REV. VICTOR McMANUS

East Side Sets Revival July 14-21

Victor McManus, who comes from Belfast, Northern Ireland, will be guest speaker and soloist at East Side Baptist Church in Haskell, July 14-21.

Rev. McManus, a native of Northern Ireland, has spent over 20 years in the British Isles and Europe as one of the most used evangelists and Bible teachers the islands have produced. Dr. Billy Graham says, after hearing McManus preach in Eastbourne, England, "He has a unique presentation of the Gospel, gifted in the use of illustration and is greatly used of the Lord." Dr. Paul Rees of World Vision, U.S.A., says "He is a great Bible preacher and has many other gifts that the Lord is using throughout the world."

Victor McManus has been endowed with "Irish Charm." A leading English newspaper has termed him "brilliant in Irish folk-tales and songs which he uses to good effect in presenting Christ to the world." His early training was in the field of music and dramatic art under the guidance of Prof. Maddock Davies, Royal College of Music and Dramatic Art, London. After his rather dramatic conversion at the age of 27, McManus became a music and song director for Dr. Alan Redpath and Dr. Stephen Olford. He was also founder and director of the St. Andrews Seminary Male Singers in London, where he also studied theology.

The Irish preacher was for 10 years senior evangelist with the largest evangelistic movements in Europe, known as the Movement for World Evangelization. He is married, with a charming wife, Maureen, and four children, two sons, Samuel and David, who are studying in London, a daughter, Joy, a recent graduate of the University of Texas at Austin, and Jill, their youngest daughter, who has just graduated from high school.

This dynamic evangelist and teacher is expository in his style and is a man worth listening to, especially on the problems that confront our society today.

Sonny Rios of Dallas, an outstanding tenor soloist, will lead the singing and will sing solos each evening. Sonny has been used by state conventions as soloist, and in Europe and England. He is an outstanding pianist and choir director. Sonny, a graduate of North Texas State University, is one of the finest Gospel tenors in the states.

Ellis, Wooten Share Win In Capitol Shoot

Capitol City Trap Club of Oklahoma City held its 75th annual State Trap Shoot, July 3 through July 7, with prizes ranging from six new automobiles to electric drills. Over 400 trap shooters from as far away as California to New York traveled to match their ability against some of the best trap shooters in the U.S.A.

Haskell's Steve Ellis and Wallace Wooten participated for their share of the win — Ellis took the Class B Doubles Championship by a large margin with 94x100 — Wooten shot the whole program of 400 Doubles, 300 Singles and 300 Handicap to break an even 950x1000. Wooten made the cut in the Handicap event Thursday by only two targets but Saturday just lacked one target tying for the Championship. This meant Wooten was in solid for the $11,000 guaranteed purse. First place $2,000.00, 2nd $1,000.00, 3rd $1,000.00, 4th $500.00. The rest of the purse divided among the remaining 43 shooters. On the second trap, Wooten ran into trouble, losing four targets and finishing with 93x100 from the maximum yardage.

"Lest We Forget"

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Following is a speech given by Dennis P. Ratliff at the dedication of a war memorial, December 7, 1968, located on the southwest corner of the square. The memorial was dedicated by Rogers-Cox Post 221, American Legion, headed by Commander Bob Philpot. The memorial was sponsored and erected by the Haskell Jaycees in memory of those who gave their lives in all wars.)

The passing of time, and the waging of new wars, dim our nation's memory. If we could only know the feelings of those heroes who gave their lives on the fields of battle, maybe we would not be so forgetful. The man who does not stop and think, who does not remember and regret, and who does not tearfully thank God for those who made that sacrifice, is not fit to have a country or a habitation. "A Nation with no regard for its past, will have little future worth remembering."

It is an inspiring and sobering experience to participate in an occasion such as this. Sobering, because it is a reminder of the sacrifices others made for us. Our very freedom was purchased with their blood.

Because of the patriotism and farsightedness of the Jaycees of Haskell and the generosity of the citizens of this community, we have gathered here on this Pearl Harbor Day, December 7, 1968, to dedicate this beautiful structure "in memory of those who gave their lives in all wars."

What they did should be an inspiration to all of us to carry on, and fulfill our patriotic responsibilities now as they did in the past on the field of battle. These are important responsibilities, because our beloved country may never again know the kind of peace and security we once knew.

There was a time in this land of ours, when we could sit back and pursue the even tenor of our way, in comparative safety. Two oceans, one to the East, and one to the West, protected us from invasion. We felt secure in our isolation from the rest of the world. But that was before the atomic age; before the age of aerial warfare. London, Paris, Berlin, Moscow, Manila, Hong Kong, and Tokyo, are all now but a hop, skip and a jump from our own land. Once Dallas, Cleveland, New York and Los Angeles could laugh at the very thought of a threat from a foreign invader; but no longer. Those who gave their lives in all our wars of the past cannot now return to protect us but their courage has made it possible for us to have time to prepare ourselves against these new and ever present dangers.

Inscribed on this beautiful piece of granite are the words: "Lest We Forget." They were put there that we might not forget something. Of what do they remind us not to forget? We must not forget those men of 1776, who dared to defy a despotic monarch to risk, and by risking, to create a shrine of freedom along the fringes of the coastline of a new and unexplored continent.

We must not forget Nathan Hale, the 22-year-old patriot, and his regret that he had but one life to give to his country, and that he gave.

We must not forget the squint-eyed musketeers crouched behind crude barricades at Lexington and Bunker Hill.

We must not forget the suffering of General Washington and his brave men at Valley Forge in the snows of that dreadful winter.

We must not forget those who again fought the British and died in 1812 to guarantee our independence. We must not forget that they too faced tribulations and despair — that they saw their cities bombarded and their capital burned to the ground.

We must not forget those of the Alamo and San Jacinto, who gave to us the wonderful state of Texas in which we live.

We must not forget those who stormed the heights of Chapultepec in old Mexico.

We must not forget the brave men of both the Blue and the Gray, who did not falter when called upon to defend those things, and those principles, which they held to be dear to them.

We must not forget the Maine, and that charge up a sun-baked hill in 1898.

We must not forget those who fought and died in the muck and mire and mud of the trenches of World War I, and those who followed the Stars and Stripes to every corner of the globe in another World conflict, known as World War II, against the tyranny and the lust and the hate that we, as a nation, could not countenance or permit to blossom unchecked and uncontrolled, on this globe.

And, we must not forget the heroes who died in the rice paddies of Korea, and those now dying in the swamps of Vietnam, to hold back the hordes of Communism.

All of these marched away from their homes and loved ones. In their youth and fullness of life, they turned their backs on the peace, contentment and happiness which they had hoped to find, and faced the dangers, discomforts and tragedies, which brought an end to their hopes and dreams and plans for a great future. All of them died for liberty—they died for us that we might be free. They are at rest now. They sleep beneath the shadows of the clouds, careless alike of sunshine and storms—each in the windowless palace of rest. They are at peace. In the midst of battle, in the roar of the conflict, they found the serenity of death. We

4-H DONORS ASSIST YOUTHS IN BOOSTING OUR FOOD SUPPLY WITH GRANTS, INCENTIVES

SPECIAL—Expanding worldwide demand for food and increasing prices have brought agriculture to the lips of nearly everyone. With meat, poultry, dairy products, feed grains, fruits and vegetables in shorter supply than demand, concerns of people are mounting.

"Today's food situation and the need for increased food production has touched nearly every facet of agriculture," says Kenneth H. Anderson, assoc. director, National 4-H Service Committee. "And one such group being encouraged to add to the nation's food supply, are the nation's 4-H members residing or working of farms," he adds.

While individually, 4-H members can't produce the volume of a fulltime farmer, together they represent a powerful influence for increased production, Anderson noted. "With more than a million agricultural projects, 4-H members are making a noteworthy contribution to the nation's food supply," he added.

Supervised by the Cooperative Extension Service, the young people's assistance goes several steps beyond food production. They are doing their bit in conservation of energy and natural resources, marketing and consumer education. And backing them in their efforts are some 60 private sector friends of 4-H providing incentives, recognition and a variety of helpful aids.

On the food production front, Celanese Chemical Company encourages 4-H members with beef projects. Moonman Mfg. Co. sponsors the swine program; Wilson & Co., Inc. youth with sheep; Associated Milk Producers, Inc., young dairymen and Kentucky Fried Chicken, 4-H poultry producers. International Harvester Company supports an all-inclusive agricultural program and The Upjohn Company, veterinary science.

Insuring that energy is used wisely in the production of foodstuffs is one of the many activities of 4-Hers involved in the petroleum power program, supported by Amoco Foundation Inc.; and electric program, aided by Westinghouse Electric Corporation.

Helping their families keep their food costs down are 4-Hers involved in food preservation, dairy foods, and consumer education programs, aided by Kerr Glass Manufacturing Corporation, Carnation Company, and Montgomery Ward.

Also, 4-Hers in the John Deere sponsored conservation of natural resources program, help to improve soil yields, and crop production, along with environmental balance. The Chicago Board of Trade encourages 4-Hers to study marketing practices and procedures in a 4-H commodity marketing program.

And encouraging all 4-Hers to make the best better is the Ford Motor Company Fund, donor of awards in the 4-H achievement program.

For further information about the 4-H program on farms, in town or city, contact the county extension office.

are not related to one another nor to the total of all of them. Neither is this authorized spending related to income from taxes. It is only related as submitted by the President in his budget.

The measure passed last week also attempts to cut out "back door" spending which means authorizing expenditures for programs over a several year period, providing whatever money it takes to run them out without knowing the final cost. At the present time, more than 70% of all Federal spending is in this category. In other words, the Congress has control over less than 30% of Federal money obligated. This legislation will not be any panacea or a cure-all for excessive spending and avoiding budget deficits. Everyone recognizes that the system calls for Congressional self-discipline to really make the new system work. In the debate, it was charged by some that ways would be found to get around the idea of limiting spending and balancing the Federal budget. This is entirely likely unless there is a real determination to make it work.

In economic terms, the imbalance of budget not be overestimated. Expansion or contraction of the budget will not necessarily be applied. It should be applied during the recession and should be reduced during the boom. It should give a certain amount of stability to our fiscal affairs which better judgment based.

Mainly, it can be expected that expenditures will be introduced in the late 1960's but the late 1960's by the lack of action. This reform will be the same fate as long the way and as hope, somehow, they may understand that by this beautiful memorial structure, we honor and glorify them. We particularly express the wish and the hope that this ceremony of dedication will bring some solace and comfort to the dear ones, now living, they left behind, and who have faced, and will face, bravely the burdens and sacrifices of lives without them.

Walter Scott, in his "Old Mortality", writes of one, who spent his years going from cemetery to cemetery throughout Scotland, with his mallet and chisel, deepening the inscriptions on the tombs of her great. It was his purpose, he said, "to make legible the worthy names being erased by the erosions of time, that coming generations might read and remember and emulate their deeds of heroism."

It is said that on the tomb of a British soldier, who fell in Burma during World War II, are inscribed these words: "When you go home, tell them of us, and say, 'For your tomorrow we gave our today'."

In the future, as we pass this place from day to day, read and remember again that great host of heroes of the past, who cared enough to make the supreme sacrifice for us, and by that sacrifice are now saying to us, "For your tomorrow, we gave our today."

On this occasion then, let us pray that through God's providence, somehow, someday, wars will end. But, until that day comes, let us remember the words of Kipling: "The tumult and the shouting Control legislation was described here pointing out its purposes and intent. Now legislation has passed the Congress. The aim, recapturing effective legislative control over Federal spending.

Under this ambitious reform, a new House and Senate Budget Committee will review each year's budget proposal as a whole and recommend over-all levels of spending, estimate revenues, and the amount of surplus or deficit which appears to be the case. Congress would be required to adopt a tentative spending ceiling by May 15 before taking up individual appropriation bills. In September of each year, after all money bills have been passed, Congress would then review its budgetary situation, make adjustments reflecting economic changes since the Spring, and relate spending and revenues before the start of the new fiscal year which is moved from July 1 to October 1.

As the situation now exists, the 14 major appropriation bills, each carrying its own price,

Sons of Hermann Hold Workshop

The presidents, secretaries and membership representatives of nine West Texas lodges of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas participated in a workshop Saturday, July 6, at the Holiday Inn in Sotterwater. The purpose of the workshop was to prepare the lodges for participation in a three-month membership campaign that will begin August 1, said Henry Riemer, San Antonio, grand president of the order, which now has 73,000 members in 162 lodges across Texas.

In addition to Riemer, other Grand Lodge officials who took part in the instruction were Grand Trustee Harold W. Engelhardt, Dr. Albert Stiebel, grand physician; Marvin O. Gold, grand guide and Grand Lodge district supervisor; and Samuel L. Ahr, a member of the Grand Lodge Laws Committee and also a Grand Lodge district supervisor, all of San Antonio, where the home office of the society which was founded by the German pioneers of Texas is situated.

The West Texas lodges represented were Lubbock No. 16, Odessa No. 38, Abilene No. 59, San Angelo No. 177, Rowena No. 216, Old Glory No. 228, Haskell No. 241, Hermleigh No. 256 and Roscoe No. 257. The Order of the Sons of Hermann is famed for its youth activities program, including free schools for dancing in many communities, and a summer camp for its junior members, and for many fraternal and social activities for its adult members. Motto of the order is "Friendship, Love and Loyalty." The organization takes its name from Hermann, an ancient German hero who delivered his people from oppression by crushing three Roman legions in the Battle of the Teuto-berg Forest in 9 A. D. Hermann, who was known for his many virtues, is listed in many dictionaries by the name of Hermann. The Order of the Sons of Hermann is the oldest fraternal benefit society in the United States. Even so, it has experienced its most dynamic growth in the last quarter century, having doubled its membership in that period. Its home offices are at 315 S. St. Mary's St., in San Antonio.

result should be better and cheaper forage production along with easier livestock handling. The study so far has involved herbicide rates varying from one eighth to 1 pound per acre in volumes of 1/8, 1/4, 1 and 4 gallons an acre. Carriers have been oil-water emulsions, diesel oil, special oils and pre-packaged formulations.

Meadors said applications of 1/8-pound 2,4,5-T, combinations of 2,4,5-T and picloram, and 2,4,5-T and dicamba in 1 gallon of a 1 to 6 diesel oil-water emulsion have been as effective for mesquite control as 1/2-pound of the herbicides in 4 gallons of a 1 to 3 diesel oil-water emulsion per acre.

Low volume, low pressure aerial spray equipment was used in 42-foot swaths. This low volume system is a reduction of 6 pints of diesel oil per acre and 18 pints of water per acre compared to conventional 4-gallon volumes. Meadors pointed out.

"It also means a 200-gallon load would treat 200 acres using 1 gallon an acre, whereas only 50 acres could be treated using 4 gallons per acre. This would appear to influence economics of brush control," he said.

Further Experiment Station research is aimed at developing more efficient low pressure spraying equipment, optimum swath widths, chemical formulations, carriers and more precision flagging.

Low Volume Spray Controls Mesquite

COLLEGE STATION — Low volume aerial application of herbicides can cut costs and still be just as effective as standard dosages in controlling mesquite brush. That conclusion came out of a Texas Agricultural Experiment Station project in which an estimated 30,000 acres were treated at 20 locations in the Rolling Plains, High Plains, Trans Pecos and South Texas. C. H. Meadors of the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Chillicothe-Vernon, said the goal of the continuing research program is to combine economics with safer, more dependable brush control methods. ## Cobb Receives Bank Assignment

R. C. (Cliff) Cobb, vice president and secretary of Rolling Plains Production Credit Association, comes to Houston August 1 on temporary assignment to the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank of Houston. Cobb will work on a consultant basis with the Houston bank, source of PCA loan funds. W. H. Calkins, the bank's president, said Cobb was selected from among the state's 32 PCAs because of his rich background in Production Credit at both the operational and administrative levels. Cobb's assignment at the bank will be to codify already existing PCB and PCA procedures and clearly delineate them for use at the association level. Calkins said this assignment is in connection with requirements outlined in the Farm Credit Act of 1971. Length of the project is anticipated at three months after which he will return to Rolling Plains PCA fulltime. Cobb is a native of Haskell County. He has been with PCA continuously since 1939 except for service during World War II and the Korean Conflict.

1973 Haskell Co. Oil Production

DALLAS—Despite 12 months of production at 100 percent of the maximum effective recovery rate in most Texas fields, a drop of nearly 6.3 million barrels of crude oil from the state's all-time high record high production of 1972 occurred last year. Haskell County, which has recorded production since 1929, last year produced 2,888,888 barrels of oil at the rate of 7,915 barrels a day. Production in 1973 boosted Haskell County's production total through the end of the year to 79,818,952 barrels.
Texas production in 1973 amounted to almost 1.3-billion barrels, tops among the nation's oil producing states and representing 38.6 percent of total U. S. production, according to statistics compiled by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

In 84 years of recorded production, Texas oil fields have produced some 38-billion barrels of oil—approximately 36 percent of the U. S. total.

"The decline in production indicates the basic task of the state's oil men—the more extensive development of Texas fields," said the Association's president, Sherman Hunt, a Dallas independent producer. "But if Congress will adopt economic policies to encourage the search for new fields, we feel this trend can be changed."
Despite the drop in production, the oil that was produced last year in 203 of the state's 254 counties was valued at some $5-billion, an increase of approximately $500-million over the value of oil produced in 1972. This increase partially reflects the increased prices paid for some Texas crude oil during the latter part of 1973.
In addition to larger payments to royalty owners, the higher prices have also been reflected in the state comptroller's reports of increased severance taxes paid by the oil men of Texas.

In 1973, some 33 counties produced more than 10-million barrels of crude oil, with Borden County being added to the list. The top half-dozen, all with production in excess of 50-million barrels, remain the same as the year previous. They are: Scurry, 91.8-million barrels; Ector, 72.6; Yoakum, 66.0; Gaines, 61.3; Andrews, 60.4; Gregg, 53.2.
Gregg County, the only Texas county to produce more than two-billion barrels of oil in the history of recorded production, remains the all-time leader with a cumulative production total through 1973 of almost 2.4-billion barrels. Other counties with cumulative production in excess of one-billion barrels are:
Ector, 1.9-billion barrels; Andrews, 1.6; Rusk, 1.5; Harris, 1.1; Crane, 1.1; Scurry, 1.1.

Rice Springs News

Firecrackers weren't popped at Rice Springs, but most of our residents were very much aware of Independence Day as the flag waved over our home. Many patriotic things were mentioned, old times discussed and fried chicken and ice cream on a stick was the noon time menu.

Tom Watson Singers came out one night. Everyone enjoyed the Gospel singing.

Boegan Rhea and Band entertained one evening with old time fiddle music. Residents and visitors joined in and everyone enjoyed the evening.

A card was received by Pinkie Robertson and Cleo Mondy that Oca Karr a nurse's aide, was vacationing in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Mr. Arthur Lassetter is on our sick list. Mrs. Alverine Merchant is in the Haskell Memorial Hospital. Mr. Emmitt Star has returned from the hospital but still on the sick list.

The Presbyterian and Methodist Churches had communion for the residents. The services were conducted by Bro. Harvey Fridel.

Our hearts are sad from the news that Mrs. Carrie Brundige expired in Hendrick Memorial Hospital, Abilene, Friday morning, July 5. She came to Rice Springs, Nov. 28, 1967. She was 78 years old.

Our resident, Mary Blanche Wilson, had an interesting trip this week. She went to the Wilson Reunion at Cobb Recreation Park in Abilene. Mrs. Wilson is in a wheelchair with crippling arthritis, so she can't travel very easy. Her son-in-law rented a van and expecting it to cost a mint, still wanted her to go. She went on the trip which she enjoyed so much and when they returned the van after four days, Mr. Ed Nelson didn't charge them for the use of the van. Mrs. Wilson is a lovely person, so gay and happy all the time. She says there are still a lot of good people in this world. She is the type that would find them.

Martha Collins is glad to have her sister, Faye Thompson, home after her vacation to Nevada and California.

Mary Turpen has returned home. We will miss her but wish her good luck.

A chain reaction of rear-end collisions on the highway can cause thousands, even millions of dollars of awards for physical damage and personal injuries.
