RAIN FALLS TUESDAY AFTERNOON

A rain, amounting to more than an inch, fell in Haskell and neighboring territory Tuesday afternoon. According to reports, the rain fell for several miles south, east and west of town, with hardly more than a shower to the north. According to the farmers, this rain only helped to grow weeds, which have become a big problem in some places.

PEOPLE OF OUR TOWN

do the Girls fall for This Kind of Guy, Fellow? All he can do is take a Mean Hoop at the Dance, he'll win on his way to Satiny, Why do the Silly Creatures go with every Girl in the Fuser to Manly Guys like You, huh?

JUNE 12-17 "SLAY THE WEEDS WEEK"

The week of June 12 to 17, has been designated as "Slay the Weeds" week by Mayor R. C. Couch, and a concentrated effort on the part of the entire citizenship is asked in order to check the unsightly as well as unhealthy growth of weeds in our city. Everyone is urged to assist in this much needed work, and the business men are asked to close their places of business on Friday, June 16, until noon, in order to help in the last day of the campaign. Mayor Couch's proclamation follows: A Proclamation Designating "Slay the Weeds Week"

Knowing that the copious rains which have fallen during the year has caused to spring up all over our little city, a very excellent variety and growthy crop of weeds.

And believing that our citizenship as a whole are at all times inclined to take such steps as are reasonable and right to make inroads upon this unsightly growth, thereby making an improvement in the sanitation and general appearance of the city.

And believing, too, that a gradual continual development of our own inclinations but in a general city pride as well.

BE IT THEREFORE PROCLAIMED, that the week of June 12th to 17th be declared and set aside as A SLAY THE WEEDS WEEK, with the eliminating or obnoxious efforts being put forth on Friday, June 16th.

Should it meet with the approval of the business men of the town we would be glad to see their places of business closed Friday morning till noon, that their efforts might be put fully into the work and something worth while accomplished.

Organization

As a starter for an organization the town is divided into three sections. West of Depot street into the north and south part. Parties in the north part of town who are designated as Chairmen will be Chairmen of the row of blocks running from Depot street north. In the south part of town his territory will run from Depot street south. Unless otherwise stated the parties designated are to be chairmen of the row of blocks in which they live.

- A. P. Kinison and Henry Lee for Bailey street.
 - John A. Couch.
 - R. V. Robertson.
 - J. E. Grissom.
 - T. A. Williams.
 - J. O. Stark.
 - W. P. Whitman.
 - W. H. Murchison.
 - G. F. Atchison.
 - Bailey Post for his neighborhood.
 - John Odell for his neighborhood.
 - R. W. Goodwin.
 - C. H. Davis for his row of blocks and gin.

- We suggest that each of the above men appoint sub-chairmen for each block in his charge with instructions that if reasonable have it cleaned by Thursday night. Then on Friday morning assemble the forces on the extra bad spots and make them look sick.
- R. C. Couch, Mayor.

TWO CARS COLLIDE SUNDAY AFTERNOON

An accident that resulted in slight damage to two cars occurred on the northwest corner of the square last Sunday evening when Newton Cole of Rule, driving a Ford coupe, collided with a Buick touring car driven by Miss Myrtle Kennedy. Cole was driving west on the north side of the square, and blinded by the sun, did not see the other car coming from the north. No one was injured in the accident, the occupants of both cars receiving a severe shaking-up.

EXAMINING TRIAL OF MATURA HELD TUESDAY

The examining trial of C. Matura, who is in jail as a result of the killing of Geo. Page near O'Brien on May 27, was held Monday of this week, and Matura was remanded into custody of the sheriff without bond, to await the action of the Grand Jury.

The Old, Old Story

PRIZE WINNING ESSAY ON HISTORY OF HASKELL COUNTY

(Note: The following essay is founded on Mr. R. E. Sherrill's manuscript history of Haskell County. This essay won the medal in the contest recently staged by Editor Roberts of the Free Press. Other contestants were Reta Anderson, Thelma Pearl, Chitwood, Mary Ella Pace, Thelma Newsum, Lillian Smith, Frankie Mae Brooks, Lucy Cummins, Leola Welch, Bernice Harris, Vesta Baker, Marjorie Whiteaker, Fern Case, Gilbert Smith, Mochelle Moore. Some of these contestants did not carry the project through to completion, being drawn into other contests or finding their time near the close of the term taken up with regular class work. Several seniors were forced to relinquish the race near the last lap through becoming engrossed in the senior class play. Much interest was manifested in the study of local history through the stimulus afforded by the contest. All entries were required, among other things, to read Mr. R. E. Sherrill's manuscript account of Haskell County history.)

Haskell County is situated in that part of the state known as "Red bell country." With reference to its physical features, it is divided into three portions: first, the northwestern sandy land; second, the central level, mixed land; and third, the southwestern rolling land.

The scenery around Haskell is very picturesque. If one will go to the court house or some other large building in town, he can see to the southeast the high hills along the Clear Fork. To the west there is a group of hills in three different places. Southwest there is a mountain with two peaks, called Double Mountain. To the northwest lies a range of hills on the further side of the Brazos. On the rocks of these mountains, to the northwest, names have been carved, showing that people visited them many, many years ago.

Haskell has no minerals to boast of, but instead it is a great agricultural section. This is something to be proud of, for without agricultural products there would be no living.

Many years before the white man had looked upon this country and found it good it was inhabited by their homes in this particular part of the country but only stayed here at different intervals while they were hunting game or were on the warpath. During those times, by very wise judgment, they picked the place where Haskell now stands for their headquarters because of the large spring that sends forth its cool and refreshing waters while the other parts of the country is often dry. This country has once known as "Hunters' Paradise", for there were many varieties of wild animals.

Two or three hundred years ago this country was also visited by the Spaniards. On their explorations Mexico based her claim to this land. While Texas was under the rule of Mexico she was a part of Coahuila. It territory was divided into three parts or Departments, and Haskell County was a part of the "Department of Bexar."

Haskell County was created in 1858, but was only platted on the map for, at this time not a white man lived here.

The first man to make a home near Haskell was Mr. Rice from the Panhandle. He took up a section of land that is now included in the city limits. A year later as many as fifty families had drifted here in search of water for their cattle. They came in covered wagons from all directions. These people dug cellars for their homes, building the roofs high enough from the ground to have small windows on the sides for light.

Haskell was first known as Rice Springs in honor of Mr. Rice, but as there was another Rice Springs in Texas the people began to think of changing the name. Mr. Haskell, a half breed Indian, who fell with Fannin at the "Massacre of Goliad" was one of the first settlers of Haskell. In honor of this man the people decided to call their little town "Haskell."

The first business of Haskell was begun by Mr. S. M. Smith, who put up a little eating house and grocery store combined in a little shanty just off the square, southwest. The first real store of Haskell was owned by Mr. Draper.

In the early days of Haskell Albany was used for a post-office. When anyone happened to make a trip to this town he brought back his neighbors' mail.

Haskell County was organized in 1884, being surveyed by Mr. Sandifer. Haskell was made the county-seat. The first courthouse was a two-story wooden building. The town grew rapidly until there were over a hundred families here. The great tracts of land were fenced, and agriculture began to take the place of ranching.

The business portion made rapid progress. In 1890 the First National Bank was organized. The most important building was the courthouse which was erected in 1891. It is made of rocks which came from the Herd Ranch. Most of the business houses were erected in 1906. One of the most useful and interesting buildings is our Library, erected by our Club ladies. These ladies have proven themselves worthy of Haskell's praise, and through them Haskell has come to be known as the "Home of the Magazine Club."

In 1909 the railroad finally reached Haskell after twenty-one years of waiting and after six years of determinedly increasing effort.

While the town was growing the people began to look forward to some kind of transportation facility. The problem was finally solved by Mr. Hemphill, who built a street car line from the "Depot, through the square, down main street, and then to the lake." The life of the street car line was "short but sweet"; nevertheless, it was real.

In 1903 the North Ward school building was constructed. In 1907 the South Ward was built, followed by the east Ward in 1913.

But Haskell had its times of disappointment as well as its periods of progress, and about 1914 one of these former began. The European War started in this year, the Bankers' Panic swept the country, and there were heavy crops and cheap cotton. In 1916 and 1917 there were short crops and high war prices.

In 1917 the United States entered the Great War, and many young men left Haskell to help "Uncle Sam." Everyone began practicing economy. The Savings Stamp campaign was launched, Bonds bought and the Red Cross organized.

But dark days could not last long.

Mrs. Ed Robertson's Sunday School class was entertained at her home Tuesday evening.

In 1918 the war ended, and everyone could see the dawn of better times.

Better times have come, for Haskell has been making rapid progress in the last few years. New brick residences have been built, sidewalks have been extended to different parts of town, the square has been paved and relighted. A new Christian Church has been built. Last but not least, a beautiful new high school building has been constructed. The new Haskell served as the stage for the District Federated Women's Clubs' Meeting this spring, and through that gathering was advertised all over the state. This meeting was secured and carried through by the Magazine, Harmony and other ladies organizations of the town.

The very best any town can offer is: Good water and plenty of it; good schools and splendid churches. Of her possessions along these lines Haskell may well be proud. The West is coming to the front. The new day will soon dawn. Prosperity is knocking at the door of Haskell. She will not be dilatory in seizing her opportunities.

SPECIAL TERM OF DISTRICT COURT CALLED THIS WEEK

A special term of District Court was called this week by District Judge W. R. Chapman, and the Grand Jury reconvened Thursday morning at nine o'clock. The Grand Jury will probably investigate the killing of Geo. Page at O'Brien, together with several other matters that have been brought to the attention of officers. The April term of District Court was adjourned several weeks ago, but as a result of the killing at O'Brien, a sweeping investigation was started, which resulted in the special term being called.

HUNT HOTEL AND ANNEX SOLD LAST WEEK

A real estate deal was consummated last week by T. A. Williams of this city, whereby the Hunt Hotel and Annex, owned by Mrs. H. L. Sherrill of Temple, was sold to local parties, W. L. Norton, who for several years has been the proprietor of the Hunt Hotel, purchased this property for a consideration of $5,500.00. Mr. Norton is planning extensive improvements to this building in the immediate future.

The Annex building was sold to Mrs. W. A. Earnest, a former resident of this city, who is moving back to Haskell from Stamford. Mrs. Earnest purchased this building for a home, and will make her future home in this city. The consideration was $4,500.00.

Misses Virgie and Winnie Mae Allen, Bessie and Virgie Johnson, Helen Norman and Fern Case, left last Friday night for Belton where they will attend Baylor College during the summer. They were accompanied by Belton by O. B. Norman, who returned Monday morning.

SCHOOL NOTES FROM OVER THE COUNTY

Rochester has let the contract for a new $15,000.00 brick school building to Harrison & Carter. Rochester is making much progress educationally and otherwise. Mr. E. C. Watson will be superintendent, and a new school building, we shall see great progress in the Rochester schools.

The McCollum school district will vote bonds and erect a new school building during the summer.

Tonk Creek will add another room to their present school building and enlarge their faculty next year. Tonk Creek is a live school district.

The Hutto and Mitchell schools closed their 1922 term Friday. A large crowd gathered and dinner was served in the school building. Ball games and other amusements made the occasion a pleasant one. Mr. E. L. Blumberg has been elected principal of the Hutto school for the next term. Messrs. Brimberry and Rice have had wonderful success the past term in the Hutto school.

A. H. Harrison has closed his school at Bethel and returned to Haskell for his vacation. Mr. Harrison was elected to the same position for the next term.

RADIO

INSTRUCTIONS FOR TROUBLE SHOOTING

How to Detect and Remedy the Open Circuit, Short Circuit and Leakage.

Radio circuits are subject to the same ills that the ordinary power circuits are subject to.

If a receiver is well put together in the first place and all contacts and other parts come over once in a while, there is no reason why there should be any trouble.

The usual troubles of the receiver fall under one of the following three headings:

- 1-An open circuit. 2-A short circuit. 3-Leakage.

An open circuit can most easily be detected by means of a series lamp. Nearly every one has available the ordinary 110 volt lighting circuit.

Suppose it is desired to test for an open circuit in a tuning coil.

Testing the Tune Circuit.

slide is moved back and forth the light should remain lighted. If the light goes out at times there is an open circuit in the coil.

If a buzzer and battery are available they can be used in testing for an open circuit in the same way that the lamp can be used.

The ground connections can be tested with a buzzer and battery, but do not use the house-lighting circuit to test for grounds because one side of the lighting circuit is already grounded.

If the ground wire is connected to the water pipe, connect one test tip to the ground and the other to the gas pipe, which is also grounded.

Leakage usually exists between the antenna and the ground. An antenna should be well insulated from its support. The lead-in should be brought down to the point where it enters the wall of the station in such a manner that when the wind causes it to swing, it cannot touch any grounded material.

To Test Telephone Cords.

In through the wall, insulate it well and inside the station use as short a piece of well-insulated wire as is possible to make good connection with the set.

To test the continuity of the circuit of a pair of telephone receivers, touch the tips of the cord phone to the tongue. If the receivers are in reasonably good condition a slight click will be heard.

If the continuity of the circuit of a pair of telephone receivers is checked and no response is heard when the cord tips are touched to the tongue, try checking each receiver of a double head set separately.

TIPS TO THE RADIOIST

The higher the aerial the stronger the signals. An increase of five to ten feet in the height of the flat top aerial will increase signals.

Addition of a variable condenser to the secondary or to the primary of a loose coupler often helps to tune out the undesired signals.

The sliders on tuning coils often make poor contacts with the slide rod. Thus much of the signal strength is lost.

Increase length of spreaders of two, three or four wire aerials from six to ten feet for best results.

Each wire should be from four to six feet from its neighbor. Two wires one or two feet apart are no better than one wire.

series and to check either one separately, short circuit the tips of the cord leading to the other receiver just outside of the case.

Care should be exercised by the operator when adjusting a crystal detector to see that his fingers do not touch the surface of the crystal or the contact point of the little spring.

oil secretion that exists in the skin together with the dust that it collects will render a crystal detector impervious to the insulating film that it will cause to form on the portion of the crystal surface that is touched.

AMATEURS SHOULD PLAY FAIR

Radio Inspector Schmidt Urges That They Learn the Laws and Regulations.

Nine out of every ten radio fans are good sports, but the tenth is either a fan with poor judgment or a "rotter."

This can be done by observing certain cautions and by becoming posted on the radio laws and regulations. A copy of these regulations may be obtained from the superintendent of documents, government printing office, Washington, D. C.

The great trouble with amateurs is that when they want to send a message around a corner they put on all the power they have with the hope that some one in Texas might pick up their message.

"In all circumstances, except in case of signals or radiograms relating to vessels in distress, all stations shall use the minimum amount of energy necessary to carry out any communication desired."

"They should use a 'pure wave' or, as the regulations state, 'if the sending apparatus is of such a character that the energy is radiated in two or more wave lengths, more or less sharply defined, as indicated by a sensitive wave meter, the energy in no one of the lesser waves shall exceed 10 per centum of that in the greater.'"

"The wave must be 'sharp.' As to this the regulations state: 'At all stations the logarithmic decrement per complete oscillation in the wave trains emitted by the transmitter shall not exceed two-tenths when sending distress signals or signals and messages relating thereto.'"

Amateurs frequently are at fault in calling stations too often. The law states that they can call three times, send 'd e' once and sign their station call three times; but often the amateurs will send the calls a dozen or more times.

HOW TO GROUND AN AERIAL

If Properly Done It Really Protects the Property From Lightning.

Generally speaking, aerials do not attract lightning, but they do store up atmospheric electricity, and, of course, this condition does create a hazard.

Briefly, the fire underwriters require that the aerial be grounded when not in use by a copper wire no smaller than R. S. Gauge No. 4 or larger, and run said wire as directly as possible to the outside ground.

This means that water, gas or steam pipes inside the property cannot be used for a lightning ground, because if ever this ground was called into service there is a possibility that fire and loss of life may result.

GOOD THINGS FOR THE FAMILY

The apple is richer in phosphorus than any other fruit or vegetable; it contains malic acid which is a great germ destroyer and the water and other mineral matters make it an effective liver and stomach tonic.

"An apple a day keeps the doctor away." is an old and well-tried recipe. Fresh or cooked apples are equally wholesome, but are more digestible cooked.

Lettuces and Apples Salad.—Take six tablespoonsful of olive oil, two table-spoonfuls of cider vinegar, a table-spoonful of salt, a few dashes of white pepper and two table-spoonfuls of grated apple.

Apple Fritters.—Take one cupful of flour, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-half teaspoonful of baking powder, two eggs, one-half cupful of milk, one-half cupful of sugar and three apples.

Baked Apples With Nuts.—Peel and core as many apples as desired and place them in a deep pan with a heaping table-spoonful of sugar and one-half cupful of water for each apple.

Fried Apples.—Place a table-spoonful of butter in a frying pan; when hot put the pan with apples cut into eighths. Sprinkle with sugar and flour and let them brown, then turn and let them brown again.

Apple Cake.—Mix a one-egg cake batter, pour into a pan and cover the top with quarters of peeled apple. Bake and serve with a brown sugar sauce for dessert or as a cake with coffee or tea at luncheon.

MORE LUNCHEON DISHES

For those who like tripe the following dish will be enjoyed:

Mock Sweet breads.— Wash fresh tripe thoroughly in several waters and put it into cold water and boil until thoroughly soft and tender, changing the water once; cut in dice.

Make a rich thick sauce of white stock or milk, season with salt, paprika and a grating of nutmeg; add the diced tripe and pour very hot over rounds of toast. Garnish with small point of dry toast and sprinkle with a little chopped parsley over all.

Smothered Lamb.—Line a mold with hulled rice, first buttering the mold thickly. Fill the cavity with finely-chopped lamb, seasoned with a little onion, salt, pepper, a little chopped green pepper and moistened with a few spoonfuls of good stock. Cover the meat with a little more rice, pressing it down well. Set the mold in a steamer and steam three-quarters of an hour. Tip out on a platter and serve with tomato sauce.

Boudins.—Chop beef, lamb or veal and mix with two well-beaten eggs, allowing one egg to each cupful of meat. Season highly with salt, pepper, onion juice and a little celery salt. Add a spoonful of stock. Put the mixture into well-buttered tinfoil molds and set them into a pan of hot water in a moderate oven to cook until the eggs are set—about twenty minutes. Turn out on a platter and serve with a rich tomato sauce.

Escalloped Eggs With Cheese.—Cook until hard six eggs, cut them in halves the long way. Remove the yolks, mash and season highly with stuffed olives, chopped chives and salt and pepper. Moisten with melted butter and fill each half rounding it up well. Arrange in a shallow baking dish, pour around the eggs a rich cream sauce and over the top place a thick layer of grated cheese. Brown lightly in the oven. Use a cheese which will not become stringy when heated.

NEW PEST DESTROYS WHEAT

Men of Science Called to Combat the Fearsome Creature Known as Trogoderma Khapra.

Beware of the fearsome Trogoderma Khapra! says an English correspondent.

This creature, with the name of an oriental villain, is a new insect pest which has already worked amazing havoc among stores of wheat and malt. First discovered in 1917 by Mr. G. T. Arrow, of the Entomological department of the British museum, it is now reproducing its species so rapidly that it has become a pest of serious economic importance.

A small insect, measuring about 3 m. m. in length, the trogoderma Khapra eats itself into the heart of the wheat and malt grain, leaving nothing but the husk.

Many recent cases are reported in which hundreds of quarters of grain have been eaten by the vermin, and its depredations are causing great anxiety.

A remarkable example furnished by the board of applied pestology involves a shipment of malt. A number of sacks, containing the malt, were stacked on the dockside awaiting transference. A burly workman, employed on the job, was about to move a 2 cwt. sack and summoned all his strength for the exertion. He gave a tremendous tug—and then, to his amazement found that his pull met with no resistance from the sack. It was as light as air.

This destructive creature is one of the pests against which the newly formed board of applied pestology is directing its scientific energies.—Montreal Family Herald.

HIDE JEWELS IN SANDWICHES

Germans Resort to All Sorts of Devices to Get Treasure Out of the Country.

Sandwiches spread with gold pieces or diamonds and eggs spiced with unset gems have been successfully used by international smugglers to get such valuables out of Germany until in two recent cases the customs officials became suspicious of these travel lunches and discovered the deception. Now all "snacks" are carefully examined at the frontier.

A German merchant, whose lunch basket attracted the attention of the Polish customs officials at the frontier station of Kowitz, was found to have a layer of gold coins interlarded between the layers of every sandwich and covered with a thick coating of butter, while each egg nested a valuable diamond. The total of his confiscated hoard was estimated at 18,000,000 Polish marks.

His fellow smuggler, a Dutch merchant, was intercepted at about the same time at the Holland frontier.

While the officials were vainly searching his baggage, they were struck by the fact that he was ostentatiously but rather nervously devoting himself to a huge sandwich. They found imbedded in the bread and butter three diamond rings, a diamond brooch and a number of loose diamonds. Further search disclosed 44 unset diamonds concealed in a cigar lighter.—Milwaukee Journal.

Moonshiner Advertises His Wares.

North Carolina has a moonshiner who believes in advertising his wares. Revenue officers in Asheville recently came across a bottle with a unique label, which they sent to Commissioner Blair, himself a North Carolinian. This label was the advertisement of the moonshiner and it reads as follows:

"Pure mountain korn Blker. Bottled in a barn. Made in the backwoods of the Mountains of Western North Carolina by an old-time block-ader, that don't give a dam for laws and prohibition. Retailed on the Asheville market by all the high-class bootleggers for five bones per pint and is worth every cent of it. Guaranteed to be strong enough to make you drunk as the devil in ten minutes and mean enough to make a baby bullfrog spit in a whale's face. Shake well and get ready to have a fit before drinking."

The label has been added to the internal revenue bureau's museum.—Exchange.

Live Wedding Presents.

Lord Morton has revived old traditions of Scotch chieftainship, writes a correspondent, by his practical and patriarchal gift of a flock of sheep to his son on his marriage. Such wedding gifts must have been common enough when the Douglas chiefs ruled with a high hand in territories where there was little actual money. The ancestor of Lord Morton was second chief of the Douglas clan, and the greatness of this family began with the acquisition of wide lands in the fourteenth century, culminating in the fourth earl, the great Regent of Scotland, too great for safety, for he was attained and executed. But the Morton earls soon recovered from this blow and, 50 years later, the seventh earl was one of the richest and most powerful men in the kingdom.

Coal or Water?

A new French estimate of the world's water power resources credits the United States with 30,000,000 available horsepower; Canada with 25,000,000; Norway with 7,500,000. Sweden with 6,750,000; Austro-Hungary district with 6,750,000; Italy and Spain with about 5,000,000 each; Germany with only 1,500,000, and England with 1,000,000, have a supposed compensating advantage in their supplies of coal.

Johnston-Scott Wedding

Last Thursday evening, May 25th, the wedding bells of the Encampment Presbyterian church announced the coming of the bride, Agnes Latriece Scott, to be united in marriage to Morgan Lynch Johnston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold L. Johns, with Rev. Harold E. Nice's assisting. Every seat in the house was occupied a half hour before the arrival of the wedding party, and many were standing outside, eagerly waiting for a glimpse of the bride. During the last few moments of expectancy, Mr. Carl Ashley sang "Oh Promise Me," accompanied by Mrs. David Tourtelot.

With the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, everyone rose and the bridal party was ushered in by Miss Philina Lardier and Mr. Henry Thomas. The best man, Mr. Fredrick Henley, accompanied the bridegroom down the right hand aisle, followed shortly afterwards by Lee Eversole, who bore the ring in a beautiful white lily. Lee is the year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Eversole. The matron of honor, Mrs. Walter Lenke, sister of the bridegroom, proceeded down the left-hand aisle and joined the others, standing about the altar. Then the flower girl, Josephine Johnston, niece of Mr. Morgan Johnston, carrying a basket of rose petals, prepared the way for the bride. The attention of everyone was directed towards the two young ladies who now approached the altar—Miss Anita Scott, maid of honor, and her sister, the demure and smiling bride-to-be.

At the altar, Agnes Latriece Scott was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. D. Bryant Scott. The ceremony was attractive, with due solemnity throughout. After the closing prayer, the happy bride and groom led the recessional, followed by other members of the party. Mrs. Tourtelot played Mendelssohn's wedding march.

The church was beautifully and appropriately decorated with cut flowers, ferns and evergreen. The bride wore a lovely gown of white silk canton crepe, silver slippers, white kid gloves and a bridal veil held in place by orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses. Her sister, the maid of honor, wore an elaborate gown of evening glo tinted crepe, trimmed in iridescent, with white slippers and white kid gloves. She carried an arm bouquet of delicate pink roses. The matron of honor, the groom's sister, wore a beautiful gown of pink mizol satin, with an arm bouquet of pink and white roses. Miss Lardier wore an attractive pea green organdie frock. Both the little flower girl and ring bearer were dressed in white.

The bridal party was entertained by Mrs. Minnie Corum, the sister of Mrs. Scott. Contributed.—Encampment (Wyoming) Echo.

Wm. Parker of Fort Worth visited his sister, Mrs. Hardy Grissom the first of the week while here for the recital which was given by the Harmony Club at the Christian Church Monday evening.

WHEN IS A MAN A MASON?

To the question, "When is a man a Mason?" John Fort Newton replies: "When he can look out over the rivers, the hills and the far horizon with a profound sense of his own littleness in the vast scheme of things, and yet have faith, hope and courage, which is the root of every virtue. When he knows that, down is his heart, every man is as noble, as vile, as divine, as lonely as himself; and seeks to know, to forgive and to love his fellowman. When he knows how to sympathize with men in their sorrows, yet, even in their sins; knowing that each man fights a hard fight against many odds. When he has learned how to make friends and keep them; and above all to keep friends with himself. When he loves flowers; can hunt birds without a gun; and feels the thrill of an old forgotten joy when he hears the laughter of a child. When he can be happy and high-minded amid the meager drudgeries of life. When the star-crowned trees and the glint of sunshine on flowing waters subdue like the thought of one much loved and long dead. When no voice of distress reaches his ears in vain and no hands seeks his aid without response. When he learns how to pray, how to that helps any man to lay hold on divine things, and sees majestic meanings in life whatever the name of that faith may be. When he can look into way-side public and see something beyond mud and into the face of the most forlorn fellow mortal and see something beyond sin. When he knows how to pray, how to love, how to hope. When he has kept faith with himself with his fellow man, with his God; in his hand a sword for evil; in his heart a bit of song; glad to live and not afraid to die. Such a man has found the only real secret of Masonry and the one it is trying to give to all the world."

JOL VENERATED IN INDIA

Thousands Take Part in Annual Pilgrimage to the Shrine of the Famous Juggernaut.

The "Car of Juggernaut" is the car which the idol, Juggernaut, or Jagannatha, rides in triumphant procession in India when the festivals of Jagannatha are celebrated. Jagannatha is another name for the Indian god Krishna (supposed to be the eighth incarnation of Vishnu), and it also is the name of the idol in a temple at Jurl in Orissa on the Bay of Bengal, a temple dedicated to Krishna, a wooden image with a red body, black face, gilt arms—its crimson mouth wide open and its eyes sparkling with gems—this idol in its rich robes presents a very striking appearance. Jagannatha is throned between his sister Subhadra and his brother Balarama, one black and the other white. At the times of the festivals of Jagannatha the idol is placed on a great car bearing 10 wheels, drawn by some of the people who crowd from all parts of India in pilgrimage to this shrine. Sometimes as many as a hundred thousand are there. It was stated that in former days many of the pilgrims threw themselves under the wheels of the "Car of Juggernaut," immolating themselves in the belief that they would thus be transported direct to heaven.

GERMS KILLED BY SUNLIGHT

In That Way Water is Kept Comparatively Free From Infection That Would Spread Disease.

There are few more wonderful sights in the world than a winding river shining in the sunlight. But our interest in such a scene may be greatly heightened by the reflection that the sunbeams are not merely beautifying the water; they are engaged in a curious work of the utmost importance to man's welfare. Scientific investigation has proved that sunlight possesses a wonderful power to kill injurious germs in river water.

Where a river is polluted by sewage, millions and millions of dangerous bacteria flourish in its water and are carried along with it to spread disease and death around its banks unless their development is arrested. If the sun does not shine upon such a river it may become a peril to whole communities. But if the sunlight does reach it freely, the germs are destroyed and the water is kept comparatively free from infection.

Soothing Sights.

The commuting train was crowded and the woman felt fortunate at securing a seat. This feeling began to dissipate when she realized that a crying baby was in the seat ahead. His tired mother danced him up and down in a vain endeavor to quiet him. Then she stood him up so that his tiny red face peered over her shoulder at the people behind. His wallings subsided into snifles as he looked around. He was particularly attracted by a young man sitting next to the woman, whom he gazed at intently, encouraged by her baby's silence his mother patted him gently on the back and murmured in soothing but very audible tones:
 "There, there! That's a good boy. Now look at all the funny faces."

Lincoln Shrewd Lawyer.

It was in the old Metamora (Ill.) court house that Lincoln won a case for a man who was suing another for fraud in a horse trade. Lincoln's legal opponent had on a new and stylish shirt with a long, pointed collar attached and, contrary to the usual custom, opening in the back. The worthy gentleman was wearing the shirt for the first time and had put it on wrong side foremost with the points of the collar sticking back. Lincoln in his defense had said that his opponent was wise and knew many things, but probably did not know all about a horse trade, as: "Gentlemen of the jury, there are some trifling things he does not know; you will perceive that he doesn't know when he has his shirt on right," and Lincoln won the case.

Whitman's Childishness.

The story of Whitman's romancing to Emerson concerning the rapid sale of his own first edition (possibly sincere, because a subconscious fulfillment of a deep desire) and his later flat contradiction of that romance, and the (as many are disposed to believe) exaggerated story about his six children, to say nothing of the obvious deception in publishing anonymously reviews that he had written of his own poetry, or in republishing, over assumed initials, as an original novel, a story that had been formally issued four years previously—all this can be more easily understood if we allow him to have retained a child's fondness for fabrication.—Emery Holloway, in the Dial.

Editorials First—News Next.

In China, the editorials appear on the front page, as they are considered the most important part of the paper. The rest of the news follows in order of importance—legal and government news, telegraph news, local news, and finally advertisements. The advertisements are not scattered through the paper, but are bunched on the last few pages.

The officials are very careful of what comes out in the newspapers. If an editor wishes to remain in business he must see to it that nothing adverse to the present administration appears.

No Worms in a Healthy Child
All children troubled with worms have an un-healthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a re-sult there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, im-prove the digestion, and act as a General Strength-ener to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle

A TONIC

Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic restores Energy and Vitality by Purifying and Enriching the Blood. When you feel its strengthening, invigorating effect, see how it brings color to the cheeks and how it improves the appetite, you will then appreciate its true tonic value.
Grove's Tasteless chill Tonic is simply Iron and Quinine suspended in syrup. So pleasant even children like it. The blood needs QUININE to Purify it and IRON to Enrich it. Destroys Malarial germs and Grip germs by its Strengthening, Invig-orating Effect. 60c.

OUR TOWN MEETING JUNE THE EIGHTEENTH

(From "The Summit")
It is with pleasure that we re-announce to the people of Haskell and vicinity, that there is coming to us a man who has both a national and international reputation as being one of the greatest preachers and singers now living. Both the religious and secular press have spoken of him and his work, in the highest praise, and many of the leading pastors, both in England and in America, consider Charles Forbes Taylor the foremost evangelist of the present time. The great crowds that attend everywhere that he preaches and sings and the wonderful results that always follow, only show his power and ability. A most cordial invitation is extended to everybody to attend these services.

Mrs. J. A. Oslin Honoree of Missionary Party

The hospitable home of Mrs. Fred Sanders, president of Womans Missionary Society was open to the women of the Church Monday afternoon June 5th, honoring Mrs. Oslin, superintendent of the Junior Auxiliary. She has so endeared herself to the children and is so thoroughly imbued with all phases of church work that her place will be hard to fill.

Mrs. Fields in her charming way told of the many things accomplished and just what aspirations Mrs. Oslin had for us.

In behalf of the society Mrs. Sanders presents a silver sandwich tray as an expression of appreciation. Mrs. Oslin's response was beautiful and her prayer is that some woman will gladly volunteer and assume what she has begun for the little children of Haskell.

Mrs. James Hill Oates and C. L. Lewis sang a beautiful duet, "Human Nature in the Bible" by William Lyman Phelps, was well given by Miss Sallie Caldwell, and the Biblical Quiz by Mrs. Gose was most interesting as we chose sides and neither won. Mesdames Alexander and Sowell made the tie, each representing alternate sides.

The hostess then invited us in the beautiful dining room where lovely roses were everywhere to be seen and the delightful surprise that she had for us was the refreshments consisting of whipped cream and fresh dewberries grown from her own garden, assisting in serving were the Misses Earnests.

Such a delightful time was had that we'll look forward to another meeting in the home of our President.
