It'll be the Hall of the Living Dead...again

Well, the time has come, and I'm grateful for only one thing. I'm a bi-ped, not a quadruped!

If you lost me on that one, I'm not surprised. This is the week I go back to the hospital for five day of joyous fun and games and a right knee replacement. I think I'm doing this so that my scars will be matched. Obviously, it looks strange to have a long scar on one knee and not on the other. And I'm so fashion conscious, as everyone who knows me will testify. (That's sarcasm, folks).

No, I knew when I had the left knee done that the right one needed replacing too. I couldn't have both done at once because of my back. So, the five months have flown by on swift wings and it's time to go through it again.

What do I dread about this? Perhaps you think it is the pain? Well, yes, but not foremost. Three months rehab? Definitely, but not foremost.

I dread that five or six day hospital stay. I dread having people walk out and leave the door open so that I become a zoo specimen on display for anyone walking down the hall.

I especially dread the "Night of the Living Dead" re-enactment that we all must do. That's when you are stumbling down the hospital corridor, IV walker, drainage pumps and assorted other disgusting accessories to your outfit swinging off the walker as you limp along, dressed in those lovely gowns and a robe that absolutely doesn't cover everything that needs covering! As we pass one another we are quite a sight, knee replacements, shoulder surgeries, foot surgeries, we stumble along like a scene from the old movie "Night of the Living Dead" while some chirpy, perky therapist keeps up a running patter about how we must push on and be upbeat.

I am upbeat. I know this surgery will make my life even better. They set a task for me to do, I'll darn well do it. But don't treat me like a three year old who needs coaxing.

Meanwhile, visitors must thread their way through us, staring at our various injuries, staples and stitches and heaven only knows what else!

Finally we are all allowed back into our rooms, where we collapse in exhaustion, perhaps to be fed with a tray full of dubious food like some tame creature in a cage. After about the fourth day we even become conditioned to the sound of the food cart rumbling down the hall. The food may be awful, but it's the only food we're getting, and besides, it's a break in the dreary day whose only other entertainment is being strapped into a machine which will move the new knee back and forth, back and forth. Of course, one cannot read, embroider or paint flat on one's back. That leaves television, and I don't watch daytime TV at all!

So, here I go, dreading the things that in reality matter the least. Oh well, I've told my husband and cousin that the next time we go on a trip they better not expect to go to bed a 9:30 at night...I'm staying up and stepping out!

Major bust harvests 695 marijuana plants

On Monday, August 16, the Red River County Sheriff's Department pulled up 695 marijuana plants in a bust that occurred north of Clarksville.

Sheriff Bob Edrington, Investigator Larry Spangler and Constable Tim Shimpock participated in the operation.

To date, this is the largest single crop of marijuana found in Red River County this year.

According to Sheriff Edrington, based on the Texas Narcotic Control's method of establishing street value for the 695 plants, the street value was given at approximately $1,123,815.00.

Sheriff Edrington reported that arrests are pending and the investigation is ongoing.

Herrington to speak at Lions meeting

Jack Herrington, Red River County Attorney, will be special guest at the Bogata Lions Club meeting on August 19 at 7 p.m.

Topic for the meeting will be capital punishment and related issues.

The Bogata Police Department will also be guests at the meeting.

All members are encouraged to attend.

Bogata council has lengthy meeting

The Bogata City Council met in a marathon four-hour session on August 16, the regular monthly session having been postponed from the previous Monday. All members were present and some twenty-five representatives of the public attended.

Marked by lively disagreement, the session began with contention over an item normally routine: the minutes of the previous regular session. Councilmen Harbison and Crane remembered the decision to hire a new policeman as having been contingent on the understanding that the policeman's salary would be covered by the federal "COPS" grant. Police Chief Clegg stated that the hiring was consistent with the grant, which required the City maintain its prior level of police funding, only if the salary were paid from local funds. There having been no recording of the proceedings, the Council voted to approve the minutes except for the disputed item, which would be examined at the Budget Workshop scheduled for August 24.

Administrative items on the agenda and both Old and New Business were debated and voted on.

The proposed 1/2 cent increase in city sales tax occasioned warm debate over use to be made of the expected increase in revenue, some $20,000 per year. Councilpersons Crane and Osborne favored use of the money for economic development. Councilpersons Harbison and Kennedy favored use of the money for strengthening police capabilities. When the issue was put to a vote, Councilman Spencer abstained and Mayor Garretson, after stating that he favored both purposes, cast the deciding vote in favor of using the increase for police reinforcement.

The scheduled presentation of HUD's viewpoint by Housing Authority administrator Donna Rozell was again postponed, it being expected that at next month's meeting general agreement on a compromise payment in lieu of taxes would be possible. The appearance of the council-retained accountant was also deferred.

After considering the matter in executive session, the council voted to pay grant-application specialist Ginger Hahn of Paris $11,000 for her services in preparing the COPS grant application, payment to be made from the law enforcement account.

A number of small, routine items of business were attended to, such as selling the old truck bed, and the '88 Ford dump truck and keeping the '88 Ford and Case backhoe.

Some discussion on city taxes and derelict property took place.

More items will be discussed at the Budget Hearing this coming Tuesday.

Budget proposal meeting held at Rivercrest

The Rivercrest Board of Trustees held a budget proposal meeting at Rivercrest High School auditorium on Monday, August 16, 1999 at 7:00 p.m. Board President, Eddie Brown called the meeting to order. The invocation was given by Nicky Brown and the program was turned over to Dr. Gary VanDeaver, Superintendent.

Dr. VanDeaver welcomed the 34 guests present and stated that it is an exciting and challenging time for the district with plans the new schools beginning. Dr. VanDeaver presented a film and gave explanations for the proposed budget. He began with the schools revenue or income showing where all money comes from and how much is there. He explained how each state program affects the school, such as, the ADA or Average Daily Attendance program. Funds from this program are based on the attendance of each student registered at Rivercrest, Talco or Bogata Schools. Good attendance means more state money. Monies received from Federal programs was reviewed also. He then explained expenditures or money spent for the schools in detail. M & O (maintenance and operation) monies such as the cost of transportation which is $220,444.00 per year were given along with all expenses for the school. The system has a total revenue of $4,743,765.00 and total expenditures of $4,861,644.00 which would leave the school in the red except for a $200,000.00 carry over.

Dr. VanDeaver explained that the state had over paid the school and the money will not be taken back but will be taken out partially over the next few years from future payments to the school. This overpayment was caught early and the money was put into savings in case it had to be paid back to the state in a lump sum. The amount helps to leave the books balanced and in the black.

Dr. VanDeaver then explained the proposed tax rate which must be proposed by August 20, 1999 and will be voted on for adoption in September. He reported property values are down another $3 million dollars due to the loss of the oil field tax. He stated that the school has come from a $220,000,000 value to the present $74,162,490.00 value. The 1999-2000 proposed tax is $1.44.78 per 100 dollars.

Dr. VanDeaver gave a New Facilities Overview. He reported on June 5, 1998 a bond election was held and passed by 10 votes.

A petition was filed. In December of 1998 a judge ruled for a $500,000 bond be put up by the contestants. The contestants appealed his ruling in the same month.

In May of 1999 the court ruled in the school's favor.

In July of 1999 the judge dismissed the case and at the end of the month the school sold $5.7 million in bonds to be paid over a 30 year period. The percentages are; EDA (Existing Debt Allotment) which will be paid by the state 27%; IFA (Instructional Facility Allotment) which will be paid by the state 32% and Local Property Tax will pay 41% per year.

Construction plans are for the spring or early summer of 2000. There are no set plans as of yet. There are many things to prepare before actual plans can be drawn up. Tentative plans are to construct an Elementary School first. When completed the Junior High students will be moved to Talco School because it can accommodate the number and it's condition is better. At the next Biennium the school will apply for the remaining $3.3 million to construct the new junior high building.

Only $5.7 million in bonds were sold to keep from over burdening the tax payers. Dr. VanDeaver said, "Although we can not predict the future we hope to see little or no break in construction of the schools". He also reported the school has contact TXU about purchasing 20 acres of land adjoining school property. The land will be used for possible expansion and to get dirt for the present building site. The dirt alone will save a large amount of money.

The floor was opened for questions answered by Dr. VanDeaver. Those asked were as follows:

Q. How much money per student per year does it cost to attend school in the district?

A. $6,681 per year.

Q. In the $3000.00 raise given by the state to teachers were there expenses taken out?

A. Yes. There is more Social Security, Unemployment and other expenses taken out.

Q. You do still have the money the state over paid?

A. Yes.

Q. What about the 5th grade students. Where will they be?

A. I myself and the board want to see the 5th grade remain with the elementary. It all depends on the type facility we are able to construct. Even if they must be left at Talco with the junior high for awhile they will eventually be returned to elementary.

Q. How much money was spent on lawyers by the school?

A. Between $51 and $52,000.

Q. How many square feet will be in the new facility?

A. We are not sure. The original amount was tentatively, 6,500. No plans have been drawn up and will not be until the financial situation is evaluated.

Q. How many Elementary students are there?

A. We maintain near or just over 500.

Q. With the Elementary building proposal are you looking at having a pre-school room or room for children with disabilities?

A. Again, there are no definite plans. The staff have been asked to give their in-put on the design of the building which will help greatly since they know what they need. I am not saying there will not be a pre-school or classroom for disabled children but we just are not sure. The financial side must be prepared first.

Q. Your saying there are no plans? How can that be?

A. Again the finances must be done first. It would be a waste of taxpayer money to pay and architect to draw up plans and then find out we can not afford them and have to pay for more plans to be drawn up.

Q. How long is the $5.7 million set up to be paid?

A. For 30 years.

Q. We are assured of the EDA and IFA money from the state?

A. Yes.

Q. Will the schools be on the present site and will they be designed to add on to?

A. Yes. Plus the purchase of 20 acres from TXU will assure more room in case of needed increases. Rivercrest was also built with increases in mind. The porches were set as possible hallways and that is why there are no more windows in the school than there are.

Q. Has the school been contacted about the new 4 lane highway?

A. No, not any more than anyone has. We know where the present right of way is and it will move the road closer to the present school. But, keep in mind the additional 20 acres will give added room for the school.

When questions ceased Board President, Eddie Brown called for a motion of adjournment. Mark Hare made the motion and Nicky Brown seconded. The meeting adjourned at 8:20 pm.

Following a short break the board reconvened. There was a unanimous vote to adopt the proposed budget; to propose the tax rate at M & O 1.23.78 and INS at 0.21 for a total of $1.44.78.

MABEL TROUTT gave two books to Bogata Mayor Mike Garretson to be kept for the City. The books are entitled "Book of Facts About Bogata 1932" and the other is "1932 Bogata Telephone Directory". Mabel is the daughter of longtime Bogata Mayor V. Thedford and Myrtle Lee Beauchamp Thedford. Both books were copied before being placed in the frame because they are both too fragile to be handled. Everyone is invited to go by City Hall and look through the copies. There are many interesting facts about the City in them.

Country Cooking

By Liz Irwin

<http://tpp.1starnet.com/>

No one could confuse German or Italian foods, even though the two countries are close neighbors with a long history of cultural interactions. Yet many Americans don't distinguish between the cuisine of Asian countries, lumping them altogether in one broad category. There are actually as many distinct and separate culinary traditions as there are similarities.

Asia is the world's largest continent with the largest variety of cooking styles. From the arid and cold mountains of Mongolia to the hot and humid low land of Southeast Asia. Asian cooks have developed a broad range of spices, flavors and dishes to suit their local environments.

But while the flavors and foods may vary from country to country, one constant in Asian cooking is the popularity of the grill.

The grill is a good choice for Americans looking to experiment with Asian cuisine because it uses the same grilling techniques, such as the spice rubs, marinades and dipping sauces that create the Asian flavor.

Foods are usually seasoned with either a marinade or a dry spice rub and grilled. The dishes are almost always served with a dipping sauce that complements or enhances the pre-grill seasonings.

It is very easy to impart Asian flavors to your favorite grilled foods. It can be as simple as dressing grilled vegetables with a bottled oyster sauce to evoke the flavors of China, or brushing baby back ribs with a Hoisin barbecue sauce. But first, you must familiarize yourself with the flavors of Asia. Check out the following:

Japanese food goes way beyond raw fish and rice. In addition to the familiar tempura, sushi and miso soup, the Japanese are avid grillers. They use a Hibachi grill. Traditionally, the food is seasoned with Japanese soy sauce, fresh ginger, dry sherry or mirin, garlic and sugar. Grilled fish, seafood, chicken, meat and vegetables are some of the specialties prepared over hot charcoal fire or on skewers on a gas grill. Grilled meats are often seasoned with ground sansho, a relative to the Szechwan peppercorns. This gives the dish the same warmth as black peppercorns, but with a slightly more floral flavor. The Japanese use a barbecue sauce called tonkatsu. It taste similar to a Western barbecues sauce because the predominant ingredients are Worcestershire sauce, tomato sauce, mustard and soy sauce.

In Korea, the most famous dish is the Bulgogi. This is paper-thin slices of beef marinated in ginger, garlic, soy sauce, scallions and sesame seeds. The tenderized beef is then grilled and served with a dipping sauce made from soy sauce, sesame oil, bean paste, rice wine, toasted sesame seeds, chili sauce, spring onion, garlic and sugar. Steamed rice always accompanies the main dish along with raw and cooked relishes. Kinchi is the famous fermented or pickled condiment that is served with most meals. It is made from cabbage, white radish and laced with chilies.

Typical seasonings used in Korean dishes are soy sauce, rice vinegar, sesame oil, toasted sesame seeds, sugar, ginger, garlic, red chilies and a host of pastes that are made from fermented soybeans. Garlic is the predominate flavor in all marinated and grilled meats.

Thailand uses a lot of cilantro, hot red or green chilies, lemongrass, garlic and galangal. Galangal tastes similar to ginger with a mustard-like bit and camphor smell).

Ground white peppercorns, coriander or cumin and shrimp paste, are then added to this basic mixture in varying amounts, depending on the dish.

India uses a variety of many spices for their recipes. No other country adds spices like the Indians. Some of the essential spices are cardamom, peppercorns, cloves, coriander seed, cumin, fennel seed, mustard seed, bay leaves, tumeric, garlic and ginger.

Often cooks will heat the oil and spices for marinade before marinating the meat. This intensifies the flavors and thus more fully flavors the meat.

Fresh herbs and lettuce are an essential component to Vietnamese fare. Coriander, mint, basil and scallions are but a few of the aromatic flavors typically used with meat, fish or poultry seasoned with lemongrass, garlic and shallots. One of the favorite grilled foods of Vietnam is skewered barbecued pork. The pork is seasoned with garlic, salt, sugar, rice wine, roasted ground rice and fish sauce. The meat is then threaded onto bamboo skewers and cooked over hot coals. The grilled pork is served with fresh rice noodles and lettuce leaves and either fresh coriander or mint.

China occupies the largest part of Asia and it has many distinct styles of cooking such as: Mandarin-climate affects the rice crop in this region. Substitutes used may be wheat, millet, soybeans, sorghum or corn.

Szechwan-arid and humid climate in middle China has a lot to do with these flavors. Fiery seasonings act as a natural air conditioner when eaten, using intense flavor-packed dishes.

Cantonese-subtle blend of seafoods and delicate seasonings sum up this part of Asia. Green leafy vegetables are plentiful along with fresh fruits such as bananas, pineapples and oranges.

Hunan dishes include the major influences of a more natural style of cooking using fish, shrimp, eel and crab usually braised, steamed or stewed. Traditional dishes are seasoned with rice wine, scallions, gingerroot, Szechwan peppercorns and salt.

We hope you enjoyed our little trip this week through Asia and hope you will try some of these recipes and we will see you in the kitchen!

Grilled Baby Back Pork Ribs "Bul-Go-Gi" Style-Bul-go-gi is probably the most popular meat dish in Korean cuisine. It is made of thin slices of beef sirloin that have been marinated in soy sauce, onions, garlic and lots of ginger and chilies and then grilled quickly at the tables. This recipe is adapted from the traditional Korean favorite.

Grilled Szechwan Peppercorn Beef-prepare marinade ahead of time at least 2-4 hours for maximum flavor and cook beef 8-10 minutes on each side. Dip in sauce.

Rice Paper Salad Rolls with Grilled Chicken and Rock Shrimp-a lot of the ingredients for these dishes may be purchased locally. Look for displays in area stores.

Whole Grilled Red Snapper with Garlic-Soy Sauce-heat reserved sauce and pour over cooked fish and topped with julienned scallions.

6 garlic cloves-minced
2 tablespoons minced fresh ginger
2 tablespoons toasted sesame oil

3 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon crushed red pepper
Mix all ingredients together in large bowl except scallions. Reserve. Have your fish purveyor scale and clean the fish. With a sharp knife cut 2-3 diagonal slashes on both sides of fish (this will facilitate the cooking of the fish). Brush fish with small amount of oil and sprinkle with a little salt and pepper. Stud cavity with whole chives, close with toothpick or trussing pin. Place fish in center of cooking grate. Grill for approximately 8-10 minutes. Carefully turn fish over and cook for 5-8 minutes or until cooked to desired doneness. Place fish on a warm plate. Heat reserved sauce and pour over fish. Garnish with chopped scallions.

A traditional Korean marinade of scallions, garlic, ginger, sherry, red chilies and soy sauce are used to flavor Western baby back ribs in Grilled Baby Back Pork Ribs "Bul-Go-Gi" Style.

Whole leaves of basil, mint and red leaf lettuce add summer freshness to Rice Paper Salad Rolls with Grilled Chicken and Rock Shrimp.

Bogata School pictures to be made

Students at the Bogata Elementary and Junior High School will have their school pictures made on Tuesday, August 24, 1999. All pictures must be paid for when the photos are taken.

Envelopes will be sent home with the students on Friday, August 20 for parents to choose packages they want to purchase.

Parents are reminded to return the envelope with their money for their chosen package on Tuesday. For more information call the school at 632-5214.

Letters to the Editor

For many years, those of us living at the end of South Main in Bogata have had to contend with pollution, foul smells, trash dumping and a few other unmentionables on the bridge just below our homes.

Throughout the years, we have contacted several different agencies, but could never seem to get any help until recently.

Through the efforts of Mayor Garretson, Commissioner Ricky Daniels and Game Warden Jerry Gordon, there has been much improvement. Last week, the trees were trimmed back, brush cleared away and the trash was cleaned out from beneath the bridge by county prisoners. Jerry Gordon has taken the time to patrol the area for those illegally dumping. We are very grateful for this help and we appreciate all those who had a part in getting this area cleaned up.

Ranch to Rail guidelines released

Guidelines for the 1999-2000 Texas A&M University Ranch to Rail program have been released. The program is designed to provide feedback to ranchers on how their cattle perform in the feedyard and the type of carcasses they produce. Assessment of this information allows producers to determine whether or not they are on target or if they need to alter the genetics of their herd or possibly modify their management system. The purpose of the program is to provide feedback to make those decisions.

Upon arrival at the feedyard, each steer is processed, individually identified, and assigned a value per hundredweight based on current market conditions. Cattle are sorted into similar groups. Steers are weighed individually at the end of the feeding period. Feed consumption for each pen is determined. Cattle are sold in a carcass basis.

Nominations of cattle are due by September 10. There is a minimum of five steers per consignor and a $10.00 per head nomination fee. Only steers that weigh between 500-850 pounds at arrival will be accepted. It is strongly recommended that steers be vaccinated and backgrounded at least 45 days in accordance with one of the options listed in the Value Added Calf Vaccination Management Program. Delivery dates for the Ranch to Rail-North are October 12-13. Steers should be weaned prior to September 1. Ranch to Rail-North cattle will be fed at Swisher County Cattle Co., Tulia, TX. Assistance is provided in coordinating shipment to reduce freight costs. Last year Paris was a shipping point.

For information, call 737-2443.

FOOT NOTES

Hammertoes

Hammertoe is a condition in which the toe bends in a claw-like position. Most often due to a misalignment of the toe joints, hammertoes can occur in any of the foot's four smaller toes. It happens most often in the second toe, when a bunion angles the big toe toward and under it, pushing it up. A person with high or low arched feet is prone to developing hammertoes because the toes tend to stay in a bent position. Ill fitting shoes or socks that bunch the toes together can aggravate hammertoes and cause pain on the bony top area and at the end of the toe. Constant friction may cause a hard corn to develop over the bony area.

If surgery is the recommended course of action to get rid of hammertoes, you'll be glad to know that today's techniques make the process easier and faster, and recovery is much more comfortable than just a few years ago. If you are a victim of hammertoes, consider professional help from DOCTOR'S FOOT CLINIC. Our techniques are up to date, with three basic goals: to relieve pain, restore function and improve appearance. For a consultation, please call us at 784-5585.

OFFICE LOCATED AT
3605 N.E. LOOP 286, STE 1800
PARIS, TEXAS

P.S. Treating hammertoes usually involves wearing deeper shoes, using shoe inserts or pads and paring down corns. Surgery is sometimes recommended to straighten the toe or remove the prominent area of the bone.

Guaranty Bancshares, Inc. reports results

Guaranty Bancshares, Inc. the parent company of Guaranty Bank, reported second quarter earnings of $557,000 or basic dilutive earnings per share of $0.19. For the same quarter in 1998, Guaranty Bancshares reported earnings of $430,000 or basic dilutive earnings per share of $0.15. The increase in earnings for this quarter compared to one year ago was due primarily to an increase in net interest income generated by a growth in loans of $33.8 million from June 30, 1998 to June 30, 1999, an increase of 19.9% and an increase in non interest income of $189,000 or 40.5%. The company entered into a definitive agreement providing for the acquisition of First American Financial Corporation, a $61.5 million bank holding company headquartered in Sulphur Springs, Texas. Pursuant to the agreement, each share of First American will receive 3.42 shares of the Company and $32.83 in cash. Net interest income increased 8.0% from $4.6 million for the first six months of 1998 to $4.9 million for the same period in 1999. The interest income component of net interest was due in part to a shift in average earning assets from securities to loans offset by lower yielding rates. Without the one time gain on sale of loans in 1998, non interest income increased for the first six months from $854,000 in 1998 to $1,317,000 in 1999, or 38.1%. Non interest expense increased $310,000 or 7.4% for the six months ended June 30, 1999, over the same period of 1998. Salary and benefits expense increased from $2.1 million in 1998 to $2.5 million in 1999, an increase of $353,000 or 16.5%. Full time equivalent staff increased from 132 in 1998 to 146 in 1999 due to additional staff placement in the Paris bank, the Texarkana bank and in the new Pittsburg bank. For the first six months of 1999, on an annualized basis, the Company realized a return on assets of .88% and a return on equity of 10.10% versus .97% and 11.60% respectively for the first six months of 1998.

TNMP requests voluntary energy consumption

The continued extreme heat and increased energy consumption across the state increase the potential for service interruptions. In an attempt to prevent interruptions, and to lessen the impact on home energy budgets, Texas-New Mexico Power Company suggests a common sense approach for its customers to reduce energy usage.

"Given the weather outlook for the rest of the season, it's prudent for our customers to implement a plan of reduced consumption during the critical peak hours," said Jack Chambers, TNMP chief customer officer.

TNMP encourages all customers to voluntarily reduce energy usage particularly during the peak hours between 2 p.m. and 7 p.m. by taking the following steps:

- *Set your air conditioning thermostat at or above 80 degrees.
- *When you leave your home for several hours, turn the thermostat up an additional four degrees. If you leave for more than a day or go on vacation, consider turning the air conditioner off altogether.
- *Turn off any power that is not absolutely critical.
- *Wait to use electric ranges, dishwashers and dryers until nighttime hours when possible. These appliances only raise the level of heat in your home.
- *Defer the use of pool pumps until off peak hours.

Horses can serve as warning signs of mosquito-borne encephalitis

Mosquitoes, as standard operating procedure, can make life miserable for humans, poultry, horses and livestock. This summer, there is a small chance that in East Texas a common garden variety mosquito bite can lead to death.

Texas Department of Health officials have reported incidences of eastern equine encephalitis in East Texas. Eastern equine encephalitis (EEE) is a disease that can be fatal to both horses and humans. In Louisiana, the disease has been cycling for more than two months, killing 40 horses and an uncounted number of emus. Most recently, two humans in Louisiana have been infected, with one man still in a coma. The eastern variety does not just kill those with weakened immune systems like the other varieties do. It can strike down a man in the prime of life. It is something to be concerned about.

Recently, the disease has spilled over to the East Texas counties of Jasper, Harrison, Cherokee and Hardin. Though no East Texans have yet to become infected, 30 to 40 emus have died of the disease in Jasper County, while in Harrison, Cherokee and Hardin counties there are reports of horses either killed or diagnosed with the disease.

Entomologists don't know which mosquito species transmits the disease, but they do know that Western Louisiana and East Texas are home to the same species. This week, Dr. Jimmy Olsen and members of his staff collected mosquitoes in East Texas counties where horses and emus were infected. They hope to determine exactly which species of mosquito is the vector. If identified, it will be possible to predict which counties are at risk. Until then, it would be wise to consider any mosquito suspect.

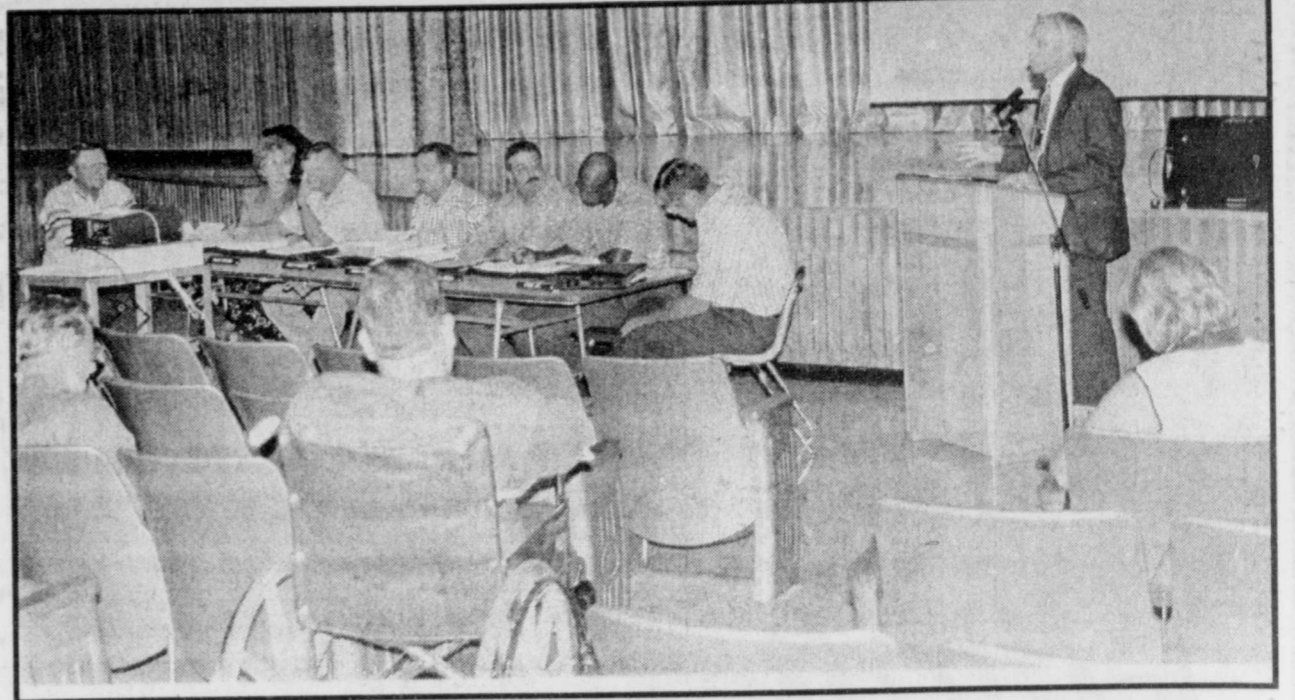

Once infected, horses begin to show clinical signs of EEE in about 5 days while symptoms in humans take 7 to 10 days to appear. The mortality rate in horses infected with EEE is from 50 to 90%. The fatality rate in humans is 65 to 80%, according to a Texas Department of Health release.

There is an EEE vaccine for horses but not for humans. People are urged to lower their risk by wearing long-sleeved shirts and pants and using mosquito repellent. The most effective products will contain Deet, but the strength of the active ingredient will vary. Look for Deet or N,N-diethyl-m-toluamide on the list of ingredients and choose a product with the highest concentration.

Because horses show symptoms quicker than humans, they can act as sentinels for EEE activity in an area. Symptoms in horses include: fever, irregular gait, wandering, circling, incoordination, yawning, grinding of teeth, pendulous lower lip, the inability to swallow, paralysis and occasional convulsions.

In humans, the symptoms include: fever, headache, vomiting, lethargy, neck stiffness and coma. Again, everyone is urged to use mosquito spray as self protection.
