Rotarians Hear County Agent

Haskell Rotary Club members and guests met at the City Cafe at noon, Thursday, January 2nd, for their regular weekly luncheon meeting. President Ferrell Coston presided for the first meeting of the new year.

Program chairman, C. A. Thomas, provided a most timely and educational program in his presentation of County Agent Max Stapleton and FFA Instructor Duane Gilly of Haskell High School. Both speakers devoted their allotted time to informing those present of the work their respective departments were doing in the fields of animal husbandry, Agriculture and Home Demonstration work.

Speaking first was Max Stapleton, County Agent, who stated that some 250 boys and girls in Haskell County were participating in approximately 75 projects. He advised that there are 150 agricultural projects available for interested boys and girls and that they made fourteen local and district shows with some contestants going on to state and National level. Melissa Roberson and Rod Townsend were both honored in 1974 by receiving Gold Star Awards. The County agent also told of the new state 4-H Center under construction at Brownwood, Texas.

FFA instructor Duane Gilly, the second speaker, stressed that their projects and goals were similar to those of the Agents department and that the two organizations worked very closely together in their efforts to teach boys and girls better methods of farming, ranching and Home Making. One Haskell county youth received a $4000 scholarship grant and one a $700 grant, which speaks well of the type of instruction they are receiving.

The invocation for the meeting was given by Bob Brown and the song session led by H. V. Woodard with Joan Dean providing accompaniment. Guests were introduced by Rotarian E. J. Stewart. They were Kenneth Stewart of Colorado and Albert David, District Manager of the Lone Star Gas Co., guest of local manager Curtis Jennings.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... It is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying. Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!

GREAT PLAINS CONSERVATION PROGRAM

The backlog of unserviced application for assistance under the GPCP, nation-wide, stands at about 6000. Haskell County has 13 unserviced applications for assistance. About 40,000 contracts have been signed to date, nation-wide. Haskell County has had 144 GP Contracts throughout the program. 24 active contracts remain in force.

Four contracts expired this past week after completing all needed conservation work. Contracts expired were with E. B. Cathey of Grand Prairie-447 acres; R. V. Earles of Paint Creek-475 acres; Dan LeFevre of Stamford-216 acres; and Fred Kupatt of Sagerton-290 acres. Dale Middlebrook's contract expired on June 30th and consisted of 363 acres.

These five contracts averaged 5 years and 1 month in length of time to accomplish the desired conservation stabilization of the unit. A total of $38,489 of federal cost-shares were paid, an average of $7698 per contract.

A total of 413,181 feet of parallel terraces were constructed along with 2162 feet of level standard terraces and 2454 feet of diversion terraces. 85 acres of mesquite brush was controlled along with 85 acres of seeding for improvement of vegetative cover. 30.5 acres of grassed waterways were established. 8 acres of pasture and 10 acres of critical area were established to Coastal Bermuda.

In addition to the cost-shared practices installed, these producers established 1470 acres of conservation cropping systems adapted to suit their individual land which included the proper management of crop residues and contour farming.

Pasture management of introduced species and proper grazing use of native rangeland was established on 232 acres including the practice of deferred grazing.

One contract established 51 acres of recreation land which included both commercial and non-commercial recreational enterprises.

A total of 45 acres were converted from cropland to grassland, and the total acreage of 1791 acres has been adequately treated to meet all conservation problems first encountered.

For 1975, contracts have been prepared on lands owned and operated by Duward Campbell of Haskell-365 acres and Guy Denson of Stamford-399 acres. If funds are available contracts will be prepared on John L. Grand-466 acres, and Wayne Plemister-300 acres.

You Eat, You're Involved in the Energy Crisis

Popular bumper sticker "If you eat, you are involved in agriculture." An apt one could be "If you eat, you are involved in the energy crisis." Petroleum is essential for food production. It's converted into fertilizers and used for agricultural machinery, pumping irrigation water, processing raw food products and distributing the final food products.

In the past couple of years, Americans have started to feel the effects of worldwide food shortages. Food and feed grain surpluses disappeared and meat prices soared. Flour increased in price as did sugar, pinto beans, potatoes, rice, and nearly everything else we eat.

Widespread crop failures, or shortages in the world, caused increased demand for food at the same time petroleum prices were radically increased, which drove up food and fiber production costs. Added pressure on food supplies came from growing populations in most countries combined with an upgrading of diets in the developing countries that enjoy increased prosperity.

The result has been that we have all been forced to bid higher and higher prices for a share of the dwindling total supply of food. Many people in other countries, unable to pay the higher price of food, have been forced to eat less, or in many cases, starve.

Energy needs for Texas agricultural production are being studied by scientists with the Experiment Station. Their findings show that energy use for food production must increase even if maximum conservation measures are used. More food must be produced to meet demands of an increasing population, and this additional output will require more energy. According to station scientists, Dr. Wayne LePori and Dr. C. G. Coble, conservation methods for agriculture have been identified which could reduce energy used for food production by about 15 percent. But such savings will not be enough to meet the needs to produce more food.

Their findings also show that more than half of the present energy used in Texas for food production, is used in the form of natural gas. This is the same fuel which is used for home heating and for generating about 98 percent of the electricity in Texas. Conserving this common pool of energy is essential to all of us. It's in short supply.

If enough food is to be produced, agriculture must have its energy supplies, and your conservation efforts will help assure this. It's obvious that if voluntary conservation measures do not stretch our supplies enough, compulsory measures along with allocations will be initiated.

Energy wasted now by running heaters or air conditioners at wasteful settings, or driving too fast, may exhaust future energy supplies and result in widespread hunger in the years to come.

The U. S. has been importing more and more petroleum to meet our demands since we are not producing enough in the U. S. More than a third of the petroleum we use is imported at a cost of billions of dollars each year. Texas has been exporting energy to the rest of the nation, but projections indicate that in about ten years, Texas won't produce enough to meet its own needs.

The interdependence of food production and availability of energy was evident in the study by TAES scientists, LePori says. Until new sources of energy can be found, everyone needs to be conservation conscious and follow those measures which stretch our common pool of energy.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams

AUSTIN, Tex.—While the legislature is getting set for action and inaugural activities are being planned, Gov. Dolph Briscoe is faced with hundreds of important decisions on fitting the right men (and women) into jobs.

Within the first two months of the year, he must make appointments or reappointments to about 600 board, agency and commission places where terms of members are expiring.

Before 1975 is over, he will have placed more than 1,700 people in major and minor jobs.

During his four-year term, he will make enough such appointments to "control" every appointive state agency. That is to say, the people he selects will be in a majority of seats on the regulatory, licensing and administrative bodies.

Nearly all the gubernatorial appointments are subject to confirmation by the State Senate.

Three University of Texas system board of regents members will come to the end of their present terms January 13, the most controversial of the three, Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin, has stated he does not seek another term. Jenkins Garrett of Fort Worth and Dan C. Williams of Dallas also face expiring terms.

State Highway Commissioner D. C. Greer's term expires February 15. Briscoe has stated he will reappoint Joe Christie chairman of the State Insurance Board January 31.

Other agencies with power reaching into all segments of economic life of the state have vacancies coming up which Briscoe will fill early this year.

SUPERPORT URGED—Governor Briscoe and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby jointly urged public bodies and private interests to apply immediately to build a $400 million offshore terminal in Texas Gulf waters.

But both officials said they are opposed to state ownership of so-called superport facilities designed to receive and off-load oil imported in huge tankers.

Their statement dealt a perhaps-fatal blow to possibility of a state-financed superport. The Texas Offshore Terminal Commission by a five to four vote had recommended state ownership and control of an estimated $1.4 billion profit operation over a 30-year span.

The two officials lauded new federal legislation establishing a licensing procedure for the offshore facilities. They said they will cooperate fully with license applicants when assurances are provided that the coastal environment is not jeopardized. The federal act allows states to retain veto power of facilities, requires a $20 million bond to protect the environment and makes port owners and ships liable for up to $50 million in damages.

legislators already have indicated they will offer bills to provide for selection of Texas presidential and vice presidential nominating delegates in a May primary. They feel the time is ripe to make the change, and note polls indicate support for preference primaries.

INVESTMENTS HURT—State investments in stock, like those of individuals, are taking a beating, at least on paper.

If state-owned stocks in the major Texas investment funds had to be dumped at today's market values, losses could be half a billion dollars.

However, the officials who manage these funds emphasize they are under no pressure to cash in the chips, and that they will ride out the market plunge without ill effects overall.

TOURISM STILL HEALTHY—There were fewer tourists in 1974, but those who came stayed longer, spent more and drove over Texas only slightly less extensively.

Only 12 of 50 reporting tourist attractions actually had more business last year than the year before.

More Texans vacationed within their home state in 1974, which helped offset the reduced number of out-of-state visitors.

SHORT SHORTS

A legislative committee recommended establishment of a Commission on jail standards with authority to close sub-standard jails.

Governor Briscoe reappointed B. F. Block of Amarillo and Murray D. McKinley Sr. of Pearsall to the Texas Water Well Drillers Board, and named Tommy C. Bussell of Houston and James Taylor Virdell of Llano to the same board.

Nearly 95 per cent of all housing units sold in Texas for under $15,000 are mobile homes.

Establishment of a State Employees Personnel Agency received gubernatorial endorsement.

Richard W. Hernandez of Houston and Lynn M. Moak of Austin are new assistant state comptrollers for inter-governmental relations and program evaluation and research.

COURTS SPEAK—The State Supreme Court upheld validity of a corporation franchise tax surcharge attacked by six corporations in spite of erroneous dates named in the legislation for reporting financial data on which the levy is based.

The High Court in another case, concluded a school teacher fired temporarily while running for county commissioner must go through administrative channels before suing Pharr-San Juan-Alamo School district for $107,800 in damages.

A $48,866 award to a Galveston County youth hit while "playing" in front of a car was upheld in another Supreme Court case involving whether a lawyer hinted the motorist's insurance policy was limited to a $100,000 payment.

NEW PRIMARY PUSHED—A strong push for establishment of a Texas presidential preference primary in 1976 (and thereafter) is anticipated in the legislature this year.

Some writers have sought to link it with the White House aspirations of U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen. The senator is expected to announce his candidacy soon, and, of course, wants to make a strong showing in his home state. Opinion is divided as to whether he could win more delegates in a primary or the traditional convention system.

AG OPINIONS—Contributions to the Austin Inaugural Committee for paying expenses of inauguration ceremonies are not subject to campaign reporting provisions of the election code, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

Hill's opinion concluded the persons or corporations who make them do not have to register as lobbyists either, unless their contributions were made "to influence legislation."

On another recent opinion, Hill held Texas veterans are entitled to exemption from tuition and fees when enrolling in University of Texas extension division courses. The same opinion found qualified students in the extension division are also eligible for assistance loans.

DANGEROUS PLANT EXPANDING—Hydrilla, an aquatic plant capable of choking waterways, has been discovered in three locations in Texas.

The plant was first found in Lake Livingston, later at the San Marcos fish hatchery on the San Marcos River and then in a Cameron County irrigation canal south of Los Fresnos.

Are Natural Gas Curtailments Going To Affect Me?

During cold days in the winter when the demand for natural gas is really high, some industrial users are asked to cut back their consumption of natural gas. But we want to assure our residential and other high priority customers that it's highly unlikely their natural gas service will be interrupted.

The pipelines used to deliver natural gas can only hold so much gas. And during extremely cold winter days, there's sometimes more demand than we can supply. Some people ask, "Why not build bigger pipelines?" But that would be like building a church for the Easter or Christmas attendance, rather than the weekly congregation. The cost would be tremendous and gas rates would be much higher.

Instead we developed a "curtailment" program many years ago. Our industrial customers have signed contracts agreeing to "curtail" their use of natural gas during these peak times.

If you were considering replacing an existing gas appliance or purchasing a new one, be assured that Lone Star can provide the energy. We have the natural gas, and our residential and other high priority customers may continue to rely on Lone Star's dependable service now as in the past.
