Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

I'm sitting here looking out our big old windows onto main street. Main street here at the head office (Deport) isn't so very different from Main Street in our other communities.

Not much is happening. I hear only a few sounds. Among them are the occasional leisurely car going by. I hear approaching children. Happily, they create the familiar sound of a quarter plunking into our newsrack, the door opening. They walk off down the street, and I hear them chattering. Then "Here we are" rises above the chatter and they all stop to cluster around and see their photography.

Several regular customers come by, knowing it is Wednesday evening and the papers are fresh off the press and onto the racks.

I listen some more and can hear birds in the trees across the street chirping. Sometimes I see a great blue heron stalking down the creek, surrounded by 'town' and totally unconcerned.

A squirrel scampers up the trees, fusses at the birds a little then disappears.

Two people stroll by, and stop to wave. I wave back, knowing who they are and glad to see them.

It isn't a Monday or a Tuesday, when the phone is ringing off the wall, faxes are scooting through the machine, seven keyboards are clicking with busy fingers and all is chaos.

For a few moments I can afford to ignore the little stack of paperwork left to handle, the photographs to be sized and put to the back computer and the reply letters and post cards that need to be taken care of.

I interrupt my reverie to call the Paris post off to discuss a house number that isn't correct, but it's almost half hearted...I'm mesmerized by the springtime outside my door. (Which is open, by the way).

Someone else calls a greeting as they think shut the newsrack door.

Yes, it's Wednesday evening, I'm in my place and so is everyone else.

And life feels so very, very good. I read a statement in a book not long ago that said "every now and again we should stop and thank God for things just the way they are right now, this moment". I think I understand that now.

Eddie Brown received 22 absentee votes, 30 votes in the Talco box and 131 votes in the Bogata box for a total of 183 votes.

Votes cast in each box were: Absentee-27, Talco-37 and Bogata-131 for a total of 263.

Wreck scene re-enacted for area high school students

Last Thursday, May 2, LifeNet Ambulance Service, in cooperation with Red River County law enforcement officials and the Clarksville and Bogata Volunteer Fire Departments, presented a simulated automobile accident for Clarksville, Rivercrest, Detroit and Avery high school students.

The accident was staged at the Clarksville City Lake involving two vehicles, four high school students returning from their prom, a family traveling on vacation, and alcohol.

The driver of the vehicle with the four students was intoxicated, he lost control of the vehicle, consequently crashing into the second vehicle with the family in it.

A passenger in the vehicle with the students in it was thrown onto the hood of the car and was dead on impact. Her body lay on the hood of the car throughout the program. Another passenger in the student's car, a female in the back seat, was trapped inside the wreckage and severely injured in the accident.

Students witnessing the program were given first-hand knowledge of how an accident of this proportion is handled, with the law enforcement officials first arriving on the scene, followed by the ambulances, fire departments, a helicopter to air-lift some of the victims, and finally the funeral home, to pick up the deceased victims.

Carol Wilson of Texarkana, a representative of "MADD", Mothers Against Drunk Drivers, was on hand to speak to the students about the dangers of drinking and driving. Her daughter was killed in an automobile accident involving a drunk driver. She read the students a poem depicting a teenager in the process of dying in an automobile accident.

The "victims" in the accident were portrayed by personnel of LifeNet Ambulance Service in Clarksville.

Bogata First Baptist welcomes pastor

First Baptist Church, Bogata welcomes their new pastor, Brother Park Robertson. Robertson is a soon to be graduate of Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth with a Master's Degree in Religious Education.

A native of Pittsburg, TX, he has been married to the former Vickey Shelton of Mt. Pleasant for 19 years. They have two daughters, Lauren 16 and Lindsey 9.

The Robertsons are excited to be returning home to northeast Texas.

This wreck was a result of alcohol being consumed by one driver, and portrayed the consequences it had on the lives of five families. (Staff Photo by Judy Screws)

Talco-Bogata school board canvasses votes

The Talco-Bogata Trustees met on Monday, May 6 in the regular May session. The meeting opened at 7:30 p.m. by passing of the Consensus Agenda items, reviewed the schedule for board training sessions during the month of May.

The Superintendent reviewed a letter from KSA Engineers to the TNRCC proposing the preliminary plan for potential discharge locations for the new waste water treatment plant at Rivercrest High School. The contract with KSA was reviewed and the board approved the reviewing of the contract by legal counsel.

The Board went into executive session to hear an appeal from parents concerning an expulsion to the alternative campus of a high school student. Upon returning to the open session the Board approved a motion in support of the expulsion.

The Board canvassed and accepted the results of the May 4 School Board Election. The Oath of Office was administered to Mark Hare and he was seated to replace board member Buford Hervey. The Pre-Oath was administered to Eddy Brown who ran unopposed. In reorganizing the board Eddy Brown was elected President, Molly Williams, Vice President and Kip Stansell, Secretary. The board approved a position for co-ordinator of services for disadvantaged students and gave permission to seek personnel for that position. The next meeting was set for June 4 at 8:00 p.m.

Country Cooking

By Liz Irwin

This week's column is dedicated to anyone who has ever been on a diet! As you know, the moment that you decide to go on this little escape, your hunger index goes straight up! The more you think about dieting, the more you want FOOD!

I have been on all types of diets through the years. My personal favorite is the "Seefood" Diet. The minute you "seefood" . . . you want to eat everything in sight. Of course there has been the "Grapefruit" Diet. You know the one . . . before you eat your spinach and boiled eggs . . . you must drink or eat a half of grapefruit. Then there is the fruit diet. All you eat is fresh fruit. Pounds will melt off. Do you realize how much sugar fruit has in it . . . although it relatively has no fat!

Then there is the lady in England who lost 85 pounds . . . just from a diet of potatoes . . . can you imagine just living on potatoes for a couple of months. Only if you are deep fried, with lots of ketchup . . . covered with sour cream, butter and bacon bits . . . slathered with butter, salt and pepper! How else would you eat potatoes . . . huh?

Now the most recent one is the "Cabbage Soup" Diet. I know a lot of people that have been on this diet, including myself. There is not way that you can lose 15-20 pounds in one week. Only if you are extremely large . . . we are talking over 500 pounds! On first reading the diet, you say, "Well this won't be too bad." "It sounds pretty good." So you get out the old pots and pans, cut up the head of cabbage, tomatoes, carrots and water, a little seasoning and "voila", a meal fit for a king! A little overweight king . . . but still a king!

First day, not too bad. Still living off of the excess food you ate for the last week, preparing yourself for the upcoming diet. Second day, start off with a little cabbage soup, follow with a half of apple, by noon, the pains start setting in . . . hunger pains that is. No, can't fudge . . . you have a bet going on with your spouse and two other friends that you will lose more than them. Third day . . . cabbage soup . . . must eat portions of cabbage soup every day . . . FOOD . . . anything for FOOGOD! Fourth day . . . cabbage soup . . . maybe go stand outside of the grocery store . . . carry sign that says . . . "On diet . . . will work for FOOGOD!" Fifth day . . . never been so hungry in all my life . . . take the lid off of the cabbage soup . . . no way I can take one more bite of this stuff! Sixth day . . . cabbage stew . . . maybe if I don't eat the cabbage stew and just stick with the fruit. Seventh day . . . on the scales . . . I just know that I have won the bet . . . feel's like at least 20 pounds have melted off! Three pounds . . . you have got to be kidding. You starved yourself for 7 days, ate that awful cabbage soup for seven days and for what . . . three pounds! Let me see the "Seefood" Diet again. I'm going to Tamolly's!

I know that everyone has had this experience and my heart goes out to you. But check out these recipes. They are to die for. CHOCOLATE! CHOCOLATE! CHOCOLATE! Maybe I'll buy some grapefruit! See you in the kitchen!

Oh, by the way! Jim won the bet!

May 9, 1996 CHOCOLATE!

Chocolate Cheery Cake
1/2 cup shortening, butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
2-1 ounce squares unsweetened chocolate
1-1/2 cup cake flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 cup milk
1/4 cup maraschino cherries
2 tablespoons maraschino cherry syrup
1/2 cup chopped walnuts
Stir shortening to soften. Add sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add egg and beat well. Stir in chocolate. Sift together dry ingredients. Add creamed mixture, alternating with milk, a little at a time. Beat smooth after each addition. Add cherries, syrup and nuts. Grease bottom of 8x8x2 inch glass ovenware cake dish. Pour in batter. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees) for 50 to 55 minutes or until done. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) about 40 minutes.

No-cook Fudge Frosting
1-1 ounce squares unsweetened chocolate
1 cup sifted powdered sugar
3 tablespoons milk
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
3 tablespoons margarine
walnut halves to garnish
Melt chocolate over hot water; cool. In small saucepan, thoroughly combine sugar, milk, egg and vanilla. Stir in chocolate. Add soft (not melted) butter, 1 tablespoon at a time. Beat well by hand after each addition. Chill 10 minutes in refrigerator. Then, place pan in bowl of ice water. Beat frosting over ice water until just right to spread. Swirl it on cake and then dot with walnut halves.

Black Forest Dump Cake
1-8 ounce can crushed pineapple
1-21 ounce can cherry pie filling
1-18-1/2 ounce package devil's food cake mix
1 cup chopped pecans
1/2 cup butter-melted
whipped topping
Drain pineapple; reserve liquid. Spread pineapple in lightly greased 13x9 inch pan. Add pie filling and spread gently. Sprinkle dry cake mix over pie filling; top with pecans. Combine butter and reserved pineapple liquid; drizzle over mixture in pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 to 40 minutes. Cut in squares and serve with whipped topping.

"Bake While You Sleep" Cookies
2 egg whites
2/3 cup sugar
1 cup chocolate chips
1 teaspoon vanilla
Beat egg whites until foamy. Add sugar gradually and beat until stiff. Add chips and vanilla. Put foil over cookie sheet and drop by teaspoons onto foil. Put cookies in oven PREHEATED to 350 degrees and IMMEDIATELY turn off oven. Leave in oven overnight or for four hours. Can also add 1 cup chopped pecans

Fudge Cookies
1 large package chocolate chips
1/2 stick margarine
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups chopped nuts
Combine chocolate chips, margarine and milk in saucepan. Heat until chocolate melts. Then add flour, vanilla and nuts; mix well. Drop by teaspoonsful onto ungreased cookie sheet. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

No-Crust Fudge Pie
1 stick margarine-melted
1 cup sugar
2 eggs-well beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons cocoa
1/2 cup sifted flour
nuts to garnish
Cream margarine and sugar; then add eggs and vanilla. Mix cocoa with flour and stir into margarine mixture. Pour into greased pie plate. Bake 25 minutes in 350 degree oven. A few nuts may be put on top before baking. Serve with whipped cream.

Sludge Pit Pie
1-13 ounce can Pet condensed milk
3 cups sugar
scant 3/4 cup cocoa
2 sticks butter
2 teaspoons vanilla
4 eggs-beaten slightly
2-9 inch unbaked pie shells
Mix all ingredients together and pour in pie shells. Bake at 325 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Do not over-mix. This recipe is served at the Texas Tea Room in Carthage, Texas.

NOTICE OF RATE CHANGE REQUEST

For Texas-New Mexico Power Company customers within the State of Texas, the Company announces that it has filed, on April 30, 1996, an Application for Approval and Statement of Intent for Transition Plan in accordance with the regulations of the Public Utility Commission of Texas. The effective date of such change is June 5, 1996. All classes of customers receiving service from Texas-New Mexico Power Company will be affected by said proposed rates. TNP serves approximately 170,000 customers in Texas. The proposed rates, for all of TNP's Texas operations, will not increase gross revenues to the Company over adjusted test year revenues.

The purpose of this filing is to obtain approval for TNP's transition plan, known as Community Choice, which will address potential stranded costs and increasing competition in the electric utility industry. Community Choice is comprised of the following three major elements:

- (1) Effective Aggregation of Small Electric Loads. Community Choice aggregates electric service customers at the community level for the purpose of purchasing bulk electric energy. This approach to aggregating customers will provide residential and small commercial customers some of the same buying power that large commercial and industrial customers likely will enjoy in a competitive environment.
- (2) An Opportunity to Recover Stranded Costs. During a five-year transition period (1997 - 2001), in which TNP will implement Community Choice, TNP will have the opportunity to reduce the so-called "stranded costs" associated with TNP One, TNP's generating plant. TNP's stranded costs are the difference between what it costs TNP to produce electric energy and what a customer is willing to pay for electric energy in a competitive environment. Rates, including charges associated with fuel and purchased power, will remain constant during this five-year period at 1995 levels. TNP will use normal depreciation, depreciation shifting, and any fuel or purchased power savings to reduce the capital cost of TNP One. In addition, Community Choice will include a mechanism for using some earnings above a specified level to reduce the capital cost of TNP One.
- (3) A Commitment to Provide Customer Choice. Beginning on January 1, 2002, TNP's customers will have the opportunity to choose their suppliers of bulk electric energy and energy-related services. Customers will be able to choose which company provides these services to them, while TNP will continue to provide transmission and distribution services.

A complete copy of the requested rate filing package is on file with the Public Utility Commission of Texas. You may inspect a copy of the filing during normal business hours at the business office of Texas-New Mexico Power Company in your area.

Persons who wish to intervene in or comment upon these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible, as an intervention deadline will be imposed. A request to intervene or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission's Consumer Affairs Office at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221 for text telephone. The deadline for intervention in the proceeding is 45 days after the date the application was filed with the commission. 5/96

It's dangerous to be a teenager

Four leading risk categories make the teen years especially fraught with hazards said an adolescent medicine expert at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

"Drinking alcohol while doing other activities, failure to use safety devices, access to firearms and sports are the big four," said Dr. Albert C. Hergenroeder, chief of adolescent and sports medicine at Baylor and Texas Children's Hospital.

Statistics seem to confirm what most of us already know -- teenagers think they are immortal.

Consider that:
* Nineteen percent of teens rarely use a seatbelt.

* Forty percent fail to wear helmets while riding motorcycles; 95 percent don't use bicycle helmets.

* Twenty two percent of teens carry weapons; nearly one third are guns.

* Thirty percent of teens had at least five alcoholic drinks at one time recently, while 35 percent rode with a teen drinker. Besides the risk for car accidents, teen drinkers are more prone to engage in unsafe sex and other dangerous behaviors.

* Seventy two percent of all teen deaths are due to violence or accidents; 19 percent are murders, 11 percent are suicides, and 12 percent are from injuries.

"It really is frightening," said Hergenroeder, himself the father of pre teenagers. "but I'm surprised the statistics are not higher."

Hergenroeder partially blames a world that has become increasingly more violent.

In the 1940s, school "dangers" for teens included being caught chewing gum, running in the hallways or wearing improper clothing. Today's teen must contend with drug abuse, date rape and assault.

What's a parent to do??
Talk, inquire and wait, suggests Hergenroeder.

"Don't wait for them to talk to you," he said. "Talk with them first. Many parents fall for the 'not my child' myth, and fail to realize their teen could be engaging in risky behavior."

When talking, ask specific, sometimes blunt, questions: What do you do for fun? Do you drink and drive? Do your friends? If your teen's behavior is not risky, congratulate them.

Next, give it time. Behavior cannot be changed overnight. Also, don't try to solve the problem as it is occurring.

"Talking to your teen about the dangers of drinking when they are still drunk is useless. Approach them later," he said.

Hergenroeder urges parents not to give up.

"Even the best teenagers will do dangerous things," he said.

LaRues attend New Holland dealer meeting in Florida

Bill and Betty LaRue, owners of LaRue Ford Tractor kicked off 1996 in a big way. Bill and Betty participated in the largest New Holland dealer meeting and conference ever held.

The meeting took place in Orlando, Florida and it involved over 7,000 New Holland dealers, suppliers and company personnel from 140 countries throughout the world. Bill and Betty LaRue said the meeting had four primary objectives: to solidify the New Holland name change; to demonstrate the global aspect of the company; to introduce a host of new products (35 series and Gemini 60 series tractors); and to stress the company's dedication to satisfying it's customers

At the North American regional meeting, Tom Kennedy, Chief Executive Officer, New Holland North America, announced to dealers that New Holland is now "first in the world in the sale of tractors and hay and forage equipment".

The LaRues, along with other dealers, participated in a special product training sessions, in the classroom and in the field; took part in regional and international business sessions; and, of course, sampled the entertainment side of Orlando.

The dealers were bused to the Daytona Beach Ocean Center for the international business session, then visited the Daytona International Speedway for the unveiling of the New Holland NASCAR entry, car #94, part of the Elliott-Hardy Motorsport Team. It took 189 buses, stretched out in a seven-mile caravan, to carry all the attendees from Orlando to Daytona.

During the evenings in Orlando, conference participants were invited to private parties at Church Street Station, Universal Studios and the Walt Disney World Resort properties of EPICOT Center and Pleasure Island.

Seminar planned for women landowners

A two day seminar on Farm and Ranch business Management for Women Landowners will be held at:

Corpus Christi, June 12-13; Arlington, June 18-19; and College Station, June 27-28, 1996.

The seminar is designed to help women explore income generating and tax saving opportunities for their farms and ranches according to Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist and attorney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System. Discussions will center on income taxes, farm leases, business organization, estate planning and oil and gas leasing.

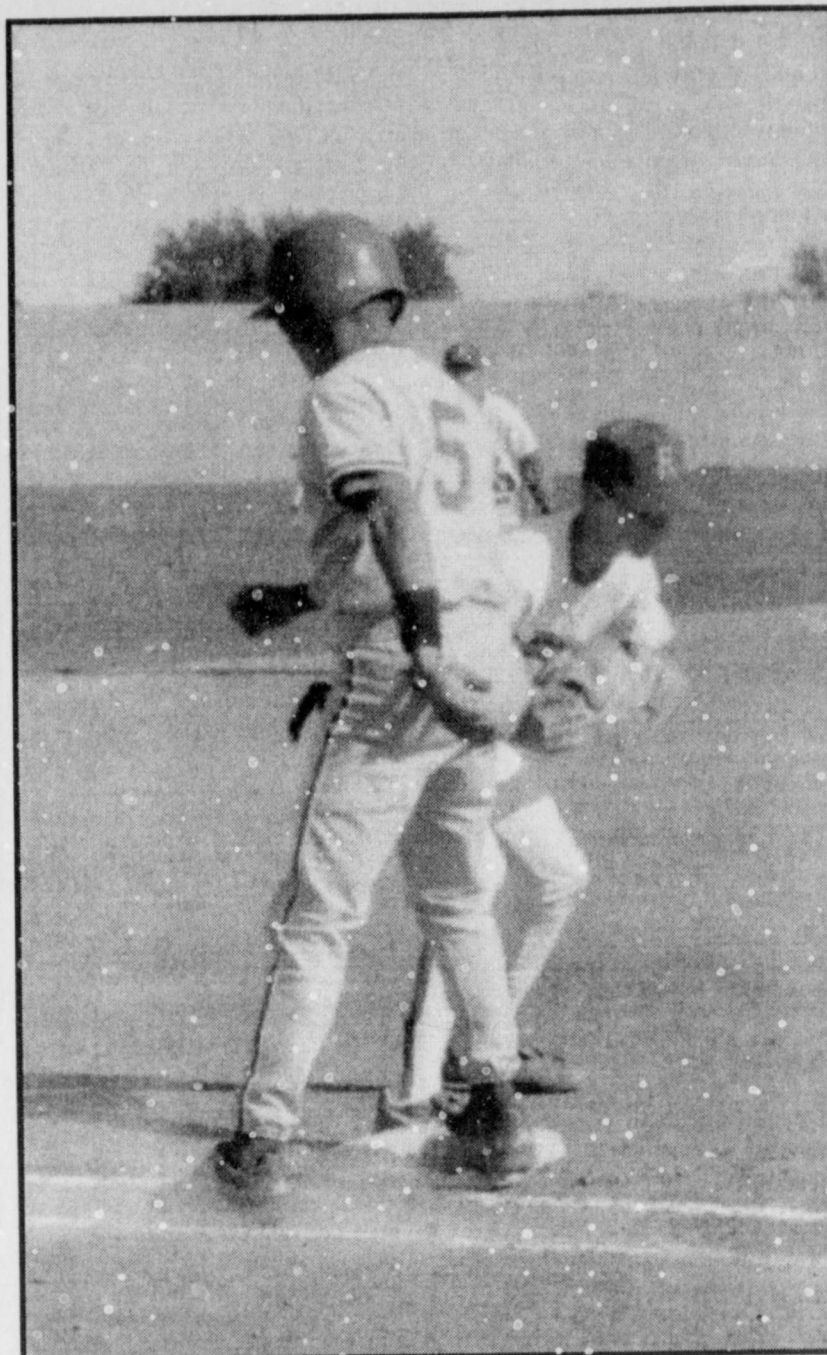

Farm leases and operating agreements take many forms, notes Hayenga, and many of these will be discussed at the seminar including benefits and restrictions to both landowners and tenants.

Regarding income tax planning, tax-saving opportunities will be explored for business growth, retirement income and helping out children and grandchildren. A session on estate planning will deal with wills, trusts, estate tax deferrals, gifts and property titles Hayenga points out.

Estate planning tools which will be discussed include use of corporations and partnerships, gift planning, oil and gas interests, special farm land valuation, deferred estate tax payments, life insurance and a tool called "flower bonds".

The White House has 132 rooms and a bomb shelter. It occupies 84,184 square feet.

Artist sought for Paris Art Fair

Artists interested in showing their work in the non-professional competitive division of the 35th Annual Art Fair should make plans now to enter.

The non-professional division is open to any artist, including students, whose work is original in concept and execution. Artists may enter in the categories of oils and acrylics, water media and pastels, prints and drawings, sculpture and pottery, color photography and black and white photography. More than $1000 in cash is available for awards.

Entries for competition will be accepted from 8:00 a.m. until 10:00 a.m. on Saturday May 18, the day of the Art Fair. Artists should bring their work to the ballroom of Great Expectations, where it will be judged and shown. A $5 entry fee for each work entered is paid at the time of entry.

Artists should mount work, excluding sculpture and pottery, on a heavy support and wire for hanging. Work may be framed. On back of art, place a card containing the artist's name, address, whether the work is for sale and price.

If the work is for sale, all sales will be arranged through the YWCA Fair office. A 20% commission will be charged on each work sold.

The Paris Art Fair, sponsored by the YWCA of Paris and Lamar County, will be held Saturday May 18 from 10 am to 5 pm in the downtown area around the Plaza. Phone the YWCA for more information at 785-5221.

Be wiser than other people if you can, but do not tell them so.

Riddle-Sheppard wedding vows solemnized

Rebecca Dawn Sheppard of Clarksville and Eric Ray Riddle of Rowlett were united in marriage in a formal ceremony on Saturday, April 20 at the Bonner-Whitaker-McClendon House, a restored Victorian home in Tyler at two o'clock in the afternoon. Rev. Jerry Boyd of Cedar Hill offered the invocation, performed the double ring ceremony and offered prayers of blessing and benediction.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Alan Sheppard of Clarksville. Her grandparents are Mrs. Ileen Eason of Bonham, J. T. Eason of Bogata and the late Kenneth and Ella Sheppard of Clarksville. Her step-grandmothers are Mrs. Wilma Eason of Bogata and Mrs. Hazel Sheppard of Clarksville.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Linda Riddle of Rowlett and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Riddle of Lafayette Hill, Pennsylvania. He is the grandson of Mr. Elmer McGaha of Cordell, formerly of Dill City, OK, the late Mrs. Eula Mae McGaha of Dill City and Mr. and Mrs. James Riddle, also of Dill City.

The small, intimate ceremony took place in the formal parlor of the home. The fireplace mantle was decorated with candles, ivory tulle and English ivy. Centered before the ornately draped bay windows was an archway entwined with ivory ribbons and tulle, English ivy and baby's breath. The archway was flanked by two tall branched candelabra decorated in the manner of the archway, holding ivory tapers.

Large ivory wicker Victorian baskets filled with vibrant spring shades of gladiolas, lilies, roses and baby's breath were placed in front of the candelabra. The seating for the immediate families was marked with large bows of ivory tulle. The parlor, foyer and dining room were decorated with candles and floral arrangements in the bride's chosen colors of ivory, pale pink, hunter green and gold, all with accents of Victorian angels, fans and shawls.

Classical piano selections, including "Cannon in D" by Pachelbel, and the traditional processional and recessional wedding marches were presented by Ms. Linda Moon, pianist and vocalist of Dallas. "The Wedding Song," a taped instrumental by Kenny G, was played as Matthew Sheppard, brother of the bride, lit the candles. Vocal selections preceding the wedding vows included a reading from the Book of Genesis, recorded by the father of the bride; and "The Wedding Song (There is Love)" sung by Ms. Moon. During the ceremony, Ms. Moon also sang "This Day" by Point of Grace.

Laura Dial of Clarksville, cousin of the bride, gowned in a tea length dress of white lace over pale pink satin with puffed sleeves, fitted bodice and full skirt, presided at the guest register. Head usher was Preston Berryhill of Irving, cousin of the bride, assisted by her brothers, Benjamin Sheppard and Matthew Sheppard, both of Commerce. As the mothers of the couple were escorted into the parlor, each mother lit a single ivory taper.

Rebecca descended the English ivy entwined stairway and entered the parlor, escorted by her father. She was given in marriage by her parents,

The bride wore a floor length gown of ivory Italian satin completely overlaid with ivory lace, featuring Princess styling, a Sweetheart neckline and a V back neckline. The Empire waistline was enhanced with a double band of Italian satin and the bell skirt flowed gracefully into a chapel length train.

Her short petal sleeves of beaded lace were sheer. The entire lace overlay was embellished with clusters of pearls and clear sequins. Outlining the neckline, sleeves and bodice were appliques of Venice lace, heavily beaded with pearls and clear sequins. An additional border of Venice lace accented the hem of the skirt and the chapel length train. The gown was designed by Pallas Athena for Venus Bridals of San Gabriel, CA.

To adorn her hair, the bride chose a matching tiara of ivory satin rosebuds, pearl sprays and Venice lace appliques beaded with pearls, iridescent sequins and clear bugle beads. Completing the headpiece was a triple tiered fingertip veil of ivory illusion. She wore a strand of ivory pearls and matching earrings and an heirloom Victorian button bracelet, a gift of the bridegroom.

She carried a small Bible and a fresh Victorian cascade of blush white roses, baby's breath and trailing English ivy, accented with gold ribbon loops and ivory picot and lace ribbons. She also wore the traditional something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue and a sixpence in her satin slipper, placed there by her father.

Karyn Rawlings, the bride's future sister in law of Bullard, attended the bride as her maid of honor. Her bridesmaid was Cynthia Sheppard, her sister in law of Commerce. Each attendant wore a floor length gown of ice pink satin backed crepe, designed with a column silhouette, a rounded neckline and short sleeves.

The Empire waist was accented with an ice pink satin sash, which formed a bow with long streamers down the back. Each attendant carried a fresh Victorian nosegay of blush white alstermeria, pale pink carnations and ivory baby's breath with gold ribbons and ivory lace streamers.

Courtny Myrick of Mount Pleasant served as the flower girl. She wore a tea length Princess style gown of hunter green cotton batiste, trimmed with appliques of pale pink rosebuds and triple rows of ivory lace at the square neckline, elbow length sleeves and full hem. Her wide sash of ivory organza formed a large bow with streamers in the back. In her hair, she wore a matching headpiece of hunter green ribbons, pale pink rosebuds and ivory lace. She carried an ivory basket of fresh pink rose petals.

Scott Riddle of Rowlett attended his brother as best man. The bride's brother, Ben Sheppard, attended as groomsmen. Bradley Riddle, brother of the groom, served as ringbearer, and carried an ivory satin ring pillow with a cover of Victorian lace, crocheted by the bride's mother.

The groom was attired in a daytime costume of a black cutaway coat, black vest, grey trousers, ivory shirt, a grey and ivory paisley ascot tie and a blush white rose boutonniere. The other gentlemen in the wedding party, including young Bradley, were similarly attired in black cutaway coats, grey trousers, ivory shirts and ivory paisley brocade vests with matching bow ties and pink rose or white carnation boutonnieres.

After repeating their vows, Eric and Rebecca lit an ivory pillar unity candle bound with a Victorian wedding certificate. As the candle was lit, "I Will Be Here," recorded by Steven Curtis Chapman, was played. After Rev. Boyd's benediction, they each presented their mothers in law with a single, long stemmed pink rose as the recessional music began to play.

Following the ceremony, the parents of the bride hosted a reception in the dining room of the home. Members of the houseparty included Heather Adkins of Irving, cousin of the bride and Sarah and Emily McGaha of Papillon, Nebraska, cousins of the groom. Each wore a spring daytime dress. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with ornate frosting, Victorian cherubs, and fresh blush white roses, alstermeria, baby's breath and English ivy, which cascaded from the top and encircled the bottom of the cake. The German chocolate groom's cake was decorated with fresh fruits and cheeses, fruit punch and coffee were served to approximately 50 guests.

After the reception, the couple left from the front lawn of the Bonner-Whitaker-McClendon House, where the driveway was lined with ivory ribbons and bows. They departed in their wedding attire, in a flower bedecked white leather carriage, drawn by a white horse. The carriage traveled through the Azalea Trails in Tyler and carried the couple to Charnwood Hill, a bed and breakfast mansion in the historic district of downtown Tyler.

Following the wedding rehearsal on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Riddle hosted the rehearsal dinner at the Mardi Gras Restaurant in Tyler. Selections from the New Orleans style menu were served to approximately twenty five guests.

The couple was also honored with several pre nuptial events. A miscellaneous bridal shower for the couple was hosted in the Fellowship Hall by the Ladies of College Avenue Baptist Church in Clarksville. The bride was further honored by her attendants with a surprise luncheon and personal shower at the M.A. Sims Restaurant in Tyler and two additional surprise showers were given by her friends and co workers in Lufkin and Beaumont.

The bride is employed by the State of Texas as a Child Protective Services Specialist in Lufkin. She is a December 1995 graduate of East Texas State University with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Guidance and Counseling. Mr. Riddle is employed by the Crown Colony Country Club in Lufkin, and he is completing his Bachelor Degree in Accounting at Stephen F. Austin State University in Nacogdoches, where he is a senior. Following a brief wedding trip, the couple is at home at The Colony, in Lufkin. Rev. Boyd's benediction, they each presented their mothers in law with a single, long stemmed pink rose as the recessional music began to play.

Dead men don't always wear good suits

By Jack Dodd

The year was 1955. Ann and I had heard of the state of Wyoming for some time, but we had never lived in or visited this western area. Our company gave us a new Ford station wagon and Ann had given us a new baby girl just 5 weeks before we left for Big Piney, Wyoming.

I was to help on a gas compressor construction operation. This natural gas was found and dug and capped in the 30s and was waiting for us to put it in pipelines and send it to Salt Lake City and other large cities for use. Thus the reason for arriving in Big Piney, Wyoming in October of 1955. You get a lot of togetherness on a 5 day cross country trip, especially with a 2 year old and a 5 week old, but all went well and Denise gained weight on the trip.

Big Piney was a path for pioneers going to Oregon or further north in Wyoming and Yellowstone area. Piney, as it is called by natives, is on the Green River which is full of Green brown, cutthroat, native and rainbow trout. Piney is known as the "Icebox of the Nation." with regular winter temperatures down in the -30 degree -42 degree F, and always -20 degrees F. The tow years we were there it didn't freeze for 36 days in 1955 and 41 days in 1956 All of this plus an elevation of 6,800 feet. It's fine for a young man who enjoys hunting and fishing, but not so well with a wife and 2 young girls and a coal cook stove.

When we arrived we had a house already rented. A 1 bedroom log cabin across from the High School. The log cabin used to be a cattle winter station until the Millers moved it to town. Town-yes 146 people lived in Piney before the Texas and Oklahoma delegation moved in. We nearly moved out before we moved in. We voted Piney Democratic for the first time in its existence. The locals lost face with the big boys in Casper. Remember-the whole state only had about 800,000 people.

The log cabin was comfortable. A large living room with an oil stove fed by a 55 gallon drum outside. Dining table at one end with 4 small fluorescent light bulbs overhead. By the way, our electricity came from 2 portable generators in a 40' covered trailer on the edge of town. Bedroom was large, one double bed, Kristy's single bed and the baby bed all together. Kitchen was large, big storage cabinets. I mean a sack of flour and a sack of sugar wouldn't fill the pull outs. A big black talking cookstove. We used coal to fire the stove and circulate the water for hot water in the bathroom. No fire in the stove, no hot water. Bath was nice old time 4 legged tub, wash basin and commode and the talking stove discussing events with the hot water heater in the bathroom.

Piney is cattle country. The large local ranches like the Millers ran 8000 head, and the Judd family around 6000 head. Piney's closest neighbor town is Daniel "Home of the rendezvous" and Pinedale, the town farthest from a railroad in the U.S. Both a little larger than Piney but everyone went to Jackson Hole about a 2 hour drive north of Piney to have a few days off. At this time Jackson Hole had 1 hotel, right downtown by the door of deer antlers. To tell you how update Jackson Hole was then, there was 1 ski lift and Iskabibble was entertaining at the 1 hotel Iskabibble used to play trumpet with Kay Kaiser.

An old timer once told me Big Piney sorta leans off the north and a mite to the west of Wyoming. Now you know.

Piney had a 7 man football team.

They played their last game the last week we arrived. I noticed about an 18" dirt curb around the entire field. After the last game a water line was put in the field, filled to the top of the levee and the next day the kids had a skating rink for the next 8 months.

Back at this time California people had not found Piney for hunting as they now have. There were mule deer, antelope, moose, etc. All that your heart could hold. Hunting and fishing were excellent, but's that's a whole new story.

Speaking of story, I'd better get to the story but you need to know the surroundings before you can appreciate the story. Helen and Frank Tanner owned the local mercantile store and Tanner was also the undertaker. With a population of 146 people you can see why an undertaker needs a second job. The Tanners were real pioneer stock and loved their Wyoming living. Helen was sweet, but Tanner could be a bit mischievous, to say the least.

Well, one day Tanner called the deputy in Piney and said he needed the deputy, Red Wilkerson (Also the town freight man) to go with him up in the Green River range of mountains to check on a family death. Now, this family consisted of 1 bearded old man, his quiet wife and two sons. Tanner had heard one of the sons had died and it was Tanner's job to see that the boy was buried immediately or be embalmed. This was about mid November and snow was already getting deep in the mountains and the rabbits were changing colors. Those big old jack rabbits or snow shoes as they call them are funny looking with some white and some brown. They change colors to solid white in the winter to brown in the short summer.

The two, Tanner and Red set out early one morning since the pioneer family lived way up in the mountains. I only saw the old man one time in 2 years when he came down for groceries. The rest of the time he and the boys were trapping and selling hides. They had their pickup and horse trailer with horses They drove for miles up in the mountains until the snow got too deep to continue by pickup. Out came the horses and Tanner and Red rode for another long time to the cabin. Sure enough, in the back of the cabin lay the younger son dead. Been dead for 5 days, but it seems Maw wouldn't let Paw and the other brother bury him. He had on a long gown and his boots.

Tanner explained he had to take the boy back with him and embalm his and return him for burial. State law. Tanner and Red tied the boy across Tanner's horse, since Tanner was about 50 pounds lighter than Red and down they went to the pickup and town just as dark set in. It was really starting to get cold about this time. I remember seeing 2 small rabbits pushing a large horsehoe rabbit trying to get him started.

Tanner completed the boy and he and Red took the boy back home with instructions to bury this boy in 3 days. As in most states if the family couldn't afford a suit, tie and shirt the state will. The young man looked nice in the new suit and old boots that Tanner had put back on him. Maw agreed to bury the boy within the prescribed time and off the mountains came Tanner and Red.

I asked an old timer what they did in Piney during the summer and he told me, "Last year it came on August 2, and we went on a picnic. The colors are beautiful in the fall. Ann, the girls and I went to Salt Lake City in October of 1956 and everything was so pretty in colors, without thinking I took about a half a dozen pictures in black and white. Now that's pretty. One of the families in Piney had to send their father to a nursing home in Kenner, Wyoming. We visited him one day and this is about as close as I can remember what he told me. "They treats me fine, but they just don't understand that you can't separate a cowpoke, young or old from his boots and saddle without making him feel kinda lonesome like and scairt".

Tanner got Red one more time to go with him to see that the boy was buried. Red objected but Tanner insisted. He didn't trust maw. So they loaded up and away they went to the cabin in the mountains. It took a very long time because the snow was deep. Sure enough there lay the younger brother in his pine box casket in the back of the cabin. Tanner says we are burying the boy right now.. Well, the old man and the son had already dug the hole. They just couldn't get the body past Maw. Maw says in one hour. So in one hour everything was ready. Maw and Paw came out dressed as good as they could and Tanner and Red carried the casket. Marching behind everyone was the other brother in a new suit, shirt and tie. Tanner was restrained by Red and finally they laid the brother to rest in his white flannel gown and boots. Paw said he needs the clothing more than the other Jo-Tanner and Red had a lot to talk about on the way back to Piney. Such is life on the Green at Big Piney, Wyoming. The Icebox of the nation over 40 years ago.

New route planned for run for arts

A new route has been planned for the Run of the Arts, a division of the 35th Annual Paris Art Fair, according to Rhonda Hill, race director.

The Run of Arts, sponsored by the YWCA of Paris and Lamar County, features a 10K and 5K run and a two mile walk. The route was redesigned so that it would be in the same vicinity as the Art Fair, which has been moved to the area around the downtown plaza this year.

The run will begin and end at Market Square, and will proceed to Jefferson Road adjacent to Evergreen Cemetery. The walk will begin and end at Market Square, and will cover a good portion of the downtown area.

Race times on May 18 are 8:15 a.m. for the 10K, 8:20 for the 5K and 8:25 for the walk. Registration and check-in will be from 7:15 a.m. until 7:45 and an aerobic warm-up will be held at 7:45.

All runners receive a T shirt to commemorate their participation. Children 10 years and under will receive a medallion on a drape to be pinned on clothing. Trophies will be awarded to the first three females and the first three male overall winners for each race. Medallions will be awarded to the first two male and first two female finishers in each age category. There will be no duplication of winning trophies and medallions..

For the 10K and 5K runs, participants may enter in the age categories of 0-14, 15-22, 23-29, 30-39, 40-49 or 50 and over.

Pre-registration for the Run for the Arts is $8 for all participants age 10 and under and $10 for participants age 11 and over. Registration must be received by May 10. A two dollar fee will be added to late registration at the time of the race for all ages.

Phone the YWCA at 785-5221 to register, to order a Run for the Arts brochure or for more information.

May IS BETTER HEARING MONTH

Some of the greatest joys in life come from our sense of hearing: Conversations with family and friends; Listening to a ball game; The laughter of grandchildren. These are the greatest sounds of life. If you feel your hearing may have slipped from where it used to be, make a point this month to have it tested. It's as easy as having your eyes checked. For a free brochure on better hearing, write to Better Hearing, Texas Hearing Aid Association, 222 North Riverside Drive, Fort Worth, TX 76111.

Rosalie Barbecue Planned

By Jack Dodd

The Rosalie Community Center Barbecue will be held Saturday, May 11 from 4:30 p.m. until 7:00 p.m. Now this is the good part, Jimmy Puckett's brisket. Well, nearly all Jimmy's brisket. Eight of them are being prepared by the Dennys and Ragsdills. There will be salads, beans, cornbread, tea and a table full of cakes and pies. All this for $5.00 and kiddos eat for $3.00. Serving starts around 4:30 p.m. and goes until about 7:00 p.m.

We have had some expenses lately such as the new 300 gallon water tank for the fire truck. This is now com plete. Also we now have hot water in the kitchen. You talk about being up to date!

Saturday, May 11, we are going to clean the place up, rest and then try to eat up 20 briskets with all the trimmings. Those of us in and around Rosalie enjoy getting together for fellowship and good eating. So come on to our community and join in. You just may have a good time along with your good food.

Regular meeting of Rosalie Community Center and VFD Organization is June 14. VFD Meeting is at 6 p.m. prior to regular meeting. Join us.

Saturday is Rosalie Clean-up day

By Jack Dodd

Rosalie will be a busy place Saturday, May 11. First thing everyone meets at the community Center who plan to patrol Highway 909. We will meet at 8:30 and patrol for trash until 10:00. We cannot do it all in the one and one half hours but we can get a good start. All ladies and men will meet at 8:30 and get our marching orders. Sacks will be furnished but if you have a pole with a nail in one end, bring it, it saves the back.

The trash trailer is still parked at the Rosalie Community Center for your trash, not garbage. We have already hauled off at least one load and are working on another.

Bogata Methodist Youth enjoy camp-out

On Friday night, May 3, 32 youth and adults enjoyed a camp out in Cuthand at Doyle and Bettye Williams' place. Tents were set up along the bank of the pool. Until dark the young people rode the trolley over the pool and jumped into the water. Dark came too soon for most of the youth. weiner roast with all the trimmings served as supper! The group sat around the camp fire for a couple of hours and sang. Music (guitars) was provided by Donna Jo and Stanley Jesse and Jim Purviance. Several youth stayed up all night. A big breakfast which consisted of eggs, sausage, bacon, gravy, homemade biscuits, butter, milk and juice was served Saturday morning. Everyone enjoyed the country air and the fellowship.

were Doug, Kathy, Brandon and Kevin Williams, Kenda Guess, Bryan Miller, Stephen and Brian Cannon, Daniel Ray, Bonnie Phillips, Brooke Belcher, Essie and Anna Reeves, Donna Harrison, John White, Jill and Alison Foster and Sissy Meredith. Cuthand youth and adults were: Bettye and Doyle Williams, Jim Purviance, Donna Jo, Stanley, Trevor and Jessica Jesse, Valree and Crystal Williams, Craig Eudy, Rebecca Stewart, Jason Thomas, Billie Ann Hammonds and Cassie Cannon.

Methodist Youth Fellowship is a group of junior and senior high youth who meet every Sunday night in the Bogata Fellowship hall. If you do not have a church home you are welcome to come and have fellowship and worship with this group.

Mosaic study group meets

The Mosaic study group of the WMW of First Baptist Church of Bogata met May 7 in the church library.

Mary Ann Ward opened the meeting with a discussion of having meetings all summer. There will be a salad luncheon at the park next month, June 4.

Mary Ann Ward opened the program with prayer. Rose Mary Swinford was in charge of the program, "As You Go". Those on the program were Mary Ann Ward, Frances Lee, Angela Rose, Julia Davidson and Peggy Watts. Each one present had a part in the prayer calendar presentation.

Angela Rose closed the meeting with prayer.

Bogata Lions meet

The Bogata Lions Club met Thursday, May 2 at the Bogata Community Center.

The pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Kenneth Vickers. The invocation was given by Dr. Robert White.

The meeting was called to order by Club President, Coy Coker. The meal was prepared by Shirley Vickers.

A discussion was held concerning making the restrooms in the center wheelchair accessible.

Mayor Mildred Eudy brought a project to the body. The Chamber of Commerce had asked for a welcome stop for some cross-country bikers to be available at Bogata. They needed snacks and then a full meal served to them. This was not accepted since there are not enough people to help get the job done. Another Bogata group will handle the project.

The next meeting will be May 16.

The most silent people are generally those who think most highly of themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Screws spent the weekend in Van Alstyne visiting in the home of Jim and Mary Stewart.

Visiting with Dora Thompson last weekend were Dr. and Mrs. Jim Spalding and Inez Freeman. The Spaldings were on their way back home to Oklahoma City after spending the winter in Brownsville. Both Mrs. Freeman and Mrs. Spalding are nieces of Mrs. Thompson's.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Screws and Kelly Davis spent the weekend in Lake Charles, Louisiana visiting with Kelly's fiancé, Jaime Cortez.

Gale Hines is visiting her mother, Opal English this week.

Visiting from Cisco with his sister Dixie Stringfellow and other relatives is Kenneth York.

Dixie Stringfellow attended a fish fry at the home of Grady and Nadine

Rhodes in Johntown Friday night. Attending other than Dixie were Tommy Dee and Ruth Anderson, Tommy Wayne Anderson and his friend, Shannon, Jerry Lynn, Diane, Clayton and Colleen Anderson and James Don and Scott White, all from Mount Pleasant, Tim and Jeanne and Bralon Thompson from Sugar Hill, David and Kathy Anderson of New York City, Jerry Alfred Rhodes of Clarksville, Kenneth York of Cisco, Carol and Charlie Riggs, Pat White, Lucille Childers, Doug and Robbie Hawkins, Mark Hawkins and Crystal and Chad Webb all of Johntown, M.J. and Edna Earl Dodd and Dinia, Bobby and Brittany Littrell, all of Bogata. At Nadine's request, Mark and Robbie Hawkins sang some good old gospel music.

RRC Genealogical Society to meet

Everyone is invited to attend the regular monthly meeting of the Red River County Genealogical Society on Monday evening, May 13 at 7:30 in the Red River County Library. The speaker for this month will be Betsy Mills of Paris, who has published a book entitled, "Loose Leaves of Lamar County". It is a compilation of newspaper articles written by Ed. H. McCuiston many years ago. The stories deal with the history of Lamar County, beginning with its creation in 1840. All persons interested in researching their family history are encouraged to come and enjoy the program.

FEEDERS-Rivercrest Ag. teacher, Jimmy Rogers displays feeders built by students this year. There are two different sizes and will be sold at the auction on Saturday May 11 at the school. (Staff Photo Nancy Brown)

Acting Postmaster is moving on

To the Bogata Newspaper:
I was Postmaster of Bagwell for two years, and I have been acting Postmaster of Bogata Post Office in the recent months. I would like to make this comment: "I just want to say "thanks" to the wonderful people of Bogata, and a special "thanks" to the great employees I have had the pleasure of working with Carol Sessums, Paul Marr, Elaine Townes and Vicki Tabó, as well as the gentlemen who brought the mail to the Post Office."
Everyone has been friendly, and helpful and really made me feel at home while I have been here. I am going to miss everyone. I was made to feel a part of the community and the Post Office the short time I have been here."

While working in Bogata, I was promoted to Postmaster at the Sumner Post Office. "I will always remember the people of Bogata and the wonderful employees I worked with. The new Postmaster of Bogata will be fortunate indeed to be here with you. Thanks again for allowing me to serve as your temporary Postmaster. Jessie Owens

PJC offers seminar on financial accounting for public schools

Paris Junior College will offer a seminar concerning new financial accounting standards for public schools. The seminar will be held from 8 AM to 5 PM on Tuesday, May 16.

The standard financial accounting systems for Texas public schools was redesigned by Deloitte & Touche, an international accounting and consulting firm, under a project funded by the 73rd legislature. The program will be implemented for the fiscal year beginning September 1, 1996. Thomas Canby, instructor, will cover the contrasts and changes between the old and new systems. To register for the seminar, contact the Continuing Education Department by calling (903) 784-9445 or (903) 784-9447.
