Not having children we have had less of an opportunity to "kid watch" than most people have.

At the same time, with nieces, nephews and the children of friends we have done a pretty good share of it.

We probably have a little more objective view than most people who do have children...although that may be debateable too.

To get to the point, we spent Saturday afternoon watching NeLeigh King, the nine year old daughter of close friends Dicky and Jayne King, competing in the state gymnastics competition.

We were as fiercely protective and hopeful as any parent ever was.

We also got a great chance to observe a lot of youngsters.

One of the most interesting things about the afternoon was watching these young ladies receive gifts. Almost every team member received something from their school, either a stuffed animal, usually dressed as a gymnast, or roses, or corsages. In addition, most of the girls received flowers or a good luck telegram from dotting parents, grandparents or family.

And there was every type of response imaginable. Some of the children leaped up and down in joy. Some clutched their gifts tightly. Others smiled politely and laid them aside. One or two actually picked the flowers apart in nervous anxiety over the upcoming competition. Some just didn't seem to care at all.

The responses, in other words, were as varied as the human race.

It was easy to spot children who were over indulged, and to whom the gifts had virtually no meaning.

It was easy to spot the children who had very little in life, they could hardly be separated from their presents. Most of them fell in between the two extremes.

During the competition it was just as easy to spot those same over indulged youngsters...they were the ones who shrugged off instructions and pouted when their routine didn't receive the score they thought it should.

Of course, to be in state competition at all self-discipline was necessary, so there really wasn't too much of that.

The whole afternoon was spent not only enjoying the skills and gracefulness of these kids, it was spent making observations about their life styles and training.

And, it was heartening to notice just how appreciative and competitive (and sportsmanlike) these children were.

What started out as an afternoon of watching one child turned into a great appreciation of many children. It was fascinating. It was heart warming.

In that selection of gymnasts were most of the facets of humanity, a cross section of ourselves.

We wouldn't have missed the lessons that were there for the teaching for the world!

Do You Use Our TV Schedule? We Need To Know!

Do you use our television schedule for anything? We really need to know.

If you use our television schedule, please check "yes" on the following coupon. If you don't use it, please check "no". Or, just give us a call at 652-4205 or 652-5822 and tell us if you use the schedule or not.

It seems to us that with the expanding number of cable channels, the variety of programs on satellite receivers and such it is almost impossible for us to provide a schedule that truly meets the needs of our viewers. The magazine type daily papers use isn't feasible for us, and the cost of the schedule seems to constantly escalate.

Therefore, we will take the results of this survey and use them to determine if the television schedule is cost effective and truly providing something our readers want.

If we decided to drop the television schedule we would like to replace it with more local articles, features and things our readers might actually like better.

So please, remember, it's your paper, let us know how you feel!

YES, I use the television schedule and want to see it continued.

NO, I don't use the television schedule and would rather see more features

DEPORT NURSING HOME residents and staff released balloons recently in honor of National Nursing Home Week.

Pct. 1 To Have "Late Spring Clean Up"

Lamar County Precinct 1 Commissioner Troy Owens plans to provide as a public service a week-long clean up. This clean up is for residents of Precinct 1 only, and is not for businesses or anyone not living with the Pct. 1 area.

The week of June 3 through the 7 the precinct residents can bring old televisions, refrigerators, washers, dryers and other large items to the Precinct 1 County Barn at Pattonville from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily for free disposal.

Commissioner Owens stated that all a resident needs to do is bring what they have to dispose of, and the county will do so free of charge.

No garbage will be accepted, however.

Proof of residency may be asked for in order to assure that this service is done for Precinct One residents only.

Owens says the service is being offered on an experimental basis to start with, in order to help people get rid of large items, which are becoming increasingly difficult to dispose of.

Hopefully, Owens says, people will take advantage of this offer, since it is without cost.

If it is a success it might become available at certain times during the year.

River Cablevision Offering New Service

River Cablevision manager Jim Short has announced that beginning in June cable subscribers in Deport, Blossom and Bogata will be able to pay their cable bills to a cable representative at the city office in each city.

The decision to try this system of paying cable bills will be an experiment, Short says, with a 90 day trial basis.

The service will be offered as a convenience to the customers, Short stated, and if it proves to be a success, plans will be made to provide the service on a permanent basis.

Dates and times for a collection representative to be on hand will be announced by Short soon.

Don't Buy An Ad To Run In These Papers Unless One Of Our Employees Is Selling It!

Publisher Nanalee Nichols and Managing Editor Thomas Nichols want to warn ALL of their advertisers not to buy and ad from United Newspaper Services if the salesman claims that it will run in the Deport Times, Bogata News, Talco Times or Blossom Times.

This firm is NOT representing Thunder Prairie Publishing nor any of its newspapers.

They have been in the Paris area attempting to sell a Business Review, and according to several people, have not made it extremely clear that the stories they would be running about various businesses would have a price tag attached.

In addition, they do not have an agreement with Thunder Prairie to use the papers as a selling point, or to be selling ads that will come out in the newspapers owned by Thunder Prairie Publishing.

According to Managing Editor Thomas Nichols "we make our own sales calls. The only people selling ads for us are employed by us, and no one from United Newspaper Services has ever been employed by us. At present I am the primary salesman, with Shirley Nunez doing some phone sales, and Denise Wood occasionally filling in as an additional salesman. Of course, Nancy Brown, Liz Irwin, or Keye Lee may occasionally ask someone about an ad".

If any problem is encountered with this, please call the Nichols' at 652-4205 or 652-5823.

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

This week, Country Cooking is coming from the kitchen of Buster and Louise Crossland of Pattonville.

Buster and Louise were married 35 years ago May 6 and moved from the Windom area in 1961 to make Pattonville their home. Buster and Louise are members of the Church of Christ in Pattonville and they have three children: Willie and wife Donna of Pattonville, and their children, Michael, 15 and David, 6; Travis; and Annette, age 9 of Paris; and Mary Ann and husband Kent Wright of Pattonville and their son, Brandon, 3.

Louise's career for the past four years has been babysitting with Drew, 4, Leah, 2, Casey, 2 and Brandon, 3. Do I need to add that Louise is a very busy lady? She enjoys cooking, collecting cookbooks, sewing and canning vegetables and fruits. She doesn't really like to cook fancy foods, just plain simple recipes. She says she can't begin to count the number of recipes she has. She also enjoys sewing for herself and her granddaughter. Louise says that Buster does all the gardening and both of them do the canning. They have already prepared several jars of beets and English peas. She says they will be very busy for the next few weeks because once the canning begins, it's a constant chore. She loves to share her fruits and vegetables with friends and family. Louise was already preparing several food items for a Mother's Day feast. She was expecting all her children and grandchildren for Sunday dinner.

Louise has chosen some recipes to share with the readers that she and her family have enjoyed over the past few years. The Strawberry Jello Cake recipe came from a cookbook she purchased back in the 70's from Tina Gibson, who was selling them for the school. Louise mentioned she had a difficult time explaining to Brandon he had to wait until Sunday to eat some of this cake. He was ready to sample.

Louise wanted to share this recipe for sweetened milk so you can make your own "eagle brand milk". She found it in a farm magazine she got through the mail several years ago. She says it's very easy to make and once you get it blended it is ready to use.

The hominy casserole recipe came from a homemaking class her daughter was in during high school. The Goody Bars came from her sister-in-law in Windom. The Millionaire Pie recipe came from their son, Willie. Louise says this recipe is different from other Millionaire Pies she has seen, so pay close attention to it.

Louise states that Buster can really make good fudge and does a much better job of it than she. If you would like his recipe for fudge, maybe he would share it with you if you call him.

If you've enjoyed the article, request a recipe or have a recipe to share or suggest a feature, please call 652-6032 or write Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport, TX 75435.

Northern Italy A Fabulous Place

By Nanalee Nichols
Editor's Note: For those interested in hearing about a trip to Switzerland, here's your chance. If you aren't, feel free to read something else...this article is definitely for those with travel in their hearts!

Last week I recounted climbing through the mountains of Switzerland and waking in snowfall. Then we continued our climb until we crested the Julier Pass and began the torturous descent, going down nearly 6,000 feet. Soon after our descent into the Engadin Valley changes in the terrain and type of village began to be noticeable.

Instead of the towering cedars, firs and other mountain trees we began to see the occasional palm tree. Roofs became flatter, houses closer together.

As we pulled up to the Italian border our guide told us it was illegal to photograph any military installation in Italy, including the border crossing, and to put away our cameras or risk having our film confiscated!

The Italian police came on board to check each and every passport then waved us through.

Soon there were vineyards and olive groves and little villages...and crazy drivers.

The Italians (and indeed, most Europeans) live by the horn. They beep beep before passing, they beep beep on curves, they beep beep when they are aggravated, and they beep beep when they are feeling friendly!

Our driver would honk before going down a narrow, blind street. If no one honked back then he would proceed.

The streets were like something from another age, so narrow we often gasped as window sills, walls and balconies went by literally only two or three inches away from the bus windows.

Occasionally we would meet a car and if the alley was too narrow, Renzo, being the largest vehicle on the road, would force it to back up so that we could come on through!

After one particularly harrowing navigation feat, in which the corner was so sharp and narrow that he had to back the bus up twice before it could be made, Renzo received an ovation from his bus load of tourists!

Lesley told us that Monday was wash day in Italy...and was she ever right.

On virtually every balcony, window sill or fence, washing hung. In some of the villages women could be seen at the public wash trough, scrubbing clothes. Pristine white villas studded the terraced hillsides, and stooped over figures wended their way down rows of grape vines, trimming, tying up and preparing the vineyards for the upcoming season.

We stopped at a tiny village for ice cream or coffee (which was as bad in Italy as it is in Switzerland). Several of us wandered through the ancient, narrow stone streets, and discovered a small, beautiful church. Inside were glorious gilded carvings of trumpet sounding angels and a beautiful altar. As in most Catholic churches, people came and went unselfconsciously, saying their prayers, lighting candles and then going their way.

A handsome, ancient fountain splashed in a tiny town square, and a young man in a truck planted geraniums at every crossroads.

After our refreshing walk we boarded the bus again and headed through the town of Donga. Up in the mountains surrounding the town the infamous Mussolini was captured and taken to Milano where the partisans hung him during World War II.

We wove in and out of tiny mountainous roads until we were back in Switzerland to spend the night in Lugano.

Lugano is on one edge of a huge lake, while Italy claims the other side.

The entire region, although Swiss, speaks Italian, thinks Italian and looks Italian.

Our hotel room boasted a wrought iron veranda that overlooked the lush palms and olive trees and the lake.

Soon after arrival we wandered down hill to take a look at the town.

Quickly lost in the narrow twisting thoroughfares, we asked an elderly man how to find the cathedral. He spoke no English, and my Italian is pretty basic too. We couldn't find out which way to go until I tried imitating a person praying...then his face lit up and he enthusiastically pointed us in the right direction.

Imagine our surprise when Richard, Helen, Thomas and I rounded the corner and found ourselves not more than a 100 yards from the cathedral we had been looking for.

Inside the huge building were murals and carvings to take the breath away.

A beautiful stained glass window shed ambient, liquid colors onto the ancient stones.

Boats plied the waters of Lake Lugano, and sidewalk cafes sported a host of people enjoying the sunshine and sipping on some sort of liquid be it the dreadful coffee, beer or wine..

We made a quick stop by a bank, and I practised my "thank you" in Italian, "Grazi" I responded to their help.

We walked for miles up and down steep stairways and the tiny streets. Beautiful fresh flower stalls, filled with hydrangeas, miniature roses and daisies, filled the air with perfumes.

Fruit and vegetable stands offered glorious fresh produce, arranged in patterns and colors that were more works of art than anything else.

Tiny fountains interspersed the stalls.

The four of us stood in the window of a seafood shop and marvelled at the selection of caviar, shrimp, salmon and other goodies.

Pastry shops were paeans of praise to taste buds, and salami and cheeses hung like a collection of strange creatures from the rafters of stalls.

Wine shops showed the end results of all those vineyards, their colors imitating that of the stained glass windows in the churches.

Fresh poultry (feet still attached) hung in shop windows, and meats of every variety were marked with their prices.

A sidewalk cafe provided a meal of canilonni and torteloni for us all and a rain shower made us linger at the meal.

We found out that in Italy pastas are never served as a main course! An Italian meal will begin with olives and salami slices, then a spaghetti or pasta dish with sauce, then the main course of meat and vegetables. Only in other countries is pasta the main course.

After buying hand embroidered book marks (thank heavens I remembered that bibleoteca means book in Italian) we took a little funicular rail car to the top of the hill and went back to the hotel.

Imagine our joy at discovering our suitcases had finally arrived!

Helen stayed behind while the rest of our quartet went on to the huge park nearby. Pathways wandered through acres of magnificent magnolias and olive trees, carefully tended rose gardens and flower beds. At the back a playground was covered with children, running and swinging, climbing and generally being indulged by their pretty young mothers.

Rain finally drove us back, and we sat on the balcony watching it snow on the mountains high above us while the rain fell below.

Patriot Sports Report

Patriots Fall To Wills Point, To Play Queen City For Bi-District Bid

The Prairiland Patriots were fanned last Monday, May 13 by the Wills Point Tigers, who had nothing to lose in their final contest of the season. The Patriots had already cinched a play-off berth, but the defeat by the Wills Point team means that the Patriots will not tie Mt. Vernon for district, but will play the 14-3A champion Queen City for the Bi-district crown.

The Patriot-Wills Point game ended in a 3-2 defeat for the Patriots, as Luke Walker, the Tiger pitcher and recent signee of Panola Junior College, fanned 17 Patriots to hold their offense in check and give the Tigers the opportunity to come away with the victory.

"You have to give that kid a lot of credit," said Patriot coach Bill Scudder. "With a pitcher like that, you have to hit the first available fastball because of his good curve. If you don't, he's going to have you on the ropes."

Though the Patriots tied the score at 2-2 in the top half of the third inning with Mark Farris reaching on a walk and Michael Madewell being hit by a Walker pitch, it wasn't enough to overcome the final score in the game.

Neither team managed another run until the seventh inning, when Wills Point's Brooks touched off the Tiger celebration with his home run.

Cundari & Johnson Qualify For Regional Track Meet

James Cundari and Jerry Johnson, Prairiland High School tracksters, have been placed among the qualifiers for the regional meet. Cundari won first in the discus with a throw of 140'4" for a new school record, as well as a new district record, along with placing fourth in the shot with a throw of 41'9 1/2"; and Johnson placed first in High jump, clearing 5'10", which also set a new school record.

Scotty Babb placed first for Junior Varsity in the discus, throwing 118'9" and second place in the shot, throwing 35'2".

Jay Harrison placed fifth for the JV team in discus with a throw of 95'10" and Danny Bradford placed sixth for JV in the 1600 m run.

Patrick Williams placed third for the JV in the 3200 m run and James Taylor placed fifth for the JV in the 200 m run.

Others competing were B.A. Sessums, Junior Burson, Benny Baker, John Fagan and Casey Mitchell.

Pony League Team Wins 3

The Blossom Patriots came from behind to defeat the Orioles 5-4. The Patriots played good defense, but had trouble eat the plate in pushing their record to 3-1.

Gearl Keys, Jason Whitley and Paul Jackson pitched excellent games, giving up only one hit. Paul Jackson finished the game to pick up the win. Leading hitters were Paul Jackson 3-3 with a double and triple; Jason Whitley and Scotty Murray each had two hits.

In the second game of last week the Patriots defeated the Mets 6-4. Blossom only had four hits, but limited the Mets to only 3. Collecting hits for Blossom were Paul Jackson, Zachary Allen, Scotty Murray and Daniel Cato.

Paul Jackson was the winning pitcher, going three innings with no walks and 7 strike outs. Jason Whitley and Gearl Keys finished the game on the mound.

In the third game of the week, Blossom came into the game tied with the Red Sox, when the dust had cleared, Blossom finished with a 7-6 victory and stood alone in second place at 5-1.

Paul Jackson went the distance on the mound, striking out 9 batters.

Blossom had five hits, with Paul Jackson getting two to help his own cause. Others with hits were Gearl Keys, Jason Whitney and Jeff Gilbert.

Extension Homemakers Meet

The Prairiland Extension Homemakers met recently at the Pattonville Community Center with Ruth Johnson, president, calling the meeting to order. Roll Call was answered with "something beautiful I saw today" by five members.

Ruth Johnson gave the program "Reduce, Recycle, Reuse." She explained about plastics, aluminum, cardboard and some paper. All can be turned in and some you get paid for. She also said to look for the recycled emblem on the grocery sacks. Most of them are made of recycled paper and a number of other things are also made of recycled paper and she spoke on reusing a number of other things.

Refreshments were served to five members and the next meeting will be June 10 at the Community Center with Vickie Reves as hostess.

Contel Gives Excellence Awards To Deport Eighth Graders

Carrie Gibson and JoJuanita Lewis, eighth graders at Deport Elementary School, recently received Contel's Excellence Through Achievement award.

The award program was created to honor students in Northeast Texas who display sound academic standing, leadership skills and good character. Recipients must be in the top quarter of their class, demonstrate good leadership skills and should set a good example for their peers.

Carrie, the daughter of Tommy and Sue Gibson and Jo Juanita, the daughter of Joe and Sharon Lewis, received an Excellence Through Achievement certificate and a Contel telephone. Their names will be placed on a plaque displayed at Deport Elementary School.

"In the 1990's, education will become even more crucial to the country to its citizens," explained James Wise, Contel District Manager in Whitehouse. Contel wants to recognize and encourage those students who continue to strive for excellence in school. After all, the students in our schools today will be our leaders of tomorrow. The Excellence Through Achievement award is just one way Contel can show support of these young people and their efforts."

Contel of Texas, now part of GTE, supplies local phone service to more than 168,000 customers across the state.
