Boys Are Ready For Season

Eastland Fri. At 8

Haskell Indians are ready for the Friday night game, according to Coach Tommy McAdams. He said the team has improved 100% since the scrimmage against Colorado City last week. McAdams says the boys are in good shape, with no injuries to speak of, and they're ready for the first game of the season.

Wednesday, then tapered off for the Friday night game. "We've also made a few changes with some of the boys, and it's working out a lot better," he stated. On offense, McCoy is now at Center and Watson at strong guard, while Hawkins will start at strong end. On defense, both Colbert and Watson have been moved to linebacker spots. McCoy will also use two numbers, for the information of the fans. He's using both 67 and 87, and fans need to know this so they can keep up with the game. In other Haskell County schools, the Rule Bobcats will meet Aspermont Friday night at Rule; Paint Creek Pirates will play Divide at Paint Creek, and Rochester will play Knox City at Knox City; and O'Brien plays Lueders-Avooca at O'Brien.

Maize Prices Said To Be Best Ever In Haskell County

"We're paying $3.85 today, but have been paying $4.00 for milo," said Harvey Croft, Jr., owner of Nine Point Grain Company in Haskell, "and this is the highest we've ever paid for maize. In fact, in my 23 years in the grain business, this is the highest price I've ever seen paid."

With Haskell County farmers past the halfway mark in the harvesting and selling of the maize crop, at the highest price in market history, the best maize crop in recent years and looking forward to a good cotton crop, the year's agricultural outlook could hardly be any brighter.

The high of $4.00 for maize, coupled with the high cattle market and prospects of a better than average cotton crop, to sell at a higher price than in recent years, Haskell farmers have a right to be optimistic.

Early maize, now nearly all harvested, is yielding from 24,000 to 25,000 pounds to the acre, according to Croft, making it the best crop in many years. Late maize will add to the bright outlook, but needs rain to even approach the yields made by early milo.

The drop in the market of 75 cents could conceivably have come from the terrible congestion at ports right now, but no one can say if the price will rise again on the late maize crop. "They are just beginning to cut at Rochester, Rule and Weimer, and the later crop is due to the sandy soil, but it all looks good," said Croft. "The yield for the county will have to be above average. We've already bought almost as much as we bought through the entire crop last year, so most all the rest is above last year's yield."

County Agent Max Stapleton's assessment of the cotton crop was "good", and he added these comments:

"If we had had a good rain two or three weeks ago, I could have said we were looking forward to a crop way above average, but the cotton is needing rain badly, and we'll just have to see. The cotton planted after June 1 is not suffering like that planted earlier, and the crop outlook is bright," he added.

"Boll weevils aren't nearly as bad as they have been in past years, so far. We have counters in the fields, and because we are going into the boll weevil diapause program this year, we think probably the first spraying will be between the first and the fifteenth. Although this is not set up to help this year's crop, the three year program should really show a marked difference in future crops."

rina neckline, and trimming the bishop sleeves. The matching lace paneled the skirt and circled the Empire bodice and hem. The "total look" in the chapel veil of silk illusion held by a double velvet bow, was circled with matching lace. She carried a crescent bouquet of white roses and stephanotis circling a white orchid. Matron of honor was Linda Whisenhunt, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Miss Doris Wooten of Haskell and Miss Deanna Frierson, cousin of the bride, of Haskell. They wore floor length gowns of blue bridal satin and carried purple orchids.

Charles McDermett served his son as best man and groomsmen were Mike McDermett, brother of the groom, and Tommy Combs of Morton. ## Eat Well For Less

Good meals that are easy on the budget don't just happen. They result from careful planning, buying, storing, and cooking of foods by the homemaker. Meals that meet the nutritional needs of each family member and also are satisfying, colorful, tasteful and economical are the goals of each good homemaker.

Here are some tips for eating meals for less: Plan meals several days in advance. Plan meals that give good return in food value for the money.

- Study food advertisements in the local papers to determine the best buy.
- Select foods in season as they are usually lower in cost.
- Plan to prepare most of your food at home because partially prepared and ready-to-eat foods may cost more.
- Make a shopping list, giving the kind and amount of food to purchase after your menus have been planned. This will save extra trips to the grocery store where you usually buy more when you go back the second time during the week.

Here's a favorite recipe for a salmon loaf that is low cost served with mashed potatoes, peas, salad and dessert.

Salmon Loaf
 1-1 lb. can pink salmon, drained and flaked.
 1 cup bread crumbs
 1/2 cup milk
 2 eggs
 2 tsp. finely chopped onions
 1 tsp. salt
 1/4 tsp. pepper

Mix ingredients well. Pack in to well-greased 9x5x3" loaf pan. Bake 40 minutes at 350 d. F. Serve with rich cheese sauce. Serves four. Serve with mashed potatoes, peas, tomato aspic, salad, bread, and apple tapioca.

Rex Allen Helps WTRC Roundup

Rex Allen, Hollywood personality, has never forgotten the kindness shown him as a boy by some of his rancher neighbors around Wilcox, Arizona. As a youth, one of Allen's eyes was crossed, but the expensive corrective surgery was out of the question. That's when his neighbors pitched in and raised the money for the surgery.

The success of the surgery enabled 'the Arizona Cowboy' to launch a career that took him to Hollywood and stardom as one of the all-time great movie cowboys. Several hit records, rodeo appearances, and being narrator for more than 80 Walt Disney featurettes, gave added dimension to his career.

But through all his success in the glittering entertainment world, Rex Allen has never forgotten the helping hand his rancher friends gave him as a youth.

For the past 12 years, Rex Allen has been an active supporter of the Cattlemen's Roundup for Crippled Children, an fund-raising event to help the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene, extend a helping hand to the handicapped of the Southwest.

Over the years he has donated livestock to the Center and given generously of his time and talent to promote the annual benefit livestock auction.

Allen states, "The West Texas Rehabilitation Center is a symbol of the kind of America I like to remember... neighbor helping neighbor." He added, "The Cattlemen's Roundup for Crippled Children is charity in its purest and simplest form."

Rex Allen is one of 138 area chairmen throughout the Southwest already at work on the 14th annual Cattlemen's Roundup for Crippled Children to benefit the non-profit treatment center.

Home Preserved Foods Cut Cost, Say 4-H'ers

For many families, canning and freezing fresh fruits, vegetables and meats helps make their food budgets last longer. And they're finding that home preserved foods retain their freshness and nutritive value long after they're first stored.

Boys and girls enrolled in the national 4-H food preservation program are helping to spread the good word about home preserved foods. Sponsored for 45 years by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, young people in the program learn about safe and efficient methods of canning and freezing their favorite foods. 4-H'ers have found that home preserved foods supplement the amount of fruits, vegetables and meats in their daily diets. And the youths use the home preserved foods they've made as gifts and as meal ideas when unexpected guests drop in.

Preparing creative meals with preserved foods, and developing jams, jellies and relishes are also stressed in the program.

Encouraging 4-H'ers in the food preservation program with incentives and recognition is Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation. They provide up to four medals of honor to county winners and an expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 25-29, for a winner from each state.

Six national winners are announced during 4-H Congress, and each receives a $700 scholarship from Kerr.

One 4-H'er in the program, found her family's food bill cut in half after she began to can and freeze food. Janet Harrington, of Tremont, Ill., prepared hundreds of dishes, using home preserved foods, which saved her family many trips to the store. A $700 scholarship winner last year in the program, Miss Harrington believes that food preserved "just harvested, at its peak of ripeness, will always taste best".

Another 1972 4-H food preservation national winner was well prepared to help when two disasters struck her community. Karen Wedgeworth, of Laurel, Miss., served her home preserved foods to persons left homeless by the ravages of hurricane Camille and a railroad tank car explosion. Also, through her efforts, food preservation exhibits have been retained at the South Mississippi Fair.

"I know people still preserve food", says Miss Wedgeworth, "and I believe that the preservation of food is important to good health and happiness."

One of the oldest supporters of the 4-H program, Kerr provides additional support to the food preservation program through publications on canning and freezing food processing, and technical and public relations assistance.

For more information on the 4-H food preservation program contact the county extension office.

PINCH, DISBUD FLOWERS

For bushy growth and numerous blooms on annual flowers, pinch back the main stem when young plants are 4 or 5 inches tall, suggests a landscape horticulturist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Pinch back lateral stems a second time for more dense growth. Disbudding, or removing all buds from the stem except the terminal one, produces a large fine flower.

Farm Ponds Have Many Uses But Can Often Be Very Dangerous

Ponds, like any body of water, attract people. When the two come together, there always is chance of a drowning or boating accident.

"Ponds are an asset to the environment and have many uses," J. C. Yeary, District Conservationist for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Haskell, stated. "During the past 30 years, Texas landowners have built more than 350,000 ponds as part of their soil and water conservation plans. Some 150 have been built in the Haskell area in the last twelve years."

"Families and friends are attracted to ponds because they are nice places to picnic, swim, boat or fish," Yeary said. "But the small boy passing by who is attracted by the water may do almost anything. This is why keeping ponds safe is so important."

Here are some pond safety suggestions listed by Yeary:

"Before construction, find out about your liability: You may need to protect yourself with insurance and have your pond built by a reliable contractor who will follow engineering specifications."

"During construction, remove trees, brush and anything else that might hinder safe boating or swimming. Eliminate sudden dropoffs and deep holes in the swimming area."

"Once a pond is completed, mark the safe swimming areas and put warning signs at danger points. Tell swimmers not to swim alone, and post safety instructions for swimming and boating. Use boats that will float if swimmers and warn swimmers to stay out of storms and flowing. Above that farm ponds small children."

"Your farm can be a source of income as well as a pleasure. IF IT IS SAFE! Your Farm Pond, 396, is available from the Soil Conservation Service. Start early, pond this winter for next spring."

She boarded in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kelly who lived a short distance from the school. ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Scottsburg, Indiana

Dear Editor:
In your recent paper, the passing of Fred Gilliam and Shine Cox brought back childhood memories. Also, it makes me realize that I, too, am getting older. My family was neighbors to Fred Gilliam when Fred and I were about six years old. I can remember many occasions when we played together, especially when our mothers would meet and help each other quit Fred's brother, Bob, Fred, my older sister, Lucille, and I would get to make homemade candy. His family was wonderful neighbors. His brother, Hughes, who passed away several years ago, used to come over and talk to my parents for hours. Annie Bess, his sister, was just a baby when we moved to the Howard Community (now Paint Creek).

I walked to the old Howard School with a group of children, with my sister, Lucille. That is when I came to know Shine Cox and all his family. I remember all his family well. He, too, was from a good family. The group of children who walked to school together was the Cox children, Buster and Shine, U. V. (or Kildee); Fred and Evelyn; the Thompson children, O. E., Veta, Jack and Lonnie; Veda and Clinton Williams and Kathryn Harvey. There wasn't any school buses in those days.

I also remember Wayne Dilbeck. Many of the above I don't even know where they live. Of course, some have passed on. Veta Thompson (Tinnon) lives in Flagstaff, Ariz. My sister, Lucille Odom Yarbrough, lives in Fresno, Calif.

I was in Long Beach recently to visit relatives. I'm sure Bob Gilliam knows by nephew, V. C. Wheeler, who is superintendent of Seaboard Oil and Gas in Los Angeles. He lives in Long Beach.

I was raised in Texas close to Haskell, and enjoy reading the Free Press, though there's not too many people I know there. I've been away 33 years. I am the daughter of the late Demps and Martha Odom, who farmed in Haskell County for 22 years.

Sincerely,
Zelma (Odom) Pennington

Aubrey Headstream Speaks On 'Community Mental Illness'

Invocation was given by Aubrey Headstream.

Headstream, in speaking of the clinic, defined 'community mental illness', as people who cannot fully understand the vital service the clinic can give to people who are not mentally ill, but rather, not physically ill, and are unable to easily adjust to problems that occur in their lives. He asked the Lions as a part of the community of Haskell, to understand that help people to life to adjust to with the support of the community around them.

Headstream said that a new clinic will open in Haskell next month. It will teach persons learning problems, but can earn a wage. The community will be sponsored by State School in City of Haskell, Okla.

The Weather Has Been Cotton Crop Looks Favorable

COLLEGE STATION—Favorable weather so far this season points to a successful Texas cotton crop that will pay farmers their highest cotton prices since 1951.

"Tight supplies and relatively strong demands, both domestic and export, indicate that the average 1973-74 cotton price to the farmer will be higher than in the past season even though mid-season demand will again be weak," says Charles Baker, marketing economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"Early season cotton last year was heavily contracted to cover domestic mill needs for the last quarter of 1972. However, the anticipated large crop resulted in a weak mid-season market with prices unduly depressed. Domestic mills and foreign buyers sharpened demand in late 1972 and early 1973, resulting in depletion of uncommitted stocks, contracts for much of the 1973-74 crop and record prices," explains the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Texas, the nation's leading cotton producing state since 1880, produced 4.1 million bales in 1972 on 5,570 acres, should produce three percent more than the 1972 total and have a value exceeding $700 million for the first time since 1962.

During the 1972-73 season, domestic mill use of cotton dropped to 7.7 million bales, a 34-

Weed Control Is Important To Cotton Growth

LUBBOCK — Summer rains that have boosted cotton prospects over the South Plains have also encouraged emergence and growth of annual weeds, according to Dr. Robert B. Metzger, area agronomist.

Annual weeds presented little problem in the early part of the season because of an unusually dry spring, he says. Lack of surface moisture prevented weed germination in May and June, but plentiful underground moisture supply allowed cotton to grow, establishing deep roots.

The Lubbock-based specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service adds that ideal conditions allowed cotton to get ahead of annual weeds and shade out many of the younger emerging weeds.

With summer rains encouraging weed growth, however, producers will need to hook up that herbicide rig and get back to the fields, Metzger urges.

"Caparol or Karmex compounds provide excellent lay-by control on young careless weeds and grasses less than two inches tall," he explains. "Application rates of Caparol are 0.6 to 0.8 lbs./A of wettable powder and for Karmex, 0.25 to 0.5 lbs./A. The spray should contain one-half percent surfactant (one quart in 50 gallons of water) to improve weed kill. A proper surfactant is very important in post emergence weed control."

"The higher rate of either herbicide will give some carry-over control if needed in irrigated fields. MSMA provides excellent control of several annual weeds, but should not be used in cotton after the first bloom," he adds.

There were some exceptions of weed problems during the spring, Metzger recalls. Some annual weeds did become established in many fields, despite dry conditions. Perennial weeds such as white weeds and johnsongrass took advantage of deep moisture and became a serious problem in some cotton fields. MSMA usually controlled these weeds provided the foliage was thoroughly wetted down.

The agronomist warns that controlling late emerging weeds is highly important in reducing the production of weed seeds. Weeds will try to produce seed regardless of size or how late in the season they emerge.

"Most producers recognize that clean fields are important in obtaining high stripper efficiency this fall," Metzger concludes. "Continued weed control will go far toward achieving this efficiency."

Garlic For Courage

The ancient Romans fed their soldiers garlic in the belief it would give them courage, according to the United Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Assn. For some people today, it would take courage to try fresh garlic in their cooking. Once tried, however, the discovery that garlic used wisely is a wonderful flavor enhancer, adding a subtle something to stews, soups and salads. In case you have never bought garlic, look for a bulb-shaped vegetable that resembles an onion with a white, papery, membrane-like skin. The garlic bulb is made up of little sections called cloves that are also covered with a thin skin. Serious cooks take garlic seriously and use it widely in their cooking.

Grain Stocks Down . . . Egg Production Down . . . Texas Lamb Crop Down . . . Wood Production Down . . . Sheep and Lambs on Feed Increases.

Phase Three and Phase Three and a Half can't be blamed for all of it, but nevertheless production of a number of Texas agricultural products shows declines. One of the exceptions is sheep and lamb feeding which shows an increase from a year ago but still a decline from a few months ago.

As for grains on hand, only stocks of oats are above levels of a year ago. Texas' stocks as of July 1 for the four feed grains—corn, oats, barley and sorghum—are estimated at 95,000,000 bushels, down 50,000,000 bushels from a year ago.

Grain sorghum was responsible for most of the decrease. Stocks of wheat, rye and soybeans are also below a year ago.

Old crop carryover of wheat is estimated at 20,200,000 bushels compared to 42,100,000 bushels a year ago.

Sorghum stocks stored in all positions are estimated at 79,000,000 bushels compared with 129,000,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn stocks are about the same as a year ago. Old crop oat stocks are 700,000 bushels higher than a year ago. Soybean stocks are estimated at 2,700,000 bushels, compared to 2,600,000 bushels a year ago.

Nationwide, stocks of all grains are estimated 67,900,000 tons, which is 17 per cent less than a year ago. April-June grain disappearance totaled a record high of 51,300,000 tons, 14 per cent more than the same quarter in 1972.

All of the above figures relate to grains produced in 1972 and earlier. The 1973 crops are not a part of this report.

EGG production in Texas during June is four per cent below a year ago and five per cent below last month. Texas' layers totaled 11,100,000 during June, which is seven per cent below a year ago and two per cent under May's total.

The number of layers throughout the nation totaled 285,000,000; this is five per cent below last year and two per cent under last month.

LAMB crop in Texas (lamb born during the period Oct. 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973) is estimated at 1,964,000 head; this is down 15 per cent from the 2,302,000 head last year.

Nationwide, the 1973 lamb crop is estimated at 11,400,000 head. This is down nine per cent from the 1972 crop of 12,500,000 head.

The January 1, 1973 number of breeding ewes one year old and older totaled 12,100,000. This is a decrease of six per cent from a year earlier while ewe lambs under one year were down four per cent.

SHEEP and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 is up 13 per cent from a year ago. This, however, is 28 per cent below March. Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on pastures and expected within the next three months to go to market.

Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 229,000 head were 3,000 head below the same period a year ago.

banquet before citizens and leaders of the community and neighboring towns.

Robert S. Strauss, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, will appear at the annual banquet to be held at the Stagecoach Inn beginning at 7:00 p. m., in the heart of his childhood surroundings.

The 54-year-old lawyer-politician who was born at Lockhart and grew up in Stamford, will be introduced by Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson.

Strauss, whose parents, the late Charles and Edith Strauss, operated a department store on the northeast corner of the square in Stamford, graduated from Stamford High School in 1935 and attended the University of Texas from 1935 to 1941.

Married and the father of three children, Strauss has also served as president, director, chairman and vice-president of numerous other agencies, including Arthritis and Rheumatic Foundation of Texas, Goodwill Industrial, Visiting Nurses Association, Jewish Welfare Federation, Community Chest of Dallas, Red Cross and Temple Emanu-El of Dallas. He is also Strauss Broadcasting Company Chairman of the Board of Dallas and Chairman of the Board of Valley View State Bank of Dallas.

Tickets for the banquet, priced at $3.50 each, may be obtained by sending your check to the Stamford Chamber of Commerce or asking your local Chamber of Commerce to place an order for you. A limited number of tickets are available so orders should be placed as soon as possible.

ice was illustrated last month when a disastrous fire destroyed the service records of millions of persons who were discharged or released from the Armed Forces of the United States prior to 1960. Many of the people in this category will now be unable to obtain proof of their military service, and could encounter great difficulties in the event they ever wish to apply for some veterans benefit provided either by the State or Federal Governments.

Every person who is released or discharged from active duty with the Armed Forces should be advised to have their discharge recorded immediately upon their return home. The original discharge paper is one of the most important documents that a person may receive during his or her entire lifetime, and every precaution should be taken to protect it. Any number of disasters may occur, however, which could result in loss or destruction of this very important piece of paper, such as fire, storm, and others. If any such event occurred, and a veteran's discharge was recorded, he could readily obtain a certified copy by contacting his local County Clerk.

Every veteran, regardless of when he was in military service, should take advantage of this free service and have his discharge paper recorded.

tion has soared. This does not mean, of course, that everyone can afford it and is going to pay any price demanded, but it is the average and the average has to be depended upon.

Some meat wholesalers are calling the meat sales in some places as coming from the "black market." Others prefer to say it is only, as yet, a "gray" market but predict that transactions in this area will become more numerous. Other ways are being found in the trade to compensate for what they can sell a steak for and what it would bring without a ceiling price by simply letting the steak carry a tale that somehow appears on the scales.

By whatever name, reports of illegal beef sales and purchaser are numerous and are predicted to increase as cattle slaughterers and meat supplies shrink under the Administration's continuing beef price freeze.

One gimmick being worked is the practice of buying cattle in the United States, shipping them to Canada for processing, then selling dressed carcasses in the United States as "imported" meat which is uncontrolled by Phase IV ceilings. The legality of such transactions is under discussion at the moment. The chief legal advisor of the Cost of Living Council is reported to consider the finished beef brought back from Canada as illegal and not "imported" if it originates in the United States livestock markets.

There are other "gray" market transactions, some of which appear to be legal, others questionable and some apparently illegal. When no objection is raised by either purchaser or seller, it is pretty difficult to get at enforcement. It becomes sort of a "hear no evil and see no evil" approach. If the purchaser of a steak wants it enough and has the money, he is not likely to pester the retailer to bring the price down. Like some other unpopular laws, most everyone involved quietly avoids discussing the legality of the transaction and, in instances, does not really want to know.

Other methods of avoidance are reported, such as ordering 1,000 pounds of choice beef cuts at ceiling prices but being billed for additional poundage to make up for costs not allowed by the ceiling.

The practicalities of the situation must cope with ways to circumvent the price ceiling. Most wholesalers are telling the Cost of Living Council regulations says that he will trim the price. So, the purchaser has some available at the price for what he wants. So, the purchaser has some available at the price for what he wants. So, the purchaser has some available at the price for what he wants.

Veterans Asked To Record Service Records In Co.

There is available to all veterans one free service which is too often overlooked or disregarded. This word comes from C. H. Herren, Veterans County Service Officer for Haskell County.

This particular free service enables all veterans to have their service discharges recorded by the County Clerk of any County in the State of Texas. Most veterans who take advantage of this service have their discharge placed on record in their county of residence.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A law which is unworkable and not generally acceptable to people is mostly unenforceable.

Although the ceiling on beef at the retail level is not a law passed by the Congress, it is a regulation imposed by the Cost of Living Council. The Administration which the Cost of Living Council represents, is empowered under the law to impose price controls.

The affluent society in which we live is going to buy beef somewhere or somehow. Beef consumption in the last few years has increased from 155 pounds to 234 pounds per capita in the United States. With population increases and with individual incomes up, consumption has soared. This does not mean, of course, that everyone can afford it and is going to pay any price demanded, but it is the average and the average has to be depended upon.

ing to its individual needs for protection with such proven measures as terracing, contouring, strip cropping, stubble mulching, and where applicable, windbreaks.

If large areas are brought under the plow without attention to these rules, the price could be a marked increase in soil blowing, dust storms, gullying, and heavy sediment pollution of the nation's rivers, lakes and stock ponds.

Your local soil and water conservation district officials are asking their cooperators and other farmers to intensify their efforts at wind erosion control measures during the coming months. They are stressing the importance of attaining production with conservation, and not disregarding the sound conservation principles that you have been practicing for years.

At this time each year, every grain sorghum producer is faced with the management of crop residues for the next several months. As a conservationist with limited time and resources, I urge each of you to practice mulching of those sorghum residues. Don't turn them under. Leave them mulched on the surface of the soil. Institute a system of minimum tillage whereby you leave all the residues on the soil surface, control the weeds next spring with chemical herbicides, and plant your next crop in that mulched residue. Let's not work ourselves into another dust bowl, but keep our air clean and pure. And above all else, let's keep that soil in place. No one can claim that real estate that moves about above the earth's surface.

Lone Star Gas Rate 3 Customers Get A Cutback

DALLAS, TEXAS (August 27, 1973)—Lone Star Gas Company announced that because its primary responsibility is to serve residential, commercial and other high priority customers, it is paramount that its storage facilities be filled to capacity as far as possible prior to the winter heating season. Contracts with electric power generation customers and large industrial customers contain curtailment rights to assure firm deliveries of natural gas to residential, commercial and other high priority customers. During the winter season, substantial withdrawals from storage are required to provide firm deliveries to residential, commercial and other high priority customers.

Accordingingly, Lone Star's Industrial Rate 3 customers were informed that their natural gas service would be curtailed by 10% until such time as the company's storage reservoirs are filled to assure satisfactory deliveries to high priority customers this winter. The company also notified electric power generation customers that curtailments already in effect would be increased by an additional 10%. The company noted that its power generation customers have alternate fuel supplies and most of its large industrial customers maintain alternate supplies.

We face new and grave risks of widespread, accelerated soil erosion by wind and water. We could be faced with a return of the Dust Bowl days of the '30's. We in the field of conservation are concerned because of the sharp increase in commodity prices, the end of the set-aside program, and the recent decision to call for all-out farm production next year.

Volume production using all available acreage will be most attractive next year, especially for owners of large equipment. Conservation is the key to the safe, effective expansion of our farming operations. We need, as a nation, increased production of farm commodities, and our farmers have the land and capability to meet our needs. It is going to be imperative, however, that expansion is not pushed at the expense of lasting damage to the land itself. We should no have to learn all over again the tragic lessons of the Dust Bowl days. The two cardinal rules of efficient conservation farming are to use each acre within its scientifically-determined capabilities and to treat each acre accord-

FHA NEWS

At 7 p.m. the Freshmen girls welcomed into the Future

Homemakers of America by the Sophomore girls.

They were taken to the Bluebonnet Cafe and all that were there were honored by hearing them sing "Good Morning to You" early Monday morning. Their hair was arranged beautifully by the sophomore girls using accessories such as balloons ribbons & old wigs. They carried tin cans for purses.

In their busy schedule the girls found time to play their daily game of jump rope. A couple of upper class boys were very happy to be proposed to by some of these beautiful and charming girls.

Freshmen are called upon at their homes early on initiation day, told that to wear and helped in their makeup by sophomore girls. For breakfast the girls were served donuts, orange juice and milk. At lunch they all enjoyed hamburgers in the homemaking room.

New F.H.A. members are: Patty Minife, Colleen Townsend, Cynthia Sorrells, Betty Kittley, Cindy Thompson, Wynette Williams, Donna Burleson, Sylvia Ortiz, Tammy Bishop and Rosie Spurek.

FHA GIRLS MAKE SPLASH

On Tuesday night, at 7 p.m. the Rule FHA members enjoyed a swimming party at the Rule Recreation Club. Approximately 30 attended. Appreciation was expressed to those people for bringing freezers of ice cream: La Nell and Wynette William, Susan Lewis and Patti Minife.

should be removed. The same rule applied to boiled ham. Sauces or gravies from these meats, though, are still "taboo."

Other "firsts" on the eating program are:

1. Freeze-dried vegetables. However, in order to be used, they must be rehydrated and equated to the amounts indicated on the menu plan for fresh vegetables. Freeze-dried vegetables should be labeled giving their equation to fresh vegetables.

2. Freeze-dried fruits are now permitted on the eating program, provided they can be equated to fresh fruits after rehydration.

3. Canned apricots, pears and peaches, provided these fruits are packed in their own (unsweetened) juice.

4. Mixed vegetable juice and combined orange and grapefruit juice have been added, as well as orange sections and grapefruit sections in their own (unsweetened) juice.

4. The eggs and cheese category on the menu plan has been modified to include cheese "products", provided only hard cheeses, such as American, Swiss or Cheddar are used. (Cheese spreads remain "illegal".)

6. Any 100% whole wheat bread is now permitted, even if it contains honey or molasses. Mrs. McGinty pointed out that five fish meals a week are required on the weight watchers program. However, certain fish that previously were restricted to once a week—such as clams, oysters, scallops and seugnilli—are now listed with the five-time-a-week fish.

Mrs. McGinty added that in the future, the Weight Watchers Organization will continue to apply the most advanced knowledge in nutrition in developing the Program that will include foods that are sensible as well as nutritious, to help members lose weight without gaining it back.

School News

The Haskell Chapter of the Future Farmers of America held their first meeting Monday night, Aug. 27 at 7:30 p.m.

After the meeting was called to order by Mr. Duane Gilly, the following officers were elected for the 1973-74 school year: President, John Dearing; vice president, Kippie Grand; secretary, Keith Hannz; reporter, Steven Grand; treasurer, Ricky Decker; sentinel, Bobby Howard.

Jeff Teague was elected state voting delegate and Cliff Grand was elected second voting delegate.

Kathy Pringle was chosen as Sweetheart of the Chapter. There were 37 members present. The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served.

Weight Watchers, Inc. Announces "New" Foods Now On The Program

Weight Watchers International, Inc., has made a number of important changes and additions in its eating program that will enable consumers to add a little more variety to their menu and hopefully, save money in the supermarket and still lose weight.

This was announced here by Adele McGinty, Area Director of Weight Watchers in the West Texas area, who said that the revisions, which are in line with recent findings in the field of nutrition, reflect the Weight Watchers Organization's continuing efforts to provide members with a menu plan that is nutritious and which contains a wide variety of foods.

Especially significant, in a time when meat is disappearing from supermarket shelves (and what's left brings exorbitant prices) are a number of "alternates" to meat that have been added to the Program.

The "alternates", now categorized with fish, meat and poultry on The Program, are dried beans, dried lentils and dried peas - including black-eyed or cowpeas, chick or garbanzo peas and split peas. The food values found in these foods are acceptable as alternates for those found in many meats.

A particularly welcome addition to the eating program is soybeans.

These relatively inexpensive beans, like meats, are high in nutritional content. Notable among the additions to the eating program are ham and pork, both of which have been included on The Program for the first time. Ham is the only smoked or cured meat on The Program; pork has been included because it is now available as a much leaner meat than could be had before. So-called pork "products" are still "illegal," however, in that they are not 100 percent pork.

In some food markets, Mrs. McGinty said, the label will read "lean pork". In the preparation of the pork, Mrs. McGinty stressed, all visible fat

GOD'S FIVE

MINUTES

MOMENTS FOR MEDITATION

Charles Dickens has one of his characters in David Copperfield - the Artful Dodger - state his philosophy of life in one sentence: "Some people say the number '3' is lucky or the number '7' or '11'. For me, the lucky number is number '1'." On the basis of that philosophy, the Dodger lives by stealing to satisfy "number 1," himself.

Actually, there are three lucky numbers: One, two and three - God, others and then self.

God must be number one in any life that is to be lived in true happiness. "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God," Jesus said, "and all these things shall be added unto you." The Psalmist said it another way as we paraphrase the first Psalm: "Happy is the man... whose delight is in the law of the Lord."

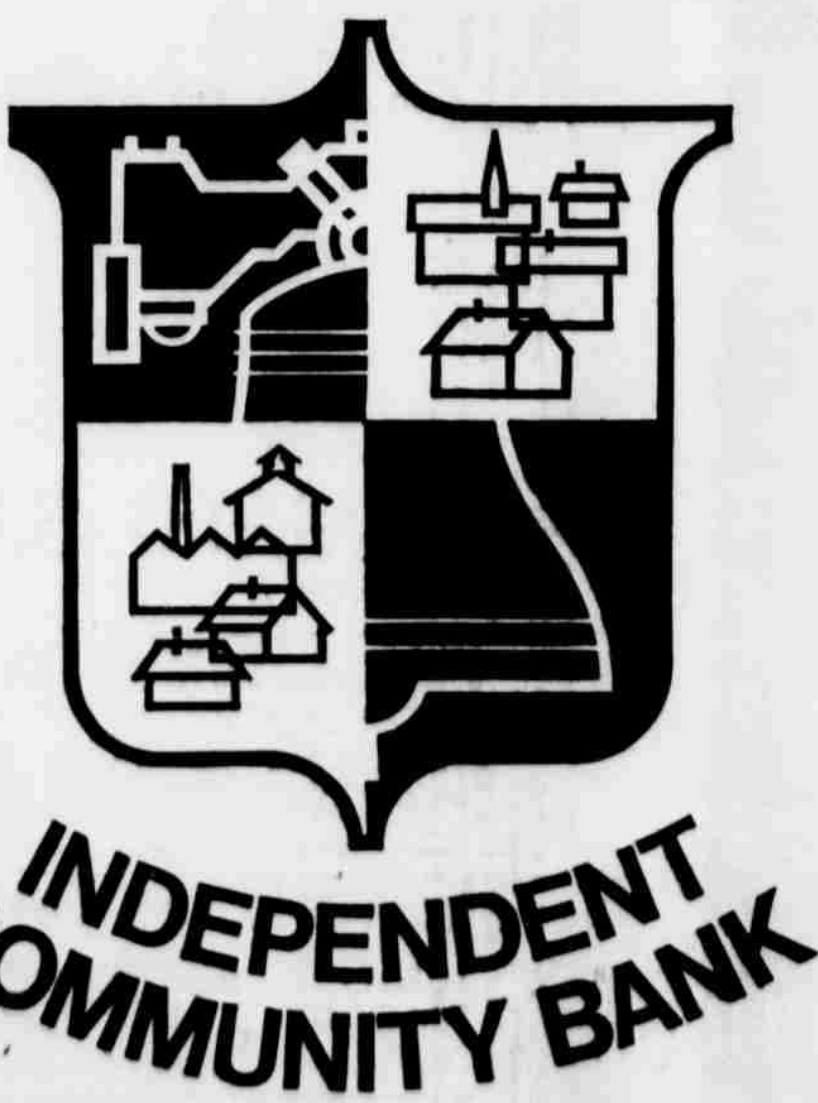

Others must be the second lucky number. Unselfish love of one's fellowman is a cornerstone in the building of a happy life. The very spirit of God Himself is mirrored in the habits of a man who truly seeks the good of others in his life.

Self comes third - always! You too must make your way through this world. And you do it best when God is supreme in your heart.
