

THE REESE AIR FORCE BASE ROUNDUP

Mission Milestones

The 64FTW fell slightly short of our required sorties last week due to high winds and the down day last Friday. The timeline continues to look good with T-37s at 5.5 days ahead and T-38s at 5.1 days ahead.

Give a deposit... get a return

Take time to toss in those aluminum cans and at the same time, make money for your squadron. Recycling boxes have been set up by unit representatives in each squadron.

The MWR Division has been appointed as base program monitor and each squadron has a monitor. The program works like this: squadron monitors ensure only aluminum cans are collected via the collection boxes. Cans are then delivered to MWR Logistics on Tuesdays and Thursdays between 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. MWR Logistics weighs the aluminum cans, documents their weight while the squadron monitor verifies whether the weight is correct.

MWR will pay the same rate as the vendors downtown. A local vendor, who provides a can trailer here, has five working days to make payment to MWR Division for the aluminum cans. (Payment will be figured on documented weight of trailer, "in empty and out full"). Upon receipt of payment from the vendor, the MWR Division has ten working days to distribute funds into each squadron's account. MWR receives a portion of the funds from the trailer load that is placed in an account to benefit the base.

The squadrons, however, will receive the majority of the funds—based upon the documented weight each activity has turned in to MWR Logistics. Money placed into their account can be used by the squadron to support unit requirements.

As the Toss-in, Turn-in program grows, other recycling items such as computer paper, cardboard and pallets will also be collected.

No, Colonel Higham didn't set the record for the most sodas consumed by one person! Col. James B. Higham, 64th Air Base Group commander, presents Reese's aluminum can collection as the base "Toss-In, Turn-In" program gets underway. The funds generated from the recycling campaign will be distributed to the contributing squadrons based upon the weight of the cans collected from their areas. (USAF photo)

Wing change of command to highlight Yuletide festivities

By SrA. Kimberly Nelson
Roundup Staff Writer

The Wing Change of Command ceremony is Dec. 20 at 2 p.m., and will take place on the flightline, if weather permits, otherwise it will be held inside Hangar 82. At that time, Col. Mark H. Lillard, III, 64th Flying Training Wing commander will bid us his farewell and Col. Monroe S. Sams, Jr. will make his introduction.

The ceremony's objective, in accordance with ATC guidance and Wing Plan 952 (Reese Change of Command Plan), is to provide an orderly, logical sequence of events and support that will ensure the change of command occurs with minimal disruption to Reese operations.

The itinerary for the event is as follows; 2 p.m. parade starts (indoor ceremony if weather requires), immediately following is the Change of Command, and shortly after, a reception is being held.

Lieutenant Gen. Robert C. Oaks, Air

Training Command's commander, will preside over the ceremony.

Colonel Gerald W. Deakin, Deputy Commander of Maintenance, will be the commander of troops for the parade and ceremony.

Parade practices are from Dec. 8-19, times, places and participants required to attend are as follows:

Dec. 8 at 2 p.m. at the Professional Military Education (PME) Center for all key personnel

Dec. 12 and 13 at 2 p.m. on the north ramp for all key personnel

Dec. 14 at 2 p.m. in Hangar 82 for "skeleton" masses (16 personnel in each mass)

Dec. 15 at 2 p.m. in front of Base Operations for "skeleton" masses

Dec. 16 and 19 at 1 p.m. in front of Base Operations for all personnel.

For additional information pertaining to the parade practices, contact SMSgt. J. T. Washington, PME Center, at 3635. Lieutenant Col. Kevin A. Collins is the wing project officer. He can be reached at 3655.

Bits & Pieces

Visits

This week the Air Training Command Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations and Readiness, Brigadier General Clifton C. Clark Jr., came to visit Reese AFB. The visit was a true success. It is an honor to be able to host the leader of our flying operations. The visit was another chance to show off our Reese Pride and Excellence. I think we did both. I know the General had a good time and I know we all hope for more opportunities to show off our accomplishments in the future.

Readiness

Next week marks the anniversary of the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941. This attack launched our entry into World War II and our role as the leader of the free world. Both of these events are significant, but the more important lesson of Pearl Harbor was that of our lack of readiness. Pearl Harbor uncovered not only a lack of readiness but also our technological inferiority. We had neither the needed amount of qualified personnel nor the weapons and tactics to fight and win a modern war.

Americans rose to the occasion and triumphed in World War II. The lesson of readiness should not be lost. Some day we may not be able to react with such a crash effort, but more importantly, maybe through our lack of preparedness we invited attack. The greatest deterrent to war is a strong defense. The natural law of man has shown again and again to be that only the strong survive. We must be willing to bear arms to preserve our peace. We must be willing to prepare for war in order to avoid that catastrophe. We must be ready!

Kudos

To Mrs. Pat J. Sanderson of the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron for being the recipient of the 1988 ATC Outstanding Civil Engineering Civilian Manager Award. My hat is off to you for a job well done.

To the Instructor Pilots of Class 89-02. The award winners were: 1st Lt. Robert K. Burger as the Outstanding T-37 IP and Capt. Douglas E. Dubois as the Outstanding T-37 Academic Instructor. Second Lt. Kenneth G. Sanders was named the Outstanding T-

Saturday Well Baby Clinic a success

Col. (Dr.) Edward L. McGovern

By Col. (Dr.) Edward L. McGovern
Hospital Commander

Over the past few months USAF Hospital-Reese has been conducting a Saturday Well Baby Clinic with great success. This endeavor has increased services to our pediatric population.

The Well Baby Clinic is staffed and operated by the 829th Army Station Hospital, an Army Reserve Component located in Lubbock. Lt. Col. (Dr.) Wallace W. Marsh and Capt. (Dr.) Ivan A. Villalta are Pediatric Specialists, working at the Texas Tech Medical School.

Dr. Marsh is an Assistant Professor of Pediatrics with Texas Tech's School of Medicine. After completing a residency in pediatrics at Brook Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas, he practiced pediatrics while on active duty with the Army for six years and is now serving in the Army Reserve. Dr. Marsh brings years of pediatric experience and expertise to Reese.

Dr. Villalta specializes in Neonatology. He has attended residencies in both pediatrics and OB/GYN. He has also completed a two-year Fetal-Maternal Medicine fellowship at Louisiana State University.

Well Baby Clinic appointments can be made by calling Central Appointments at 3245. Immunizations are also available on Saturdays. Well Baby examinations should occur at two and six weeks, four, six, 12, 18 and 24 months of age.

The 829th Army Station Hospital has been located in Lubbock since 1974. As a station hospital their primary mission is to support the 5th Army located in San Antonio, Texas. During peacetime their focus is directed toward training and completing physical exams on Army, Navy, Marine and National Guard personnel located in the Lubbock and surrounding area.

The USAF Hospital-Reese has become the new site for the completing of physicals on reserve weekends. This will enhance their training requirements and give Reese the added advantage of calling on specialty physicians assigned to the 829th.

In an effort to close the gap in health care expenditures and continue to maintain quality care, much effort is going into joining DOD medical resources.

Providing services to our patients is an ongoing goal. The 829th has enabled us to increase services to our pediatric population. We are constantly seeking areas to improve available services and provide the best possible care.

Your Income Tax Return: what to expect

By Capt. Mark Garrard
Assistant Staff Judge Advocate

With the start of the 1989 tax season less than two months away, the following is presented as a quick review of some of the major changes.

Exemption Increase

For 1988, the deduction for each claimed exemption has been increased to $1,950.

Tax Rates

For tax years beginning in 1988, the number of individual tax rates is reduced by two; 15 and 28 percent.

Taxpayers with income in excess of a specific dollar figure ($43,150 for singles and $71,900 for married joint returns) are subject to an additional five percent tax that phases out the benefit of the 15 percent tax rate and also phases out the deduction for personal exemptions.

Itemizers

Taxpayers have an option of itemizing deductions or taking the standard deduction, whichever figure gives the greater deduction. The standard deduction amounts this year have increased to $5,000 for married persons filing jointly and surviving spouses, $2,500 for married persons filing separately, $4,400 for heads of household and $3,000 for singles.

Consumer Interest

The deduction for interest paid to finance the purchase of consumer goods is being phased out. This year 60 percent of your consumer interest is disallowed, next year it will be 80 percent.

These rules mean bad news for those with heavy payments on high interest consumer loans. Taxpayers who own their homes may make up for lost interest deductions by a two-step "refinancing of their consumer debts:

* Step one; arrange a "home equity" loan on a residence or second home. Such loans generally qualify for a full deduction. In addition, home equity loans usually are available at lower interest rates than typical consumer loans.

* Step two; pay off your consumer loans, because the interest will generate diminishing deductions.

Before you resort to a home equity loan, however, consider the total economic effect. Balance the tax savings and possibly reduce interest rates against the costs to take out such a loan.

Child Care Credit

Taxpayers who pay child or dependent care expenses enabling them to be gainfully employed are allowed a credit for such expenses. If taxpayers have an adjusted gross income of $10,000 or less, they are allowed a credit equal to 30 percent of employment related expenses.

If your gross income exceeds $10,000 the credit is reduced one percentage point for each additional $2,000 of adjusted gross income. If your gross income exceeds $28,000 the credit is fixed at 20 percent of the child care expenses. Use Form 2441 to receive the credit.

Taxable items include:

Base pay, flight pay, overseas pay, longevity pay, incentive pay, travel pay to discharged member, retired pay, reenlistment bonus, severance pay, allowance for high ranking officers, reserve training pay and lump sum pay for accrued leave.

Nontaxable items include:

Subsistence allowance, quarters allowance, disability pay, meal allowances, uniform allowance, veterans disability pay, federal benefits for veterans, POW/MIA compensation, combat pay (enlisted 100 percent nontaxable, officers $500 per month nontaxable) and retired pay used for SBP.

Deductible items include:

Arguliettes, campaign bar, cap devices, education expenses, fatigue uniforms (includes maintenance), recruiters unreimbursed travel expenses, reservists' local transportation, reservists' uniforms and maintenance and unreimbursed travel and transportation pay.

Nondeductible items include:

Auto upkeep, damage to household goods in PCS, expense to visit home, special dress uniforms, dues to Enlisted and Officer's Open Messes and fines (as opposed to forfeitures).

Each year, Reese selects seven aircraft maintenance personnel for their superior performance and outstanding contributions to the Air Training Command mission.

These seven top maintainers were nominated for the ATC Outstanding Aircraft Maintenance Personnel Awards. The awards are given for managers and technicians, and are awarded to both civilians and military. At Air Force level the awards are named in honor of retired Lt. Gen. Leo Marquez, formerly the U.S. Air Force Deputy Chief of Staff for logistics and Engineering.

The nominees and nomination categories from Reese were: Maj. Cliff Treat, Field Grade Manager; 1st Lt. Chris Cook, Company Grade Manager; SMSgt. David Vasquez, Supervisor-Manager; TSgt. David Koester, Technician Supervisor; SrA. Roy Paz, Technician; Melvin Robertson, Civilian-Manager; and James Neugent, Civilian-Technician.

Mr. Neugent was recently selected by ATC as the best civilian-technician in the command. ATC will nominate Mr. Neugent and other ATC winners to compete at Air Force level.

"The winners received a very coveted award, and proved their dedication toward the mission at Reese," said Col. Ford Barrett, Deputy Commander for Maintenance.

Christmas Classics begin

The 14th Annual Reese AFB Christmas Classic High School Basketball Tournament is Dec. 8-10 at the Reese Physical Fitness Center. The Christmas Classic is an annual event for local area high schools. For more information call 3783.

NCO Prep Course 89-2

The Noncommissioned Officer's Preparatory Course, Class 89-2 graduates Thursday at 11:30 a.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess. All commanders, first sergeants and base personnel are invited to attend.

Turning on the lights

The annual Christmas tree lighting ceremony is Thursday. Santa will lead carolers on a hay ride through Reese Village. They will meet at the Mathis Recreation Center parking lot at 4 p.m. and depart by 4:15 p.m. At 5:30 p.m. Col. Mark H. Lillard, III, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, will preside over the lighting of the base Christmas tree and Chapel Nativity Scene. Following the outdoor activities, the Mathis Recreation Center will host more caroling and serve hot chocolate for all participants.

Park College offers special course

Russia in the Twentieth Century (HIS319) is offered by Park College during the Spring I term. The class begins Jan. 16 and concludes March 8. Classes are held Monday and Wednesday evenings from 5-7:30 p.m.

The course covers the failure of the 1905 revolution; the subsequent revolution of 1917, civil war and the new economic policy; the rise of Stalin, industrialization and collectivization; World War II; the new Soviet Empire and the Cold War; analysis of post-Stalin Russia and contemporary Communism.

The instructor for HIS319 is Robert Barnett.

For further information, call the Education Center at 6318 or 3634, or stop by Bldg. 920, room 130c.

Santa's X-mas party

Tickets are on sale at the Enlisted Open Mess and Officer's Open Mess for the Enlisted Wives Club's "Santa's X-mas Party." Cost per child is $1, adults are free, and must accompany the child.

The party is Dec. 10 from 1-3:30 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess.

Parents are asked to bring a wrapped and tagged gift for each of their children and Santa will distribute the gifts. (Gift not to exceed $5 in value).

For more information, contact Barbara Gamble at 885-2244.

WIC offers free food and health care

For many Texas women and children, the free food and health care offered by the Women, Infants and Children (WIC) Program has been a great help. WIC invites Reese members to apply.

WIC gives foods such as milk, eggs, cheese, juice, cereal and beans to women and children. For babies, WIC provides infant cereal, juice and formula with iron. WIC also provides basic health care and classes on how to eat well for better health.

To qualify for WIC, you must be either a pregnant or breast-feeding woman, a baby or a child under age five. You must need WIC foods to be healthy. And you must meet WIC's rules for how much money your family can make. Income guidelines are generous, for example, a family of four can gross $21,550 per year and still qualify for WIC services.

WIC representatives from the Lubbock Children's Health Clinic are available on the first and second Monday of every month. Come to the base hospital, Pediatric Clinic Monday to apply for WIC benefits!

Breakfast meeting planned

A colonel's and chief's breakfast is Monday at 6:45 a.m. at the Caprock Cafe.

TTU Counselor at Reese

A counselor from Texas Tech University is available at the Education Center Dec. 14 from 1-3 p.m. If you have questions regarding undergraduate opportunities at TTU, call 3634 for an appointment.

Class sponsors food drive

Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 89-14 is holding a canned food drive to benefit the South Plains Food Bank.

If you have any canned or dry goods, please support the classes efforts and bring these items to the "A" Flight briefing room in the 35th Flying Training Squadron.

For more information, call 2nd Lt. Cleve Turk at 3143.

Complaint system program

The Security Police Complaint System is a program developed to keep the 64th Security Police Squadron advised of misconduct or problems with security police members at Reese. If you have any problems or questions, call SMSgt. Darrel Johnson at 3612 or Capt. Danny Thomas at 3614.

Reese reservist openings

Separating from the Air Force and remaining in the local area? Want to stay in touch with the Air Force and get retirement credit for the years you've already served? If so, look into becoming a reservist at Reese in the Disaster Preparedness career field.

You would be cross-trained by attending two two-week schools at Lowry AFB, Co., and you would be required to train at Reese two days a month. A two-week annual tour is also required.

As a disaster preparedness reservist, you would work with the active duty members and train in the areas of chemical warfare defense, shelter management, decontamination and classroom instruction.

By becoming a disaster preparedness reservist, you are eligible for many benefits, including use of the base exchange and commissary. The pay and allowances are equal to those paid on active duty along with the retirement plan.

For more information, contact TSgt. James Norton at 3701.

Free Chili dinner

A newcomer's "Chili Dinner" is Dec. 10, from 6-10 p.m. at the Base Chapel. The dinner is to welcome all 1988 newcomers and newly baptized children within the Reese community. It is sponsored by the Catholic Parish/Community Life Committee.

Black History meeting

There is a meeting for the Black History Committee today at 10 a.m. in the Social Actions classroom. Those interested in becoming members of the committee, contact Mr. Phil Thiery at 3900.

Day of Infamy taught readiness

As discussions continue over the preparedness of today's armed forces, we might take note of the state of preparedness of the United States on Dec. 7, 1941 — Pearl Harbor Day.

Along the Pacific Coast, the Army had only 45 modern fighter planes ready to fly and only 12 three-inch antiaircraft guns to defend the entire Los Angeles area. On the East Coast, there were only 54 Army fighter planes ready for action.

The Army numbered some 1,644,000 men organized into four armies, 37 divisions and more than 40 combat air groups. But for a number of reasons, such as lack of tank and aircraft guns, antiaircraft artillery, radios, radar and, above all, ammunition, the War Department of that time was unwilling to commit more than one division and a single antiaircraft regiment for service in any theater where combat operations appeared likely.

U.S. military scholars concede, "The attack on Pearl Harbor was one of the most brilliant tactical feats of the war." From six Japanese carriers that had taken up positions 200 miles north of Oahu, some 350 aircraft came through the mist on Sunday morning, Dec. 7. They bombed and strafed the neatly aligned Army planes on Hickam and Wheeler Fields, as well as Navy and Marine Corps aircraft. The major target, however, was the eight U.S. Navy ships anchored in the waters of Pearl Harbor.

When the raid was over, about 170 aircraft were destroyed and 102 damaged; all eight battleships and many other vessels were sunk or badly damaged. Total casualties came to about 3,400 persons, including 2,402 U.S. servicemen and civilians killed.

Japanese losses were 49 aircraft and five midget submarines. As military tacticians point out, the enemy managed to apply one shattering operation in a combination of the principles of surprise, objective mass, security and maneuver. In its larger strategic context, the Pearl Harbor attack also exemplified the principle of economy of force.

The Joint Congressional Committee that investigated the attack called it the "greatest military and naval disaster in our nation's history." But fortunately for the United States, the Japanese failed to sink the three carriers of the Pacific Fleet that were at sea, and they failed to follow through with attacks on Hawaii or the United States.

The disastrous attack had another important impact. It ended the division of American opinion toward participation in the war. America immediately went to war with a unanimity of popular support unprecedented in U.S. military history.

Taking advantage of this patriotic fervor, President Franklin D. Roosevelt set seemingly impossible production goals. Early in January 1942, he proclaimed that the nation would build 60,000 airplanes in 1942 and 125,000 in 1943; 45,000 tanks in 1942 and 75,000 in 1943; 20,000 antiaircraft guns in 1942 and 35,000 in 1943; half a million machine guns in 1942 and in 1943; and eight million dead weight tons of shipping in 1942 and 10 million in 1943. Although unrealistic sounding when announced, the goals were in fact exceeded.

As Winston Churchill expressed it, "The Japanese attack upon the United States was a vast simplification of the countries problems and duty. How can we wonder that they regarded the actual form of attack, or even its scale, as incomparably less important than the fact that the whole American nation would be united for its own safety in a righteous cause as never before." Aircraft inspection: a week-long process

(L-R) SSgt. Stephen Ulrich, Sgt. Eugene Adkins, and Sgt. George Kostelnik, all assigned to the Aero Repair Branch of the 64th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, are shown removing a T-38 wing as part of the wing radius bushing inspection. The inspection procedure is exacting, tedious and time-consuming, but it is another example of the professional maintenance performed to the highest standard by the Aero Repair Branch. Wing radius bushings must be inspected after every 2700 hours of flying time. (USAF photo)

By SSgt. Scott Robinson
Aircraft Mechanic

The 2700 hour inspection of the wing radius bushing is a complex procedure involving many different maintenance shops, including; aero repair branch, hydraulics, electrics, corrosion control and non-destructive equipment.

Preparing the aircraft consists of: removing panels and the leading edges of the wing; disconnecting the flight control cables, hydraulic lines and the electrical wires; and then removing the speed brake pack. Once the aircraft is prepped, the wing can be removed.

A special cradle is required for lowering the wing. This is a depot level job which aero repair branch personnel are trained to perform. Once the wing is lowered, special areas on the speed brake pack and the wing are stripped of paint by corrosion personnel.

Next, non-destructive equipment personnel inspect those areas that have been stripped for nicks, scratches and cracks. After all inspections have been completed, everything is reinstalled and an operational check is performed on all the systems involved.

A functional check flight is performed on the aircraft after the maintenance has been completed to ensure the aircraft is safe for flight. From start to finish this procedure takes approximately one week to complete.

People: the real threat to computer security

(Editor's note: the following article was extracted from "The Communications-Computer Systems Security Connection" newsletter, published by the AF Cryptologic Support Center, 27 Oct 88 edition.)

Computer security in many cases is a people problem. With more and more systems being automated, the threat to computer systems by users becomes greater. Increasing attempts to access our most sensitive computer networks have been documented and with this increase has come the realization of the threat posed by trusted personnel.

Detailed studies and analysis have concluded that even trusted people are not immune from committing security violations. Trusted people may be driven to violating a system due to stress, work overloads, and disagreements with fellow workers or management. Because of greed, corruption and the challenge of beating the system, computer systems will always be vulnerable to various types of violations such as the most recent episode of viruses.

Basically, there are two reasons why it is difficult to catch a person committing a security violation. One is a false sense of security based on a feeling that our system can't be breached, and the other is a lack of awareness of good personnel security practices and indicators.

A computer programmer can build in all sorts of safeguards to protect a computer system. However, until a sufficient degree of awareness is achieved to show what damage can be inflicted by a careless act or by a person trying to get revenge, computer systems will remain vulnerable to the threat posed by people.

A good safeguard against this problem is to establish an audit trail to identify attempts by unauthorized personnel to access sensitive and critical programs, and the appropriate actions to take if your system is breached or compromised.

Just because an individual possesses a security clearance does not mean he or she is authorized access to the information contained in a computer system. In addition to having a security clearance, individuals must have a clear need-to-know before access to the information can be given.

The sensitive nature of some information requires that it be protected at all times. Remember, knowledge, possession, or access to classified information should not be afforded to any individual solely by virtue of the individual's rank, official position, or security clearance.

An individual's integrity is a matter of continuing assessment. The responsibility for this assessment is shared by the organizational commander, the individual's supervisor, and the individual. In addition to a positive personnel program, a good security education program is another very effective tool. Educational posters, briefings, films and news articles remind people to remain vigilant to the threat around them.

As mentioned earlier, it is very hard to detect a security violator. So what does the typical abuser, hacker, thief or criminal look like or act like? Maybe the following will assist in answering that question:

- The first person you would trust and the last one you would suspect.
- Above average in intelligence.
- Usually the hardest worker.
- Constantly on guard out of fear of being caught.
- First to arrive at work, last to leave.

- Seeks challenges and loves publicity.
- Highly motivated and energetic.

The examples above are just a few of the many traits exhibited by known violators. In the final analysis, you need to know your people and remain alert to their problems. But the biggest question to ask yourself out of all the traits described above is, "COULD THIS BE ME?"

Register vehicles for on-base use

By SSgt. Scott W. Bryson
NCOIC, Pass and Registration

Consistent with the base entry policy in AFR 125-37, the installation commander makes the final determination for eligibility to register privately owned vehicles at Reese AFB.

Eligible vehicle registrants include: base active duty military and civilian personnel; retired military personnel (living within 45 miles of Reese) and survivors of deceased; and active duty and retired members authorized to use base facilities.

The installation commander may further authorize the registration of vehicles that are owned by dependents, step-parents or guardians of minor children authorized to use base facilities.

Recreational vehicles and mopeds used solely off the roadway are not registered as motor vehicles unless state registration is required.

Upon arrival at Reese, each registrant must report to the Pass and Registration Section, Bldg. 920, Room 213. The registrant must present proof of ownership. (The state registration, title or bill of sale may be used as proof ownership). For the state of Texas, you must have a minimum insurance coverage of $20,000 (personal liability per person), $40,000 (personal liability per accident), and $15,000 (property damage liability). The registrant must also have valid license plates displayed. An AF Form 533, Private Motor Vehicle Registration must be filled out by the registrant. Then, a DD Form 2220, DOD Registered Vehicle decal is issued, along with installation and an expiration tabs.

Motorcycles are not registered until the operator completes the Motorcycle Riders Course or Better Biking and MOST II, which will be annotated on an ATC Form 483. The operator may be issued a temporary vehicle pass until the next motorcycle course. Upon satisfactorily completing the course, the operator is issued an ATC Form 483, which the operator must keep in their possession while operating their motorcycle. After being issued the ATC Form 483, the operator then reports to the Pass and Registration Section and is issued the decal, installation and expiration tabs. The ATC Form 483 must be revalidated annually.

The temporary vehicle registration is used to control personnel and vehicles in a temporary status by using AF Form 75 (vehicle-visitor pass). Temporary registration may be used for periods not to exceed 30 days. The AF Form 75 is also issued to contractor vehicles as well as military personnel whose vehicles display only temporary plates. When an active duty registrant is transferred to another stateside base, the "Reese AFB" installation tab must be scraped off and returned to Pass and Registration in order to properly de-register the vehicle. If the active duty member is being transferred to an overseas base, all the decals and tabs must be returned.

When ownership of a vehicle is transferred, the decal may also be transferred if the new owner is eligible to register the vehicle on base. If not, the original owner must scrape the decal and tabs off and return the remnants to Pass and Registration.

Vehicle registration privileges are withdrawn from all personnel who fail to remove registration decals when required by the base regulation and AF Form 533. Anyone allowing an unlicensed person to operate their motor vehicle will have their on-base driving privileges revoked for a period of six to 12 months. For more information, contact the Pass and Registration Section at 3742.

Fitness & health

By SSgt. Randy Pratt
Physical Fitness Instructor

If you're like most Americans who have weight problems, you'll weigh seven and a half more pounds on January first!

That's the prediction of a registered dietician in the Washington D.C. area. The average American will put on seven or more pounds between October and January.

There are two primary reasons for this: first, with the end of daylight savings time, there will be fewer hours for those evening activities that lower calories during the summer, such as walking, tennis and gardening. When it gets dark, we go inside, and when we go inside, we start eating.

The cold weather also has an impact. When the temperatures drop, those who have been jogging, swimming and playing tennis outdoors begin to put away their gear until spring. In addition, cold weather increases our appetites.

The holiday season simply "adds insult to injury." From Thanksgiving through Christmas, we are inundated with opportunities to stuff ourselves.

Let the Reese Physical Fitness Center help you avoid that dreaded holiday weight gain. Free aerobic classes are offered 14 times per week. The classes are conducted by trained aerobic instructors. There are three one hour classes per day available to all military, dependents and civilian employees. The times are 8:45 - 9:45 a.m. (women only), noon - 1 p.m. (co-ed), and 4:45 - 5:45 p.m. (co-ed). All classes are held at the Heart and Sole room of the Mathis Recreation Center, Monday through Friday, except for the 4:45 p.m. class which is held Monday through Thursday. Bring your own workout shoes and an exercise mat and join the exercise program.

You can lose seven and a half pounds or more before you put them on. For more information, call SSgt. Randy Pratt at the Fitness Center, 6020 or 3783. Note: all classes are cancelled during Dec. 19 - 30, 1988.

Presenting the 1990s' new flying wing: the B-2 Bomber

After more than 40 years, the Air Force returned to the flying wing with the unveiling of the B-2 (advanced technology) Bomber during a recent rollout ceremony.

The basic design of the B-2 is similar to the post World War II "flying wing" designed by Jack Northrop, founder of the company now building the B-2. Awesome in design, it has a wingspan almost as wide as the B-52 Bomber and is slightly longer than an F-15 Fighter.

Secretary of the Air Force, Edward C. "Pete" Aldridge, Jr., said "This is a landmark event for our nation's strategic deterrent posture."

"Today we are not just rolling out America's newest strategic bomber — we are ushering in a new age of strategic deterrence," he continued. "For the last 42 years, Strategic Air Command bombers have proven to be the most flexible asset in our nuclear triad," said Secretary Aldridge. "The B-2 underlines our commitment to the manned bomber."

The B-2 is a culmination of nearly 10 years of research and development in stealth technologies and innovative aircraft design.

The B-2 carries a crew of two and is approximately 17 feet high, 69 feet long and 172 feet wide.

The uniquely shaped aircraft is powered by four General Electric F-118-GE-100 aircraft engines.

The bomber is capable of delivering nuclear and conventional munitions and can penetrate enemy defenses to threaten high-value targets.

"The B-2 will be a powerful addition to deterrence by providing strategic forces of such strength and versatility that no opponent could ever believe they could gain by attacking the United States or its allies," said Gen. Larry Welch, Air Force Chief of Staff.

"This aircraft combines all the best attributes of a penetrating bomber — long range, efficient cruise, heavy payload, all-altitude penetration capability, accurate delivery, reliability and maintainability," said General Welch.

"The B-2's stealth capability will permit it to penetrate the most sophisticated air defenses and survive well into the 21st century," said Secretary Aldridge.

The Air Force plans to purchase 132 B-2s for the Strategic Air Command.

The bomber is currently scheduled to be operational by the early 1990s with Whiteman AFB, Mo., as its first operating base.

Northrop's B-2 Division is the prime contractor for the bomber. Major subcontractors include Boeing, LTV Aircraft Productions Group, General Electric Aircraft Engine Group, Hughes Radar Systems Group and Link Flight Simulation Corp. (AFNS)

Air Force unveiled its B-2 advanced technology bomber Nov. 22. The unique radar-evading stealth aircraft is designed to deliver large payloads of weapons with devastating accuracy on any target, anywhere. (U.S. Air Force photo)

The mouth: a mirror of health

During routine dental examinations, dentists check for more than tooth decay, gum disease and orthodontic problems. During an oral exam, they're looking for signs of everything from cancer to diabetes to eating disorders.

The mouth is often called the body's "barometer" or "mirror" of health because it's easy to observe and because many health problems and diseases have oral signs and symptoms. It serves as your body's built-in alarm system. Signals there can indicate trouble elsewhere.

More than 40 serious ailments can manifest themselves in the mouth and tongue. As members of the health care team, dentists have been trained to recognize signs of diseases with oral manifestations and to refer patients to physicians for further examination and treatment.

To a dentist, a loose tooth may be a sign of gum disease, and bleeding gums the result of overzealous brushing. But each of these symptoms could mean a much more serious illness—and the difference between life and death.

Dentists are often the first health care professionals to detect early signs of oral cancer. Warning signs of oral cancer include white, smooth or scaly patches in the mouth or on the lips; swelling or lumps in the mouth; sores on the lips, gums and mouth that do not heal; and repeated bleeding in the mouth without apparent cause.

Other disorders that can show up in the mouth include:

- Vitamin deficiencies: A burn-

...each of these symptoms could mean a much more serious illness, and the difference between life and death.

ing or sore tongue is a common symptom of iron, folic acid and vitamin B12 deficiencies. Bleeding gums can be a warning not only of gum disease, but also of a vitamin C deficiency.

• Diabetes: Early signs can include red, swollen gums and teeth that are sensitive to tapping.

• Leukemia: Signs can include sores inside the cheek, in the throat and on the tonsils and lips.

• Bulimia: The compulsive pattern of binge-eating and then vomiting can lead to loss of enamel and dentin on the inner (tongue) sides of the teeth. Often, this enamel loss is the only outward sign that something is wrong. Thus, dentists are frequently the first to diagnose this eating disorder.

• Infectious mononucleosis: Symptoms include inflamed gums and tiny hemorrhage spots on the roof of the mouth.

• Sinusitis: The inflammation of the sinus cavity can be mistaken for a toothache.

Dentists can also detect early stages of herpes, AIDS, syphilis, gonorrhea, hypertension and multiple sclerosis from oral symptoms.

Regular dental examinations have always been the best way to maintain healthy teeth and gums. But they help you care for the rest of your body, too.

HEALTH TIP #1
FROSTBITE
By Fred Hagedorn, MD

Exposure to winter cold may cause hypothermia, a potentially life-threatening drop in body temperature, or a local injury such as frostbite. While frostbite usually occurs in sub-freezing weather, it can occur at temperatures above freezing if the exposed skin or extremity is wet.

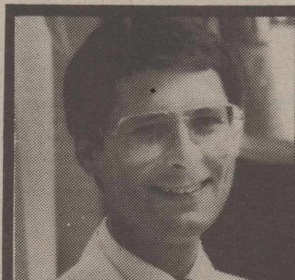

Like burns, frostbite involves destruction of skin and soft tissue and may be rated as to severity or depth of injury (i.e. first degree, second degree, third degree). Frostnip occurs just before frostbite, and if recognized and treated promptly, may prevent permanent injury. The skin becomes blanched or white, and numb. Treatment at the scene includes getting out of the wind and breathing through cupped hands or placing cold fingers in the armpit.

Actual frostbite involves freezing of tissues. The exposed part is numb, painless, and appears white and waxy. Deep frostbite results in an extremity with a wooden consistency.

Frostbite requires medical attention and should not be treated in the field. At The Emergency Center of Lubbock General Hospital, we rapidly warm the frozen part by immersing it in a carefully controlled, warm waterbath for 20 to 30 minutes.

A few precautions must be emphasized. Do not rub the affected part with snow or hands. Do not use dry, uncontrolled heat such as a campfire, because the skin has no feeling and may be further damaged by burning. Refreezing results in greatly increased damage. Do not attempt to thaw the frost-bitten part if there is any possibility of refreezing. Alcohol should be avoided. It may actually increase heat loss and provide a false sense of security.

Once a cold injury is recognized, rapid treatment is necessary to avoid the many complications possible. This health tip is brought to you by The Emergency Center of Lubbock General Hospital, 743-2100.

Credit cards can be a costly convenience

Many service members find credit cards to be a great convenience, eliminating the need to carry large amounts of cash. In addition, credit cards are a more acceptable alternative for cash than checks. The responsible user will benefit from credit cards. To help you manage your finances, here are some guidelines for obtaining and using credit cards.

Not all credit cards are alike. Many different institutions issue credit cards and the terms governing use of the cards may vary from one issuer to the next, even if the cards are of the same type. Some institutions issue cards free, but most charge an annual fee of $10 to $35 or even more for specialty cards.

In addition to the annual fee, issuers collect a finance charge based on the amount of charges you make. However, most issuers charge no finance charge if the credit card holder pays the entire balance on a monthly basis. It is definitely to your advantage to pay off your monthly balance since most issuers charge an annual interest rate as high as 22 percent.

If you want to purchase a major item which you will not be able to pay in full when your credit card bill arrives, consider getting a loan from a lending institution which will charge a lower interest rate.

When applying for a credit card, read the fine print and shop around.

What do you do if your bill arrives and you think the issuer has made a mistake. Under the Fair Credit Billing Act, you have 60 days to send a written notice to the company describing your complaint. The issuer must acknowledge your complaint within 30 days and inform you of their action within 90 days. During that time, the issuer cannot close your account, and it will not affect your credit rating. However, you will have to pay the finance charge for that period if the bill was correct.

If your credit card is lost or stolen, notify the issuer immediately in writing and by telephone. If someone makes charges on your card after the issuer receives notice, you are not responsible for these charges. You are liable for charges made before the issuer is notified, but only up to $50 per card. You should keep a list of all your credit card numbers and the addresses and telephone numbers of the issuers so you can report a lost or stolen card.

Here are a few more credit card tips:

- Always:
- Sign new cards when they arrive
 - Retrieve cards promptly after using them
 - Retrieve or destroy carbon
 - Destroy incorrect receipts
 - Save receipts and compare them to your monthly bill
 - Destroy expired cards
- Never:
- Lend cards to anyone
 - Leave cards or receipts lying around

• Give your card number over the telephone (unless you're initiating the transaction with a reputable company).

• Obtain more credit cards than you really need

Remember that service members have an obligation to pay their financial obligations and failure to do so may expose the member to adverse administrative or disciplinary action. Poor credit management can destroy your credit rating, financial stability and possibly your military career. (ATCNS)

Safety tips for using automatic teller machines

By Capt. Sandra Grice
Assistant Staff Judge Advocate

Automated teller machines offer convenient access to your money around the clock. Using the tips provided below will ensure that your teller machine transactions are as secure as possible:

- Keep your personal identification number (PIN) secret. Memorize it...don't write it down. NEVER write it on your ATM card or card carrier!
- Never lend your teller card to anyone.
- Keep all transaction receipts for future reference.
- Check your account statement each month and verify that all transactions are yours. Contact your bank or credit union immediately if there are any discrepancies.

• When using a machine, stand so that others cannot view your input. You can shield the keyboard with your body or with your other hand while entering your code. If someone seems to take an interest in your transaction, ask that person to step back or cancel your transaction and leave the machine.

• Be cautious with your card and PIN, even at home. (According to an industry study, one-third of all teller machine fraud is committed by members of the same household.)

• If your card is ever lost or stolen, contact your bank or credit union immediately.

Using teller machines does make your life easier. If you exercise a little caution, you can easily avoid the chances of someone else sharing your convenience.

Couples, singles, families— Family Support Center is here for you

By Judy E. Bellenger
Director, Family Support Center

The Reese Family Support Center (FSC) is designed to help military families with a variety of personal support services.

What can the FSC do for you? The FSC addresses practically every aspect of Air Force family life. We provide a comprehensive information and referral service on a wide range of family-related programs and services, including resources that are available in both the military and civilian sector. It is a one-stop information center.

The center has information available to help ease the relocation process and offers programs on a variety of subjects relating to financial management, special needs, families in crisis, support during duty separation, employment assistance and family and personal development and education. Other services available include a loan locker program, project stork and support groups for families whose spouses are serving on a remote assignment or an extended TDY.

The FSC has a reference library of information and brochures about continental and overseas duty stations.

A wide range of personal and family enrichment programs are offered to all Reese members—singles, couples and families. Our help is professional and confidential.

The Family Support Center is located in Bldg. 310, phone 3306.

Mrs. Dorothy Jones, loan locker chairman, and Patricia Wilson, the new Family Services' socials chairman, review the paper work required for loaning out furniture and supplies to new arrivals or ready to depart Reese members. (USAF photo by SrA. Greg Spraggins)

EXPERIENCE

Trauma injury is the leading cause of death for people below the age of 40. Before the 1960s, it was considered the "neglected disease" of medicine. As part of a nationwide effort to improve trauma care, Dr. Richard Baker received one of the first special training fellowships from the National Institutes of Health. He brought over 15 years experience — in patient care and in research — when he joined the Hospital in 1978.

Since then, Lubbock General has become the region's leading trauma center. Dr. Baker attributes this success to the experience and dedication of the entire trauma team. "A critical injury requires that immediate steps be taken. Our experience, as individuals and as a team, allows us to make these split-second decisions in the best way possible."

Teaming together to serve you better.

MWR Notes

Kraft Carnival this weekend

Come one, come all, to the best Kris Kringle Kraft Carnival ever! Select gifts from the most unforgettable to the most unique items, all under one roof. This year's Kraft Carnival is at the Mathis Recreation Center, building 310. Doors are open today from 11 a.m. - 6 p.m., tomorrow from 10 a.m. - 6 p.m. and Sunday from 1 - 6 p.m. Door prizes will be given away throughout the weekend. Have your child's picture taken with Santa from 2 - 4 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. You can also have a picture, favorite saying or expression put on mugs, buttons, T-shirts, brass or bumper stickers.

Youth Holiday Day Camp

While the kids are out of school for the holidays, why not let them enjoy Holiday Day Camp at the Youth Center. The staff has a busy camp schedule of activities planned for a child's enjoyment. The Day Camp is made up of two one-week sessions running Monday - Friday, 8 a.m. - 4 p.m. Session one is Dec. 19 - 23; session two is Dec. 27 - 30. For more information, call 3820.

Medieval Martial Arts and Crafts Demo

Climb into a time machine and let your thoughts wander back to the days of old when knighthood was in flower and kings reigned over the land. The Society for Creative Anachronism (S.C.A.) recreates the past Dec. 10 from noon to 3 p.m. on the lawn between the recreation center and the fitness center. Learn what it was like between 600 A.D. and 1600 A.D. Watch ladies do calligraphy, needlework and weaving on small looms. See the medieval art of hand-to-hand combat. Metal working to make the armor used during combat will be demonstrated. Learn the dance steps created during that time.

Commodore users meeting

The Commodore users group meets Sunday at the base library from noon to 4 p.m. Those interested in learning more about the Commodore or sharing computer ideas, join the group.

Billiards tournament

Every Wednesday the Mathis Recreation Center hosts a billiards tournament beginning at 6 p.m. Entry fee is $2 with a cash prize for the winner.

Winterize at Auto Hobby Complex

Winter is here and the Auto Hobby Complex has the winter check up plan your car needs. Call 3142 to make an appointment for your car's winterization check, which includes coolant, hoses and belt checks for only $10. Planning a trip this holiday season? Take advantage of a car pre-departure check for only $10. This includes tires, brakes, lights, fluid levels, belts and hoses, steering system, window wipers and glass. Appointments are needed.

Every Tuesday and Thursday you can balance your wheels for only $1.50 per tire. Wednesday's stall fee is only $.75 per hour. On Sundays you can wash your car at the compound for only $.50.

The Auto Hobby Complex also has a paint and body man who not only works on bodies but who can also install window glass, pinstripe your car, and much more. Come for a free estimate.

Win a free Mini Detail

The Auto Hobby Complex is holding a drawing for a free mini detail on your car. Sign up for this drawing at any of the following locations: recreation center, bowling center, package store, library, fitness center, arts and crafts center and auto hobby complex. Drawing takes place Dec. 16.

Rock and Bowl

A Rock and Bowl is rolling your way tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Windmill Lanes. Enjoy the music, food and beverages plus three fun-filled games of bowling with top notch prizes to the winners for the low price of $7.

Chess Club

The Chess Club meets every Sunday at the Mathis Recreation Center from 5 - 10 p.m. Membership is free for active duty military members. For more information, call 3787.

KEEP THE FEELING GROWING.

AT&T Public Phones make it easy to stay close.

If being on base means being away from a very special someone, take heart. With the AT&T Public Phones here on base, staying in touch is easy...

just dial "0" plus the area code and phone number, wait for the tone and

- if using your AT&T Card—enter your AT&T Card number;
- if calling collect or third party—an AT&T Operator will come on line to help you;

...and in moments, you'll be connected to the voice you're longing to hear. And you'll sound as close as you feel.

You'll be surprised, too, at how reasonable the pricing is. Let's say, for example, that you want to brighten a Saturday afternoon with a call to your honey. If you dial direct using your AT&T Card you could call coast to coast, talk for 20 minutes, and it won't cost you more than $3.65. That's only $3.65 to spend 20 minutes with that special someone who's worth more to you than words can say.

Think about it. It's quick and easy. It's economical. It's the next best thing to being there. So call your loved one today.

And keep the feeling growing.
