Patriots Have Frustrating Evening

Frustration is probably the key word concerning Friday night's Prairiland Patriot-Winnsboro Red Raiders football game.

The raiders, already known to be rough and tough this season, defeated the Pats in a 45-0 game that perhaps failed to reflect the true merit of the Prairiland players.

The Patriots were simply no match for a team which had speed and power. At the end of the first quarter the score was 14-0.

In spite of some good defense which time after time put the Raiders in a third or fourth down situation the Winnsboro boys would make a big play and score.

The Prairiland boys saw the half time score at 24-0 after a controversial call of pass interference of the last play before the half. The penalty gave the Raiders a scoring opportunity in the form of a 27 yard field goal.

In spite of the discouraging first half the Patriots came back full of determination and scrap.

Todd Davis, sophomore quarterback came in during the second half, but the ball still failed to achieve the distances needed until the fourth quarter. But again near scoring opportunities eluded the weary Patriots, and the game closed out 45-0.

Felix Cobb, Timmy Henry and Todd Davis, along with Brad Sessums, Norman Alexander and a host of other Patriots put on an excellent show, in spite of the fact that the teams were unevenly matched.

The sportsmanship and determination of the Prairiland Patriots, and their loyal fans, is still unequalled by any team around. The team plays good ball, and expects no more such lopsided victories by their opponents.

The Patriots will play the Pittsburg Pirates, another tough team, at the Patriot Field this Friday night.

Junior Beta Club Raises Money

The Blossom Junior Beta Club walked from Blossom to Pattonville Saturday, October 10 for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. Each member worked hard to get sponsors to pledge money for each mile they walked. All who began, finished.

Sandra Graves, June Burdine, and Liz Nations helped Glenda Hatcher, the sponsor, to transport, protect, and give moral support to the members. The club would like to thank their parents and all those who supported their efforts.

The total pledges were $692.64. This money will be sent to Cystic Fibrosis Foundation of Dallas for research.

A $10 prize was awarded to Jeff Morrison for raising the most money.

In a special meeting Monday, October 12, Jeff Morrison was elected Club President.

Fear not that your life shall come to an end, but rather fear that it shall never have a beginning.

Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

Weathermen, especially national type weathermen, are a helpful bunch. Just as soon as we left town for a short trip the national weather map began to show heavy rains all over Texas. Every morning we would sit and listen to "Boy, Texas is in trouble, more rain for those folks today", or "Heavy rains have caused flooding in Texas, more moisture on the way". They told just enough to worry, not enough to help.

Now, flooding in Texas can cover just a pretty large space. We had no way of knowing whether it was north, south, east or west Texas, or points in between.

Finally, however, we just decided that if the whole state was going to wash away, we couldn't do anything about it anyway, so we just enjoyed our vacation. And we sure enough did!

Today's Forecast
The best meat buys at the supermarket change as quickly as the weather. Cuts from the chuck and round have jumped in price, while the cuts from the loin and rib have dropped. They will probably rise again soon.

Another example is pork, which has been high in recent weeks. Pork, along with poultry, is a good buy right now.

The best buy is usually the whole shoulder rather than a boneless half, for some of the most tender tidbits are around the bone.

You can debone the pork shoulder or roll it and tie it for the barbecue or rotisserie. Or cube it for pork kabobs or any other dish calling for cubes of lean pork.

At the produce counter, you'll find an abundance of fall fruits and vegetables. Cabbage, bell peppers, winter squash, apples, lemons and limes are good buys.

Aikin Bust Highlights Symposium

The presentation of a bronze bust of Sen. A.M. Aikin Jr. to Paris Junior College highlighted the third annual Aikin Symposium on State Governmental Affairs at the college Thursday, October 8. The former state senator could not attend as he was in the hospital, but his wife, "Miss Welma," and son, Bobby, represented him.

State Sen. Ed Howard, who presented the bust on behalf of the Senate, explained that an Italian sculptor had been commissioned by the Senate to create a bronze bust of Sen. Aikin for the Senate floor. The only other bust on the Senate floor will be that of Ben Ramsey, former lieutenant governor. Two identical busts were bronzed in Italy, and one was given to the college since PJC is Sen. Aikin's home college and Paris his hometown. The bust will be exhibited in the Aikin Archives on campus.

A spotlight was placed upon the bust as it was presented during a luncheon Thursday. Guest speaker at the luncheon was Abner V. McCall, Chancellor of Baylor University, who noted that "no man has made a greater contribution in education to the State of Texas than Sen. Aikin." He used Whittier's poem, "Abraham Davenport," to illustrate Sen. Aikin's dedication to the state. To initiate the symposium, Joe R. Greenhill, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Texas, gave the keynote address on the checks and balances of government. He explained the purpose of the system and the history of the separation of powers, noting that control of the three governmental parts creates a dictatorship or tyranny. After the talk by Judge Greenhill, a panel discussion on projections for Texas was given by Sen. Howard and State Rep. L.P. (Pete) Patterson. Taxes, redistricting, minorities and other concepts were discussed, and the panelists answered questions of the guests.

Area high school and college students participated in the symposium, which is sponsored annually by PJC, Austin College, East Texas Baptist College, Grayson County College, Texarkana College and East Texas State University. In addition to representatives from the sponsoring colleges, students groups attended from Paris High, North Lamar, Clarksville, Honey Grove, Liberty Eylau, Fannindel, Rivercrest, Cooper, Texarkana, Sherman, Leonard, Sulphur Springs, Roxton, Sam Rayburn, Savoy, Avinger, Whitesboro, Detroit, Paul Pewitt, Trenton, Mt. ON LOVING DARKNESS

October 25, 1981

Background Scripture: John 3.

Devotional Reading: 1 John 5:6-12.

Next to the 23rd Psalm, probably the best known Bible verse throughout the world is John 3:16. "For God so loved the world that he gave his only Son, that whoever believes in him should not perish but have eternal life." If you have memorized and remember just one verse of scripture, chances are that it will be that one.

I wish, however, that all of those of us who took the effort to memorize those words would have gone on to memorize with it the next verse as well: "For God sent the Son into the world, not to condemn the world, but that the world might be saved through him" (John 3:17).

NOT TO CONDEMN

It is true that v. 17 only makes stronger and more explicit what is being said in v. 16. John is saying, first of all, that God's intention was, not that we should perish, but that we should experience "eternal life." But in v. 17 he puts it in language even more direct, indicating that God's purpose was "not to condemn the world," but to insure that the world would be "saved."

So the central thrust of the Gospel of Jesus Christ is not one of condemnation, but salvation. John 3 speaks of both judgement and love, but by far love gets the spotlight, not judgement. In fact, the Gospel According to John—as well as his epistles—is mainly about the love of God for us and the love he expects us to extend to one another. Why is it, then, that the message so many people hear from Christians is one of condemnation? Oh, to be sure, we condemn one another for "the best of reasons"—to preserve the truth of the Gospel, to keep others from continuing in sin or error, to preserve the purity of the Church, etc. But regardless of how we may rationalize it, John 3:17 makes it clear for all who will see it that condemnation is not what the Gospel is about and not what God expects of us.

DEEDS WROUGHT IN GOD

John 3:16 does not proclaim that the world's sins so angered God that he sent Jesus to condemn us, but that "God so loved the world that he gave his only Son." God could have brought upon humanity a terrible wrath to get our attention and frighten us into repentance. What he did, however, was to permit Jesus to go to a cross. Jesus came, therefore, not to "smite the sinners" of the world, but to love them and to be "lifted up" so that we might believe in God's love for us and for all people everywhere. So John speaks, not of "right beliefs," but of loving deeds: "But he who does what is true comes to the light, that it may be clearly seen that his deeds have been wrought in God" (3:21).

John's observation was that, although "the light has come into the world...men loved darkness rather than light" (3:19). And part of the darkness which we often love so much more than light is the desire to condemn each other in the name of the Lord of Love. If your gospel is one of condemnation, it is a gospel of darkness, not light.

Where There's a Need, Small Business Usually Follows.

The light bulb, zipper, xerography, air conditioning, the telephone, jet engine and safety razor all came from the workshops of small business people.

"Genius is one percent inspiration and ninety-nine percent perspiration," said Thomas A. Edison, the entrepreneur who gave us the light bulb, the phonograph, movies, and 1,093 other inventions.

Half of all the new products in this century have come from small business men and women. Their imagination, their infinite skills, and their willingness to take the necessary risks have spawned new industries, created countless jobs, and made the world a better place.

If you own or work in a small business, be proud: small business makes US great.
