Both are Scotchgard treated to resist 40,000 and stains for years.
