Have you ever reached the point where some little something that ordinarily wouldn't matter at all can nearly make you cry?

Such is my situation. It may come under the heading of a "panic attack". I went to Paris Monday with three Christmas items in mind. They are no longer available anywhere in that town!

I went from store to store, door to door...the things I needed, which are simple, common and not expensive, were sold out.

I came home, and discovered that I had to open a new box of tea to make myself a nice glass of iced tea. Just the simple task of opening this box made me wince in frustration.

Of course, it wasn't breaking out the tea that was the problem...it was the overall weariness and frustration of being unable to find what I needed.

Then, there was the problem with the $12.95 diskette full of Christmas designs.

We use graphic designs that are purchased from various companies to make borders, eye catchers and designs in ads.

We got a "bonus" diskette from a new company that had about fifty pieces of Christmas artwork.

Now, we have installed these graphics onto our computer harddrive routinely. This little floppy disk, however, was different. The instructions were so garbled, and the sequences so strange, that we tried three separate times to install it...to no avail.

I hereby offer a sample of these instructions. "The compressed "Dumbart" (not it's real name) images are compressed. Make a backup copy and store the originals in a safe place.

To extract or decompress use the following image extraction or decompression instructions. Locating your image with the Visual Graphics Reference Index (this is the fancy name for the piece of paper which shows you what the disk has on it) then note the name of the file and the archive where it is located. Insert the Dumbart disk and the archive file appears. Double-click the desired archive. The Extrator Application appears with the archive folder displayed. Then Choose Desktop from the Folder Popup menu, select your hard drive in the scroll box, click open, click extract, double click the folder, hold down the command key while clicking file names and select more than one file".

Well, we wrestled. We tried following it step by step. We never could get the machines to do what it said.

Cindy and I struggled, cussed, fussed and fought over this stupid, $12.95 diskette, determined that it wouldn't get the better of us. Finally, we threw away the instructions and began trying to do it exactly the way we have always done the other diskettes. Guess, what, it worked.

But, by that time, we were both so confused and unhappy that every little problem that arose for the rest of the day brought on attacks of near-panic!

I have a feeling that with the holidays fast approaching there are lots of people out there suffering from this problem.

If there are...take heart...it'll all be over soon, and things will get better. I just keep telling myself this over, and over and over!

which he worked. Glen is a member of Texas Baptist Men Retiree Builders.

Glen White Is Member Of Texas Baptist Men Retired Builders Organization

When Alice Ann White first started hearing about the Baptist men who were going about Texas building churches, she really was excited about such a generous project. She started asking questions, and found out that Glen didn't qualify at the time, because he had not yet retired from TU Electric. For this reason and the fact that Glen was a bit lukewarm in the interest department, she filed the ideas she was having in her "wait a while". In the meantime she read all the literature she could find on the organization.

The group was started by Dr. Olen S. and Mrs. Morene Miles.

The following is an excerpt from literature about the founders of the group. "I remembered as a boy if a neighbor became sick or his barn burned, all neighbors came and worked his crop for him or helped to build back his barn, whatever his need. Why not use the same idea in the Lord's work. Out of this, under the leadership of the Lord, Texas Baptist Men Retirees Building For the Glory of God had its beginning. We felt there was a need in Texas to help small churches and missions. There were people who were retiring and did not want to quit, but wanted to be involved. This organization has grown from twelve to 240 couples, from 1 tool trailer to 4. We now have four groups. Three groups help to build church buildings and one group works with Baptist Encampments. We are one big family. When one hurts, we all hurt. We are from all walks of life- from all parts of Texas.

Morene Miles remembers: "Back in 1979, TBMR and wives started our first job. Twelve trailers and motor homes moved into Knobb Springs, a very beautiful place, with many trees surrounding the church. The Grandmas shelled peas, shucked fresh corn, prepared other vegetables that the people in the community brought to us. We cooked on a wood stove and often forgot to put wood in to keep the vegetables cooking and at noon time we were late with our meal as our men came in for lunch. We also did our washing on an old wringer type washing machine with rinse tubs, hanging our clothes on a barbed wire fence to dry. We have changed now. We prepare breakfast and evening meals for ourselves; and each church we build prepares the noon meal and serves us. They also provide a place for us to park our trailers. Our labor is voluntary. We have prayer meetings each morning, visit in the community for our revival, sing during the revival, visit in nursing homes, and visit with the residents. Great news- we no longer use the old wringer type washer. Each tool trailer carries a commercial washer. Our men put up a clothesline and the Lord dries the clothes for us, unless He sees they need another rinsing and sends the rain."

The Whites had been hearing about the buildings being put up by the group. When the tornado hit Emerson Church, they rebuilt it, they also worked on Lakeway and Belmont Churches after the tornado. Fulbright and Cunningham Baptists were also their projects.

Even though the idea was on a back burner, Alice Ann was still interested. Glen took an early retirement, but he still wasn't sure. They talked to Associational Leader, Carter Lyles, and were keeping tabs on the work of the organization.

After much deliberation, they gathered up their gear, hooked up the gooseneck trailer and joined the group. Glen is a sheetrock hanger. He had worked in electrical work until retirement, but they needed a sheetrock hanger, so he became one.

Sometimes the group sets up in mud up to their knees, they sometimes meet with city code problems and are delayed. They will sometimes get to a job to start framing and won't have a concrete slab, because weather had not permitted it to be poured yet, but the reward is so much greater than the adversity, that it doesn't seem to matter.

Alice Ann says that when they started out, she was sort of pushing Glen, and now her is pulling her. Most of the jobs are set to last 2 weeks, but nobody is under obligation to work if they don't choose to, since it is all volunteer work. Of course, if someone didn't pull his load, it would make it hard on the others.

The churches that the Whites have been involved in the building or rebuilding of are- North Baptist, Greenville, Spring Valley, in Lorena (this church had been burned by arsonists), Trinity, in Bonham, First Baptist, in Dodd City, First Baptist-Swan, in Tyler, Center Hill Baptist, in East Willis, Temple Baptist BMA, Mexia, (They finally had to give up on that project and go on the another one til later because of the rain.) Community Baptist, Royce City, Piney, New Hebron, at Waskom and Woodland Heights, in Bedford.

Glen and Alice Ann have met many new friends and gotten many spiritual rewards for their work. They say it isn't for everyone, but their only goal as individuals and as an organization is to help each church what it needs to help itself.

From the Editor:

A couple of attempts have been made to correct an error. It wasn't anyone's fault, but it caused a dab of discomfort for my sister-in-law. Her name is Linda Woods. She and her husband, Wayne, live at Talco. For a little bit over a year in 1966 and 1967 her name was Linda Alford. She was widowed in 1967. We had a death in our family recently, and Linda's name was different in the different papers in the obituaries where they listed the survivors. Unfortunately ours were the papers which had her listed as Linda Alford. When an attempt was made last week to correct it, it was changed to Linda Alford.

Linda, we apologize for whoever made the mistake. It was a series of errors that compounded. Linda's name is Linda Woods. Thanks, Judy

During Rev. Wheeler's tenure as Youth Pastor at Crossroads Cathedral in Oklahoma City, one of the largest Assemblies of God churches in the nation, the Youthquake services more than quadrupled in attendance. His ministry combines solid Bible teaching to strengthen young believers with anointed preaching that reaches those not yet committed. Young and old alike enjoy this min-

By Judy Screws

We are planning to go to a program Saturday night. I asked what to wear, and was told to wear something nice but comfortable and casual, just a little dressy, but not uncomfortable. To me, nice means church clothes, comfortable means COMFORTABLE, and dressy means I don't go. I have not yet decided what to wear. Usually if I get all dressed up, as dressed up as I get, everyone else has on warm-ups. If I get COMFORTABLE, other folks pick that night to dress to the hilt. This is not major to most folks, but to a person who has clothes in every size there is, this is major. Of course, when I say every size there is, I assume everyone knows that I do not mean Barbie sized clothes. Did you know that there is a size 0? How can a person exist and wear a 0? It seems that it would mean no material. Maybe if it only takes enough material to make a hanky, it qualifies for a 0. It would definitely have to be less than one yard of material. Then there are the 3s, and 5s. I see a woman carrying on like a nut on TV because she has lost 9 pounds and no longer has to buy a size 8. Bless her heart. Can you just imagine the anguish that poor woman has suffered, worrying that someone will find out that she wore a size 8? All of this torture over what to wear was brought on by the recipes for the week. They are some of the favorite Intermission Buffet recipes served at The Old Church Theatre in Clarksville, where I plan to go Saturday night if I can find something to wear. The planned menu this week is spiced meatballs, dilled cheese sandwiches, vegetable platter with creamy dip, red velvet cake, and coffee and tea. I definitely plan to leave off the coffee and tea.

This week's recipes are Broccoli Cheese Soup, Pasta Salad, and Mini Cheesecakes. I appreciate the folks' letting me use their recipes.

December 9, 1993

Broccoli Cheese Soup

8 cups chicken broth
3 carrots
2 potatoes, peeled and cubed
1 onion
3 stalks celery
1 box frozen chopped broccoli
1 stick margarine
3 to 4 cups milk
1 cup flour
salt and pepper to taste
1 Tablespoon dill weed
2 dashes Tabasco sauce
1 lb. box Velveeta Cheese

Chop carrots, celery and onion in food processor. Add to boiling chicken broth in large soup pan. Add cubed potatoes and broccoli. In a sauce pan use margarine, milk and flour to make a white sauce. When vegetables are tender, remove pan from heat and add white sauce. (Do not add white sauce while soup is boiling.) add cubed velveeta and seasonings. Heat gently and serve. (Serves 12.)

Pasta Salad

1 16 oz. box linguini pasta
1 cup sliced black olives
1 cup sliced artichoke hearts (canned in water)

1 cup smoked turkey or ham (juliened)
1 1/2 tsp garlic powder
3 T Italian seasoning
2/3 cup olive oil
1 cup Hellman's mayonaisse

Cook linguini according to package directions. Make dressing from oil, mayonaisse, and seasonings. Combine all ingredients in large bowl and toss. (Serves 8-10)

Mini Cheesecakes

12 vanilla wafers
2-8 oz. pkgs cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1 tsp vanilla
2 eggs

Line muffin tin with 12 foil liners. Place one vanilla wafer in each liner. (1 Tbs. crushed vanilla wafer or graham cracker crumbs may be used in each liner instead of the wafer.) Mix Cream Cheese, vanilla and sugar on medium speed until well blended. Add eggs. Mix well. Pour evenly over wafers. Bake 25 minutes at 325 degrees. Remove from pan when cool. Chill. Top with cherry or blueberry pie filling.

Card of Thanks

Many thanks are in order for those who made donations to the scholarship fund drive. The fund drive was every bit the success we hoped for. A side of beef was given away by the booster club this past Saturday night during the Rivercrest Tournament. We were honored to have Durwood Merrill, the American League umpire, in the crowd, that drew the winning ticket. The winning ticket belonged to Mrs. Lucille Beakley of Bogata. Congratulations, Lucille.

The booster club also furnished the coaches from their respective schools, and the tournament officials with a "hospitality room". According to Coach Wood, it was somewhere for these coaches, and officials to relax, and enjoy various kinds of refreshments. A special thanks to all those who furnished refreshments for the hospitality room.

Special recognition goes to Kay Ross of Bogata, who handled the ticket sales, and helped coordinate the hospitality room. Also, would like to pay a special thanks to Craig Ingram of Talco, who will be processing the beef for the winner. For those booster members that helped me up donations for the scholarship drive, many, many thanks to you for our hard work.

Rivercrest Wins A Few And Loses A Few

The Young Rebels traveled to Paris High Tuesday, November 30.

The first quarter ended with a slim one-point lead for the Rebels. By the half, the Rebs held a 33-26 score, but the third quarter was a killer for the Rebel team. The score changed hands and the Rebs pushed to keep up. A last second shot by Jay Hancock ended the final quarter with a 54-54 tie. The teams went into overtime play, ending the first OT with a 56-56 tie. Eric Waller netted two free shots to keep the Rebs in the game. In the second OT, Rebels Eric Waller, Mitch Ellis and Alvin Savage scored to end the game 63-60 Rebels.

The Rebels JV and 9th graders played their first game in the Rivercrest tourney at the Talco gym Thursday, Dec. 2, at 1:00 p.m. vs the Prairiland Varsity team. The young Rebels stayed behind from the first jump of the ball, with the half ending 30-18 Prairiland. The Rebels struggled to stay with the older team but could not - final 58-30. Scoring for the Rebs were Jack Brown, Steven Thomas, A. J. Lee, Alvin Savage, Eric Martin, Eric Waller and Clint Gage.

On Friday the young Rebs met Ore City Varsity. The team played their best game of the year, staying close to a very fast team. Final score was 80-73. Alvin Savage netted several three pointers for the Rebels to help keep the score close.

On Saturday the Rebs moved in to play the Prairiland JV, due to Ore City's having to drop out of the tourney, due to a player's father's death. At 11:00 a.m. the young Rebs started the game with a low score but increased their score as the game progressed. The first quarter ended with a 10-12 score in Prairiland's favor. By the half the Rebs eased up to a 23-18 lead. The third quarter was a good one for the Rebels, ending 41-28. Final was 56-43 Rebels and the win gave the consolation award to the Rebel JV.

On Monday, Dec. 6, the Rebels 9th grade and JV together played the Mt. Pleasant Tigers 9th grade team. The Rebels dragged throughout the game, making common mistakes. Half time score was 30-29 Rebels. The third quarter saw the Rebs able to stay up 43-41 but the last quarter the Tigers took control. Tiger Randal McMinn scored repeatedly from under the goal, ending the game 65-50 Tigers.

Rivercrest Girls Take Second In Rivercrest Invitational Tournament

The Rivercrest Varsity girls began play in the Rivercrest tournament Thursday Dec. 2 against Paul Pewitt. The first quarter action was close, ending 14-12 Lady Rebels. The half time score was 32-23 Lady Rebels. The girls turned on the run and gun in the final two quarters to defeat the Pewitt team. High scorer for the team was Michelle Giles and LaQuitta Norman. Also adding Points were Karen Williams, Jennifer Bond, Herther Holland, Ashley Ross and Jana Weatherall. On Friday the girls met Ore City. The first quarter saw the Lady Rebs moving slowly ending 7-10 Ore City. The ball simply would not go through the hoop for the Lady Rebs. Bad passes hurt the team in the second quarter, ending the half with a score of 15-17 Ore City. The team came back after the half to bring the score to a tie 19-19. The Ore City team made the majority of their points in the final two quarters on free shots. The Lady Rebels lost LaQuitta Norman, Karen Williams, Heather Holland to fouls, and were pushing their luck with Michelle Giles having four fouls. The team held on with good play from their bench. Jana Weatherall scored 10 points and Jennifer Bond added 6 points when the Ladies needed them most. Final 36-27 Lady Rebels. On Sat. the girls met DeKalb. Michelle Giles led the team with 17 points and was named MVP offensive player. Jana Weatherall was chosen as All Tourney player. The girls were defeated by the DeKalb team landing them in Second Place.

PRELIMINARY ENVIRONMENTAL NOTICE
 The Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) has received an application for financial assistance from Red River County Water Supply Corporation located in Clarksville, Red River County, Texas to improve/expand the existing water distribution system to serve existing and new customers in Red River County, Texas.
 The specific components of this proposed action are to provide two (2) new water supply wells, two (2) elevated water tanks, one (1) remote water pressure tank, one (1) pumping station with pressure tank, and approximately forty-one (41) miles of water main along with necessary valves, fittings and appurtenances to serve their existing 1,490 water users and additional 160 new water users.
 The project, if implemented, has the potential to impact two categories of important land resources: Important Farmlands and Floodplains. The important farmlands are designated by USDA-SCS (Soil Conservation Service) Soil Survey Maps. Since Floodplain Maps are not available for Franklin County, it has been determined that important flood prone zones and wetlands occur within the services area of the water corporation and are located where highways, farm-to-market, and county roads across Anderson Creek, Blanton Creek, Morrison Branch of Little Mustang Creek, Little Mustang Creek, White Oak Bayou, Dillard and Peters Creek in Red River County, Texas.
 The Red River County Water Supply Corporation proposes to mitigate potential adverse impacts to the resources by prohibiting service to structures proposed to be built in the floodplains, and restricting water service to future customers in the important land resource areas.
 Anyone desiring to make comments or review maps showing the locations of important land resources, or to obtain additional information about the project may contact the office below. Written comments may be made by mail but must be received within thirty (30) days of this publication for consideration by Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) in preparation of the environmental review. Home Insulation Levels May Not Meet Guidelines For Area

Most area homes have attic insulation to reduce energy waste, but homeowners aren't saving as much energy as they think if they don't have the proper insulation level, according to Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

"When homeowners actually measure the amount of insulation they have and compare that to the amount recommended for this area, many are finding that their existing insulation doesn't measure up," said Gary Petty, Bogata district manager with TNP.

Insulation helps reduce energy waste in the summer and winter by slowing a home's heat loss in winter and heat gain in summer. The largest percentage of heat loss or gain is through ceiling areas, and attic insulation helps stop this gain or loss. Floor and wall insulation can also reduce energy wasted due to heat loss and gain.

Insulation's effectiveness is measured in R-value, which is a relative measure of an insulation material's resistance to heat transfer. Homes in the central to north Texas area should have attic insulation with a minimum R-value of R30, according to the 1989 Council of American Building Officials Model Energy Code. Pier and beam subfloors should have insulation of at least R-13.

Homeowners with attic insulation of less than R 19 should make additional insulation "an energy improvement priority," Petty said.

To determine the R-value of existing insulation, homeowners first need to determine what type of insulation they have. Most homes have either fiberglass, rock wool, or cellulose insulation. A variety of synthetic foams are also available but are not recommended for attics.

Fiberglass insulation is pink, white or yellow and can come in either batts, blankets or loose-fill form. Rock wool is dark gray and, like fiberglass, is made from mineral substances and comes in baatts, blankets or loose fill forms. Cellulose is light gray (about the color of the bottom of a shoe box) and is a paper product.

Once the type of insulating material is determined, homeowners next need to climb into their attic with a ruler or yardstick and measure the depth of existing insulation in inches. Measure in several places to make sure the depth is consistent, Petty recommends.

Finally, the homeowner should multiply the insulation's R-value per inch by the insulation depth. For fiberglass or rock wool batts or blankets, the R-value per inch is 3.2. Based on this, if an attic has six inches of fiberglass batt, then the R-value per inch is R19. The R-value per inch for fiberglass on rock wool loose-fill is 2.5, and for loose-fill cellulose, the R-value per inch is 3.7. Five inches of loose fill cellulose are required to achieve R 19 insulation.

If this check shows the need for additional insulation, the easiest solution is usually to add more of the same type of insulation. This consistency will make it easier to measure the R-value. Insulation types can be mixed, however, although batts should never be put on loose fill. This causes compaction and reduces the loose fill's effectiveness. For this reason, homeowners also need to avoid putting heavy items on the insulated areas.

Before adding the extra insulation, TNP recommends that homeowners first use caulking to seal any holes around wiring or plumbing. Care should be taken to keep insulation at least three inches away from recessed light fixtures and other heat sources. Also, avoid blocking vents and exhaust fans with insulation.

One insulation problem for many area homes is varying ceiling heights. Homeowners need to make sure that insulation is present even on walls jutting into the attic. Batts are required for these areas and have a tendency to slip off, so a periodic check can ensure that they are in place.

Making sure that insulation is properly installed and meets the recommended levels can make a noticeable difference in energy use throughout the year, Petty said, and the payback on the investment is relatively quick.

No Lick Stamps

Just In Time For "St. Nick"
 Just in the "Nick" of time, the U.S. Postal Service is unwrapping new holiday-theme postage stamps that don't need a licking to keep on sticking. Bringing convenience to holiday mailing are four colorful and contemporary 29 cent self-adhesive stamps--featuring a toy soldier, snowman, reindeer and jack-in-the-box--which are available at post offices nationwide to put a festive accent on all holiday correspondence.

Self-adhesive stamps cost consumers the same as traditional postage stamps and require no added moisture. Consumers simply peel the stamps off their backing and affix them to envelopes and packages, making it even easier to send season's greetings to loved ones. In addition to the holiday stamps, the Postal Service also offers self adhesives featuring the "Red Squirrel," "Rose" and "Pine Cone" designs.

For those traditional minded holiday mailers, the four holiday stamps also will be available in the gum-backed version. The snowman "no-lick" stamp will be available in gum-backed version. The snowman no-lick stamp will be available through many of the nation's ATM's.

"The holiday season is always filled with hustle and bustle, especially at the post office," says Ann Robinson, Consumer Advocate U.S. Postal Service. "This year, by offering customers our beautiful Christmas contemporary stamps in both the self-adhesive and gum-back varieties, we're bringing convenience and choice to our holiday offerings."

The U. Postal Service's first self-adhesive stamp, a Christmas dove design, was issued in 1974. Sixteen years later more self adhesive stamps were issued, among them; the American Flag in 1990, the Liberty Torch in 1991, and the Eagle in 1992. Consumer response to self-adhesive stamps has proved that they are eager to use this non stick stamp variety.

Texas cities received $171.6 million, up 16% over last November's payment of $147.8 million. Counties received a total of $16.7 million for their November rebates, a 17.4% increase over their payment one year ago of $14.3 million.

"Our state's total employment has risen an impressive 2.2% in the past year," Sharp said, "with the Austin and San Antonio metro areas leading the pack in employment growth."

The city of Houston received a monthly payment of $25.6 million, the largest city sales tax rebate for November, up 9.9% over its $23.2 million in November, 1992.

This month's sales tax payments include taxes collected by monthly filers on September sales and by quarterly filers for July, August and September.

Christmas In The Country, Again

By Mary Jane Lowry

Christmas! The most magical time of all. Spring with all its re-borning and newness and rapture still hasn't the same wonder. Summer serenades of locusts and crickets can't compare with angel choirs! Autumn glories can never quite reach the splendor of that one golden star. Thanksgiving is but a fore-runner, and there would be no Easter were it not for this most special of all occasions. Birthdays of kings and VIPs are always auspicious, but the birthday of the King of Kings - glory indeed! There is magic and wonder at the very mention of it. Say it to a child and eyes sparkle, cheeks blush, and suspense shows in every move. Say it to parents and a special glow shines forth with love and tenderness. Say it to old people and their faces light up with a thousand memories of times past when that manger bed seemed only a foot-step away. Listen to the sounds it brings: cheerful greetings, sweet carols, contagious laughter, excited squeals, and peaceful sighs of contentment. Smell the delicious scent of pine and cedar, baking apples, baking turkeys, cakes, pies, fireplace smoke, and oranges in the toes of long stockings. Taste the candy canes, spice cookies and jam cakes. See the tiny figures everywhere, tolling the sweet old story, ever new; The cards sent in love, the familiar faces turned into special pictures of peace. Feel the spirit of love and concern and generosity, forgiveness and open, unshamed emotion like electricity in the air.

Christmas! God's gift to a needy world once again every year!

Scoring for the Lady Rebels were Courtney Jones, Katie Hare, Joanie Swarts and Candiss Nickerson.

The girls received a second place trophy.

Also bringing trophies home were the 7th grade boys, who received consolation; 8th grade boys who were defeated by Travis on Friday and came back Saturday to beat Crockett 44-42 in overtime.

They then defeated Blossom and won consolation also.

The eighth grade girls were defeated in their bids.

If anyone would like to turn in scores and more complete results on these Junior High Teams please turn them in to Nancy Brown at Talco or at JE's Foods in Talco or Judy Sweets at Bogata. We need your help to give these young athletes coverage.

Helpful Suggestions From Red River County Agent

By Virginia Brock
Red River County Agent
Home Economics

Diabetes Support Group
Joining a diabetes support group can empower the person with diabetes to deal more effectively with feelings and gain skills to communicate more effectively with friends, spouses, children and health care providers. Living with the disease can be less frustrating when you know others understand, and support occurs within context of a safe and trusting group.

Alternative Sweeteners
So people with diabetes have a wide array of sugar substitutes translating into broader selection of food choices?

The three non-caloric sweeteners approved by American Dietetic Association and American Diabetes Association are saccharin, aspartame and acesulfame-K. Aspartame is not recommended for heated foods as it has a low boiling point and will break down, losing its sweetness. Both saccharin and acesulfame-K can be used in food preparation.

The Milk Allergy
The only situation calling for complete exclusion of cows' milk is cows' milk allergy.

Problems of lactose intolerance and dietary fat intake require careful selection of dairy products. The dairy products are important sources of calcium as well as other nutrients. Calcium in dairy products is more readily absorbable than calcium from vegetables.

Refrigerating Leftovers
Refrigerate leftovers in shallow, covered containers.

When you cook quantities of food ahead of time, divide large portions of food into small, shallow containers for refrigeration or freezing. This will ensure rapid cooling. Never place large pots of food into the refrigerator. Food in the center of pots may not cool rapidly enough to prevent bacterial growth.

Choosing a Supermarket
What factors influence Americans when they are deciding where to shop for groceries? Quality produce -- fruits and vegetables -- seems to top the list of reasons.

Other factors are a wide selection of foods, low prices, courteous employees, quality meat and convenient location. Markets that offer one-stop shopping are a definite trend of the future as well.

1993 Christmas Newsletter From The Allens In Zambia

"We want to have 5,000 members in our church by year 2000!"

Talking about vision! We were in a partnership crusade with an evangelistic team from the State Baptist Convention of Indiana which was being held in Mongu Baptist Church in Western Province in Zambia. T.B. Smith of Indiana and I (Fred) were meeting in the afternoon with members of the church, seeking to help them in planning for the future. When we asked them to share their vision for their church by the year 2000, Mrs. Munena, a widow with eight children, answered with confidence, "We want to have 5,000 members in our church by year 2000." I swallowed and suggested to her that surely she meant 500 since their church averages about 50 on Sundays. She again responded, "No, 5,000!" Not wanting to be negative, especially since we had been teaching on faith and that we must expect great things from God, I went to the blackboard and sketched a rough map of Western Province where we have only one church and one mission. I asked them to tell me where new Baptist churches are needed. Immediately, hands went up and within a few minutes, they had identified 10 different places where Baptist churches are needed; also, we agreed that we must find a way to reach the people in hundreds of villages across the Zambezi River which are difficult to reach logistically because there is no bridge over the river, the pontoons are not very safe, roads are almost non-existent, and the land is so deep it requires a 4-wheel drive vehicle to travel. Nevertheless, we all agreed that, after all, if their one church can multiply herself to start churches in those 10 locations, plus find a way to witness to those villages along the river, surely they can have a combined number of 5,000 members by year 2000. And what was I thinking of my initial reaction to Mrs. Munene when she expressed her vision? "O ye of little faith..." Sensing their seriousness about starting new churches, we asked if they would like to start a new church that very week. They all agreed. We changed our plans and held services in Manushakende, 14 miles south, on that Saturday night and about 100 were saved. We started a new church the next morning. Praise the Lord!

The above story is one of many blessings of our recent crusades which were held in three small towns in Zambia with the help of Baptists from Indiana. In all, 2,500 were saved and many more made rededications to the Lord. We praise our Heavenly Father for His many blessings.

We have had a good year in our respective ministries since our last newsletter. In Joy's ministry, Bible Way Correspondence School, the student membership continues to grow and many are accepting Christ each year. Not only are people being saved through these Bible studies, but many are being strengthened in their faith. Recently, a letter was received from a member who wrote that his marriage was in trouble and he had already sent his wife back to the village. Then he read the Bible Way book, "Christian Marriage and Family Life", and received the biblical guidance he needed to save his marriage. We thank God for this victory. In music and youth ministries, Fred has seen steady growth in several areas. We had our first festival for women's choirs only, and were blessed by the singing of 15 choirs. Added to the 34 other choirs which participated in our general Lusaka festival, we set a new record with 49 choirs participating this year. More than 200 young people were saved in our different music and youth conferences throughout Zambia during the year. As you can see, Zambia continues to be very open and responsive to the Gospel.

In August our second son, Randy, and his wife, Dana, and their lovely daughters, Sarah, Katie and Rachel, accepted God's call to "return to Africa," where Randy grew up. Randy is teaching and coaching at Rosslyn Academy in Nairobi, Kenya, a 12-grade Christian school sponsored partly by the Foreign Mission Board of Southern Baptists. Randy and Dana were in the process toward eventual appointment with the Foreign Mission Board; however, when this opportunity came to go on a three-year contract directly with the school, they felt this is God's will for them at this time. They are settling in well and are adjusting to life there. Please pray for them.

Gary, Barbara and Emily are still in Ft. Worth and doing well. Valerie is in Arlington and Bruce is in San Antonio. Both of them have received promotions in their jobs and are happy about that. We thank God that our children are serving the Lord.

We are planning to come home for Christmas this year after visiting Randy, Dana and girls in Nairobi. We can be reached from December 15 through 19 at 3605 Gordon, Ft. Worth, TX 76110 (817)924-4918; and from December 20-January 2 at 1004 Bryant, Ft. Worth, TX 76126 (817)244-5649 (Gary's number) or FBC, Benbrook.

Our ministry and personal support come directly from the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering and the Cooperative Program. We encourage you to continue giving sacrificially in order that there may be adequate funds to go around. Our Mission's operating budget for ministry has been cut by 10% for 1994, and our cost of living has been cut considerably while our base pay has remained the same for four years. We know God is able to meet our needs, and we are trusting Him to do that. We are praying that, with the election of Jerry Rankin as the new President of the Foreign Mission Board, and the apparent improvement of relationships between the FMB and the FMB Staff, things will improve and churches will be encouraged to give more support to missions.

Thank you for your prayers. We received letters from many of you assuring us of your prayer support, and that gave us new courage, especially in times of difficulty. In May Fred lost his elder brother, John, and a dear aunt; in July his sister, Nell, suffered a serious stroke; in September, Joy lost her older sister, Prudy, and Fred lost a cousin. We were not able to be with our families during those difficult times. Knowing you were praying for us helped tremendously.

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to each and all of you. We hope to see some of you while we are home for Christmas. May God bless you richly as you continue serving Him.

Love in Christ,

Energy Savings Flow When You Save Hot Water.

You can turn on energy savings with these few easy steps to reduce the amount of hot water you use:

- Keep your water heater set at 120° to 140°. If you have a dishwasher, check the manual to see if it recommends any water temperatures.
- Use less hot water. Wash clothes in cold or warm water and use cold water rinses. A low-flow shower head will also reduce water use. Remember, too, that small leaks add up to big waste.
- Use water heater insulation, especially on heaters that are located in unconditioned areas of the house.

For more information on saving energy, call or visit your local TNP office and ask for your free Energy Management Guide.

About Children And Food Poisoning

Hectic holiday meal preparations can increase the chances for food poisoning especially among young children, said an expert at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center.

"Children are vulnerable because their intestinal tract and immune system are not fully developed," said Dr. Kathleen Motil, an assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "They may have less resistance to the bacteria that causes food-borne illnesses."

The severity of the illness varies from person to person. Symptoms include stomach cramps, nausea, diarrhea and vomiting and, in some cases, fever. Symptoms can appear anywhere from two to 36 hours after eating and last several days.

When children become ill, parents should make sure they are given plenty to drink to prevent dehydration.

"Oral rehydrating solutions, available in most pharmacies, are better for toddlers and pre-school age children because they contain appropriate concentrations of salts (electrolytes) that maintain their body fluids," she said.

Alert your physician if you suspect that your child may be suffering from food poisoning since a young child's condition can deteriorate quickly.

To safeguard holiday feasts, Dr. Corinne Mantandon, CNRC nutritionist and assistant professor of pediatrics at Baylor provides the following food safety tips: *Buy quality foods. Check expiration dates carefully. *Do not defrost a frozen turkey at room temperature. Bacteria can multiply to disease causing levels before the turkey is completely thawed. Instead, place it in its original wrapper on a tray or in a pan, and let it gradually defrost in the refrigerator. Follow manufacturer's instructions if meat or poultry is to be thawed in the microwave. *Be aware of the dangers of "cross contamination." Avoid transferring bacteria by washing hands, utensils and work surfaces with hot soapy water. Uncooked poultry or meat should not come into contact with other foods. *Cook turkey until thermometer inserted into bird registers 180 F to 185 F. Juices should run clear. *Consider cooking the stuffing separately. Flavor the cavity with onion, celery and herbs. If you prefer to cook the dressing in the bird, mix dressing and stuff turkey loosely just before putting it in the oven. As soon as the turkey is cooked, remove the dressing. *To prevent bacterial growth, keep hot foods above 140 F and cold foods below 40 F. Foods containing dairy products, mayonnaise, or eggs, should be refrigerated until served. That includes salads, pumpkin or cream type pies, cakes with cream cheese or cooked icings and eggnog. If children help out in the kitchen, discourage them from tasting cookie dough or other goodies that contain raw eggs.

The risk of food poisoning does not end after food is cooked, so treat leftovers with care.

Never leave perishable food out on the table or counter for more than 2 hours. It is best to promptly refrigerate or freeze leftovers in small, shallow containers for quick cooling.

Use leftover turkey within three to four days or freeze for up to one month. Do not keep dressing and gravy for longer than 2 days and bring gravy to a boil before serving.

Food harboring harmful bacteria does not necessarily have an odor or spoiled appearance. Remember the adage: "When in doubt, throw it out."

Dr. Mavis Kelsey Publishes Book On Courthouses Of Texas

Dr. Mavis Kelsey, long-time Houston doctor and relative of lots of Deport folks, has distinguished himself with a rather unusual accomplishment. He has published a book on the courthouses of Texas. The book features a wealth of living history with pictures of 254 courthouses in the state's county seats. Kelsey is an amateur historian, art and book collector, and a founder of the Kelsey-Seybold Clinic in Houston. The historic courthouses are a valuable architectural heritage, he says, and he wants to see them protected and preserved.

over 10,000 miles taking all 254 courthouses in Texas. His color pictures are all included in the book, "The Courthouses of Texas" which has just been published by Texas A & M. The 342 page guide includes essays and text by Kelsey and by historian Donald Dyal. The color photos of the graceful, stately courthouses are reported to be remarkable.

Kelsey has been featured in a lengthy article in the Houston Post. He also was on hand to sign autographs at the Brazos Bookstore Monday, Dec. 6th.

Dr. Kelsey is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Kelsey, long-time Deport residents.

Marilyn Kelsey Glover reports that she several of the books coming, and hopes to have them on display at City Drug Store soon.

Kelsey also feels that the courthouses stand for a way of community life that is mostly in the past.

At 81, having retired from his medical practice in 1985, Kelsey spent the last several years and logged

Comments From Your County Attorney

Jack Herrington

What does the $1 Billion bond issue approved by Texas voters this past November really mean?

Over the next few years, the largest prison expansion in the whole world will take place right here in Texas. By the year 2000, Texas will place 20,000 more people behind bars.

The present prison population is about 70,000 people housed in 45 prison units. There are an additional 28,000 people who have been convicted of crimes and who are sitting in our county jails waiting to get into the Texas Department of Corrections. We have 14 of those here in Red River County waiting for a place in prison.

The prison expansion will also bring about the largest creation of new jobs in the entire nation. 12,300 new jobs will be created by our prison expansion. This is 6 times as many jobs as the closest large corporation that is adding new plant expansion and new employment. Those 12,300 jobs will be a tremendous boost to our Texas economy.

It is expensive to house people in prison. It costs $15,000 per year to house each prisoner. But until some other solution comes along to deal with the root causes of crime, we must lock up criminals, especially violent offenders, and get them off our streets and out of our communities.
