

Area Agriculture Hard Hit By "Crunch"

By Nanalee Nichols
Farmers are busy "dry cleaning" their fields, planting, fertilizing and getting ready for a new growing season.
In what is traditionally a season for hope, renewed faith in the soil and it's bounty, a dark cloud hangs over their heads.
Farmers, all over America, are going broke.
Latest reports show that Texas farmers are slightly better off than their mid-western counterparts. To quote they are "not going broke quite as fast".

Even so, thousands of Texas farmers, including many in this area, are filing bankruptcy, quitting to take other jobs, or applying for a conveyance of land and equipment to their loan source.
Falling prices, extreme increases in the cost of equipment, chemicals and fertilizer have all contributed to the pattern of gradual loss of income in the farm and cattle business.
The most dramatic problem has been the sharp drop in the price of farm land or pasture land. Where farmers did have a great deal of equity because prime land was selling for $600 to $1000 per acre, many cannot sell land for $350 per acre.

This land devaluation has hurt their borrowing ability. Two droughts and several moderate crop years contributed to the piling up of back debts.
Last year, in this area, crops were good, but prices were so poor that a break even situation was "good". There was no way to reduce debt size by any real margin.

Farm economist predictions are gloomy. They forecast more foreclosures and bankruptcies, and little hope for a rapid improvement in the situation.
Lamar and Red River Counties depend heavily on agriculture for revenue. Prairiland CISD's main source of tax money is from land owners and home owners, it has no heavy industry to contribute.
As if to further the problem, the disaster in the oil market has further contributed to a poor economic outlook for the future year.

Unemployment is up in Lamar County.
Agriculture related businesses, equipment and parts dealers, feed and fertilizer suppliers, chemical companies, mills, all feel the farm crunch. Their employees spend less, as well as the farmer.
What will correct the situation is uncertain. Whether the family farm will become a thing of the past, except in isolated cases, is yet to be seen.

Many predict corporate farms will be the solution. Many hope that it won't come to that, that prices will have to go up sharply as fewer and fewer acres of land are in production.
Whatever the answer, this spring, farmers don't have the same contented, satisfied look of a job well done at the end of a planted field. Instead they look.....worried.

NICHOLS' WORTH
By: Nanalee Nichols

Monday, some people were discussing the plight of an elderly lady at a self-service gas pump the other day. She admitted that she had never tried to pump her own gas before, and expected some assistance. There was, of course, no assistance forthcoming, except in the form of one of the bystanders.

The world moves so very fast for the elderly. Eyes that aren't as sharp, reflexes not as fast, hearing not as keen, contribute to this, but also, there is the fact that today's world is so fast paced.

How can someone whose life began when cars were an exception rather than the norm, be expected to comprehend the maze of computerization that faces people today?

After 50 years of windshield washers, air checks, and full service, how can they really adjust to self service?

New check out systems, a world of signs pointing here, there and everywhere, new rules, new numbers, new forms, it is enough to be bewildering to someone in their prime. In fact, most of us spend a certain amount of time complaining about the de-humanization of hospital care, income taxes and various other things.

Just how much more bewildering must it be to one who is forced by the facts of time to walk slowly, to take their time deciphering words and small print?

Alone, often, venturing out into the world must sometimes be a "daresome" event.

There is, of course, a simple solution. Help. Help from casual bystanders. Help from the younger person standing next in a line. Help from family, who sometimes believe they can't spare the time from their busy schedules to "take mom to town" or drop by to see if they can be of assistance.

Taking a little time to visit the elderly, taking a little time to smile and say hello, to open a door, to help carry a burden of groceries or goods....it's basically a small thing to do.

But the rewards are great, gratitude often exceeds the bounds of the deed done. It feels good to know one has been of assistance.

And always, of course, if we really face up to it, there is the knowledge that someday, at some time, we too will be faced with the same changed, fleeting world!

Prairiland Future Homemakers Extremely Active

Vocational Home Economics Education prepares youth and adults for the occupation of homemaking and for gainful employment in home economics occupations. Consumer and Homemaking Education, which prepares students for the occupation of homemaking, is offered in both a comprehensive sequence course format in a specialized course format. The comprehensive Consumer and Homemaking Education courses include Homemaking I, II and III. These courses develop in a progressive sequence the concepts related to all subject areas required for the occupation of homemaking. The specialized courses include Child Development, Care and Guidance; Clothing and Textiles; Consumer Education; Family/Individual Health; Family Living and Parenthood; Food and Nutrition; Home Management; and Housing, Home Furnishings, and Equipment. These courses provide in-depth instruction in one home economics subject area. Together these methods of instruction account for Vocational Home Economics Education having such an

One hundred and two students are enrolled in the Prairiland Homemaking program. There are 20 boys and 80 girls. grams are as follows:

 Prairiland FHA projects include: sponsoring homecoming reception; faculty Christmas party; Great American Smokeout; Students Against Alcohol and Driving while

Home at Christmas; decorating the lunchroom at Halloween; and making cakes for kindergarten.

CAUGHT-The Prairiland FFA offered to be of assistance with what was sometimes a very "sticky" situation. These seven geese, belonging to Thomas and Nanalee

Nichols, migrated repeatedly from the Nichols' to the garage of Betty Merritt, who lives "just down the road". For sometime uncatchable, the invasion of 30 or so

FFA students, running, chasing and circling, soon rounded up the recalcitrant fowl, who are going to a new home in Roxton. (Staff Photo)

Former Deport Woman Creates Crosswords

East Post Oak News

By Mrs. Howard Crawford

The Post Oak Church gave a cook out Saturday night with a large crowd attending.

The United Methodist Church gave a chicken spaghetti supper Saturday night by the UMW Women. A large crowd attended. They netted $525 including a quilt that was sold to Mr. and Mrs. James Crawford. The top was pieced by the late Mrs. Lura Foster of Reno.

We want to thank all the ones who worked so hard in cooking and serving the food. We also had soem good singing after the supper. They honored Mr. and Mrs. Butler Stevens with a money tree on their 62nd anniversary.

A few of the men have been working on our tabernacle. Anyone who can give some time and some money would be appreciated for we want to have the top sprayed, it is so rusty the center also needs painting.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Martinez and boys of Greenville visited Mr. and Mrs. Howard Crawford Saturday night. Josh is spending his spring break with us and his aunt, Vicki Foster of Mt. Olive.

We are happy to hear that Huie Proffitt of Reno is able to be at home after three weeks in St. Joseph's Hospital with pneumonia.

Mrs. Eula Mitchell spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Garth Crawford, also visited church with them Sunday. Also they visited her sister Sunday evening at Post Oak.

Candidate Meets With Blossom Citizens

Ray Kennemer of Paris met and had lunch with the Senior Citizens of Blossom Friday, March 21 at the Blossom Community Center. Mr. Kennemer is a candidate for the Silver Haired Legislature which will meet in Austin at the State Capitol on September 28-October 1.

He is a veteran of World War II and retired teacher from Paris Junior College and also a retiree from Babcock and Wilcox, Co. He and his wife, Iva Lee, a retired teacher in the Paris Independent School District, are members of the Lamar Avenue Church of Christ, where he is an elder. They reside at 1215 Cope Drive in Paris. They have two sons, Pete and Bob.

Kennemer would represent the counties of Lamar, Delta and Hopkins of the Ark-Tex Council of Governments nine county region.

Kennemer filed for the election in the Ark-Tex Area Agency on Aging office in Texarkana before the end of February, obtaining more than the required 35 signatures of endorsement by other eligible voters 60 years of age or older.

The election will be statewide on Friday, May 30.

As a Silver Haired Legislator Kennemer said he welcomes discussion of issues not only concernign senior citizens but all citizens. He said he recognizes the importance of older citizens in the community and believes in their being alert to needs of the community, spending their time and talents in much needed directions. Older citizens should be alert to the legislature and opportunities to be involved in making legislative choices that affect all possible, he said.

Kennemer is being sponsored by the local chapters of AARP, RSVP and the Retired Teachers Association.

Carson And Barnes Circus In Area

Recognized for five years as "The Biggest Big Top on Earth" the great Carson & Barnes 5-Ring Circus reaches a new pinnacle with its enlarged Golden Anniversary performance, coming to the fairgrounds in Paris for one day only, shows at 2 and 8 p.m. on Saturday, March 29, sponsored by the Red River Shrine Club.

Highlighted are no fewer than 111 acts, each of which is described by the circus management as center ring calibre. Included are Patricia White's huge mixed group of lions and tigers and a trained liger, lion father, tiger mother; quadruple somersaulting Ricardo Morales, leading three troupes of flying trapeze artists; the Alfonso Loyal Repensky troupe of bareback riders; the Perez family, riding an eight foot high unicycle across the high wire; Beckman, Vargas and Bautista teeterboard troupes, prize manage, dressage and liberty horses; and the spectacular display featuring Carson and Barnes 25 elephants, largest group anywhere.

Among the 25 species in the menagerie are a giraffe, hippopotamus and rhinoceros.

History books come to life as Carson & Barnes uses some of its huge elephant herd for the morning chore of erecting the shining new polyvinyl tent, which stretches more than a city block long. Area residents are invited to come to the show grounds on circus morning to witness this age old spectacle and to see unloading, feeding and watering of the many animals. This is a show in itself, free to everyone, and it may soon disappear from the American scene. Carson & Barnes is the only big tented circus still making traditional one day stands.

Tickets will be on sale at the circus grounds on Showday.

Blaze Cleans Old Deport Cemetery

The last crop of last year's weeds and grass went up in smoke last week at the Old Deport Cemetery south of the city.

The blaze, controlled by Deport voluntary firemen, made the grounds ready for regular mowings this year.

Firemen received a donation from the Cemetery Association officials who thanked them for their efforts. Also thanked was City Marshall Bud Nobles for his assistance and to all who continue to contribute to the maintenance fund.

The Old Deport Cemetery Association was organized in August of 1971 when the following officers were named: Ed Bryson, president; Edith Fuller, secretary-treasurer; and Marvin Nobles, vice-president. Mr. Nobles has been inactive for the past few years, but his early efforts and continued interest are reflected in the improvements of the grounds.

The Old Deport Cemetery, so-called because it was the first burial place for the city, is no longer used. Burials were shifted to Highland Cemetery west of Deport, which now is among the most attractive cemeteries in the county.

No one knows for certain when the old cemetery was first used. But the earliest marked grave is dated 1871, showing it to be at least 115 years old.

The first road past the grounds was on the east side, when a church was located nearby. Sometime about 1920 the road was shifted to the west side where it remains and is kept in good condition by County Commissioner Jimmie Sparks.

Any further history of the old cemetery will be appreciated by the cemetery association.

Contributions are also needed to pay for continued regular mowings, which were made the past few years by Paris Fireman Ronnie Blount. He is expected to carry on the work this year.

Donations may be made to Edith Fuller, P.O. Box 142, Deport, TX 75435 or to Ed Bryson, P.O. Box 362, Bogata, TX 75417. And contributions may be left at the First National Bank in Deport.
