FFA places eighth at State Convention

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
 STAFF REPORT

WINTERS - The 83rd Annual Texas FFA Convention was held on July 11-15 at the south plains city of Lubbock, on the campus of Texas Tech University. Winters FFA was proudly represented by six local members: Hannah Franklin, Jack Pritchard, Michelle Kruse, Reba Coleman, Abby Guy and Ashley Guy.

Gathered at the convention were over 10,000 FFA members in their blue corduroy jackets from all across Texas. The week was filled with concerts, speaking competitions, talent shows, world renowned guest speakers, state officer elections, award presentations, and a convention dance. It was a great week for students to participate in leadership development, community relations, and social outreach.

While at the state convention, Abby Guy competed in the State FFA Soil Stewardship Public Speaking Event and finished as the eighth high speaker in the state of Texas. After having previously won the event on the district and area levels, Abby advanced past the state semi-final to compete in the top 10 finals round this week. The event has contestants give a six to eight minute public presentation and answer questions related to the conservation of our natural resources. Abby's speech, titled "Pine Street", discussed the many complications regarding today's forestry management. Along with the Texas FFA, this event is sponsored by the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board. Congratulations Abby Guy!

City Secretary leaves City Hall

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ
 WINTERS ENTERPRISE

WINTERS - Two weeks after the Winters City Manager resignation was accepted by the City Council, Shelia Paschal, a 33 plus years employee of the City of Winters and City Secretary for the last few months, is also leaving the administration.

Last Tuesday, July 12 was officially the last day of Paschal as City Secretary. The City Administration was left with only two full time employees. As of press time the search for a new City Manager continued, through the Texas Municipal League, with several candidates interested in filing for the job. Paschal's position will not be fulfilled in the short term.

City Secretary's retirement is the second vacancy in a two week period following the budget reduction efforts being made by the City Council for the 2011-2012 fiscal year.

Former City Manager Alan Hollander presented his resignation after a discussion with Council members aiming to reduce the budget by $64,000. Hollander and Mayor Lewis Bergman didn't agree about the adjustments to be made.

Hollander proposed to absorb one of the positions in the Water Department after one of the employees presented his resignation. The City Manager also proposed to raise property taxes, update pool fees and allow private participation in the maintenance of the three cemeteries located in Winters.

Mayor Lewis Bergman had asked to cut two out of the three administrative positions at the City Hall.

RUNNELS CO. HISTORICAL BUILDINGS St. Mary's Star of the Sea Catholic Church

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
 STAFF REPORT

BALLINGER - The history of Catholics in this area dates back 450 years. In the 1500's, Cabeza de Vaca and Coronado both traveled through this area with priests seeking to bring religion to the area Indians. The Franciscans came later, bringing religion to the San Angelo area in the 1600's, then came the San Clemente Mission in far southeastern Runnels County.

Priests were martyrs that served at the Santa Cruz Mission south near the town of Menard in the 1700's by the Indians.

In 1906 the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railroad set a price on the property that eventually became the location of St. Mary's Church. Bishop E. J. Dunne of the Diocese of Dallas purchased the property from the railroad for $1,000 on December 31, 1906. The original building was constructed on Sealy Avenue in 1895. The church building for St. Mary's Star of the Sea Parish in Ballinger, Texas was constructed near the corner of Sixth and Crossen in 1910 and replaced the original building. The small building had served Catholics from Ballinger and nearby Olfen, Rowena, Winters and Cbleman, but the Catholic population had grown so much that by 1904, Father A. P. Fletcher, O.M.I., the pastor, and the members of the parish began making plans for a new and larger structure. Father Fletcher started the original plans for the new church before he left Ballinger in 1910, and Father J. B. Frigon, O.M.I., was the pastor when the building was constructed.

He had preached a mission (a series of sermons for spiritual renewal) in the county courthouse. A building committee composed of J. A. Kelly, Joe Spill and A. J. Zappe was appointed. Father Frigon and the committee received a good response from the citizens of Ballinger and construction soon began. The new church, according to estimates would cost $8,000.

J. A. Kelly, formerly of Gainsville, received the contract to build the church. He brought his family to Ballinger to begin work. His wife assisted by being an ardent church organizer. Charles Castor, a local stone mason originally from Kentucky, helped build the structure that was completed in 1910 and also was selected to build the priest's house (rectory) in 1911.

Rock for the church was quarried from nearby stone deposits near the confluence of the Colorado River and Elm Creek. This type of rock was used in many of the buildings in Ballinger and is a good example of the local use of the native stone.

The church was dedicated to St. Mary, Star of the Sea. Although 500 miles from the sea, this name did not seem inappropriate to the early settlers, especially as one author wrote, when "one looks out over the sea of undulating ranch land or white capped landscape of fields of cotton. Even in the long years of drought, the land was again a sea of rolling sand".

The structure has been in continuous use by the parish since its completion in 1910. The building is maintained in functional condition by the parishioners of the parish.

The Recorded Texas Historic Landmark was dedicated Sunday March 24, 1985 with ceremony.

Special letter from the Winters Elementary School new Principal

I would like to take the opportunity to introduce myself to the community of Winters ISD. I am Sammy K. Edwards newly named Elementary Principal for Winters ISD. I love children and believe they are our country's greatest resource. I believe that a great education occurs most often in a small town where the parents, the community and the school are all a part of the student's educational success.

I am married to Rocky Edwards and have an 11 year old Sixth Grade daughter who will be attending Winters Middle School in August. I was born and raised in Bryan, Tx where my father Sam Tullous served as Chief of Police for most of my childhood years. Bryan was a small town during my public school years and both my husband and I want our daughter to have that same positive educational experience that only a small town atmosphere can provide. I am an Aggie and have really enjoyed watching them play football this past year.

My family and I are very active in the Texas Junior Livestock Association and had ongoing success with our show lambs.

We want to thank Superintendent Kuempel, the Board of Trustees, the elementary teachers and the Winters community for giving us the opportunity to fulfill a lifelong dream of making our home in West Texas.

Sincerely,
Sammy K. Edwards

Adult Enrichment Center fundraiser in San Angelo

WINTERS ENTERPRISE
STAFF REPORT

SAN ANGELO - The Adult Enrichment Center in San Angelo is excited to host its second annual fundraiser, Under the Texas Sky. The event will be held Saturday, July 23 at the Adult Enrichment Center, 6146 Appaloosa Trail (inside Rio Concho West).

Festivities will begin at 6 p.m. with a silent auction and an art show by Cowboy Artist of America member, Wayne Baize. Baize is best known for his portrayals of Hereford cattle, horses, and donkeys. Many of Baize's paintings were inspired by his experiences on working Texas ranches, and he will be on-site to share his stories and talk about his exquisite art.

At 7 p.m., the dinner bell will sound to signal the start of the barbeque dinner, complete with brisket, beans, potato salad, peach cobbler, and all the trimmings! Later in the evening, Texas story-teller, Annalon Gilbreath of Lubbock will start the evening's entertainment, followed by a live auction. Then, special guest and performer, Grammy-nominated cowboy balladeer, Don Edwards, will sing some well-loved cowboy and Old West songs. He is sure to include his most popular rendition of Cattle Call.

Proceeds from this event will help supplement the services that the Adult Enrichment Center has been providing in San Angelo since 1987. The Center serves over 40 people daily by providing transportation to and from the Center; socialization with other clients; breakfast, lunch, and a snack; baths to help families who aren't equipped to provide baths to their loved ones in their own homes; physical activities such as Tai Chi and bowling on the Wii; a weekly church service; bingo; dominoes; special entertainers; field trips; and much, much more.

Caring for a relative with a chronic illness or disability is a loving commitment many families fulfill each day. More and more people are finding themselves to be the primary caregivers for their parents, and the demands on their time and money can be a difficult challenge to overcome. The alternatives to this care, nursing homes and home health care agencies, can be expensive for families. The Adult Enrichment Center provides some relief for these caregivers by offering day care services for their loved ones at a reasonable rate, and with charitable support by the public, the Center can keep its fees for its services affordable.

The Adult Enrichment Center provides respite for caregivers whose loved ones attend both daily and occasionally. Respite is available to any family who needs a place to entrust their loved one while working, running errands, and attending to other personal needs. Something that most people do not realize is that the Center is the optimal place for people outside of San Angelo to have their loved one cared for when they come to town to shop and run other errands. The Center can provide a place for your family member to rest, eat, and socialize until errands have been completed.

The Adult Enrichment Center is unique in that it is one of the only facilities of its kind in West Texas. With the rising costs of nursing homes and home health care, the Adult Enrichment Center proves to be a great financial alternative to other long-term care needs. In addition, adults are able to maintain some independence by returning to their home at the end of the day. The Center provides up to 10 hours of care daily and allows caregivers the ability to live their own lives while ensuring a good life for the ones they care for.

The Board of Directors and the staff of the Adult Enrichment Center invite you to attend Under the Texas Sky. Tickets can be purchased at Southland Frame Center and Gallery, the Adult Enrichment Center, or on the website at <http://www.adultenrichmentcenter.org>. For more information, contact the Center at 325-942-9253. Come out and enjoy a spectacular evening, Under the Texas Sky!

WINTERS - A woman was arrested and taken to Runnels County Jail for attacking a man with a folding knife, causing him multiple wounds and severe injuries. Misty Elizabeth Bailey, 31, was apprehended on Tuesday, July 12, just after attacking a man identified as Worth Hopper.

Hopper and Bailey had been on a Ford F150 pick up truck on US Highway 83, about six miles north of Winters, Texas. Both had been arguing on the vehicle, stopped and then continued to fight on a county road off of US Highway 83.

According to the Runnels County Sheriff's Department Bailey said that she used a knife she had been carrying to stab Hopper multiple times.

Hopper drove to the North Runnels Hospital and was later airlifted to Shannon Medical Center, in San Angelo, where his condition was reported as stable. Injuries sustained were non life-threatening.

The fight occurred around 9:30 p.m. After the incident was reported Runnels County Sheriff's Department conducted a search for the knife but until press time it had not been found.

A $20,000 bond was set for Bailey, but the State of Texas issued a blue warrant for her and she will be staying in Runnels County Jail until taken to court.

Down in backs, up in spirits...

With legitimate claims for nimbleness and quickness, they'd both be miserable failures on Jack's final test — jumping over the candlestick. If they tried, they'd fail, leaving the candlestick "unwobbled."

They have much in common, these two Brown County natives. Both were born at home — a dozen miles apart — and both excelled in country schools. Both had fathers who had rural mail routes, both had strong grips on their own bootstraps, both are military veterans and both had distinguished careers.

Further, both have serious back problems. 'Course, age has something to do with it — Dr. Joe Rushing just turned 90 and Putter Jarvis faces 80 right shortly....

They both have smile-plastered faces, admitting they're "incurable optimists." And when Joe and Putter find themselves slap-dab in the middle of pratfalls, they invariably start the laughter. In a world where humor is going the way of fireflies, they still are much in the smile business.

Avid readers, both are eager Internet participants and keen communicators, determined to hone mental skills. They work crossword puzzles and embrace technology, including Kindles.

Joe, a veteran educator who served 30 years as founding president of two major community colleges (Broward County, Florida, and Tarrant County, Texas), still signs up for on-campus history classes at Texas A&M-Central Texas. Putter, founder of Landmark Life, a major independent insurance company, remains actively engaged with the firm....

Both move about gingerly. Joe, widowed in 2007 after several years as a

TEXAS
Don

caregiver, has opted to forego surgery. He walks with the aid of a cane and still drives short distances.

Putter, himself a caregiver, opted for surgery on four vertebrae earlier this year.

A proud Aggie, he's driving again, regaining his strength and walking a bit more each day....

He visited Walmart the other day, mounting one of those battery-powered scooters, figuring its operation would be a "piece of cake." Still, he opted to shop early in the morning, carefully turning his Aggie ring 180 degrees. After all, if he "scooter" into any sort of embarrassment, he wanted to avoid any reflection on his beloved Texas A&M.

Putter mastered the forward gear, not realizing the contraptions back up.

They do. "Bells clanged, people scattered and I nearly took out an end cap display," Putter admitted. "I could imagine horrified shoppers thinking, 'Why doesn't that poor old guy let his kids or grandkids shop for him?'" ....

Rushing, too, continues to laugh at himself. It is a practice of long-standing. One recent day, he waked joyfully, head and feet slightly elevated on his remote-controlled mattress of many positions. He looked forward to his morning water aerobics class — one that becomes "co-ed" on days he attends.

Ready to "flatten" his mattress for easy exit, he felt around his right side for the control. He tried again, wishing that he could "call" the control on his cell phone. Then, he beat a 120-degree arc on the bed with his right arm. Still, no luck.

Finally, he struggled out of bed. As he swung his body awkwardly to the left, he spotted the missing control. All the while, it had been in his LEFT hand....

At his recent 90th birthday party, some 60 people gathered for a fine meal and cake-cutting. Dressed to the nines, he wore a snappy dark suit, accented by a carefully-knotted tie and pocket puff hanky.

He regaled friends with hilarious stories, including one about marching back to the car rental counter, hopeful of getting a different vehicle. The one he'd been assigned had a warning light on.

The rental guy, accompanying him to the car, explained, "The warning light indicates high beam."...

Joe and Putter overcame many challenges, including the Great Depression, to reach their destinies.

Both were greatly influenced by their mothers, since both of their fathers were disease victims when Joe and Putter were yet children. Both were familiar with farm chores at early ages. Putter was 14 years of age when he learned his first name wasn't "Git-wood."

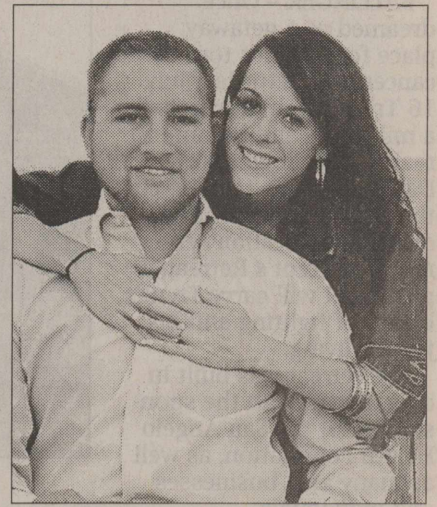

They are friends long admired, worth riding the river with. Now, they continue to be valuable models — living their twilight years with dignity, grace and merry hearts....

Trent's Retreat, a legacy of love

RUBEN CANTU-RODRIGUEZ
WINTERS ENTERPRISE

BALLINGER - Once dreamed as a getaway place for families torn by cancer, last Saturday, July 16 Trent's Retreat reached a milestone and became a reality in Ballinger. Misty, David and Allie Ueckert cut the ribbon and presided over the dedication ceremony at Trent's Retreat, a place that will carry Trent's legacy of fighting and his joy for living.

The retreat was built in over a year, with the sponsorship of the San Angelo Health Foundation, as well as many area businesses and individuals.

This place will be offering a house away from hospitals, clinics and everyday stress, for families affected by cancer to spend a few days in a relaxed environment. The house has all the amenities needed and is located next to the creek.

Visitors will have a mini-golf course a few steps out the door, and will be able to enjoy a water slide once all the details are completed.

Construction started in June of 2010, the slab was poured on June 8 and construction on the house began on June 25. The Ueckerts received the support of many businesses, contractors, and friends.

Mike Riley, Ballinger ISD Board of Trustees President was the master of ceremonies and remembered the struggle this family had to go thru after the young Trent was diagnosed with a rare form of cancer at the age of 13. Pat Williams American Legion Post 8 members raised the U.S. flag and right underneath they also raised a second flag honoring Trent and the retreat. Laurie Ryan sang The Star-Spangled Banner and Bobby Broyles, Pastor of the First Baptist Church of Ballinger, remembered the moments they went thru because of Trent's disease.

The retreat will start operating in September, for families to escape for a few days from hospital visits, chemotherapy, or radiation, and allow them to have a little "normal" life as most people know it.

Trent's fun-loving personality, caring spirit and constant smile, positive attitude, and desire to live will be honored this way, providing families of pediatric cancer patients a chance to take a momentary vacation from cancer and rest, relax, and rejuvenate, all while having fun making forever family memories.
