merchants. The Haskell Free Press inserts the Dollar Day Circular in the paper each month, so that people who might possibly miss the saturation coverage of the circular might still get a copy through their subscription to the Free Press. Continued increases in the number of subscribers we service gives these people two opportunities for the circular, but we feel it is worth it, rather than to miss even one family in this shopping area, and have them miss a chance at our merchants' bargains. Haskell is a friendly place to shop. It is more convenient and fun to shop leisurely here than to cope with the hectic 'city' shopping other places. Give these Dollar Day merchants the opportunity of serving you through today, Friday and Saturday. Then make their shops and businesses a pleasant habit when you need their services. Haskell needs YOU! ### Costly Fire Destroys Four Businesses

Downtown Rochester was hit hard early Thursday morning, July 8th, when fire destroyed four business establishments. Volunteer Fire Departments from Rochester, Haskell and Knox City fought the blaze for over three hours before bringing it under control around 6:00 a. m. Some 40 men were involved in extinguishing the costly fire.

Ruby Watkins Beauty Parlor, C. W. Berryman's Service Station and Garage, Claude Norman's Barber Shop and Acree Oil Company, owned by Edward K. Acree were a total loss. The beauty shop and barber shop were located in a building owned by Berryman and adjacent to his service station. Acree Oil Company was a wholesale and retail petroleum dealership. Acree also operated a retail feed and seed business as well as a dog food distributorship at the same location. O. R. Cox, Water Supt., said that two of several above-ground gasoline tanks blew up and threw flames and debris some 150 feet into the air.

Rochester residents felt relieved that no one was injured, as an even greater disaster could have occurred.

The service station and Acree Oil Company were full of oil cans, butane bottles and a number of 50-gallon oil drums. Hair spray cans in the barber shop and beauty parlor also exploded.

Berryman estimated his losses at between $50,000 and $60,000. He moved to Rochester just over a year ago, after working for 34 years in the oil fields. Acree estimated his losses to be in the $25,000 to $30,000 bracket. Norman, formerly a longtime Haskell barber, who lives in Rochester's only barber. Although he is 77 he plans to go back into business. He was uninsured and lost about $1,000 in equipment and stock. He also lost some antique barbering equipment, including some razors that were over 100 years old. Ruby Watkins, owner of the beauty shop, lives in Knox City and she plans to open up another shop. The fire apparently started in Berryman's Garage, according to Cox and Fire Chief Leslie Tibbets.

CONSERVATION VIEW POINTS

J. C. YEARY, JR.
District Conservationist

present drought conditions have caused a parallel downward trend in the soil moisture. Because of the buildup of "seasonal" moisture in the soil, this buildup of moisture, along with fewer deep tillage operations in "highland" areas conserve the much needed moisture for the following crop.

Most clay loam-type soils, under optimum conditions will take in from one-fourth to one-half inch of water per hour, in considering the intensity of our few rains per year, it is easily understood why terraces with closed ends are needed.

Bill Halecomb, Rochester, has just completed a system of parallel terraces along with a diversion terrace to control outside water which prevents damage to the cropland below. Marvin and Johnny Wheatley are presently having parallel terraces constructed on their Mattson farm. Both farmers have Great Plains Conservation Program contracts, administered by the Soil Conservation Service and are receiving cost share assistance in the construction of the terraces.

Farmers and ranchers in the county have been digging ponds at a rapid pace. Many ponds which were thought to be adequate during the wet 60's have dried up during the last 18 months dry weather.

The average pit-type pond constructed, when full, will hold approximately two acre feet of water or about 651,700 gallons. Thirty-five new ponds were dug during the last fiscal year.

Recently constructed ponds through the Rural Environmental Assistance Program include those for R. C. Couch, Eric Bergstrom, Elmer Miller and Buddy Lane.

Musical Program Presented At Lions Meeting

Haskell Lions were in for a treat at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting at the City Cafe, when talented Pat Harris, 1972 Miss Throckmorton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Harris, of Haskell, and Tommy Mojica, youth director at the First Baptist Church, presented a musical program.

With Mojica playing the guitar, the couple sang a series of modern-day songs, which brought long and loud applause from the "Roaring Lions."

Secretary-treasurer, O. W. Tooley, reported on the officers and directors meeting held on Tuesday morning, and also gave a financial report. John Wallace Cox was noted as a guest.

City Council Holds Meeting

The Airport Ordinance was read for the third and final time, and adopted at the meeting of the City Council, Tuesday night.

Residents of the city are requested not to burn garbage or trash during summer months, due to the fact that water air conditioners pull smoke into homes. Also the burning of trash and garbage results in a fire hazard.

Reading of minutes of the last regular meeting; presenting of bills from June 22nd to July 13th, and other routine business was on the agenda.

Present were Mayor H. V. Woodard; councilmen Belton Duncanson, Buster Gholson, Lorraine Johnson, Carl Anderson; water supt., Marvin Collins; city attorney, Joe Williams, and city secretary, Ira Hester.

Cotton Looks Good, But In Need of Rain

"We are not having any trouble with insect infestation in Haskell county as of right now," County Agent Max Stapleton said Wednesday morning.

Stapleton said that "cotton was looking good over the county, but we need rain soon."

area is just beginning to bloom with older cotton in the second week of blooming.

Young cotton in the area is suffering from lack of moisture. Fleahopper infestations increased in most fields in the Rolling Plains counties.

Overwintered boll weevils were reported in fields in Fischer, Collingsworth, Hall and Jones counties.

Some bollworm eggs have been detected in fields in Knox County during the past week.

Fewer Drownings

Fewer drownings have been reported this year than for the same period last year, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Safety Services.

As of June 1 there were 204 drownings compared with last year's total of 212 for the same period.

Drownings along the coast decreased from 40 last year to 22 this year while fatalities on lakes went up from 60 last year to 85 this year.

The Department says drowning victims keep making the same mistakes year after year, and pay for these mistakes with their lives.

students whose academic achievements qualified them for the Dean's List of spring semester at Texas Tech include Glen R. Dudensing, freshman non-major and Kenneth W. To qualify, students must have a grade point average of 3.0 or more and must be taking as many as 12 semester hours.

Ducks Hit Hard By Long Drought

Hunters won't find as many mottled ducks when the season opens this year as they did last year, according to Charles Stutzenbaker, project leader for the J. D. Murphree Wildlife Management Area.

Stutzenbaker said the drought has hit ducklings hard. There is very little water left on the management area, and ducks are concentrating on the few ponds. Unfortunately, predators ranging from raccoons to crabs are also concentrating at the ponds, and are taking their toll of the small ducks.

For the past few years the area has had excellent numbers of breeding mottled ducks, and the ducks had a very good nesting success this year.

But because of the drought conditions it is doubtful that many of the small ducks will get large enough for hunters to shoot, according to Stutzenbaker.

Wichita Dentist To Speak At First Baptist Church

Dr. Darwood Wheatley, a Wichita Falls dentist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wheatley, of Haskell, will be the principal speaker, Sunday, July 18, at the 6:00 p. m. training hour at Haskell First Baptist Church.

Dr. Wheatley will show a film and speak on his recent work in Mexico. He took 10 days of his vacation in May, to journey to the remote mountain area of northwestern Mexico and work among the Tarahumara Indians. Along with another dentist from El Paso, they extracted almost 1000 infected teeth, using a flashlight for lighting and a rock for a chair.

The dentists were sponsored by the El Paso Baptist Association and the Wichita Falls Metropolitan Club.

The Wichita Falls Times-Record News, twice mentioned the expedition, and stated the following in an editorial:

"We mention this mission again because these are days when acts of violence get most of the headlines, and to remind our readers that throughout America, clubs and churches are constantly performing just such acts as this. These acts, because they are routine, are, in the main, unpublicized. But

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

My husband and I were in Haskell last week visiting my mother, Mrs. Eula Therwanger while she was ill. And we would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the people of Haskell for their friendliness and kindness.

I don't believe I have ever met people so friendly. We were in several places of business, and everyone was so nice. While at the hospital people would stop and inquire whom we were visiting and expressed a speedy recovery for our loved one.

The doctors and nurses were so kind and thoughtful. Again we say thank you and are so grateful we still have people like you in America. — Mrs. Herb Simmons, Lamesa, Tex.

A Tour Of Ft. Leavenworth Prison

By Mrs. Gene Overton
I have been to Kansas to visit our son, Mike and his wife, Waller. I insisted that the mother of an Army pilot should fly and not go by bus. So he took me to Dallas and I flew. That was only the second time I have ever flown and one does get where one is going in a hurry when one does fly.

Bratiff has red planes, green planes and blue planes, and I was hoping I would fly on a red or maybe a green. But when we started to board, ours was a T.Sip orange! I rushed back and bought more insurance, but we made the trip just fine. My seat mates were two insurance men who talked loudly about their business, and I couldn't ask any of the dumb questions I wanted to ask about flying. After we didn't fall down over Dallas, I relaxed and began looking at the country and farms and lakes below. I saw Denton and T.W.U.'s twin tower farms, and Lake Dallas and the Red River, and then I didn't know what I was seeing. Some companies have maps, but Bratiff doesn't. The farms and pastures of Oklahoma and Kansas are so pretty from the air. Linda met me in Kansas City, Mo., and we drove back to Leavenworth, Kansas.

Ft. Leavenworth is basically a school for Colonels and Generals and maybe Majors. They have a long nine month term and a short summer term, Mike and Linda's friends are the Army aviation people, the hospital doctors, some of the instructors, and the prison counselors. The only student I met and visited with was Colonel Wang Lan, the Assistant Surgeon General of the entire South Vietnam army. He is here with 14 other Vietnamese for the long term. He was such a sad man. He has a 5 year old son and his wife in Saigon. When the U. S. leaves South Vietnam, men like Colonel Lan will be prisoners of war of the North Vietnamese and probably be killed. He loved the quiet of Leavenworth. He said Saigon skies were alive with planes. But he missed the Vietnamese food, and Mike says it smells terrible and doesn't taste very good either. Some of the Vietnamese officers are doing their own cooking because they can't eat our food.

The Linda took me on a tour of the Disciplinary Barracks. Leavenworth has three prisons, the Federal pen, where Billie Sol was, the Kansas State pen, and the D. B. for the Federal Govt. The average age of the prisoners in the D. B. is 22, and they are mostly boys who went AWOL several times, or were insubordinate, or trouble makers who finally had to be imprisoned, or of course boys who committed serious crimes. There are seven officers and 9 prisoners are life termers. There were 880 inmates there the day we toured, and only 7 were in restrictive, 76 are in drug offenses, and since we have 2,000,000 men in the Army, and that percent compares with the national average 230 of the inmates are married. Their families may visit them on Saturday, Sunday and holidays. The prison has nice living rooms with little off-sets where the families can have some privacy, and they have cribs and things for the babies and children. A custody parolee may work on post, and they sack groceries and load them in one's car at the Commissary, they work in the green house and florist, they may be hired by someone on post to work in the yard or wash windows or anything one needs done. They don't have to do any of this, but they are paid to work outside the prison, and most are glad to do it. They save this money for the time when they are released. $15.50 a day keeps a man. It costs the state $7.75 a man, and the extra money is spent on rehabilitation. A man may learn trades. They have a furniture repairing shop, a leather, shoe repairing shop, a barber shop, a printing shop, a florist and green-house, a book binding shop, a wood-working shop, and even a Computer office. The tour guide told us they had 3 ex-inmates working for companies as computer operators in civilian life. Really the only difference I could see in the prisoners and the guards was that the guards get to go home at night. Guards are stationed there just like any other army service. Maybe some of the guards are real good and stay a long tour of duty. Mike's good friend is one of the counselors and he has organized a J-C group, and he even takes them to the conventions. I'll bet he worries on those trips. However, the guide said the men who are in the J-C are the custody parolees, and they are model prisoners. One of our guides was such a nice, cheerful colored man, and he seemed so proud of all the rehabilitation facilities, and the advantages a parolee could have. Linda said when she took her mother on the tour they had him for a guide, and one dumb woman asked such questions as "Where will Lt. Colby be housed?" "How long are you in for?" and he answered, "Life!" He surely was making the most of his life. I admired him immensely. The thing that haunted me was the little concrete cells. Each man has a bunk, a metal locker sort of thing, a lavatory, a commode, and a door of bars that is locked with a control switch. The tours are not a "look at the monkey in the zoo" sort of thing. The prisoners are all in the shops, or the kitchen or somewhere working. We were just allowed to tour so we could know how the army rehabilitates their prisoners. Oh yes, their food is regular army chow. They have the same menus the army uses. The food I saw looked delicious, but I suppose some men who have served in the army might think the chow was a part of their punishment. The uniforms are dark brown pants and dark brown T-shirts, and they looked nice.

So, now you have been in and out of the army prison. I wish you could have been with me. We visited the Agricultural Hall of Fame at Bonnersville, Kansas, saw "Funny Girl" at Starlight Theater in Kansas City, went with a post doctor to examine 250 boy scouts as they began a week of camping at Myers Scout Camp, attended the Methodist Church, watched Mike's baseball team play the prison guards. (This week they are in the playoffs with the prisoners), and had an interesting tour of the weather station. Leavenworth is right smack on the Missouri line, and is more like Missouri with trees and rolling hills than Kansas with its flat corn fields. The weather is like ours, only maybe more moisture.

Summer In Winter

When it comes to vacation places, some like 'em hot, while others like 'em cold - but the smartest vacationer gets away from it all by summering in winter. Whether it's a cruise or a short hop via jet to some hot spot, these clever planners make their getaway good by escaping the chill winds and snows back home.

Where to go? Depends on your location and your budget. If you live on or near the East coast, Florida, Puerto Rico and Bermuda are just a hop, skip and a jump away. If you live in the mid-west, there's California . . . and if you live in California . . . well, there's always Hawaii.

What to take? Summerwear, lightweight, of course, with plenty of bathing suits—since you don't want to be forever washing them out for the next day. A broad-brimmed hat and Bring along plenty of Secret of the Sea Suntan Lotion for tender winter skin unused to the sun's glare. This greaseless, non-sticky, non-staining lotion contains a new scientific screen to effectively filter out harmful rays and permit even tanning. What's more, Secret of the Sea Suntan Lotion contains precious emollients that soothe your thirsty epidermis, leave skin soft and supple. This Winter, follow the sun for your vacation. If you treat it with respect, you'll come back looking like a beautiful sunworshipper.

VINTAGE YEAR FOR CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH

ONE OF OUR BEST YEARS.

It takes something special to come up with a Vintage Year. But that's what 71 has been for Chrysler-Plymouth. Our slogan "Coming Through" had a lot to do with it, because it's our pledge. To come through with the style, size, price and quality you can live with for years to come. Two good examples are Plymouth Fury and Chrysler Royal.

Royal 2-Door Hardtop

OUR FINEST OF THE BIG.

Plymouth Fury and Chrysler Royal are big ways to go for people who want the comfort and space benefiting their style of living. Both have Torsion-Quiet Ride (which not only quiets road noise but gives you firm, sure handling). Both have a large interior and trunk space. And both turned out to be the finest cars of their kind in this vintage year.

Effective July 1, 1971, Texas law requires that a one-cent sales tax be charged on newspapers in towns which have a local sales tax. This law applies to Haskell. The Haskell Free Press will be priced at 14 cents plus one cent tax, or tax included

This increase is called for by rising costs of publication as well as by the addition of the sales tax. The rising costs also make it necessary to increase subscription rates. One of the major factors in this consideration is the much-publicized increase in postal charges for second class mail, which is more than for other classes. We have elected to postpone raising the subscription rates until all readers have been forewarned so that they may have a chance to save by subscribing or renewing present subscriptions at the old rates. We shall continue to accept new subscriptions or renewals of existing subscriptions at the present rates through July 31, 1971.
