

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

"Sometimes at night I feel it...near my next breath and yet uncatchable." It's a quote from a song...and an apt quote when applied to the malady known as the "whatifs".

You know what the whatifs are...sure you do.

Whatifs come creeping to sit at your pillow just after the bedside light goes off.

Like malicious little gremlins they perch and whisper things to you.

"What if you lose your job." "What if your business fails." "What if the house burns down." "What if things go wrong and we get a divorce." "What if the washing machine goes out and we can't buy another." "What if I get sick and can't work." "What if someone I love dies."

For children, the "whatifs" can reach terrifying proportions. "What if there is a monster under the bed." "What if I fail my test." "What if mommy and daddy quit loving me." From "What if I buy this car and can't make the payments" down to "what if my goldfish drowns" the gremlins of worry and doubt can become so real in the darkness that sleep simply gives up and stalks off in disgust.

When that happens the whole thing snowballs...one "what if" leads to another, then another, then another. Sleep is gone, the eyes stay wide open, staring at the ceiling and the worries pile up into gigantic mountains.

Another nighttime problem is the "ifonlys". Everyone is acquainted with them, too. They are something like "20-20 hindsight".

"If only I had gone to college." "If only I hadn't bought this house." "If only I had developed my talents." "If only I had married so and so." "If only I had known what was coming." "If only I had bought that land when I had the chance."

The ifonlys aren't as devastating as the whatifs, but they take their toll on sleep too. They tend to tiptoe in and out of the night like burglars, less malicious, but just as insidious.

Most of us spend our days so busy that these little creatures haven't a chance to talk to us...they bide their time until we hit the bed...then come pouncing.

The amazing thing about either one of them is that they continuously happen...and yet are totally senseless.

Worrying about some vague occurrence that more than likely will never happen is hardly productive.

Most of us can work ourselves into a thorough state of agitation over something that hasn't even begun to happen!

Finally, when sleep claims us, and morning comes, the ultimate irony is that we usually realize how silly the whole thing was. With a little rest and some of the realities of daylight on hand, our "whatifs" and "ifonlys" seem totally ludicrous.

But they are a fact of life, one most of us have to deal with...and silly or not, in the dark of night...here they come!

Kiwanis Hear Pastor

Methodist Pastor Bob Bush gave a slide illustrated presentation on backpacking and wilderness hiking to the Wednesday morning breakfast at Bogie's meeting of the Bogata Kiwanis Club. He described Red River County as an attractive hiking area and predicted that the Sulphur River would become a very attractive site for canoe tripping.

Accident Victim Pinned In Wreckage

An almost miraculous lack of serious injury occurred when a semi-tractor trailer rig overturned on FM 71, five miles west of Talco Tuesday afternoon.

Ricky Watson of Kilgore was the driver of the Well Perforating Truck belonging to Wedge CRC, Inc. The vehicle was traveling towards Talco making a curve, when it went out of control and off the road on the left side, overturning and pinning Watson for an hour and thirty-five minutes.

Talco Volunteer Fire Department, Mt. Pleasant Fire Department and Titus County Rescue Units responded to the call.

The rescue teams had to dig into the ground on the passenger's side, using two oil field boom trucks to raise the rig inch by inch, until the driver could be removed on the passenger's side.

He was taken by ambulance to Titus County Memorial Hospital, where his condition is unknown, but thought to be stable. Way had been cleared for a helicopter in case an air flight was needed. The helicopter went on to the Titus County Memorial Hospital in case it was needed.

RESCUE OPERATIONS-For over 1 1/2 hours, Ricky Watson was pinned in the wreckage of a semi-tractor trailer rig that overturned on FM 71 west of Talco Tuesday afternoon. Rescue workers had to dig under the passenger side of the truck and use winch trucks to gradually raise the smashed cab until the driver could be freed. (Staff Photo by Mollie Williams)

"LETTER TO EDITOR"

Dear Editor:

There is a growing concern in Bogata right now about the future placement of our 7 & 8 grade students of Bogata Jr. High. For many of the residents in Bogata and surrounding areas who may not be aware of it, there is currently discussion about "bussing" our 7 & 8 graders to Talco this fall school year. The problem arose because of overcrowding at Bogata Jr. High. House Bill 72 requires a ratio of 1 teacher to every 22 students in grades K-4. This necessitates an additional 2 classrooms at Bogata which we do not currently have. We as parents and concerned citizens are seeking alternate solutions to the problem. It has been said that Bogata and Talco should put aside their "rivalry" status and only think of the good of our school. It is not our intent to discredit Talco in any way, but we wish to put the good of our children and community first. We feel we have the right to choose where our children go to school and we want them at home. We think that to place our children in an unfamiliar environment in their last 2 years before high school is unfair. They will not think of Talco as "our" school and this is bound to cause problems, least of which could be tremendous loss of school spirit and personality conflicts. We are also against any unnecessary traveling on the highways due to longer distances to transport our 7 & 8 graders. It increases the risk of danger to our kids, and even though the risks may be minimal, we are not willing to take the chance. It was recently cited that our school (Talco, Bogata and Rivercrest) placed very high in scholastic achievement across the whole state of Texas. We are extremely proud of every aspect of our school system, our teachers, and our children, but it seems to be working fine the way it is, so why take a chance? In order for any of us to have a voice in this matter it will take each and every parent and citizen. Please don't be the person to think your opinion won't matter or that you can't make a difference. If we all work together and are united, we will make a difference.

Mrs. James Brice Cowley Keahey-Cowley Exchange Wedding Vows

Marriage vows were exchanged by Miss Carol Elaine Keahey of Emory and James Brice Cowley of Sulphur Springs in a candlelight ceremony at 3 o'clock on Saturday, June 4 at the Emory United Methodist Church. The Rev. Michael R. Proctor officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dellas Keahey of Colfax. She is a Van High School and East Texas State University graduate, employed by Rains Independent School District. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cowley of Jolntown. He is an Iowa Park High School and East Texas State University graduate, employed by Lone Oak Independent School District.

Vows were repeated before an altar of graceful bras fifteen-branch candelabras holding white tapers, highlighted by sprays of greenery accented with the bride's chosen colors of blue and mauve satin bows. A point of interest above the altar was a wreath of greenery upon which two white doves were perched. The wreath was accented by a blue and mauve bow with mauve and white streamers. Matching bows designated family pews and accented the garland draped altar rail.

The traditional wedding march was played by Mrs. Horace Click, organist. Soloist for "Only God Could Love You More" and "Savior, Like a Shepherd Lead Us" was Bruce Minchey of Leonard.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. She wore a formal gown of white bridal taffeta. The gown had a sweetheart neckline, and the bodice was adorned with imported French lace and highlighted with pearls and crystals. The double puffed sleeves were accented with a fabric rose. The full skirt flowed into a chapel-length train with a deep border of French lace beaded with clusters and swirls of seed pearls and crystals. The headpiece was a matching tiara with pearls and crystals. The illusion veil was of fingertip length. The bride carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of mauve, blue and white roses.

Elaine Proctor of Emory was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Debra Rutledge of College Station and Anita King of Arlington. The attendants' dresses were cornflower blue, tea length, amourette taffeta with scooped necklines and puffed bell sleeves. The set-in waistlines, which were attached to full gathered skirts, had pleated cummerbund belts with a four-button closure in back. Each carried a nosegay of blue, mauve and white flowers with flowing streamers.

Accompanying the bridegroom as best man was Myron Malone of Greenville. Groomsmen were Ken Fisher of Irving and Marion Houff of Terrell. Ushers were Mark heahey of Greenville, brother of the bride, Michael Horn of Sulphur Springs, cousin of the groom, and Joe Christian of Irving. Mark and Michael also lit teh candles. The bridegroom was attired in an all white tuxedo accented with a mauve and white rosebud boutonniere. Groomsmen and ushers wore silver shadow gray tuxedos, highlighted by blue bow ties, cummerbunds and mauve boutonnieres.

Mothers of the couple chose street length dresses. Mrs. Keahey selected a blouson mauve dress trimmed in a lace collar. Slate blue with lace trim was the choice of the groom's mother.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Greeting the guests were the new Mr. and Mrs. Cowley and their parents. The bride's table featured a four-tiered wedding cake on a white lace over blue tablecloth. The bride's table was attended by Rhonda Thomas of Emory and Susan West of Lindale. White lace over blue covered the bridegroom's table. The groom's chocolate cake was monogrammed with his initials. Focal point of the table was a miniature bride and groom dressed in crochet bridal attire by Louella Rawson, great-grandmother of the groom and given to the groom's parents at their wedding in 1954.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents the evening before the wedding on June 3 at Knights Head Inn in Sulphur Springs.

Upon their return from a wedding trip to the Smokey Mountains, the new Mr. and Mrs. Cowley will make their home in Sulphur Springs.

Watkins-Martin Announce Engagement

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD F. Watkins of Baytown would like to announce the engagement of their daughter, Susan Denise Watkins, to Larry James Martin of Crosby. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Martin of Thicket. A June 18 wedding is planned at the Crosby United Methodist Church. The bride-elect is a graduate of Robert E. Lee High School, attended San Jacinto College and is now employed by Klassic Kut in Crosby as a beautician. The groom graduated from Crosby High School, attended Lee College and is now employed by Exxon as a mechanical supervisor. Susan is the granddaughter of Willie Watkins and the late Jesse Watkins of Bogata.

Volunteers Make Community Better

By Mollie Williams
The nomination committee for the Bogata PTO recently met to nominate officers for next year's Parent-Teacher Organization.
The chairman for the committee reported that they had a difficult time in finding people to accept the nominations. It seems that most people already have all the jobs they want. That's understandable. Everyone's busy. But we need to stop and think where this community would be without volunteers. The Lions, Lionesses, and Kiwanis Clubs are made up of people who are willing to give their time without pay (and many times without a thank you), to help those in need and to make things better for all in the community. The Bogata VFW and Ladies Auxiliary are organizations made up of men and women willing to give of themselves to provide for others. The churches in the area each have members who consistently go out of their way to do volunteer work in helping those in need. Those who help each month in distributing the commodities work long, hard hours without complaints. Many individuals give hours of their time to help make life brighter for the residents of Red River Haven Nursing Home.

There are those who take the time to work with young people through scouting, and Bible Schools, and the entire community and surrounding area benefits from the efforts of volunteer firemen.
Many of the things our children enjoy at school are there because volunteers were willing to spend and be spent for those needs. Your child can enjoy an air conditioned schoolroom because a few parents worked hard (many times neglecting their own work at home), to raise money to buy them. There's an outside water fountain, books, games for rainy days, and countless other things that PTO volunteers have worked for.
Although volunteer work always has its own rewards, there are many times of discouragement. The tasks required by those officers of volunteer groups are not always pleasant. Responses to calls for food or service are, many times, less than congenial and workers at fundraisers are sometimes too few.
There may be some "legitimate" excuses for refusing to serve as an officer of a volunteer organization or giving a day of one's time in volunteer service, but anyone can mix a jar of kool-aid, bake a batch of cookies, or throw together a salad for a worthy cause.

Where would our school, our community, or for that matter, the whole world, be without volunteers? But how much better could they be if everyone shared in providing for the needs of others?
Where would our school, our community, or for that matter, the whole world, be without volunteers? But how much better could they be if everyone shared in providing for the needs of others?
New Discovery Makes Future Brighter
By Mollie Williams
I use an apparatus in my work called a videowriter. It has proven to be a very handy little machine. All my news is recorded on a disc and stored until I'm ready to print it. As I was getting the news together on it recently, I realized I had completely filled the disc. There was no more room to record my news.
Instructions for the writer said to insert new disc or erase the used one. As I was deleting some of the material, I made a profound discovery. This is exactly what has happened to my mind. I'm not senile or too old to remember, my mind is just simply all filled up. My disc is full. It's full of schedules to follow meetings to attend, activities involving my children, preparing for our first grandchild, and numerous other things.
This is why a roll of undeveloped film was found in my van and I never remembered putting it there. My disc was so full it couldn't record my putting it there nor even when I put it there. I knew I was missing some pictures I had taken for the newspaper, but the information of where they were just wasn't there to be called up. I was really glad to make this discovery about myself because now I don't have to tell my husband I forgot to do the things he asked me to, I can just explain to him that they were never recorded in the first place.
I was so thankful for my discovery last Sunday. We were having lunch after returning home from church and my nine-year old asked me why I was wearing blue earrings with a green dress. My oldest daughter, who was sitting on the other side of me, argued that they were green, but when I turned to look at her, she burst into laughter. They were both right. I had on one green earring and one blue earring. When they finally were able to control their laughter, I explained to them that the mistake was all caused by my "full disc" and cluttered mind.

My life has a much brighter outlook now that I've made this great discovery. Now, when I come to myself looking in my wardrobe closet for the margarine, I can put all fears aside and just remember it's only a full disc and can be remedied by inserting a new one or erasing the used one. I hope my sharing this discovery will brighten the lives of others, also.
I especially want to share it with my sister, Bobbie, who on two separate occasions, wore a different shoe on each foot to church. Not just any shoes either. One had a raised heel and the other a flat heel. My sister, Martha Jo, will appreciate my discovery, too. She recently attempted to relieve a headache by taking a couple of buttons in the place of aspirins.
You know, since I've realized that I'm not really senile, I've decided there really is life after 40 and bifocals.
