RURAL LETTER CARRIERS MET LAST MONDAY

The Jones, Haskell and Fisher County Rural Letter Carriers Association met in Haskell Monday, in a regular business session. The association is composed of rural letter carriers of Haskell, Jones, Fisher, Stonewall and Shackelford counties, with the postmasters of the different counties as honorary members. This organization was organized last February and included only three counties, but since its organization two counties have been added, and the membership is composed of 99 per cent of the rural letter carriers of the five counties named.

The meeting was held in the W. O. W. hall, with forty carriers and postmasters together with their relatives, present. Several short talks dealing with the problems of the rural letter carriers were made, as well as suggestions for improving the rural mail service. At the noon hour the visiting carriers and postmasters were the guests of the local postmaster and carriers at a delightful luncheon at the American Cafe.

A short business session was held in the afternoon, at which time Chas. O. Davis of Rule was appointed president of the Association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miller Woodson of this city, who is transferring to the Railway Mail Service. W. L. Fletcher of Hamlin is Secretary-Treasurer of the Association.

The following postmasters were in attendance at Monday's meeting: W. E. Kirkpatrick of this city, Postmaster Adams and son of Stamford, R. H. Penick of Rule, Postmaster McNeirin of Rotan, and Postmaster Perkins and Assistant Postmaster Ballard of Aspermont.

Letter carriers from Rotan, Hamlin, Merkel, Rule, Weinert, Aspermont, Stamford, Avoca, and Haskell were present.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at Rotan, February 22, 1923, and a large attendance is expected at this meeting.

COUNTY TRUSTEES MET TUESDAY

One of the most enthusiastic gatherings of school trustees ever held in this section was held in this city Tuesday when the county school trustees were the guests of the County Board of Education in an all day meeting.

School trustees from every part of the county, representing practically every rural school, were in attendance, and many problems concerning the educational interests of the county were discussed by those present. A comprehensive program, covering every phase and problem of school matters had been arranged for the occasion, and a number of talks and addresses were made. Rev. S. L. Culwell, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, led the devotional at the beginning of the program. The welcome address was delivered by Jno. A. Couch of this city, who in a short talk bade the visitors welcome in behalf of the entire town. Prof. M. H. Brasher, the new Superintendent of the Haskell Public Schools, then addressed the gathering on "How to affiliate the Rural and District Schools." Prof. Brasher, a school man of exceptional ability, told of the benefits to be derived from the affiliation and co-operation of the rural schools with the city schools. Broadly speaking, he outlined a constructive program of relations between the schools of the city and those of the rural districts, in which the educational interests of both could be placed upon a higher plane.

B. H. Davis of this city, president of the County Board of Education, gave a short talk on "The County Board, Its Importance," in which he discussed the duties of the members of the board and the importance of a board of education.

O. E. Patterson of this city spoke on "Duties of Trustees to the Teachers," and stressed the importance of the utmost co-operation between trustee and teacher. "Care of Free Text Books," was discussed by W. T. Overby of the Plainview community, who urged that patrons, teachers, pupils and trustees alike look to this important matter.

CONTEST FILED IN COUNTY JUDGE RACE

A contest was filed Tuesday of this week in the County Judge's race in the recent run-off primary by Judge Jas. P. Kinnard, the present incumbent. The official count as made by the Democratic Executive Committee last Saturday, gave R. E. Lee a majority of 25 votes over Judge Kinnard.

In his petition filed with County Chairman H. R. Jones of the Democratic Executive Committee, Judge Kinnard alleges fraud in several boxes, as well as the legality of a number of ballots in the boxes in question.

The hearing of the petition will be held before the Democratic Executive Committee on Thursday, September 14, according to County Chairman H. R. Jones.

SEYMOUR BOOSTERS HERE IN INTEREST OF FAIR

Some sixty Seymour boosters descended on Haskell Tuesday morning advertising the Baylor County Fair which will be held there on September 19th, to 23rd. They had the Seymour band with them and the whole aggregation was full of "pep" and was letting the world know that Seymour was going to have a real celebration.

O. C. Harrison, publisher of the Baylor County Banner, one of the best newspapers in this section, was in the party and we wish to state if Seymour has as good fair as she has a newspaper, we are going to attend their celebration, because she will be a good one.

Press Cunningham, Superintendent of Schools at Austin, was in Haskell Wednesday and while here made a splendid talk to the High school students.

FIRE DESTROYS R. E. DEBARD HOME

The home of R. E. DeBard, in the southwest part of town, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early Sunday morning. The house and contents were a total loss, practically none of the contents being saved. Mr. and Mrs. DeBard were sleeping on a porch of the house and were awakened by the flames which had gained such headway as to make impossible the removal of anything from the house. The alarm was turned in and the fire boys made a quick run to the scene, but were unable to fight the flames, as the house is beyond the reach of the water mains.

Mr. DeBard states that the house and contents were partially covered by insurance.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

The first football game of the season was played before a large crowd last Tuesday and marked up in favor of the High school aggregation. The boys just naturally "poured it on" that town bunch with a score of nine to seven. The only touchdown made for the town team was made by Kenneth Oates, a High School player who was helping the town team out because they did not have enough men to make a line. One touchdown made by John Rike, famous end of the high school, and a safety on a "bonehead" play of the town team was made in the second

COUNTY COURT IN SESSION THIS WEEK

County Court was convened Monday morning for the September term. Monday was occupied in setting the docket of the term, and all criminal cases were set for Monday, September 18th. The civil jury cases were set for Wednesday, September 20th, and the balance of this week will be devoted to the civil jury docket.

A number of civil and criminal cases have been filed on the docket of the County Court, and a very busy term is expected. Petit jurors for the third and fourth weeks of County Court have been summoned. The petit jurors for the third week appears below:

Lee Hanson, F. M. Branch, C. L. Baker, J. A. Gilstrap, S. C. Hawes, O. E. Oates, J. D. Reddell, H. M. Rike, W. P. Caudle, F. S. Hunt, G. M. Sims, B. Cox, H. E. Melton, G. T. Bridges, M. O. Fields, W. A. Floyd, W. H. Doss, W. A. King, J. M. Crouch, H. S. Leon, Jno. E. Decker.

The following have been summoned as petit jurors for the fourth week of County Court:

G. F. Eaton, D. A. Ulmer, W. O. Black, W. L. Gardenhire, J. J. Beeson, C. C. Cunningham, C. T. Jones, J. S. Hays, J. W. Adeock, J. C. Chaney, G. C. Cowan, F. G. Wheeler, W. L. Britton, P. D. Miller, J. S. Speck, W. C. Pippen, C. M. Strickland, T. M. Mapes, B. O. Baugh, John Franke, and J. B. Speck.

Billy Watson, Superintendent of the Rochester schools was here Friday.

Sam and Ila Mae Chitwood have gone to Ozona where they will teach in the schools. Mr. Mintra, former Superintendent in this city, is the Superintendent of the Ozona schools.

HASKELL SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

The Haskell Schools opened very auspiciously on Monday. The week before the pupils of the High School had been classified and their books issued to them. On Monday morning their classes met according to their daily schedules; their lessons for Tuesday were assigned them by their teachers, for Tuesday. Regular class work started Tuesday and the pupils had their lessons well prepared. A stranger might have dropped into the rooms that day and would have thought that High school had been running for some time. It is not necessary to consume an entire week in the organization of a High School, thus wasting the week and the tax payer's money. Business methods are as necessary in running a school system as in running a successful business enterprise.

The grade pupils' books had been assembled in bundles, a bundle for each pupil, in each grade, in all the rooms before the opening of the schools. When the teachers met their pupils on Monday, they did not have to go through with a lot of confusion, and in consuming two or three days in the issuing of the pupils' books. By noon Monday the books were all issued to every child and the teachers had assigned lessons in all the classes for Tuesday.

On Tuesday morning regular school work started without any hitch or confusion, with only a minor adjustment or so in the grades.

In starting off a new school system, we have had the finest co-operation and spirit on the part of both pupils and parents. This is a fine compliment for the school patrons of Haskell, and speaks much for the progressive people of Haskell. We feel that the people will back us to the limit in building up one of the best systems of schools in Texas. In fact, Haskell can build up the best school system in West Texas.

In the High School two of the teachers, Misses L. Langford and Ruth Chambers, were both ill and have not

JUD WILL HAVE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

According to Mrs. Ed Robertson, County Superintendent, work is going forward rapidly on the erection of a new school building at Jud, in the northwest part of the county. The building will be of modern construction, and will be completed within the next sixty days, in time for the opening of the fall term.

Reynolds Wilson, John Pace and Earnest Sanders motored to A. & M. College Station last week-end where John will enter school. The other boys returned home Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wair and little daughter spent last Sunday in Wichita Falls visiting the Cowart family.

DOCTOR'S DILEMMA IN CHINA

Ignorant and Superstitious Natives Beseech Physician to Perform All Kinds of Impossibilities.

The rain was coming in sheets, and we had to stop at three this afternoon. Since then I have had a number of patients. A boy of eleven, who fell over a cliff and broke his arm, eleven months ago, is here with all his relatives, asking me to make the bones grow together again. There was no treatment for the arm when the accident happened, for the native doctors know nothing of surgery. They found some vile-smelling concoction to the arm with bamboo splints and put another plaster of the same mixture on the back, "to draw the bone up." The arm is, of course, useless. I suggested an amputation, but the relatives will not consent to a mutilation of the body. The boy tried to prove to me, by opening and closing his hand, that the arm had life, and he would not believe me when I told him that the ends of the bone could not be brought together except by an operation. An old woman, bedridden for many years, is lying in the rain, on a stretcher made of sackcloth and bamboo poles, while her half-blind husband, who almost fell into the water when he came up the plank, pleads with me to give her some medicine to make her "foot walk, her tongue talk and her fingers able to hold her chop sticks." A leper, blind, footless and without hands, is sitting on the bank, begging for relief from the terrible disease that is slowly killing him. He promises to spend his life in making prostrations before me if I will condescend to heal him. A girl with tubercular sinuses in her bound foot tells me that she is to be married soon and that her future husband says he will beat her if she comes to him in poor health.

About four o'clock we went out for a bit of a walk. A poor woman on the bank held out her emaciated baby and asked me to make it see. Some ignorant medical practitioner had rammed needles into its eyes to drive a demon out of its stomach. The mother offered to howl before every shrine within a radius of three miles if I would only give her baby power to look up into her face.—From "A Forerunner in a Cargo Boat," by William L. Hall, in Asia Magazine.

Social Climbers in Germany.

Old decorations and titles are still craved by social climbers in republican Germany. This is shown in a case in which an international impostor and his accomplice, who is a lunatic, were tried for fraud, says the Montreal Herald. The prisoner was charged with having traveled over Germany representing himself to be a papal count and chamberlain of the Vatican and selling papal baronetcies and orders for thousands of marks each. The titles are said to have been solemnly bestowed by the denuded accomplice, who was formerly a veterinary surgeon, and whose mania is believing himself to be a ruling prince. A Munich art dealer paid 16,000 marks for a nonexistent Lateran order, while a Frankfurt merchant underwent solemn investiture as a Maltese knight. But when the new knight did not pay the promised sum he was deprived of his title, which originated only in the fertile imagination of the false papal count.

The Tipping Problem.

"The tipping problem in Italy," said a traveler, "has been solved—incorrectly. Ten per cent is added to your hotel bill for tips; these tips the management distributes among the hotel staff; you give nothing yourself. "A solution, but an incorrect one, for by the Italian waiter who has been rude to you gets as much of your money as the one who has been devoted. That is wrong, of course. "In a Nice hotel I encountered a solution that was better. There 10 per cent was added to my bill for tips, but I was given paper vouchers, a kind of hotel currency, for the amount, and they told me to distribute these vouchers as I pleased. I did so. The people who had served me well were generously rewarded. Those who had neglected me got nothing. "A solution, eh? But I asked myself, as I distributed my paper vouchers, how I was any better off by the new system than by the old one."

Learning to Play.

Albanian children are playing for the first time since the beginning of the war and are being taught American games. This has been made possible by funds contributed by American children through the Junior Red Cross. These children have never learned to play nor to laugh, but, every day now, outside the old parliament building in Tirana, schoolboys may be seen playing prisoners' base, burn the city, duck on the rock, hop scotch and other games that have made the American children the brightest in the world. The girls indulge in all the games and frolics popular among their little sisters in America. During school hours they are taught also to sew, embroider and care for the sick.

Ease and Comfort in Java.

Living in Java is so inexpensive that a European resident in moderate circumstances may keep many servants; while the Mohammedan residents, whose religion allows them four wives, are usually able to support the full number. Of late, however, the H. C. L., penetrating in a degree even to Java, has forced them somewhat to reduce their families. In Java if a nobleman marries beneath him he does not bother to go to the ceremony, but very kindly sends his sword or his bat to represent him.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER IS ONLY FORTY YEARS OLD

Many grown persons in Texas who have been familiar with electric light and power all their lives do not realize that this magic servant in the house is only forty years old. Many other persons not yet old recall the days of gas lights and the kerosene lamp as the only illumination available.

Forty years ago—at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of September 3, 1882—the first power station for generating electric energy went into operation. It was Thomas A. Edison's company at 257 Pearl Street, New York City. Part of the building was used as a generating station and part as a storeroom. Mr. Edison ate and slept there. He did not sleep much of the time. Six generators, each with a capacity of 125 horsepower, were employed.

When Mr. Edison gave the signal to turn on the current that afternoon forty years ago electric energy was sent along under-ground wires a distance of 13 miles. The original district served was about 2,000 feet square. Today in one section of the country current at 220,000 volts is transmitted 250 miles.

The capital invested in this first plant was about one million dollars. The fixed capital investment in the electrical business in the United States today is more than four and one-half million dollars. In October, 1882, the one electric company in this country had 50 customers. There are now 3,084 operating companies serving 14,500 communities, with 10,275,200 customers. The output of Edison's first station was 64.2 kilowatts. In 1921 the electric energy produced in the United States was forty-three billion one hundred million kilowatt hours.

New York was excited over the new lighting system. The newspapers were full of accounts of it and the night workers on morning papers wrote in praise of the improved lamps.

During the first twenty years of electrical development much attention was devoted to Laboratory work. The past ten years have witnessed tremendous expansion of the electric power and light industry. To the electrification of industry has been added electrification of the home, and an encouraging start toward electrification of the farm.

The past twenty years have seen many great advances in electricity some of which were not of pressing importance in the early days when practical operation was the chief consideration. Mechanically and scientifically the industry has maintained its giant strides. In the meantime business efficiency and the maintenance of public relations have come to the fore. It has been demonstrated that the engineering department is only a small part of the successful electrical concern. Developments in financing, regulation, and public relations have been comprehensive.

To those familiar with the development of the industry it is apparent that the present system of private operation under governmental regulation has been most satisfactory. The industry stands today further advanced in public relations than it ever has before. Leaders in the industry have taken the people into their confidence and the people have responded to their trust. One of the greatest developments of recent date has been the idea of customer ownership of the public utilities.

Pure Mebane Cotton Seed

No better cotton seed was ever brought to Haskell than the cotton that is being raised on the Pure Mebane Cotton Breeding Association farms in Haskell County. These seed are absolutely pure and is being ginned on separate gin stands in order to avoid the possibility of being mixed with off varieties. The wagons from the farms in the Association will all be painted gray as another precaution and for the purpose of distinguishing their cotton and cotton seed from the ordinary variety.

The fields have all been gone over by experts and the off brand stalks pulled out, to insure the purity of these seed. The farmers who are raising this cotton are more than satisfied with the yield as it is standing the drouth better than the ordinary varieties.

If you are interested in a better cotton for Haskell County, see Mr. P. M. Ross of the Mebane Cotton Breeding Association of Haskell and Lockhart, Texas, while he is here.

A. & M. TO HAVE LARGER STUDENT BODY THIS YEAR

An increased student body and multiplied facilities for instruction for the coming session at the A. & M. College of Texas assure a much more successful year than any in the past. The session will open September 18th.

Two departments of the institution will expand into new quarters. The agricultural department will occupy the new agricultural administration building erected the past year at a cost of $2,000.00 and the mechanical engineering department will move into the new shops building built simultaneously with the agricultural building at a cost of $150,000.00.

Two large frame buildings formerly operated at hosteleries on the campus are being remodeled to accommodate approximately 300 students which is the expected increase in the student body next year.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

WHO WANTS TO KNOW

IF YOU are sincere in your desire to know how to achieve, how to make yourself worthy of the highest confidence and thus become competent to hold a place above the ordinary you will lose no time in acquiring the necessary knowledge.

You will not waste a single hour in idleness or unproductive effort, the basic cause of disappointments and failure.

You will go to your task seriously with unyielding determination to win. In your pursuit, which in a little while will have become an exhilarating pleasure, you will discover that all the men and women who are holding the prominent places did in the beginning of their careers just what you are doing.

They squandered no time in the foolish chase of rainbows, choosing instead the companionship of wise counselors and the perusal in their spare time of instructive books, seeking truths and principles upon which they could build a substantial foundation for the erection of their life-work.

They tossed the chaff to the winds and stored with utmost prudence the golden grain.

The greatest men of today, the conspicuous leaders in the professions, the arts and the crafts, struggled hard in their youth to get a foothold upon the hills. They knew what they were seeking and never relinquished their high purpose or slackened their pace, though they often slipped and went to bed hungry.

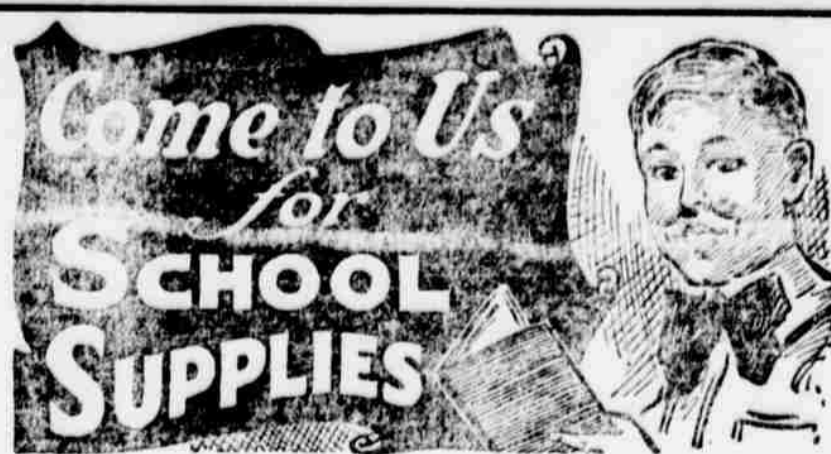

Their experiences with the world gave them an understanding of men and affairs with a fullness impossible otherwise.

Their present wealth, power and influence are envied by the thoughtless, who sneeringly talk among themselves of "chance" and "luck," those misnomers for work and pluck.

Being envied is a high distinction. And this is especially true when it is obvious that the real cause of envy is based on the admitted ignorance and regret of men and women who cover distinction but invariably lack courage to take a place in the front and bear the brunt of battle.

The youths of the present who want to know, who are brushing aside obstacles, who are exerting every effort to learn, will in the future be found among the foremost workers and thinkers in the world's great activities, simply because they have with their resolute hearts the spirit and faith, without which no man or woman can hope to win a glorious name.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

By W. M. Free

Barkburnett, Texas, Aug. 31.

As most of you know, a few years back I made regular trips over the country, mostly in Haskell county, visiting the homes and spending days and nights with the citizens of Haskell county. I was at that time working for the Haskell Free Press under the present editor and owner, Sam A. Roberts. I had for my constant companion, "Jet," the little black pony that I drove for several years. And the columns of the Free Press carried the story of my weekly journey. "Jet" and I had our own way about things; there were no questions asked by our "boss" which we started on our trips, and his queries when we returned.

I never really considered my part of the job work—it was pleasure. And the many cordial greetings that were given "Jet" and me I shall never forget.

I have changed my occupation, or really I have changed territory. With the same occupation and instead of a county paper I am now with a leading daily, The Wichita Daily Times of Wichita Falls. I have also changed my mode of traveling. I now ride on the trains and jitneys from town to town with a cargo of heavy grips to carry. I have changed the comfortable country homes that gave me shelter for the hotels, and a good bed for a pile of straw in some cases. At the hotels no one is glad to see you come or care not when you go. It's the money that counts with them.

I am getting older and of course growing weaker, but I am also growing wiser. In my work to day from house to house and from store to store in the towns I find it quite different to working with the people who know you and are your friends. The work is just a cold business proposition, at one place you may get a word of encouragement, but the next stop may be so cold and icy that it will put to flight every dream of encouragement, and there you are. If you are not possessed with patience, forbearance and pluck you are liable to report to your company that these people you have been visiting do not need a paper nor a man to sell it to them.

I live by the rule of forgive and forget; and therefore I take nothing serious, and feast upon what come that will naturally become injected into the work and stick right on the job as though they had sent for me and needed my assistance in order to become readers of my paper.

With these few remarks I have decided to carry a column in the Free Press, with the editor's permission, of the ups and downs of a paper peddler from life, trying to bring to you some of the knowledge of the outside world that cannot be obtained otherwise, telling you how people live and act and talk in other towns and counties. I shall not give names, but the incidents as they are found out in my daily work in the field.

SWEET VOICE WON HUSBAND

Romance of Fortunate New York Telephone Girl and Wealthy Young Mexican.

A romance was recently enacted entirely by telephone in one of the New York hotels. Six weeks ago a wealthy young Mexican arrived on business and engaged an expensive suite. A few hours later he was knocked over by a motorcar and suffered a broken leg. He insisted on being taken to his hotel, rather than to a hospital, and since expense was no consideration he was installed with nurses and attendants in his own suite.

He kept to his room for six weeks and when he felt able to work a little, he hired a secretary by telephone to carry on his affairs by telephone. They were complicated and required an immense number of conversations. Within a day or so he became aware that his calls were handled with skill and patience. The next discovery was that the voice at the other end of his private line was easy to listen to. There was a smile behind the voice.

Day by day the telephone conversations grew longer. It began with a respectful inquiry as to the patient's health. Gradually the inquiries went more into details. By the end of two weeks the invalid and the voice at the hotel switchboard were on good terms. At the end of a month long conversation the order of the day, when the sixth week had passed the man's leg was strong enough to permit a visit to the hotel lobby.

"Where do you want to go first?" the brother inquired. "I want you to help me walk down to the telephone switchboard," the invalid explained. "I want to see the girl there. And oh, by the way, I am going to marry her."

"Great heavens, what's she like?" was the natural inquiry. "Haven't seen her yet but we've fixed it all up over the phone."

The voice with the smile is now directing an establishment in the City of Mexico.—New York Sun.

"Curbs Fit for Heroes to Stand In."

The New Statesman says that London has not had so many beggars within living memory as today, and the worst of it is, they have none of the romance of beggary.

"They are prosaic, dull, hopeless. Most of them look as if they had been born to be commonplace citizens, carrying a more or less honest living like you and me. To speak strictly, indeed they are not beggars, but collectors. They stand on the curb; they wait in the doorways of restaurants; they haunt the streets of the respectable. All the time they keep shaking their narrow white boxes, and asking for more.

"They vary from the sullen to the responsive. Some of them seem to demand a right rather than to beg a favor. They believe that there is money somewhere, and it is only just that it should be shared.

"It is the habit of civilized societies, at the end of a great war, to provide curbs fit for heroes to stand on."

Is "Deceased" Man Dead?

A Jeffersonville woman, who formerly lived at Greensville and supposes that is the reason she was chosen to receive the letter, has received a communication from a resident of Putnam county, of whom she had never previously heard, asking for information concerning the writer's brother, who lived in Jeffersonville for many years, reports the Indianapolis News. The writer said she had not heard from him for five years, and letters had brought no answer. She sent a registered letter at last, she said, and it was returned to her marked "deceased." "I should like to know," she said, "whether he is dead." The answer went back. "He is, since November, 1919." But the woman believes the Post Office department should be more explicit.

Found Red Dye in Fruit.

A German medical journal reports the injury of a young girl at Frankfurt from the point of a hypodermic needle which she swallowed while eating a blood orange. Investigation developed the fact that the needle had been filled with a red aniline dye.

The girl, it seems, had purchased a dozen of the oranges. These were examined and it was found that all contained an injection of the same nature. It appears that frauds of this sort are no novelty in Germany, similar cases often having been reported—the chemical transformation or ordinary oranges into fake blood oranges.—From Le Petit Parisien, Paris. (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

Oldest Living Newspaper Man?

Anable Maillet-Saint-Pris, a Parisian journalist, who was born in 1821 and is therefore in his one hundred and second year, is in all probability the oldest journalist alive. He is at least the oldest working newspaperman, for he is still vigorous and not only writes a weekly article in the Abelle de Seine-et-Oise, published in Corbeil, but actually makes up the paper.—The Argonaut.

SCHOOL RALLY HELD HERE LAST TUESDAY

A school rally was held in the auditorium of the new High school building Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at which time short talks were made by a number of leading citizens of Haskell. The meeting was for the purpose of acquainting teachers and pupils, and arousing an interest in school matters, to the end that pupils and teachers may work together for the benefit of the schools.

Prof. M. H. Brasher, Superintendent of the City schools, introduced O. E. Patterson, president of the School Board, who made a short talk in which he urged the co-operation of both pupil teacher and patron, in order to insure a successful school year. Prof. Brasher then addressed the assembly, setting forth some of the plans for the betterment of the schools, and stating the aims of the faculty. Rev. S. L. Culwell, pastor of the Methodist church, made a short talk in which he outlined the benefits offered the pupils of Haskell schools, and welcomed the faculty for the coming year. Miss Castle of Abilene, who will teach expression in the Haskell schools the coming year, delighted the audience with a reading. Mrs. F. T. Sanders, president of the Parent-Teachers Association, spoke of the purposes and aims of this organization, and stressed importance of the co-operation of patron, pupil, teacher and all interested alike. Miss Mary Ella Pace then rendered a beautiful piano solo, L. D. Ratliff of this city, made a short talk in which he expressed the hope that Haskell schools might attain an even higher standard than they now possess.

Mrs. Ed Robertson, County Superintendent, was the next speaker, and she urged closer cooperation and a friendlier spirit between the city and the rural schools. Mrs. Robertson also welcomed the new faculty on behalf of the county, and pledged her support to the city schools.

Miss Judith Taylor, teacher of music for the coming year, gave a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mrs. M. H. Brasher on the piano.

Pres. Cufingham, Superintendent of the Austin Public Schools, addressed the pupils and teachers, complimenting the faculty very highly. He also spoke very highly of the Haskell schools.

Rev. R. E. Hooker, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, closed the afternoon's program with a very helpful talk to the pupils and teachers.

One trouble with starting at the top is that you miss all the joy of winning your advancements, and then again, you often wind up at the bottom.

Honoring Miss Elsie Killingsworth

One of the most attractive social events of the season was a shower given in honor of Miss Elsie Killingsworth by Mrs. Jesse Smith and Miss Lillian Neal at the Library. The guests were met by the two charming hostesses and were passed on into the main room and were served punch by Misses Lillian and Katherine Smith. The guests then passed on to the game tables and chatted until every one came. The hostesses then passed slips of paper around on each of which was written a number of a bridal party. Rolls of crepe paper and clothes pins were then passed and each guest told to dress the clothes pin as the member of the wedding party she had drawn. Mrs. Joe Broadus drew the bride and a special roll containing lace, tulle, silver lace and flowers was given her. After the guests had dressed the dolls they were collected by the hostesses. In a few minutes the guests were asked to come into the next room. There in the middle of the room, the bride-to-be, dressed in a handsome dress of black crepe and accessories to match, was seated before a miniature bridal party neatly arranged on a table of white. Around under the alter were the many gifts. After opening the packages and showing the gifts to the guests, Miss Killingsworth expressed her appreciation in her own charming manner. The guests then passed into the reception room and delicate refreshments consisting of banana split and macaroons were served to the following: Misses Mary Long, Lois Earnest, Lucille Taylor, Verna Oates, Alberta Smith, Mary Smith, Elma Kinard, Helen and Florence Shook, Dave Maude Cummins, Exa Cahill, LaVerne Whitmore, Eunice Huckabee, Marylee Pinkerton, Margurite Green, Catherine and Lillian Smith, Mary Ella Pace, and Lois Killingsworth. Roberts-Killingsworth

A wedding that came as a delightful surprise to their many friends was solemnized last Sunday morning, when Miss Elsie Killingsworth became the bride of Mr. Grady G. Roberts. The wedding occurred at the home of the bride's father, Mr. I. D. Killingsworth, and was witnessed only by the immediate families of the bride and groom. Rev. McHenry Seal, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated.

The bride is the lovely and accomplished daughter of Mr. I. D. Killingsworth, a pioneer citizen of Haskell County. She is a charming young woman, numbering her friends by her acquaintances, and her many accomplishments make her an ideal helpmate for the one she has chosen as life's partner.

The groom is a rising young man of sterling qualities and for the past two years he has been connected with the Haskell Free Press, and has made many friends since coming to this city.

The happy young couple left immediately after the ceremony for Wichita Falls and Byers, where they will spend the week with relatives and friends. They will make their future home in Haskell.

A New Tread—a Lower Price Reliable Goodyear Quality

Here is a new Goodyear Cord Tire—a big, sturdy, long-wearing tire—that sells at a price lower than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown value. It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and it sells for substantially less. It has in it the same high-grade long-staple cotton, the same Goodyear patented group-ply construction, the same liberally oversized dimensions. When you buy the 4 1/2-inch size, for example, you get a tire whose actual measurement is nearly 5 inches. Don't confuse this Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord with other popular-price cords which sell at the same price or for slightly more. In many cases, these other cords are made of inferior materials, with short-staple cotton as a foundation. Get the tire that is good enough to carry the Goodyear name, that is built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation.

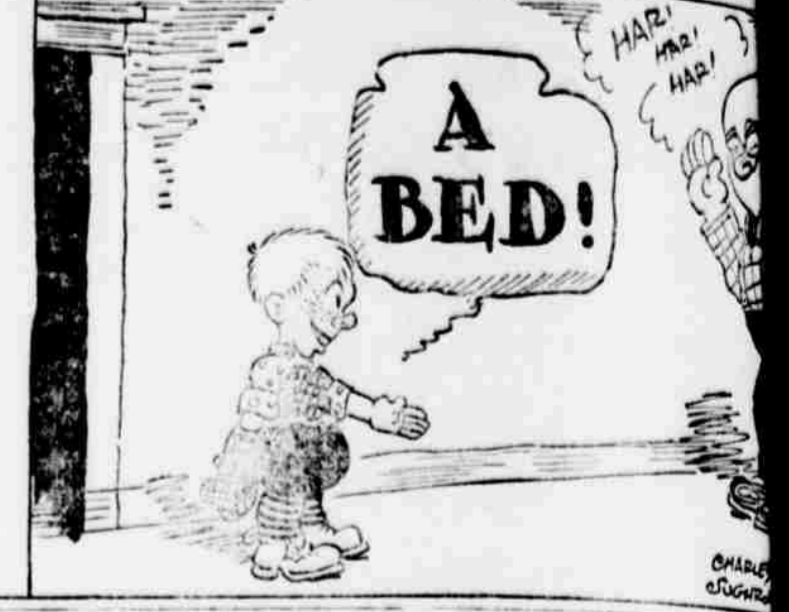

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires

A QUESTION ANSWERED
We have talked with many good merchants in the past and among them we have struck several who frankly stated that they started to advertise once, but it didn't pay as they figured it would, so they became discouraged and quit. Always they've asked the reason, and always it was hard to make them understand, to convince them exactly why their advertising failed. But now comes Herbert Casson, well-known writer and publicity expert with an article in an eastern magazine which seems to answer the question. He says:
"The man who runs an ad, no matter how convincing it is, and then steps at salesmanship in the store, isn't going to get his money's worth from the advertisement. Neither is the man who runs an ad, who makes a sudden loud noise and then drops into dead silence. That kind of man sends his advertising up like a skyrocket, it is seen for a moment and forgotten. The wise advertiser follows up the first ad with another, and then still more, and like a lighthouse his ads stands there to guide the public, and their light can be seen all the time. You have to tell some people a fact three or four times before they will believe it.
"After all, advertising is only sowing seed. After the soil and the sun and the rain have done their best, then comes the harvesting. You must reap and stack, and thresh, and bag and sell. And also you must remember that the other man will get the business if you don't ask for it."—Exchange.

And in compliance with law, I give this notice by publication, in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Haskell Free Press, a newspaper printed and published in Haskell County, Texas.
Witness my hand, this 25th day of August, 1922.

FIRST TURKEN FOWL BROUGHT TO TEXAS

There is nothing so wonderful as the successful accomplishment of the seeming impossible. Burbank, the wizard of the vegetable kingdom, successfully removed the spines from the cactus and transformed that worthless growth into a delicacy for the consumption.
Another orchardist has caused a single tree to produce almost every variety of fruit that the most exacting family might desire.

Another courageous experimenter has successfully eliminated from the skunk that which for centuries has been his most formidable weapon of defense and offense, that in his shorn condition he becomes as meek and harmless as his cousin kitten.

In the days of the Caesars the old Roman epicures graced their greatest feast with a poultry that styled the hybrid fowl, and said by the historian Gibbon in his "Rise and Fall of the Empire" to have been produced by the crossing of the turkey and the common barnyard fowl, while another authority claims the cross to have been what was then known as the Mediterranean turkey, which is also known as the bustard.

They were reported from Ireland, attention being called to them by their resemblance both to the turkey and the chicken.
It remained, however, for an American to re-establish the cross that is the subject of this sketch, and produce what he calls the "Turken fowl."

W. B. Dunn, a groceryman of Gilmer, Texas, who is a great chicken fancier, secured a setting of the Turken eggs, the first that were ever shipped to Texas, from West Plains, Mo., but had only one to hatch. Eight more eggs were sent him and six of the eight hatched out, but one chick met with an accident and died, leaving five and the one from the first setting.

They are known as the "Spencer Turken" and are the descendants of a white Holland gobbler and a Rhode Island hen.
The males show in many ways their cross breeding, having a decided turkey gait, a long neck bare of feathers except a tuft in the place of the brush so common on the neck of a gobbler. Their long necks are covered with pendulant caucules, while the feathers back of the comb stuck out straight and remind one of the modern haircut of our youngsters.
The chicks are very heavy and broad across the hips and walk with the legs wide apart. In scratching they are slow and more like the turkey than the chicken. They grow very large as rapidly, often attaining a weight of 14 pounds. The hens more resemble turkey than the males, and they have the same sad eyes of the turkey.
These fowls are new in the poultry world and they may cut considerable figure as they spread. Mr. Dunn being the first person in Texas to raise any of the chicks. They are of a curious novelty and are attracting considerable attention.—Gilmer News.

Spaniards Liked Nick Carter.

The death of the creator of Nick Carter will very probably cause more widespread grief in Spain and Latin-America than in Nick's native land. More thousands of readers, juvenile and elders were regular followers of Nick's exploits in the Spanish translations than there have been in English-speaking countries for more than ten years at least. Travelling through the Latin countries, you find the famous weekly still prominently displayed on nearly every news vendor's stand. The large Spanish publishing house of Sopena, in Barcelona has conducted an immense and profitable business in making regular translations of Nick Carter's Weekly and publishing them. Whatever may be the literary quality of the original, the Spanish translations are such that people of presumably finer tastes are not ashamed to be seen reading them. A professor of romance language in the State university of Maine was in Havana about three years ago polishing up his Spanish conversation. He openly admitted his great fondness for the Spanish Nick Carters, and recommended them to all students of Spanish for the acquirement of facility in conversation. —New York Evening Post.

Piles Now Made of Paper.

Piles, for submarine supports are now being made of paper in California, the chief recommendation of which is the fact that they are not subject to attack by the toredo which ruins wooden piles in a short time. On a long wooden cylinder a long roll of tarred paper with glued edges is wound and covered with cord. Over this another band of paper, much narrower, is wound diagonally like the bandage on a wounded arm. The cylinder is revolved while it is bound with more cord, hot glue being applied continuously. After three layers of paper have been put in place, the wooden cylinder is removed and the paper cylinder is reinforced with a coarse mesh.

A mixture of cement and sand is squirted all over the cylinder, and several cylinders are joined end to end with the same cement so as to make a pile 60 feet long and from 18 to 30 inches in diameter. A square steel head is fitted over the top to receive the shocks of the pile-driver.

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATE TOO HIGH, SAYS TERRELL

That the government's estimate of the 1922 cotton crop is too high by approximately 2,000,000 bales, and also its estimate of the acreage in Texas, is the opinion of George B. Terrell, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

"The last cotton crop report issued by this department on August 1, gives 10,190,000 acres of cotton in this state," said Commissioner Terrell, "compared with the government's estimate of 12,312,000 acres, which I know to be too high, because the first estimate of the crop by the government was 9,190,000 acres, and there is only eight or ten per cent increase this year. Our reports were made from correspondents in 221 counties. They were made by presidents and secretaries of farmers' institutes and other reliable sources, and was verified as far as possible by our field men. This report indicates a condition 71.4 per cent of normal.

"The yield in 1921 was 100 pounds of lint cotton per acre. The condition of the cotton on August 1, indicates a yield of 135 pounds of lint to the acre, or a little more than one-fourth of a bale per acre. This indicates a yield of 2,752,920 bales for Texas. Reports reaching the department since the above report was made show severe damage by drouth and hot winds, causing cotton to shed its fruit in all the western part of the State, and continued damage by boll weevil in other parts of the State, and serious damage by the leaf worm in the Eastern portion of the State. From these facts I am afraid that the yield will be reduced below my expectations. No more posion can be had to fight the boll weevil and leaf worm, and the damage will continue unabated."

"Recent reports from the commissioners of agriculture of the cotton growing states indicate a great damage by boll weevil and a yield no greater than last year," continued Mr. Terrell. "The maximum crop will be less than 11,000,000 bales, or 2,000,000 bales short of the world's needs. The mills must run on short time before the crop of 1923 is made. The present short crop warrants a price of 25 to 30 cents per pound for this crop, and nothing short of a conspiracy to bear the price can keep cotton at the present low price. The cost of producing this crop is above 20 cents per pound. The cost of production and a reasonable profit must be received or the cotton industry of the South is doomed."

Notice Members of Singing Convention!

To the singers and members of the Haskell County Singing Convention: I take this means to offer my resignation as secretary of the convention. Because my work for the Wichita Daily Times keeps me out of the county so much that I cannot do my duty as your secretary. I have been an officer in the convention since the date of its organization and I have tried to serve you faithfully to the best of my ability at all times. My heart has been in the work and by the faithful assistance of all the singers and attendants, the convention has been a success. I thank the convention and all my friends for their help and support in what I have tried to do for the convention and the cause of music. Thanking you for the honors conferred upon me as your humble servant, I am wishing and praying for the success of the Haskell County Singing Convention.

Yours truly,
W. M. Free, Secretary.

COUNTY AGENTS ARE DOING A GREAT WORK IN TEXAS

The more we see of county agents and learn of their work, the firmer our conviction becomes that they are doing a great work for the farmers of Texas. They have different ways of going at things, but in the majority of cases they have sought out the big problems in their county and set to work to solve them. In one Texas county in which cotton is the outstanding crop, the agent put on a campaign that brought about the planting of two varieties of cotton of recognized quality. He made his county known as a section in which even running lots of cotton of good staple might be obtained. In other counties, the most important problem is not so apparent as the agent has used what he pleases to call community analysis to determine how he can most efficiently aid the farmers of his county. The influential farmers of a community come together, analyze the agricultural situation and then, with the aid of the county agent, decide what should be done and how to do it. In this way the farmers themselves direct the activities of the agent to a considerable extent.

In West Texas where some counties contain less than 100 farms, the county agent is in position to give the farmer individual attention. Under such conditions, community work on the part of the agent is often impractical. However, in East Texas, in counties with four to six thousand farmers, the agent must of necessity work with communities rather than individuals, and farmers should not feel aggrieved because the county agent did not give them as much individual attention as they expected.

The agent who leaves his imprint on the agriculture of a county is the one who has a broad constructive plan for the solution of one or more of the most important problems affecting the agriculture of his county. He must work with communities rather than individuals and get the farmers to thinking about and working out their individual problems. He cannot visit with every farmer in the county at frequent intervals, but by working with groups of farmers, there is no reason why he should not reach and materially aid every farmer in the county.—Progressive Farmer.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50c per bottle.

been able to be with us but the pupils showed the very finest spirit of cooperation with the two supply teachers, Misses Dave Maude Cummins and Anna Bess Chambers, who have carried on the work of these two departments in a very efficient manner. We are under many obligations to these two young ladies for their kindness in coming to our assistance at such an opportune time. Misses Langford and Chambers are much better now and will soon be with their work.

Since the Free Press had a reporter present at the school rally Wednesday, we will only say that teachers and superintendent greatly appreciate the fine spirit of cooperation and interest in the schools that were manifested by the large group of parents present. A most excellent and interesting program was rendered and those not present missed a great treat. It was a great inspiration and boost for the High School pupils and teachers.

The teachers are taking hold of their work with a spirit and attitude that means a successful year. We do not believe there is a drone among the entire bunch. They are showing that their entire heart and souls are in their work.

We have a great many fine boys and girls enrolled in the schools from the small neighboring towns and rural communities. We are glad to have these boys and girls and we are going to give them every opportunity and assistance to succeed in spite of their handicap of short terms and the majority of them will succeed. We want the Haskell schools to serve the ambitious boys and girls of this section of West Texas.

The High School enrollment is larger this year than last year but the grade enrollment is not so large. The fact that the High School enrollment is considerably larger is a compliment to the standing and reputation of the Haskell High School.

Do not forget to attend the recital, given by Mrs. M. H. Brasher and Miss Bess Castle for the benefit of the Haskell schools, this Friday night, September 8th, at the Christian church. This is going to be a fine program and a small fee of 15 and 25 cents will be charged.

We hope to have our lyceum program the last Friday in this month. You cannot miss these entertainments. Be given by your own home town you will be surprised to find Haskell has such fine talent. Entertainments will be made many that you have paid 50 to 75 cents to see.

See that your children from start of school do their best in the High School students who at home from two to three departmental grades from one hour; and the third and fourth about one hour at home. If you are wise this is when they learn wide-prudence of thought to overcome difficulties. This is absolutely necessary if you are to master their work and develop into independent thinkers.

Your children need plenty also. They can not attend parties and social functions during nights and do much at school. This practice will mean that your children will fail if they are permitted to indulge in it.

If you are not pleased with your child's doing in school, his teacher. If you would like our advice with reference to your child, come to see us.

RURAL LETTER CARRIERS MET LAST MONDAY

The Jones, Haskell and Fisher County Rural Letter Carriers Association met in Haskell Monday, in a regular business session. The association is composed of rural letter carriers of Haskell, Jones, Fisher, Stonewall and Shackelford counties, with the postmasters of the different counties as honorary members. This organization was organized last February and included only three counties, but since its organization two counties have been added, and the membership is composed of 99 per cent of the rural letter carriers of the five counties named.

The meeting was held in the W. O. W. hall, with forty carriers and postmasters together with their relatives present. Several short talks dealing with the problems of the rural letter carriers were made, as well as suggestions for improving the rural mail service. At the noon hour the visiting carriers and postmasters were the guests of the local postmaster and carriers at a delightful luncheon at the American Cafe.

A short business session was held in the afternoon, at which time Chas. O. Davis was appointed president of the Association to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miller Woodson of this city, who is transferring to the Railway Mail Service. W. L. Fletcher of Hamlin is Secretary-Treasurer of the Association.

The following postmasters were in attendance at Monday's meeting: W. E. Kirkpatrick of this city, Postmaster Adams and son of Stamford, R. H. Penick of Rule, Postmaster McNeelin of Rotan, and Postmaster Perkins and Assistant Postmaster Ballard of Aspermont.

Letter carriers from Rotan, Hamlin, Merkel, Rule, Weinert, Aspermont, Stamford, Avoon, and Haskell were present.

The next meeting of the Association will be held at Rotan, February 22, 1923, and a large attendance is expected at this meeting.

COUNTY TRUSTEES MET TUESDAY

One of the most enthusiastic gatherings of school trustees ever held in this section was held in this city Tuesday when the county school trustees were the guests of the County Board of Education in an all day meeting.

School trustees from every part of the county, representing practically every rural school, were in attendance, and many problems concerning the educational interests of the county were discussed by those present. A comprehensive program, covering every phase and problem of school matters had been arranged for the occasion, and a number of talks and addresses were made. Rev. S. L. Culwell, pastor of the Methodist church of this city, led the devotional at the beginning of the program. The welcome address was delivered by Jno. A. Couch of this city, who in a short talk bade the visitors welcome in behalf of the entire town. Prof. M. H. Brasher, the new Superintendent of the Haskell Public Schools, then addressed the gathering on "How to affiliate the Rural and District Schools." Prof. Brasher, a school man of exceptional ability, told of the benefits to be derived from the affiliation and co-operation of the rural schools with the city schools. Broadly speaking, he outlined a constructive program of relations between the schools of the city and those of the rural districts, in which the educational interests of both could be placed upon a higher plane. R. H. Davis of this city, president of the County Board of Education, gave a short talk on "The County Board, Its Importance," in which he discussed the duties of the members of the board and the importance of a board of education.

O. E. Patterson of this city spoke on "Duties of Trustees to the Teachers," and stressed the importance of the utmost co-operation between trustee and teacher. "Care of Free Text Books," was discussed by W. T. Overby of the Plainview community, who urged that patrons, teachers, pupils and trustees alike look to this important matter.

On the Road of Good Intentions

HASKELL SCHOOLS OPENED MONDAY

The Haskell Schools opened very auspiciously on Monday. The week before the pupils of the High School had been classified and their books issued to them. On Monday morning their classes met according to their daily schedules; their lessons for Tuesday were assigned them by their teachers, for Tuesday. Regular class work started Tuesday and the pupils had their lessons well prepared. A stranger might have dropped into the rooms that day and would have thought that High school had been running for some time. It is not necessary to consume an entire week in the organization of a High School, thus wasting the week and the tax payer's money. Business methods are as necessary in running a school system as in running a successful business enterprise.

The grade pupils' books had been assembled in bundles, a bundle for each pupil, in each grade, in all the rooms before the opening of the schools. When the teachers met their pupils on Monday, they did not have to go through with a lot of confusion, and in consuming two or three days in the issuing of the pupils' books. By noon Monday the books were all issued to every child and the teachers had assigned lessons in all the classes for Tuesday.

On Tuesday morning regular school work started without any hitch or confusion, with only a minor adjustment or so in the grades.

In starting off a new school system, we have had the finest co-operation and spirit on the part of both pupils and parents. This is a fine compliment for the school patrons of Haskell, and speaks much for the progressive people of Haskell. We feel that the people will buck us to the limit in building up one of the best systems of schools in Texas. In fact, Haskell can build up the best school system in West Texas.

In the High School, two of the teachers, Misses L. Langford and Ruth Chambers, were both ill and have not

JUD WILL HAVE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

According to Mrs. Ed Robertson, County Superintendent, work is going forward rapidly on the erection of a new school building at Jud, in the northwest part of the county. The building will be of modern construction, and will be completed within the next sixty days, in time for the opening of the fall term.

Reynolds Wilson, John Pace and Earnest Sanders motored to A. & M. College Station last week-end where John will enter school. The other boys returned home Tuesday.

CONTEST FILED IN COUNTY JUDGE RACE

A contest was filed Tuesday of this week in the County Judge's race in the recent run-off primary by Judge Jas. P. Kinnard, the present incumbent. The official count as made by the Democratic Executive Committee last Saturday, gave R. E. Lee a majority of 25 votes over Judge Kinnard.

In his petition filed with County Chairman H. R. Jones of the Democratic Executive Committee, Judge Kinnard alleges fraud in several boxes, as well as the legality of a number of ballots in the boxes in question.

The hearing of the petition will be held before the Democratic Executive Committee on Thursday, September 14, according to County Chairman H. R. Jones.

SEYMOUR BOOSTERS HERE IN INTEREST OF FAIR

Some sixty Seymour boosters descended on Haskell Tuesday morning advertising the Baylor County Fair which will be held there on September 19th, to 23rd. They had the Seymour band with them and the whole aggregation was full of "pep" and was letting the world know that Seymour was going to have a real celebration.

O. C. Harrison, publisher of the Baylor County Banner, one of the best newspapers in this section, was in the party and we wish to state if Seymour has as good fair as she has a newspaper, we are going to attend their celebration, because she will be a good one.

Press Cunningham, Superintendent of Schools at Austin, was in Haskell Wednesday and while here made a splendid talk to the High school students.

FIRE DESTROYS R. E. DEBARD HOME

The home of R. E. Debard, in the southwest part of town, was destroyed by fire of unknown origin early Sunday morning. The house and contents were a total loss, practically none of the contents being saved. Mr. and Mrs. Debard were sleeping on a porch of the house and were awakened by the flames which had gained such headway as to make impossible the removal of anything from the house. The alarm was turned in and the fire boys made a quick run to the scene, but were unable to fight the flames, as the house is beyond the reach of the water mains.

Mr. Debard states that the house and contents were partially covered by insurance.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

The first football game of the season was played before a large crowd last Tuesday and marked up in favor of the High school aggregation. The boys just naturally "poured it on" that town bunch with a score of nine to seven. The only touchdown made for the town team was made by Kenneth Oates, a High School player who was helping the town team out because they did not have enough men to make a line. One touchdown made by John Rike, famous end of the high school, and a safety on a "bonehead" play of the town team was made in the second

DOCTOR'S DILEMMA IN CHINA

Ignorant and Superstitious Natives Beseech Physician to Perform All Kinds of Impossibilities.

The rain was coming in sheets, and we had to stop at three this afternoon. Since then I have had a number of patients. A boy of eleven, who fell over a cliff and broke his arm, eleven months ago, is here with all his relatives, asking me to make the bones grow together again. There was no treatment for the arm when the accident happened, for the native doctors know nothing of surgery. They found some vile-smelling concoction to the arm with bamboo splints and put an other plaster of the same mixture on the back, "to draw the bone up." The arm is, of course, useless. I suggested an amputation, but the relatives will not consent to a mutilation of the body. The boy tried to prove to me, by opening and closing his hand, that the arm had life, and he would not believe me when I told him that the ends of the bone could not be brought together except by an operation. An old woman, bedridden for many years, is lying in the rain, on a stretcher made of sackcloth and bamboo poles, while her half-blind husband, who almost fell into the water when he came up the plank, pleads with me to give her some medicine to make her "feet walk, her tongue talk and her fingers able to hold her chop sticks." A leper, blind, footless and without hands, is sitting on the bank, begging for relief from the terrible disease that is slowly killing him. He promises to spend his life in making prostrations before me if I will condescend to heal him. A girl with tubercular sinuses in her bound foot tells me that she is to be married soon and that her future husband says he will beat her if she comes to him in poor health.

About four o'clock we went out for a bit of a walk. A poor woman on the bank held out her emaciated baby and asked me to make it see. Some ignorant medical practitioner had run needles into its eyes to drive a demon out of its stomach. The mother offered to bow before every shrine within a radius of three miles if I would only give her baby power to look up into her face.—From "A Fortnight in a Cargo Boat," by William L. Hall, in Asia Magazine.

Social Climbers in Germany.

Old decorations and titles are still craved by social climbers in republican Germany. This is shown in a case in which an international impostor and his accomplice, who is a lunatic, were tried for fraud, says the Montreal Herald. The prisoner was charged with having traveled over Germany representing himself to be a papal count and chamberlain of the Vatican and selling papal baronetcies and orders for thousands of marks each. The titles are said to have been solemnly bestowed by the demented accomplice, who was formerly a veterinary surgeon, and whose mania is believing himself to be a ruling prince. A Munich art dealer paid 16,000 marks for a nonexistent Lateran order, while a Frankfurt merchant underwent solemn investiture as a Maltese knight. But when the new knight did not pay the promised sum he was deprived of his title, which originated only in the fertile imagination of the false papal count.

The Tipping Problem.

"The tipping problem in Italy," said a traveler, "has been solved—incorrectly. Ten per cent is added to your hotel bill for tips; these tips the management distributes among the hotel staff; you give nothing yourself. "A solution, but an incorrect one, for by the Italian waiter who has been rude to you gets as much of your money as the one who has been devoted. That is wrong, of course. "In a Nice hotel I encountered a solution that was better. There 10 per cent was added to my bill for tips, but I was given paper vouchers, a kind of hotel currency, for the amount, and they told me to distribute these vouchers as I pleased. I did so. The people who had served me well were generously rewarded. Those who had neglected me got nothing. "A solution, eh? But I asked myself, as I distributed my paper vouchers, how I was any better off by the new system than by the old one."

Learning to Play.

Albanian children are playing for the first time since the beginning of the war and are being taught American games. This has been made possible by funds contributed by American children through the Junior Red Cross. These children have never learned to play nor to laugh, but every day now, outside the old parliament building in Tirana, schoolboys may be seen playing prisoners' base, burn the city, duck on the rock, hop scotch and other games that have made the American children the brightest in the world.

The girls indulge in all the games and frolics popular among their little sisters in America. During school hours they are taught also to sew, embroider and care for the sick.

Ease and Comfort in Java.

Living in Java is so inexpensive that a European resident in moderate circumstances may keep many servants; while the Mohammedan residents, whose religion allows them four wives, are usually able to support the full number. Of late, however, the H. C. L., penetrating in a degree even to Java, has forced them somewhat to reduce their families. In Java if a nobleman marries beneath him he does not bother to go to the ceremony, but very kindly sends his sword or his hat to represent him.

ELECTRIC LIGHT AND POWER IS ONLY FORTY YEARS OLD

Many grown persons in Texas who have been familiar with electric light and power all their lives do not realize that this magic servant in the house is only forty years old. Many other persons not yet old recall the days of gas lights and the kerosene lamp as the only illumination available.

Forty years ago—at 3 o'clock in the afternoon of September 3, 1882—the first power station for generating electric energy went into operation. It was Thomas A. Edison's company at 257 Pearl Street, New York City. Part of the building was used as a generating station and part as a storeroom. Mr. Edison ate and slept there. He did not sleep much of the time. Six generators, each with a capacity of 125 horsepower, were employed.

When Mr. Edison gave the signal to turn on the current that afternoon forty years ago electric energy was sent along under-ground wires a distance of 13 miles. The original district served was about 2,000 feet square. Today in one section of the country current at 220,000 volts is transmitted 250 miles.

The capital invested in this first plant was about one million dollars. The fixed capital investment in the electrical business in the United States today is more than four and one-half billion dollars. In October, 1882 the one electric company in this country had 59 customers. There are now 5,684 operating companies serving 14,500 communities, with 10,375,200 customers. The output of Edison's first station was 64.2 kilowatts. In 1921 the electric energy produced in the United States was forty-three billion one hundred million kilowatt hours.

New York was excited over the new lighting system. The newspapers were full of accounts of it and the night workers on morning papers wrote in praise of the improved lamps.

During the first twenty years of electrical development much attention was devoted to Laboratory work. The past ten years have witnessed tremendous expansion of the electric power and light industry. To the electrification of industry has been added electrification of the home, and an encouraging start toward electrification of the farm.

The past twenty years have seen many great advances in electricity some of which were not of pressing importance in the early days when practical operation was the chief consideration. Mechanically and scientifically the industry has maintained its giant strides. In the meantime business efficiency and the maintenance of public relations have come to the fore. It has been demonstrated that the engineering department is only a small part of the successful electrical concern. Developments in financing, regulation, and public relations have been comprehensive.

To those familiar with the development of the industry it is apparent that the present system of private operation under governmental regulation has been most satisfactory. The industry stands today further advanced in public relations than it ever has before. Leaders in the industry have taken the people into their confidence and the people have responded to their trust. One of the greatest developments of recent date has been the idea of customer ownership of the public utilities.

Pure Mebane Cotton Seed

No better cotton seed was ever brought to Haskell than the cotton that is being raised on the Pure Mebane Cotton Breeding Association farms in Haskell County. These seed are absolutely pure and is being ginned on separate gin stands in order to avoid the possibility of being mixed with off varieties. The wagons from the farms in the Association will all be painted gray as another precaution and for the purpose of distinguishing their cotton and cotton seed from the ordinary variety.

The fields have all been gone over by experts and the off brand stalks pulled out, to insure the purity of these seed. The farmers who are raising this cotton are more than satisfied with the yield as it is standing the drouth better than the ordinary varieties.

If you are interested in a better cotton for Haskell County, see Mr. P. M. Ross of the Mebane Cotton Breeding Association of Haskell and Lockhart, Texas, while he is here.

A. & M. TO HAVE LARGER STUDENT BODY THIS YEAR

An increased student body and multiplied facilities for instruction for the coming session at the A. & M. College of Texas assure a much more successful year than any in the past. The session will open September 18th.

Two departments of the institution will expand into new quarters. The agricultural department will occupy the new agricultural administration building erected the past year at a cost of $2,000.00 and the mechanical engineering department will move into the new shops building built simultaneously with the agricultural building at a cost of $150,000.00.

Two large frame buildings formerly operated at hosteleries on the campus are being remodeled to accommodate approximately 300 students which is the expected increase in the student body next year.

Something to Think About
By F. A. WALKER

WHO WANTS TO KNOW

IF YOU are sincere in your desire to know how to achieve, how to make yourself worthy of the highest confidence and thus become competent to hold a place above the ordinary you will lose no time in acquiring the necessary knowledge.

You will not waste a single hour in idleness or unproductive effort, the basic cause of disappointments and failure.

You will go to your task seriously with unyielding determination to win. In your pursuit, which in a little while will have become an exhilarating pleasure, you will discover that all the men and women who are holding the prominent places did in the beginning of their careers just what you are doing.

They squandered no time in the foolish chase of rainbows, choosing instead the companionship of wise counsellors and the perusal in their spare time of instructive books, seeking truths and principles upon which they could build a substantial foundation for the erection of their life-work.

They tossed the chaff to the winds and stored with utmost prudence the golden grain.

The greatest men of today, the conspicuous leaders in the professions, the arts and the crafts, struggled hard in their youth to get a foothold upon the hills. They knew what they were seeking and never relinquished their high purpose or slackened their pace, though they often slipped and went to bed hungry.

Their experiences with the world gave them an understanding of men and affairs with a fullness impossible otherwise.

Their present wealth, power and influence are envied by the thoughtless, who sneeringly talk among themselves of "chance" and "luck," those misnomers for work and pluck.

Being envied is a high distinction. And this is especially true when it is obvious that the real cause of envy is based on the admitted ignorance and regret of men and women who covet distinction but invariably lack courage to take a place in the front and bear the brunt of battle.

The youths of the present who want to know, who are brushing aside obstacles, who are exerting every effort to learn, will in the future be found among the foremost workers and thinkers in the world's great activities, simply because they have with their resolute hearts the spirit and faith, without which no man or woman can hope to win a glorious name.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

By W. M. Free

Burkburnett, Texas, Aug. 31.

As most of you know, a few years back I made regular trips over the country, mostly in Haskell county, visiting the homes and spending days and nights with the citizens of Haskell county. I was at that time working for the Haskell Free Press under the present editor and owner, Sam A. Roberts. I had for my constant companion, "Jet" the little black pony that I drove for several years. And the columns of the Free Press carried the story of our weekly journey. "Jet" and I had our own way about things; there were no questions asked by our "boss" when we started out on our trips, and no queries when we returned.

I never really considered my part of the job work—it was pleasure. And the many cordial greetings that were given "Jet" and me I shall never forget.

I have changed my occupation, or really I have changed territory, with the same occupation and instead of a county paper I am now with a leading daily, The Wichita Daily Times of Wichita Falls. I have also changed my mode of traveling. I now ride on the trains and jitneys from town to town with a cargo of heavy grips to carry. I have changed the comfortable country homes that gave me shelter for the hotels, and a good bed for a pile of straw in some cases. At the hotels no one is glad to see you come or care not when you go. It's the money that counts with them.

I am getting older and of course growing weaker, but I am also growing wiser. In my work to day from house to house and from store to store in the towns I find it quite different to working with the people who know you and are your friends. The work is just a cold business proposition, at one place you may get a word of encouragement, but the next stop may be so cold and icy that it will put to flight every dream of encouragement, and there you are. If you are not possessed with patience, forbearance and pluck you are liable to report to your company that these people you have been visiting do not need a paper nor a man to sell it to them.

I live by the rule of forgive and forget and therefore I take nothing serious, and feast upon what come that will naturally become injected into the work and stick right on the job as though they had sent for me and needed my assistance in order to become readers of my paper.

With these few remarks I have decided to carry a column in the Free Press, with the editor's permission, of the ups and downs of a paper peddler from life, trying to bring to you some of the knowledge of the outside world that cannot be obtained otherwise, telling you how people live and act and talk in other towns and counties. I shall not give names, but the incidents as they are found out in my daily work in the field.

An English judge has ruled that it is the privilege of a husband to determine what is extravagant in his wife's purchases. And after doing that it is then his privilege to pay for them.

SWEET VOICE WON HUSBAND

Romance of Fortunate New York Telephone Girl and Wealthy Young Mexican.

A romance was recently enacted entirely by telephone in one of the New York hotels. Six weeks ago a wealthy young Mexican arrived on business and engaged an expensive suite. A few hours later he was knocked over by a motorcar and suffered a broken leg. He insisted on being taken to his hotel, rather than to a hospital, and since expense was no consideration he was installed with nurses and attendants in his own suite.

He kept to his room for six weeks and when he felt able to work a little, he hired a secretary and proceeded to carry on his affairs by telephone. They were complicated and required an immense number of conversations. Within a day or so he became aware that his calls were handled with skill and patience. The next discovery was that the voice at the other end of his private line was easy to listen to. There was a smile behind the voice.

Day by day the telephone conversations grew longer. It began with a respectful inquiry as to the patient's health. Gradually the inquiries went more into details. By the end of two weeks the invalid and the voice at the hotel switchboard were on good terms. At the end of a month long conversations were the order of the day. When the sixth week had passed the man's leg was strong enough to permit a visit to the hotel lobby.

"Where do you want to go first?" the brother inquired. "I want you to help me walk down to the telephone switchboard," the invalid explained. "I want to see the girl there. And oh, by the way, I am going to marry her."

"Great heavens, what's she like?" was the natural inquiry. "Haven't seen her yet but we've fixed it all up over the phone."

The voice with the smile is now directing an establishment in the City of Mexico.—New York Sun.

"Curbs Fit for Heroes to Stand In." The New Statesman says that London has not had so many beggars within living memory as today, and he worst of it is, they have none of the romance of beggary.

"They are prosaic, dull, hopeless. Most of them look as if they had been born to be commonplace citizens, earning a more or less honest living like you and me. To speak strictly, indeed they are not beggars, but collectors. They stand on the curb; they wait in the doorways of restaurants; they haunt the streets of the respectable. All the time they keep shaking their narrow white boxes, and asking for more.

"They vary from the sullen to the responsive. Some of them seem to demand a right rather than to beg a favor. They believe that there is money somewhere, and it is only just that it should be shared.

"It is the habit of civilized societies, at the end of a great war, to provide curbs fit for heroes to stand on."

Is "Deceased" Man Dead? A Jeffersonville woman, who formerly lived at Greensboro and supposes that is the reason she was chosen to receive the letter, has received a communication from a resident of Putnam county, of whom she had never previously heard, asking for information concerning the writer's brother, who lived in Jeffersonville for many years, reports the Indianapolis News. The writer said she had not heard from him for five years, and letters had brought no answer. She sent a registered letter at last, she said, and it was returned to her marked "deceased." "I should like to know," she said, "whether he is dead." The answer went back, "He is, since November, 1919." But the woman believes the Post Office department should be more explicit.

Found Red Dye in Fruit. A German medical journal reports the injury of a young girl at Frankfurt from the point of a hypodermic needle which she swallowed while eating a blood orange. Investigation developed the fact that the needle had been filled with a red aniline dye.

The girl, it seems, had purchased a dozen of the oranges. These were examined and it was found that all contained an injection of the same nature. It appears that frauds of this sort are no novelty in Germany, similar cases often having been reported—the chemical transformation of ordinary oranges into fake blood oranges.—From Le Petit Parisien, Paris. (Translated for the Kansas City Star).

They're Sometimes in the Way. Jack—Well, what's the idea of cutting it off now when it took you so long to grow it?

Bill—Of course, you saw me catch Gladys under the mistletoe during the last dance.

"Oh! Wouldn't she kiss you on account of it?"

"Not exactly, but she became so unconscious that she lost her gum in it."—Boston Beanpot.

Oldest Living Newspaper Man? Amable Maillot-Saint-Frix, a Parisian journalist, who was born in 1821 and is therefore in his one hundred and second year, is in all probability the oldest journalist alive. He is at least the oldest working newspaperman, for he is still vigorous and not only writes a weekly article in the Abelle de Seine-et-Oise, published in Corbeil, but actually makes up the paper.—The Argonaut.

SCHOOL RALLY HELD HERE LAST TUESDAY

A school rally was held in the auditorium of the new High school building Tuesday afternoon at 2:30, at which time short talks were made by a number of leading citizens of Haskell. The meeting was for the purpose of acquainting teachers and pupils, and arousing an interest in school matters, to the end that pupils and teachers may work together for the benefit of the schools.

Prof. M. H. Brasher, Superintendent of the City schools, introduced O. E. Patterson, president of the School Board, who made a short talk in which he urged the co-operation of both pupil teacher and patron, in order to insure a successful school year. Prof. Brasher then addressed the assembly, setting forth some of the plans for the betterment of the schools, and stating the aims of the faculty. Rev. S. L. Culwell, pastor of the Methodist church, made a short talk in which he outlined the benefits offered the pupils of Haskell schools, and welcomed the faculty for the coming year. Miss Castle of Abilene, who will teach expression in the Haskell schools the coming year, delighted the audience with a reading. Mrs. F. T. Sanders, president of the Parent-Teachers Association, spoke of the purposes and aims of this organization, and stressed importance of the co-operation of patron, pupil, teacher and all interested alike. Miss Mary Ella Pace then rendered a beautiful piano solo. L. D. Rathoff of this city, made a short talk in which he expressed the hope that Haskell schools might attain an even higher standard than they now possess.

Mrs. Ed Robertson, County Superintendent, was the next speaker, and she urged closer co-operation and a friendlier spirit between the city and the rural schools. Mrs. Robertson also welcomed the new faculty on behalf of the county, and pledged her support to the city schools.

Miss Judith Taylor, teacher of music for the coming year, gave a beautiful solo, accompanied by Mrs. M. H. Brasher on the piano.

Press Cunningham, Superintendent of the Austin Public Schools, addressed the pupils and teachers, complimenting the faculty very highly. He also spoke very lightly of the Haskell schools.

Rev. R. E. Hooker, pastor of the Presbyterian church of this city, closed the afternoon's program with a very helpful talk to the pupils and teachers.

One trouble with starting at the top is that you miss all the joy of winning your advancements, and then again you often wind up at the bottom.

"When a man's pants bag at the knees it's a sure sign that he's lost interest in life or his business is bad. $1.25 spent on cleaning and pressing a suit will put more pep and ginger into a man than the same amount of liquid refreshments in the old days. Honoring Miss Elsie Killingsworth

One of the most attractive social events of the season was a shower given in honor of Miss Elsie Killingsworth by Mrs. Jesse Smith and Miss Lillian Neal at the library. The guests were met by the two charming hostesses and were passed on into the main room and were served punch by Misses Lillian and Katherine Smith. The guests then passed on to the game tables and chatted until every one came. The hostesses then passed slips of paper around on each of which was written a number of a bridal party. Rolls of crepe paper and clothes pins were then passed and each guest told to dress the clothes pin as the member of the wedding party she had drawn. Mrs. Joe Broadus drew the bride and a special roll containing lace, tulle, silver lace and flowers was given her. After the guests had dressed the dolls they were collected by the hostesses. In a few minutes the guests were asked to come into the next room. There in the middle of the room, the bride-to-be, dressed in a handsome dress of black canton crepe and accessories to match, was seated before a miniature bridal party neatly arranged on a table of white. Around under the alter were the many gifts. After opening the packages and showing the gifts to the guests, Miss Killingsworth expressed her appreciation in her own charming manner. The guests then passed into the reception room and delicate refreshments consisting of banana split and macaroons were served to the following: Misses Mary Long, Lois Earnest, Lucille Taylor, Verna Oates, Alberta Smith, Mary Smith, Elma Kinard, Helen and Florence Shook, Dave Maule Cummins, Eva Cahill, LaVerne Whitmore, Eunice Huckabee, Marylee Pinkerton, Marguerite Green, Catherine and Lillian Smith, Mary Ella Pace, and Lois Killingsworth. Mesdames Joe Broadus, Hill Oates, Jno. Piere Payne, Chas. Conner, Jno. Pace, Alfred Pierson, Courtney Hunt, Sam Roberts, J. W. Roberts, W. A. Duncan, Andrew Shriver, the honoree and hostesses.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

A New Tread—a Lower Price Reliable Goodyear Quality

Here is a new Goodyear Cord Tire—a big, sturdy, long-wearing tire—that sells at a price lower than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown value.

It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and it sells for substantially less.

It has in it the same high-grade long-staple cotton, the same Goodyear patented group-ply construction, the same liberally oversized dimensions.

When you buy the 4 1/2-inch size, for example, you get a tire whose actual measurement is nearly 5 inches.

Don't confuse this Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord with other popular-price cords which sell at the same price or for slightly more.

In many cases, these other cords are made of inferior materials, with short-staple cotton as a foundation.

Get the tire that is good enough to carry the Goodyear name, that is built to safeguard the world-wide Goodyear reputation.

A QUESTION ANSWERED
We have talked with many good merchants in the past and among them we have struck several who frankly stated that they started to advertise once, but it didn't pay as they figured it would, so they became discouraged and quit. Always they've asked the reason, and always it was hard to make them understand, to convince them exactly why their advertising failed. But now comes Herbert Casson, well-known writer and publicity expert with an article in an eastern magazine which seems to answer the question. He says:
"The man who runs an ad, no matter how convincing it is, and then stops at salesmanship in the store, isn't going to get his money's worth from the advertisement. Neither is the man who runs an ad, who makes a sudden loud noise and then drops into dead silence. That kind of man sends his advertising up like a skyrocket, it is seen for a moment and forgotten. The wise advertiser follows up the first ad with another, and then still more, and like a lighthouse his ads stands there to guide the public, and their light can be seen all the time. You have to tell some people a fact three or four times before they will believe it.
"After all, advertising is only sowing seed. After the soil and the sun and the rain have done their best, then comes the harvesting. You must reap and stack, and thresh, and bag and sell. And also you must remember that the other man will get the business if you don't ask for it."—Exchange.

Spaniards Liked Nick Carter.
The death of the creator of Nick Carter will very probably cause more widespread grief in Spain and Latin America than in Nick's native land. More thousands of readers, juvenile and elders were regular followers of Nick's exploits in the Spanish translations than there have been in English-speaking countries for more than ten years at least. Traveling through the Latin countries, you find the famous weekly still prominently displayed on nearly every news vendor's stand. The large Spanish publishing house of Sopena in Barcelona has conducted an immense and profitable business in making regular translations of Nick Carter's Weekly and publishing them. Whatever may be the literary quality of the original, the Spanish translations are such that people of presumably finer tastes are not ashamed to be seen reading them. A professor of romance language in the State university of Maine was in Havana about three years ago polishing up his Spanish conversation. He openly admitted his great fondness for the Spanish Nick Carters, and recommended them to all students of Spanish for the acquirement of facility in conversation.

Pilings Now Made of Paper.
Piles, for submarine supports are now being made of paper in California, the chief recommendation of which is the fact that they are not subject to attack by the teredo which ruins wooden piles in a short time. On a long wooden cylinder a long roll of tarred paper with glued edges is wound and covered with cord. Over this another band of paper, much narrower, is wound diagonally like the bandage on a wounded arm. The cylinder is revolved while it is bound with more cord, hot glue being applied continuously. After three layers of paper have been put in place, the wooden cylinder is removed and the paper cylinder is reinforced with a coarse mesh.
A mixture of cement and sand is squirted all over the cylinder, and several cylinders are joined end to end with the same cement so as to make a pile 90 feet long and from 18 to 30 inches in diameter. A square steel head is fitted over the top to receive the shocks of the pile-driver.

FIRST TURKEN FOWL BROUGHT TO TEXAS
There is nothing so wonderful as the successful accomplishment of the seeming impossible. Burbank, the wizard of the vegetable kingdom, successfully removed the spines from the cactus and transformed that worthless growth into a delicacy for the consumption.
Another orchardist has caused a single tree to produce almost every variety of fruit that the most exacting family might desire.
Another courageous experimenter has successfully eliminated from the skunk that which for centuries has been his most formidable weapon of defense and offense that in his shorn condition he becomes as meek and harmless as his cousin kitten.
In the days of the Caesars the old Roman epicures graced their greatest feast with a poultry that styled the hybrid fowl, and said by the historian Gibbon in his "Rise and Fall of the Empire" to have been produced by the crossing of the turkey and the common barnyard fowl, while another authority claims the cross to have been what was then known as the Mediterranean turkey, which is also known as the bustard.
They were reported from Ireland, attention being called to them by their resemblance both to the turkey and the chicken.
It remained, however, for an American to re-establish the cross that is the subject of this sketch, and produce what he calls the "Turken fowl."
W. B. Dunn, a groceryman of Gilmer, Texas, who is a great chicken fancier, secured a setting of the Turken eggs, the first that were ever shipped to Texas, from West Plains, Mo., but had only one to hatch. Eight more eggs were sent him and six of the eight hatched out, but one chick met with an accident and died, leaving five and the one from the first setting.

They are known as the "Spencer Turken" and are the descendants of a white Holland gobbler and a Rhode Island hen.
The males show in many ways their cross breeding, having a decided turkey gait, a long neck bare of feathers except a tuft in the place of the brush so common on the neck of a gobbler. Their long necks are covered with pendulant caucules, while the feathers back of the comb stuck out straight and remind one of the modern haircut of our youngsters.
The chicks are very heavy and broad across the hips and walk with the legs wide apart. In scratching they are slow and more like the turkey chicken. They grow very large rapidly, often attaining a weight of 14 pounds. The hens more resemble turkey than the males, and of the same sad eyes of the turkey.
These fowls are new in the world and they may cut some figure as they spread. Mr. Dunn being the first person in Texas to raise any of the chicks. They are a curious novelty and are of considerable attention.—Gillespie

GOVERNMENT ESTIMATE TOO HIGH, SAYS TERRELL

That the government's estimate of the 1922 cotton crop is too high by approximately 2,000,000 bales, and also its estimate of the acreage in Texas, is the opinion of George B. Terrell, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

"The last cotton crop report issued by this department on August 1, gives 10,196,000 acres of cotton in this state," said Commissioner Terrell, "compared with the government's estimate of 12,312,000 acres, which I know to be too high, because the first estimate of the crop by the government was 9,196,000 acres, and there is only eight or ten per cent increase this year. Our reports were made from correspondents in 221 counties. They were made by presidents and secretaries of farmers' institutes and other reliable sources, and was verified as far as possible by our field men. This report indicates a condition 71.4 per cent of normal.

"The yield in 1921 was 100 pounds of lint cotton per acre. The condition of the cotton on August 1, indicates a yield of 135 pounds of lint to the acre, or a little more than one-fourth of a bale per acre. This indicates a yield of 2,752,920 bales for Texas. Reports reaching the department since the above report was made show severe damage by drouth and hot winds, causing cotton to shed its fruit in all the western part of the State, and continued damage by boll weevil in other parts of the State, and serious damage by the leaf worm in the Eastern portion of the State. From these facts I am afraid that the yield will be reduced below my expectations. No more posion can be had to fight the boll weevil and leaf worm, and the damage will continue unabated."

"Recent reports from the commissioners of agriculture of the cotton growing states indicate a great damage by boll weevil and a yield no greater than last year," continued Mr. Terrell. "The maximum crop will be less than 11,000,000 bales, or 2,000,000 bales short of the world's needs. The mills must run on short time before the crop of 1923 is made. The present short crop warrants a price of 25 to 30 cents per pound for this crop, and nothing short of a conspiracy to bear the price can keep cotton at the present low price. The cost of producing this crop is above 20 cents per pound. The cost of production and a reasonable profit must be received or the cotton industry of the South is doomed."

I thank the convention and all my friends for their help and support in what I have tried to do for the convention and the cause of music. Thanking you for the honors conferred upon me as your humble servant, I am wishing and praying for the success of the Haskell County Singing Convention.

COUNTY AGENTS ARE DOING A GREAT WORK IN TEXAS

The more we see of county agents and learn of their work, the firmer our conviction becomes that they are doing a great work for the farmers of Texas. They have different ways of going at things, but in the majority of cases they have sought out the big problems in their county and set to work to solve them. In one Texas county in which cotton is the outstanding crop, the agent put on a campaign that brought about the planting of two varieties of cotton of recognized quality. He made his county known as a section in which even running lots of cotton of good staple might be obtained. In other counties, the most important problem is not so apparent as the agent has used what he pleases to call community analysis to determine how he can most efficiently aid the farmers of his county. The influential farmers of a community come together, analyze the agricultural situation and then, with the aid of the county agent, decide what should be done and how to do it. In this way the farmers themselves direct the activities of the agent to a considerable extent.

In West Texas where some counties contain less than 100 farms, the county agent is in position to give the farmers individual attention. Under such conditions, community work on the part of the agent is often impractical. However, in East Texas, in counties with four to six thousand farmers, the agent must of necessity work with communities rather than individuals, and farmers should not feel aggrieved because the county agent did not give them as much individual attention as they expected.

The agent who leaves his imprint on the agriculture of a county is the one who has a broad constructive plan for the solution of one or more of the most important problems affecting the agriculture of his county. He rust work with communities rather than individuals and get the farmers to thinking about and working out their individual problems. He cannot visit with every farmer in the county at frequent intervals, but by working with groups of farmers, there is no reason why he should not reach and materially aid every farmer in the county.—Progressive Farmer.

No Worms in a Healthy Child

All children troubled with worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILD TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50¢ per bottle.

THE COMEBACK

I find that the way I am treated in the day's work depends upon the state of mind I bring into it.

If I enter a circle of men whom I take to be superior to me, I am likely to be snubbed. If I impute to them the feeling that I am inferior I will not fail to be inferior.

If I am self-confident, I awaken confidence.

If I eridge, I make others want to step on me.

If I am cheerful, cheerfulness is handed me by others.

If I am grouchy and snappy they will bite me.

People go at me about the way I go at them.

There is a law in physics to the effect that action is equal to reaction. The ball rebounds from the wall with the same force with which it was thrown against the wall.

And if I approach a man with politeness, I usually receive politeness.

I get from this world a smile for a smile, a kick for a kick, love for love, and hate for hate.

Of course, there are exceptions to this rule. But if there were no rules there would be no exceptions.

And the difference between the man who knows how to play the game and wins regularly—any game, including poker, business, and the game of life—and the man who steadily loses, is that the wise man sticks to the rules and the law of averages, and the fool "has a hunch" and stakes his all on the exceptions.

A good definition of a fool is one who thinks that this time does not count.

My tablets, therefore! Meet it is that I set it down that I am getting what is coming to me.

This is a world of law. Chance is to be found in the dictionary. In the bright lexicon of fact, there's no such word.

If I am petulant, unrestful, irritable, unsatisfied, wretched and bored—I know the crop and might have expected the harvest when I sowed the seeds of self-indulgence, lack of will, moral cowardice and general selfishness.

If I am lonely, it was I who drove hearts away.

If I am bitter, it was I who skimped the sugar bowl.

If I am persecuted, it was I who brought it on by my cantankerousness.

The loving are loved.

The generous are helped.

The considerate are helped.

The bully, by and by, is bullied; the smasher smashed.

And the end of a hog is the slaughter house.

HASKELL SCHOOL OPENED FALL TERM MONDAY MORNING

been able to be with us but the pupils showed the very finest spirit of co-operation with the two supply teachers, Misses Dave Maude Cummins and Anna Bess Chambers, who have carried on the work of these two departments in a very efficient manner. We are under many obligations to these two young ladies for their kindness in coming to our assistance at such an opportune time. Misses Langford and Chambers are much better now and will soon be with their work.

Since the Free Press had a reporter present at the school rally Wednesday, we will only say that teachers and superintendent greatly appreciate the fine spirit of co-operation and interest in the schools that were manifested by the large group of parents present. A most excellent and interesting program was rendered and those not present missed a great treat. It was a great inspiration and boost for the High School pupils and teachers.

The teachers are taking hold of their work with a spirit and attitude that means a successful year. We do not believe there is a drone among the entire bunch. They are showing that their entire heart and souls are in their work.

We have a great many fine boys and girls enrolled in the schools from the small neighboring towns and rural communities. We are glad to have these boys and girls and we are going to give them every opportunity and assistance to succeed in spite of their handicap of short terms and the majority of them will succeed. We want the Haskell schools to serve the ambitious boys and girls of this section of West Texas.

The High School enrollment is larger this year than last year but the grade enrollment is not so large. The fact that the High School enrollment is considerably larger is a compliment to the standing and reputation of the Haskell High School.

Do not forget to attend the recital, given by Mrs. M. H. Brasher and Miss Bess Castle for the benefit of the Haskell schools, this Friday night, September 8th, at the Christian church. This is going to be a fine program and a small fee of 15 and 25 cents will be charged.

We hope to have our first lyceum program the last Friday in this month. You cannot miss these entertainments. To be given by your own home talent you will be surprised to see Haskell has such fine talent. Entertainments will be much better many that you have paid 50 or 75 cents to see.

See that your children from start of school do their home work. The High School students should at home from two to three hours; and the third and fourth about one hour at home. If they are wise this is when they learn wide-prudence of thought to overcome difficulties. This is absolutely necessary if you are to master their work and develop into independent thinkers.

Your children need plenty of sleep. They can not attend picture and social functions during nights and do much at school. This practice will mean that your children will fail, if they are permitted to indulge in it.

If you are not pleased with your child's doing in school, talk to his teacher. If you would like our advice with reference to your children, come to see us.
