Assessment Ratio Reduced To 60 Percent At Talco-Bogata Schools

The Board of Trustees of the Talco-Bogata Schools met in special session at Rivercrest on Tuesday, August 8, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. The major purpose of the meeting was to further discuss the 1978-79 school budget and matters related to financing the budget.

At a prior budget discussion meeting, the Board had approved a change in the assessment ratio from 50 percent to 75 percent. However, after further study and with additional information available, the assessment ratio was reduced to 60 percent and the tax rate was set at $1.46 per $100 of values. This compares with an assessment ratio of 50 percent and a tax rate of $1.75 for the previous school year.

The overall tax bills for the majority of tax payers will be about the same as the previous year with those claiming the over 65 age exemption or veteran's exemption having a greater increase in their taxes

Talco-Bogata Schools Will Open August 28th

The Talco-Bogata Schools will hold the first day of classes for the 1978-79 school year on Monday, August 28th. Buses will make their regular runs on Monday morning with students remaining in school the entire day. Lunches will be served in the cafeterias.

All students entering Kindergarten must be five years of age on or before September 1 of the current year. Students entering the first grade must be due to the change in the assessment ratio. A public hearing on the adoption of the budget will be held on Tuesday, August 22, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. at Rivercrest.

met the required State immunizations of diphtheria, tetanus, polio, measles, and rubella. All students new to the district who have not already registered should do so beginning August 21.

The early schedule of activities features home football games of the Rivercrest Rebels vs. Hawkins and Cooper at 8:00 p.m. on September 8 and 15, respectively.

Superintendent Talmadge Morgan also announced the calendar for the 1978-79 school year as follows:

In other matters, the Board approved the amended budget for the previous year and accepted the resignation of Johnny Swarts, vocation agriculture teacher at Rivercrest. Swarts has accepted employment outside the teaching profession.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be Tuesday, September 5, 1978 at 7:30 p.m. at Rivercrest with the public cordially invited to attend.

Rates To Change

Officials of Continental Telephone Company of Texas announced recently that its rates will change as a result of its most recent petition to the Public Utility Commission for rate increases. Company President James Miles said, "Although the Public Utility Commission granted us considerably less than we felt we needed, we are proceeding to place the new rates into effect retroactive to July 3, 1978 in accordance with the Commission's order." "Actually" Miles said, "the new rates will have only minor effects on current residential and business customers and many can expect rate reductions. Most of the additional revenue authorized us by the Commission will be received from increased rates for one-time services such as installation and wiring charges affecting mostly new subscribers, and the line services provided by the local exchanges."

Continental customers throughout the State will begin seeing the effects of the new rates starting with the August 16th billing cycle. An insert offering further explanation and a partial rate schedule for comparison purposes will be included in a complete cycle of billing beginning August 16, 1978.

Hill Caravan Hits Clarksville

The General Election race for governor will be won by Attorney General John Hill because his campaign is a "people" campaign and not a "dollar" campaign like his opponent is using, according to a group of Hill supporters taking part in a four-day caravan.

The caravan, one of nine being conducted August 15-18 from outlying parts of the state and heading toward Waco where they meet August 18, is headed by Rep. Paul Ragsdale of Dallas. They were in Clarksville Tuesday at the Branding Iron Restaurant.

"The Republican candidate for governor is boasting that he can buy the governor's office. He's bragging that he will spend $7 million to beat John Hill.

"He doesn't know that won't work in Texas, because he's never run for office before," the caravan leader said.

"John Hill will win the General Election race for governor the same way he won the Democratic Primary race—by reaching out to the great people of this great state.

"The General Election campaign will focus on the same issues which brought victory to the Hill campaign this spring—opposition to any new state taxes, property tax reform and relief, utility bill relief, holding the line on state spending, and development of our agricultural, water and energy resources. John Hill can bring the leadership it takes to carry out this program and keep Texas prosperous."

Book Lovers Elect Officers

Talco Book Lovers Club met in the home of the president, Mrs. J.H. Weatherall, Friday for the purpose of electing officers and turning in the program for the ensuing club year. Those elected were: President, Mrs. J.H. Weatherall; Vice-president, Mrs. A.E. Foster; Secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Ollie Jones; Assistant secretary-treasurer, Mrs. T.L. Barton; and Reporter, Mrs. Ivy Smith.

The first fall meeting will be Friday, October 6, in the home of Mrs. Ollie Jones.

MRS. WILLIE WATKINS was awakened Friday night by a loud noise she first thought was a car which had run into her house. It was the next morning before she discovered the real source of the problem, as the tree which fell on her house was not visible from the front door or windows in the dark. Some structural damage was thought to have been done to the roof. (Staff Photo)

Dr. Denman Presents Young Farmer Program

The Rivercrest Young Farmer Chapter held their regular monthly meeting last Tuesday in the Vocational Agriculture Building at Rivercrest High School. A program on horse diseases and parasites was presented by J.D. Denman, veterinarian from Mount Pleasant.

All members are urged to be in attendance at the next meeting, September 5, to plan programs and activities for the coming year.

Superintendent Resigns

Red River County Commissioners accepted the resignation of Mike Colbert, County School Superintendent, and appointed Ila Mae Maroney, Colbert's secretary, to fill the unexpired term of four months.

County Judge Connie Sullivan advised the court that a county judge could take over the duties of the county school superintendent without any action necessary by the commissioners, and that she would be willing to assume the duties of the office without additional pay. However, the court voted to name Mrs. Maroney to the post and in effect continued the salary of the county superintendent, which is paid by the State of Texas.

The court voted to hire an adult probation officer, with applications to be taken through Sept. 1. The adult probation officer will be partially paid by the state, with the salary set at $13,500 plus travel expenses.

Commissioners also voted to make application for a Criminal Justice Grant for a juvenile probation officer, to be hired on a five year program with Red River County assuming more and more of the salary each year until the county is paying the entire sum of $10,500 plus travel.

The Red River County portion of the district court reporter's salary was increased $199.69 to $3000.56 a year on action by the court, and the court also approved the purchase of a 550 gallon diesel fuel tank with a pump for Commissioner Earl Humphrey for $375.

The purchase of new survey maps for the county was tabled pending final decisions of the Texas Legislature which may effect county taxes. The maps were to be purchased for the purpose of equalization. District Clerk Clara Gaddis requested funding to hire a second deputy clerk and was refused by the court.

The formation of a Citizens Advisory Committee to help evaluate county land for taxes was tabled by the court.

Bids for the purchase of a 1973 Chevrolet Van and a 1977 Chevrolet Van were opened, with both vehicles going to Towers Used Trucks. The bid on a 1974 Dodge van was refused and will be advertised again.

The Commissioners approved the acquisition of two new cars for the Red River County Sheriff's Department on a lease-purchase plan. The lease-purchase agreement allows the Commissioner's Court to buy equipment without taking competitive bids open to the public.

The salary of the deputy sheriff assigned to the City of Clarksville was raised $50 to $700 a month by the court, and the position is still open, according to the county judge's

Clinic Receives Favorable Response

The August 24 free screening clinic, sponsored by the Red River County Unit of the American Cancer Society, is meeting with favorable response. Calls are being made every day to 427-3900 or 427-5037 for appointments.

Four types of screening will be held at the clinic—oral, breast, rectal, and a pap test for women. Doctors Tom Ragan, W.V. Scott, and Jack Troutt will be examining mouths for swellings, growths, white scaly patches, sores, numbness or bleeding. These conditions may not mean cancer, but if they do, disfiguring surgery often can be avoided if treatment is begun early.

Doctors involved in making breast, vaginal and digital-rectal examinations will be Dr. Edward Wilson, Dr. B.C. Muthappa, Dr. Lynn Reep, Dr. R.L. Edwards and Dr. E.E. Brooks. Women's breasts will be examined for lumps or thickenings, and during a regular pelvic examination, the doctors will do a pap test, which is 95 percent effective in detecting cervical cancer. A digital-rectal examination will be done for women and men.

This simple procedure could eliminate three-fourths of the deaths attributed to colon-rectum cancer by early diagnosis and prompt treatment. When the disease is treated in its localized stage, 71 percent of the patients are alive and well after five years. But once the disease has spread, the five year survival rate drops to about 43 percent.

One third of the 665,000 Americans who get cancer each year are alive and well five years after treatment, the American Cancer Society reports. The survival rate might be raised to one half through earlier treatment if more people would heed cancer's warning signals and have regular health checkups.

Gas And Oil Industry Boost Shared By Titus County

The multi-billion dollar boost that oil and gas industry operations gave to the Texas economy in 1977 was shared by the citizens of Titus County.

The marketed value of petroleum production in the county has been calculated at $18.9 million in an economic activity profile of the state's top producing counties prepared by the Dallas based Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association.

"Texas' oil and gas industry remains the cornerstone of the economy of the state and of many of its counties," said Association president, H.B. Harkins, Alice, independent producer and drilling company executive. "It is imperative that the state maintain taxing and regulatory policies which will encourage the growth of this industry."

Titus was one of 201 counties last year which produced petroleum with a marketed value of $100,000 or more. The county ranked 125th in the estimated total value of petroleum produced. The Association has computed that some $18.9 million came from the production of 2.1 million barrels of crude oil, with approximately $9,000 attributed to an output of 9,900 MCF of natural gas. Payments last year to owners of royalty in the county were calculated at $2.4 million.

While paying local, county and state property taxes, producers in the county also helped support state government through production tax payments estimated at $867,000. This included $867,200 from crude oil output, $700 from natural gas.

According to the Texas Employment Commission, during 1977 some 271 employees worked for the industry in the county. The reported payroll amounted to an estimated $3.3 million.

The search for additional petroleum continued in Titus County last year. Oil and gas developers spent an estimated $1.2 million in the drilling of seven wells, including one classified as a wildcat. Some $230,700 of that amount was lost in one dry hole. The six strikes all were oil wells.

Processing also contributed to the county's petroleum-related economy through the operation of one refinery with a daily capacity of 26,000 barrels.

FRIENDS of Mrs. Vera Grogan at Joe Ford Grocery had this sign ready Thursday at noon when the Bogata News reporter returned from Deport. Denise Ward and Rhonda Puckett were in on the making of the sign they put on the Bogata News windows, and, along with Joe and Lella Ford, presented "Grogan" with a decorated birthday cake. ### Ladies Auxiliary Gives Party

The Ladies Auxiliary to the V.F.W. supplied homemade ice cream for all the residents of Red River Haven Nursing Home on August 11, in honor of the Veterans at the home. The ladies used Buddy poppies for decorations and placed a veteran's name on each. After the party, the ladies presented the decorations to the veterans.

They also honored Mrs. Della Moore with flowers for having the most sons to serve in the armed forces. Her sons are: Burl Moore of Bogata, Ellis Moore of Mt. Pleasant, Wade Moore of Clarksville, Russell

Moore and Marvin McCulla, both deceased.

The ladies that made ice cream and helped with the party were Helen Barnett, Mary Bynum, Denise Chaloner, Elma Chaloner, Virginia Cox, Wootie Harville, Bobbie Hervey, Geri Knowles, Zelma Mauldin, Annie Lee Moore, Ruthie Sheffield, Linda Tabb, and Ina White.

Representing the V.F.W. were John English, Wendell Hervey, Steve Knowles and Burl Moore.

MRS. DELLA MOORE was honored by the Bogata VFW last Friday as the Red River Haven resident having the most children who served in the U.S. Military, four sons and one stepson. She is pictured with her son, Burl Moore, who is commander of the VFW post, Bobbie Hervey, president of the Ladies Auxiliary, and Annie Lee Moore. (Staff Photo)

Costal Bermuda Still Top Producer

Producers in East Texas are constantly on the look out for better forage varieties. Research being conducted by Dr. Monte Rouquette, forage physiologist for the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, involves screening both summer perennials and cool season legumes for outstanding characteristics. The research is being conducted at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton.

In the summer perennials, Rouquette says that Coastal bermudagrass is still the top, consistent producer. Any new grass has the challenge of exceeding Coastal in vigor, production and nutritive value. In screening new selections, Rouquette looks for vigor under clipping conditions (grazing or haying), high stand-maintenance characteristics (dense growth) and a reasonable nutritive value.

If the grass has another trait, such as longer grazing season or higher digestibility, work will continue on management systems for that grass. From the first years' data, some new grasses do look exciting in isolated characteristics. However, Rouquette contends, further study must be completed before a definite recommendation can be made.

In the area of cool season legumes, Rouquette is screening a plant collection of 500 Trifolium species (true clovers such as arrowleaf, crimson, white, red subterranean). The search is for a plant that will grow well, has good seedling vigor, will establish early, withstand cold weather, provide early dry matter production and will continue for late season growth. Rouquette believes that if the traits of arrowleaf and crimson clover could be combined into one plant, many of these characteristics would be present.

From the 500 species, 50 promising selections have been isolated during the first year for replanting. Also the original planting of the 500 species has been allowed to reseed for further evaluation and possible selection. These selections will provide a base of plant materials for further legume breeding at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center.

John Hill is attacking State Budget waste . . .

"I've already started my search for waste in the state budget. I want to be ready to tackle overspending the minute I take office as Governor in January. My budget office already is paring down big state agency budget requests, to keep spending within available revenues. We'll have to live within our means, because I'll veto any new taxes."

. . . because he knows our taxpayers need relief from inflation.

Library Has Interesting Activities

By The Bookworm
I thought it was time I crawled out from behind the shelves to let folks in Red River County know what was going on in their library.

For one thing, there is a fascinating collection of African artifacts on display. There are small passport masks carved to resemble the owner and enabling him to go from country to country, four ritual masks from Liberia, two antelope carvings plus a large carved horse and rider depicting the King's Guard, two bronze pieces—one a medicine jar and one a statuette made by a lost wax process which has not been duplicated by modern technology, and a helmet and grotesque mask. This is a display everyone will enjoy.

Also on display is an arrowhead collection collected by Sam Harris, Sr. and loaned by Gerry Allen.

When you come in to view these interesting collections, why don't you stop by and look at a few of the books on the reading table. You can look at these books while relaxing in the comfortable chairs around the table. A few of these books are: "The White House and Its Thirty-five Families", "The Rolling Stones Illustrated History of Rock and Roll", "The Paintings of Eisenhower", "The Bird Life of Texas" and many others. I know you will spend more time than you expected in this part of the library, because part of the fun of visiting your library is browsing from one book to the other.

On Monday, August 7, four members of the Library Board of Trustees, Ann Black, Mary McAllister, Lela May Beadle and Mary Simpson, traveled to Marshall to attend a workshop for Board Members and Librarians. It was held in the Marshall library with representatives from Tyler, Paris, Rusk, Jacksonville, Gladewater and Carthage present. New ideas, new programs for libraries were discussed. Your library board wants to do everything it can to make your library even better, so if you have any complaints, let them know. Even better, if you have any compliments, let them know. Say, by the way, do you know who the library board members are? I will tell you next time because I try to listen in on all the meetings from my vantage point on the top shelf as they plan to make your library ever and ever better.

Do pay us a visit if you haven't already. I'll be looking for you. Happy reading!

The spacious firmament on high,
 With all the blue ethereal sky,
 And spangled heavens, a shining frame,
 Their great Original proclaim.

—Joseph Addison

Even as the turning of the leaves heralds the coming of autumn, the endless march of the seasons is recorded by the ever-changing panorama of the stars as seen from our earthly vantage point; wheeling slowly westward with the precision of clockwork as the nights and the seasons progress. Therefore, in addition to their resplendent beauty, the stars are direction signposts; and even the sketchiest knowledge of them can prevent you from getting lost on any cloudless or moonless night; another proof of God's unlimited universe and unending love. He gave us the splendor of the sky, and the intelligence to fathom the workings of it. You can confirm all this by a glance at the nightly display and a visit to your Church on the Sabbath.

Pearce Urges Pasture Improvement

With beef prices the best they have been in several years, cattle producers need to pay close attention to pasture improvement, a local conservation district leader says.

"Grass is the cheapest source of good nutrition for beef and other grazing animals, but we need to keep a close watch on pasture stands and our fertilization programs," says James Pearce, chairman of the Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District.

"Low cattle prices and high fertilizer costs in recent years have caused many of us to let our pastures deteriorate," Pearce says. "Quite simply, it was too expensive to maintain pastures while losing money on cattle. This cost-price squeeze also caused many producers to plow up sloping pastureland to plant to sorghum, corn, soybeans, or other row crops," Pearce says.

"We think the time is now ripe to fertilize, renovate, reseed, and improve pastures for a good source of economical feed for cattle, and for conservation," Pearce says. "We are particularly keen on this right now because a well-managed pasture—of all conservation practices—is one of the most effective means of conserving soil and water, and keeping our streams and ponds clean."

"I estimate that there are 150,000 acres of pasture in Red River County that are showing problems from insufficient management," Pearce said. "As cattle prices are once again favorable, these pastures should get attention this fall or next spring."

Common bermuda grass, bahiagrass, dallisgrass and coastal bermuda are the base pasture grasses in Red River County. Low fertility, poor weed control and heavy use have caused these grasses to deteriorate. With proper attention this fall, the grasses could bounce back and produce excellent pastures.

PJC Education Program Draws 8,315

A total of 8,315 persons participated in continuing education and community service programs of Paris Junior College during the 1977-78 school year, members of the continuing education advisory committee learned at a planning luncheon Wednesday, August 9. Felix Gibson, dean of continuing education, gave the annual report on enrollment.

The total of 8,315, which included 212 different programs, compares to 7,409 who took the non-credit courses in the 1976-77 school year. Since it began on a part-time basis in 1969-70, the community services program has grown from 299 to the 8,315 in total enrollment.

At the luncheon meeting, advisory committee members made plans for fall and spring programs based on the needs and interests of the community, said Mrs. Bill Jones, director of continuing education. Among topics discussed were training courses needed, programs on community issues, cooperating agencies and available instructors.

FDA Reconsiders Antibiotic Restrictions In Feeds

The Food and Drug Administration's decision to reconsider restrictions against antibiotics in animal feeds is a "major victory for livestock producers and consumers alike," says John B. Armstrong, president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association. The Fort Worth based group represents 14,000 cow-calf producers in Texas and surrounding states.

"TSCRA has testified against FDA's proposals in several public hearings in the last 18 months. We are very happy that FDA, after hearing this testimony and that of others, has backed off its original plans. The savings for livestock producers and consumers from this action may result in millions annually," Armstrong said.

Notification of FDA's change in attitude came in a letter from Dr. Donald Kennedy, FDA commissioner, to members of the Senate Agriculture Committee. He said FDA would delay and possibly drop altogether regulations that would sharply curtail the use of three antibiotics—penicillin, chlorotetracycline—in animal feed. Further, the agency's plans to label all feeds containing the drugs and the requirement of a veterinarian's certificate to purchase such feed have been postponed indefinitely.

FDA will likely hold a formal meeting on the rules and will invite representatives from concerned groups to present further evidence. Thereafter, Kennedy said the rules would be "revised or withdrawn to better address the public's concerns."

Key points of TSCRA opposition against these regulations were: The use of low level antibiotics in animal feed has been a common practice for the promotion of animal health and weight gain for more than 30 years without incident of resistance bacteria found in animals.

Anaplasmosis, one of the major diseases to cow calf operation in the Southwest, is controlled by feeding low level antibiotics. No alternatives have been found at this time.

With only 5,000 large animal vets in the U.S., obtaining prescriptions would be impractical for many producers and place feed companies in the drug store business.

FDA administrator Donald Kennedy originally proposed these regulations because of "theoretical evidence" that resistance could develop if antibiotics continue to be used by livestock producers. TSCRA sharply opposed these restrictions because these regulations as proposed were without scientific fact.

"Carryover" Rule May Be A Tax Burden

A 1976 tax rule which disrupts the American tradition of handing down property from one generation to the next is soon to be up for reconsideration by the U.S. Senate. In question is the "carryover basis rule" of Federal estate taxation, which went into effect December 31, 1976, according to an official of Southern Forest Products Association.

"This carryover basis rule burdens heirs planning to sell inherited property with capital gains taxes on increases in value from the time the prior owner acquired the property," explained SFPA Executive Vice-President Bill Ganser.

The Association, which represents lumber manufacturers in the South, favors repeal or delay of the rule's effects because it is causing landowners to sell off timber, often before the timber is mature or at times when market prices are unfavorable, rather than leave heirs with a high tax bill, Ganser said.

"But," he added, "this carryover basis rule applied directly to all owners of property, homes and small businesses. Since this law went into effect only last year, few have felt the confiscatory tax bite, but if the Senate does not act, many more people will be affected."

Before the carryover basis was passed, an heir was responsible for taxes only on gains after the time of inheritance. Now the heir pays taxes on the increased value from the time the property was acquired by the deceased.

The full U.S. Senate will soon take up H.R. 6715, the Technical Corrections Act of 1977, designed to straighten out some of the problems in the Tax Reform Act of 1976, according to Ganser. In the Senate version, an amendment by Sen. Harry F. Byrd (Independent-Va.) and Robert Dole (R-Kan.) delays implementation of the carryover basis rule until December 31, 1979, in order to give Congress more time to fully consider the impact of the rule.

Ganser said private landowners are beginning to understand the importance of this amendment to their heirs. He added that his association is urging other property and business owners to express their interest to the U.S. Senate.

Workshop Scheduled For Parents Of Deaf

Ms. Freddie McKee, coordinator of Services to the Hearing Impaired, has announced that the Texas Department of Human Resources Region 07 will sponsor a workshop in Tyler August 19, entitled "Parenting the Deaf Child." The workshop will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. and will be held at the Texas Power and Light conference room, 226 North Broadway, Tyler, Texas.

Materials to be covered in the workshop will include improving communication in the homes of deaf families, teaching deaf children independent living skills, post-secondary educational opportunities, and career possibilities for deaf adolescents.

Aircraft Owners Should File Tax Return Soon

Most taxpayers who own aircraft must file a special Federal tax return, Form 4638, by August 31.

The return, Form 4638, must include the $25 annual fee for each aircraft plus the tax of 3 1/2 cents for each pound of maximum certified take-off weight for turbine powered aircraft and 2 cents for each pound of maximum certified take-off weight over 2,500 pounds for piston powered aircraft, according to the Internal Revenue Service.

Revenue generated by the tax is used for construction and improvement of public airports and air control facilities.

The tax year for the use tax begins July 1 and runs through June 30 of the following year. If the first taxable use of an aircraft occurs after July 31, the tax based on weight is proportionately reduced.

Supplies of Form 4638 and the free IRS Publication 582, "Federal Use Tax on Civil Aircraft," providing additional information on the aircraft use tax, are available at many local IRS offices.

Bollworms Observed In Soybeans

Bollworms have been observed in soybeans in Red River County, reports County Extension Agent, Robert J. Moody. This insect can cause economic losses if they build up in numbers to where there is one worm per linear foot of row. Moody states that farmers should take a three foot cloth, place it in the row and shake all the insects in this space onto it. This should be done in several spots in the field. If you find one bollworm per foot, the soybeans should be sprayed with a clear insecticide for controlling this pest.

The bollworm, tomato fruit worm, or corn ear worm is the same insect and it should not be confused with other worms found in soybeans. Moody states that anyone who cannot identify this insect can come by his office and get a picture of it. Moody states that group 6 and 7 soybeans still have time to make a good crop if we get moisture in the next three weeks, and farmers must water these beans to see that they are not eaten up by bollworms.

"Ordinary" Air Conditioners can't take the heat like Arkla-Servel.

GAS air conditioners retain MORE original COOLING CAPACITY, for higher outside temperatures, LONGER than "ordinary" units. The constant mechanical wear of the compressor reduces, ANNUALLY, the cooling capacity and efficiency of "ordinary" units. But GAS air conditioners don't have compressors—ONLY 3 MOVING PARTS in the entire sealed cooling system. Less to wear out means less to repair. Greater dependability, too. Longer life. ONLY Arkla-Servel has a 10-Year "No-Sweat" limited warranty. TWICE AS LONG as all other brands. And for the most efficient energy use and economy, GAS is still your best energy bargain—for the big household jobs. See the difference "dependable" Arkla-Servel air conditioning can make in your cooling comfort and costs. Call or visit Arkla Gas, today. Financing is available on your gas bill.

*Ten Year no sweat warranty covers any defects in materials and workmanship on the sealed refrigeration unit for ten years from date of installation on residential units. All of the parts are warranted for one year from date of installation. Arkla-Servel agrees to repair or replace such parts as are deemed defective when returned to Arkla-Servel.
