Rebels Take Second Place In Holiday Tournament

The Rivercrest Rebels journeyed to Leonard and participated in the Leonard Holiday Tournament December 28-31. They competed against all size schools from A to AAAA classification.

In the opening round of play the Rebels took on the Gainsville Leopards out of 6AAAA. Rivercrest started off slowly, but managed a 30-24 half time lead. This lead was increased during the third quarter to a twelve point advantage. The Leopards of Gainsville then pulled to within seven points at the end, but this was as close as they could get.

In the second round the Rebels beat a very strong Class A team, Sam Rayburn, in overtime by a score of 59-54. This game was nip and tuck all the way with Sam Rayburn enjoying a five point lead with less than two minutes left. However, the Rebels pressing defense forced Sam Rayburn into crucial mistakes and Rivercrest was able to tie the game in regulation and win in overtime.

In the third round of the tournament Rivercrest played a traditional powerhouse in Pottsboro, who had started the season as the number ten rated team in the state in class AA. The Rebels of Rivercrest jumped out to a 12-11 first quarter lead and in the second quarter completely surprised everyone by outscoring Pottsboro by a count of 20-5 to take a half time lead 32-16. The second half saw Pottsboro attempt to close the gap, but the Rebels continued to play good basketball and beat Pottsboro by a score of 60-43.

In the finals Rivercrest met the Honey Grove Warriors for the championship and were defeated by a score of 76-56. The Rebels played a good game, but were simply outshot by the Warriors. The half-time score was close with Honey Grove having a slim 34-31 lead. However, the third quarter was disastrous for Rivercrest as they were outscored 26-7 and were unbelievably cold from the field. Honey Grove made ten straight at one time to ice the game, and win their third tournament this year. The Rebels have won second place, third place, and consolation in tournaments this year.

"All varsity players saw considerable action at Leonard with all contributing their share to the team's success. These boys really pull for each other and pull together. Overall these kids have the best attitude of any group. Some of the boys have made remarkable improvement. They work hard in practice, and push each other hard. Their greatest assets right now is togetherness and hustle. Sometimes they get a little lazy and I have to get on their case, but they all respond positively which indicates the right attitude." Coach Wood said.

The players currently participating on the varsity are: Scott Brown, Forward and a Junior; Kelly Jeffery, Guard and a Sophomore; Larry Davis, Forward and a Junior; John Hines, Wing and a Junior; Bradley Moore, Wing and a Junior; Stan Wood, Guard and a Junior; David Rozell, Post and a Junior; David Weissinger, Post and a Senior; and Wyatt Bush, Post and a Junior. At the Leonard Tournament Bradley Moore and Stan Wood were named to the all-tournament team.

Rebels To Open District Play Jan. 8

The Rivercrest Rebels, defending champions of District 20 AA will start the defense of the district crown Friday, January 8, at James Bowie. The A girls will play at 6:30 followed by the A boys.

The Rebels are a very fortunate team in the district schedule as all of their home games of District 20 AA will be on Tuesday nights. All of the road games will be on Friday nights. The other teams in District 20 A are New Diana, Ore City, Maud, James Bowie, Redwater, and Harmony.

The district should really be something to watch this year. New Diana has every starter back from last year, and was beaten by Rivercrest in a sudden death playoff for the championship last year. Other teams that could win it all are Maud,

Ore City, and Redwater as a possible dark horse. Friday night's schedule of games is:

Ore City at New Diana
Rivercrest at James Bowie
Redwater at Maud
Harmony-open
Tuesday's schedule is:
Maud at Rivercrest
New Diana at Redwater
Harmony at Ore City
James Bowie-open

The Rebels and Rebelettes really need the support of their local fans at the home games as a large crowd cheering for the home team can mean the difference between victory and defeat. The kids need support and the fans will not find one team that will out hustle them. Come on everybody & pack the gym Tuesday night for the Rivercrest-Maud games.

Haven Residents Celebrate Christmas & Birthdays

A large crowd of residents, families, and friends filled the nursing home chapel Monday afternoon to celebrate Christmas and December birthdays.

Those residents with December birthdays include Maggie Gillis, Zura Newsome, Mary Smith, Edie

Forester, Lois Wilson, Lora Kelsø, Lennie Medley, Bernice Forester, Elizabeth Allums, Flossie Grayson, Oma Paradise, Zula Hancock, Bob Edwards, and Ruby Jeffery. Maggie Gillis, born on December 26, 1880, was 101 years old. The choirs from Bogata

Christian Academy combined to sing carols for the program. Rhonda Rolan, Lauren Johnson and Mikel Ann Williams joined to sing a special. The choir is under the direction of Mrs. Penny Graham. Students at Bogata Christian Academy are required to learn scriptures each month. They recited as a group the verses from Luke depicting the birth of Christ.

The group then enjoyed a variety of cheeses, crackers, and peanut butter furnished by Red River Haven.

Bob White Quail Call Part Of Area

By Nanalee Nichols
The Bob White quail is related to the partridge (lately in a pear tree) of Old Europe. It's cheery call is so familiar to East Texans that a summer evening without it would seem unnatural.

There was never much doubt as to his name—whether people call them quail, partridge or what—he names himself endlessly with his repeated "Bob White, Bob, Bob White" call. A fine game bird, tasty and prolific, it is also one of the prettiest birds around.

Few area folks have avoided having their hearts thump wildly when the plump, short-winged birds erupt from underfoot during a tramp through brush or pasture!

The wings make a distinctive whirring sound, and more often than not he will make a bomber-like glide to a new resting place only yards in front of the hiker.

A covey of young quail observed is a comical sight. Mother seems quite distracted with her tiny babies as they dart along in single file behind her, making constant side trips hither and back again.

Often the mother will fake injury, dragging her wing and crying piteously to distract a supposed predator.

Besides their delightful call and neatly barred brown, white and black appearance the Bob-White serves yet another purpose.

They feed primarily on weed seeds and pernicious insects, and therefore are useful on any farm, yard or pasture.

They are plentiful, but must be hunted within season to keep from destroying their balance in the area.

The quail lives in dense brush and bramble, and the local blackberry is a fine cover for them.

Unlike some birds the male is attentive to the female, a good provider and upon the death of a female they will brood, feed and raise the young by themselves.

The very fact they are so prevalent and familiar to the locale makes them something of a symbol of East Texas.

They are recognized by everyone, and few people can claim not to feel soothed by their pretty, cheerful calls as daylight fades from the sky.

Brady Fisher Speaker At Rotary

Lamar County Judge Brady Fisher was the guest speaker recently at the regular weekly meeting of the Clarksville Rotary Club. Club President Harry Bomar presided at the meeting. The program was under the direction of Gavin Watson, Jr.

In his talk, Fisher outlined some of the problems that county governments throughout Texas face on a continuing basis. Among those problems are the increasing demands of State and Federal guidelines, the expanding demands for various services, combined with an increasing resistance to more taxes.

Fisher, who has served as Lamar County Judge for the past three years, is an attorney, and has worked for the late Congressman Wright Patman, the U.S. House-Senate Joint Economic Committee, seven sessions of the Texas Legislature, the Governor's Office, and the Attorney General's Office. He serves on the Board of Directors of the Lamar County Chamber of Commerce, McCuiston Hospital, the Lamar County Human Resources Council, the Lamar County Alcohol-Drug Council, the Red River Regional Council on Alcoholism, the Ark-Tex Council of Governments, the Area Agency on Aging, and is president of the Red Cross.

The Bogata PTO will meet Thursday Jan. 14 in the Bogata Cafeteria. The program will be a film on Community Education shown by Kay Kennedy. A question and answer program will follow. There will also be a singing by the kindergarten group under the direction of Mrs. Neva Oats.

Young Pecan Trees Need Pruning

By Paul D. Payne

Pecan Tree Pruning
Pruning and training young pecan trees is not a complicated process. It can be accomplished in two or three winters when the trees are four to seven years old. However, most of us are guilty of waiting until the tree is about mature before deciding that some corrective pruning is needed.

Dr. George Ray McEachern, Extension horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says that there are a couple of general guides that should help one in deciding which limbs to leave and which limbs to remove.

Rule 1: Always grow a tree with only one trunk.

Rule 2: Heavy pruning encourages strong growth and tip pruning discourages growth.

With these two rules, you are ready to begin:
Step One: Cut out all "V" trunks so the tree will have only one central leader. On varieties which have very bad angles such as Wichita, this will be difficult to do. But it has to be done. Do not cut trunk back half way rather than remove it. A "V" trunk exists when each trunk has the same diameter. If the "V" is not removed, the tree will split out when loaded with fruit.

It is important to realize that "V" trunks are very common in most orchards over 30 percent of the trees have "V" trunks.

When removing "V" trunks, leave the trunk on the southwest side of the tree.

Step Two: Remove large limbs on the lower five feet of the trunk. When the trees reach 12 to 15 feet in height, you can begin to cut off limbs on the lower trunk. Remove these limbs when they reach one inch in diameter, not before. The lower limbs need to be on the tree the first three to four years to manufacture food for maximum root growth. Step Three: Tip Prune all shoots which make over 24 inches of growth in one year. This will stop rapid shoot growth and prevent crows feet from forming.

Tip Pruning is usually not practiced until the fourth of fifth year after planting.

Step Four: Cut back the central leader 1/2 or 24 inches. This will stimulate a very rapid growing shoot near the cut area. If two or three shoots begin in the spring, select the strongest and remove the other two.

Step Five: Thin out crows feet. Frequently four, five or six shoots will develop at the terminal end of a small limb. This is called a crows foot. These need to be thinned out to have only three shoots.

Music Courses Scheduled At PJC

Courses scheduled this spring through Paris Junior College's music preparatory program include adult beginning piano, private instrument, voice and piano, according to Barry Russell, facilitator of the program. Reservations for the non-credit music courses should be made by paying the fee in the PJC continuing education office, Alford Center, or mailing a check to the office.

The private instrument and voice lessons, which will begin on Jan. 25 and end March 8, will include 30-minute lessons weekly for eight weeks, according to a schedule arranged by the instructor and student. Various instructors will give qualified instruction in several instruments and voice, Russell said, offering students the opportunity to obtain assistance with solo and ensemble literature or to improve skills. The tuition of $65 includes books and materials.

Starting Feb. 1, the adult beginning piano class will meet from 7:30 to 9 p.m. Mondays through March 22. The course, which will be taught in the Wurliizer piano lab at the PJC Music Building, is for adults who have had very little or no experience on the piano. The class will learn to play melodies, add simple accompaniments and embellish given melodies, Russell explained. Some attention will be given to blues, jazz, composition and music appreciation. The tuition of $50 includes all books and materials. Private piano lessons, which will begin the week of Jan. 11, will include enrollment by audition, Russell said. Only a few places are left in piano, but those interested may call the continuing education office, 785-7661, extension 145. Tuition is $130 for a semester of lessons. More information on any of the programs may be obtained by calling PJC's continuing education office.

USDA Restricts Participation In Food Stamp Program

In a measure designed to reduce the potential for abuse in the food stamp program, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Mary Jarratt today announced rules that will significantly reduce the number of wholesalers currently authorized to accept and redeem food stamps.

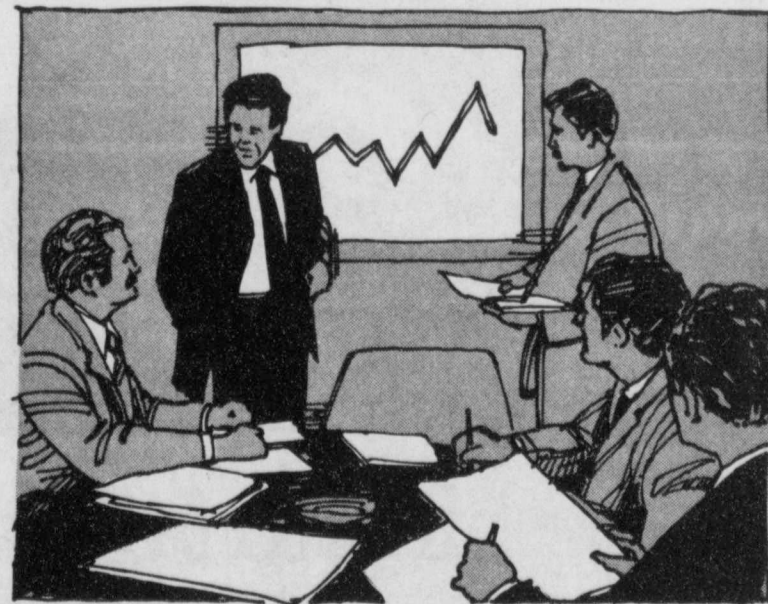

"Under these new rules, all of the 2,300 wholesalers currently authorized will have their authorization withdrawn. The department will then authorize only those wholesalers who are needed to serve as redemption outlets for specific nonprofit cooperative food purchasing ventures, group living arrangements for the blind or disabled, treatment program for alcoholics or drug addicts, shelters for battered women and children and retail food outlets which have no access to a bank," Jarratt said.

"Those wholesalers authorized to serve treatment programs, group living arrangements and shelters for battered women and children will only be allowed to accept food stamps in exchange for food," Jarratt added.

Wholesalers were authorized to redeem food stamps when the program first began to remove any obstacles that might prevent retailers from participating in the program. But rather than continuing to allow

Something to fall back on.

The first time I ever saw him step into a ring I knew he was a winner. Left jab like a pneumatic drill and a powerhouse right hand. He was a carefree kinda kid who really enjoyed boxing. But when he was in trouble he could fight like an alley cat.

Out of the ring he believed everyone. Trusted everyone. Lent money to people who never paid him back. Invested in all sorts of dumb schemes his "friends" talked him into.

"Your biggest problem," I told him, "is you think this will never end. That your legs will carry you forever. Start putting something away for tomorrow."

He'd just laugh. "Max, you worry too much. Hey, I'm still fighting the main event, right? I'm good for a lotta more years. Don't worry, I gotta live up to my place in the profession. Then I'll open up a little restaurant where I can entertain my pals."

Finally it was over. He couldn't go the distance anymore. He could see the sucker punches coming but couldn't react in time. I tried to cheer him up. "Well, it was fun while it lasted, kid. We beat 'em all, but nobody beats old Father Time."

He was staring at his swollen hands through half-closed eyes. "I can't believe it. I'm broke. I was washed up in the ring and I'm broke. The only way I can get into the restaurant business is as a dishwasher."

"Well, not really. Remember when I asked you to start buying Bonds years ago? You laughed and said you didn't care. That I could buy 'em for you if it would keep me from worrying. Well, I went ahead and took some out of every purse and put it into Bonds for you. To you it was just another investment a 'friend' talked you into. But I knew if you got your hands on it, you'd blow it."

"You been buying Bonds for me all these years?" he asked.

"Yeah, but it was your money. Seeing you had something to fall back on was the least I could do as your manager. Maybe now you can open up that little restaurant you're always talking about."

He tossed his gloves in the air and shouted, "Hey, all right, Joe and Maxie's... opening soon!"

"What's with the Joe and Maxie's?" I asked.

He gave me a playful punch in the shoulder and said, "We're a team, Max. I gotta have a manager. He smiled for a second then added, "Ya know, I never thought of Bonds as a way to make a fast buck."

"They're not fast, kid, they're kinda slow and steady... but very reliable," I assured him.

He looked at me and gripped my hand real hard. "Like you, Max. Just like you. And that's the best."

Savings are a vital part of any financial plans for the future. And Bonds are one of the safest, surest, easiest ways to save.

So help yourself while you help your country.

Political Leaders To Commemorate Sam Rayburn's Birthday

Texas Gov. Bill Clements and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby have joined a growing list of political and business leaders coming to Bonham Jan. 6, 1982 to commemorate the 100th birthday of the late Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives Sam Rayburn, former Texas Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes announced today.

"Numerous business and political leaders, both Republicans and Democrats, are gathering to pay homage to the memory of this truly great American statesman," Barnes said.

Other dignitaries confirmed to attend the 2 p.m. ceremony are U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen, House Majority Leader Jim Wright, U.S. Representatives Sam Hall and Ralph Hall, former Speaker of the House Carl Albert, State Treasurer Warren G. Harding, Railroad Commissioner Jim Nugent, State Sen. Peyton McKnight, East Texas State University President F.H. "Bub" McDowell, and U.S. Representative Lindy Boggs. Special guest of honor is Lady Bird Johnson.

The observance is being sponsored by the board of trustees of the Sam Rayburn Foundation, which operates the Sam Rayburn Library in Bonham. The foundation also funds and directs a research and educational center dedicated to improving farm research and technology.

The centennial ceremony will be in the National Guard Armory in Bonham, west of the Sam Rayburn Library. The ceremony is open to the public.

Festivities will include the cutting of a huge birthday cake, a brass band and the issuance of a special commemorative booklet detailing Rayburn's life in public service.

Rayburn represented Texas' Fourth Congressional District from 1913 until his death in 1961. He served as Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives for 18 years, longer than any other man in history.

Alcohol Program Celebrates Anniversary

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Thursday that voters in at least 12 Texas counties and five cities will decide January 16 whether non-profit groups can legally operate bingo games in their communities.

"This is going to end the confusion about bingo in Texas. From now on, bingo is going to be approved by the voters and licensed by the state or it's going to be illegal," Bullock said.

Cities, counties and justice precincts that approve bingo can also levy a two percent gross receipts tax on the games. The Comptroller's office will handle licensing of the games, collect the tax and return it to the communities where the games are held.

Where voters approve bingo, non-profit groups must get licenses from the Comptroller's Bingo Regulation Division and can't legally operate games until 10 days after the local option election, according to Division Director George Garland.

"We are urging non-profit groups in these counties and cities to apply in advance for their licenses by contacting us right away," Garland said.

Organizations should contact the division by writing to 111 E. 17th Austin, Texas 78774 or calling 1-800-252-5555.

According to the new bingo law, cities, counties and justice precincts that don't vote to approve bingo in January must wait until the next constitutional election date of April 3.

To call a bingo election, a local governing body must receive a petition with the signatures of 10 percent of the number of voters who cast ballots in the last general election.

The Comptroller's first enforcement priority following the January voting will be to protect those groups who have obtained licenses.

"Especially where the local government has levied the two percent tax," Garland said, "we will be checking to make sure every bingo game is licensed. Those that don't have licenses will be urged to get them. If they don't become licensed and keep playing bingo, we will file complaints with local authorities and the Attorney General."

Counties due to vote first on the bingo question include Guadalupe, Comal, Kerr, Maverick, Klebert, Victoria, Fayette, Milam, Wharton, Nueces, Lavaca, Jimm Wells and Webb.

Cities holding January 16 elections include White Settlement, Schertz, Selma, Gregory and Reno.

Conservation Tillage Effective Method

Conservation tillage appears to be the most cost effective method of controlling erosion of the nation's cropland, Norm Berg, Chief of the USDA Soil Conservation Service, said in an editorial in the January issue of Soil and Water Conservation News.

"Conservation tillage alone is not the total solution to erosion problems, but leaving adequate amounts of crop residue on the surface year round can reduce sheet and rill erosion by as much as 90 percent," Berg said.

"Under some conditions, conservation tillage must be applied as part of a complete conservation system. It must complement a system of terraces, grass waterways, diversions, and other needed practices in some areas."

The chief speculated that some form of conservation tillage can be applied to every acre of cropland in the United States. He said there is definite trend away from using the moldboard plow, and US farmers seem to be increasingly aware of the benefits of reduced tillage systems. Conservation tillage has grown from 26.7 million acres in 1972 to an estimated 98.8 million acres in 1981. The SCS has spearheaded technical assistance in many areas to get this practice started.

Charles VanDeaver, district conservationist for SCS at Clarksville said that farmers in the local Red River County Soil and Water Conservation District who use conservation tillage can eliminate as many as three to four tractor trips to produce a crop.

"Farmers in the Red River County area using no-till and minimum tillage systems have found that yields are comparable to regular tillage systems," VanDeaver stated. Conservation tillage has many advantages, but it does take some special techniques that farmers should learn.

VanDeaver also said more research is needed to learn how to use conservation tillage under all soil and climatic conditions.

Berg commended SCS field personnel for their enthusiastic endorsement of the activity. "It is not a coincidence that in areas where conservation tillage is rapidly expanding we are finding someone who vigorously is promoting this concept," he said.

There are several conservation tillage systems available to farmers regardless of their crop. The foundation for the practice, however, is to leave crop residues on the surface, and eliminate plowing and other soil preparation steps. Growers interested in conservation tillage systems are advised to consult with their local Soil Conservation Service office and with other farmers in the area who have adopted the practice.

Sales Tax Requirements Take Effect

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Wednesday that about 1,000 Texas merchants need to be aware of new sales tax requirements on credit sales which go into effect January 1.

The new law affects merchants who make installment sales of taxable items, include the amount of sales tax due in the outstanding balance and keep their books on the "cash" basis of accounting.

According to the new law, a part of the interest paid on the sales tax portion of credit sales will be taxable. This additional amount is to be reported and remitted when the regular sales tax return is filed.

If the interest on the sales tax and the unpaid balance are the same—and the rate is 18 percent or less—the state gets half the interest on sales tax portion of the total amount being financed.

If the rate is more than 18 percent, the state gets all interest on the sales tax amount above nine percent. For example, a merchant charging 20 percent interest on credit sales will remit 11 percent in interest on the sales tax amount to the state, assuming the rate for the sales tax portion is the same as for the rest of the unpaid balance.

If the interest charged on the sales tax portion of the bill is different from the rate charged on the rest of the unpaid balance, the merchant must remit all of the interest paid on the sales tax portion to the state.

Taxpayers with questions about their new responsibilities should contact the Comptroller's local office nearest them or the Comptroller's Sales Tax division at 1-800-252-5555, a toll-free call from anywhere in Texas.

Mrs. Burks Celebrates Birthday

Mrs. Lillie Belle Burks of Talco celebrated her 88th birthday on Saturday Jan. 2, 1982. Her daughter Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Freeman honored her with a birthday dinner.

She received many nice gifts along with a silk corsage and a dozen long stem red roses. Mrs. Janice Cameron of Argo made her favorite coconut cake. Those attending were Mrs. Johnnie Crane and Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Crowston of Hagensport; Gilbert Burks of Ennis; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Terrell and Mr. and Mrs. John M. Terrell of Argo; Mrs. Mildred Stone and Mrs. LouNell Freeman of Mt. Vernon.

Food Price Ups & Downs

Food is a bargain in comparison with other items we buy. We shop for food usually on a weekly or bi-weekly basis, thus we see every price increase. We shop for clothing, furniture, cars or homes far less often, and are not faced with their rising prices every week. With food shopping, we see everything as it goes up. It's a constant shock.

Let's look at 10 of the most common items: coffee, eggs, flour, ground beef, margarine, bread, milk, orange juice, sugar and pork chops. If we bought all 10 items, using store brands when we could, they would have totaled $13.04 in October 1979; $13.50 in October 1980 and a low $12.65 in October 1981. If we splurged and bought name brands, the total was $14.68 in 1979, $15.80 in 1980 and $13.68 in 1981. Among prices that declined over the two years were coffee (by about 35 percent), flour (by more than 40 percent) and margarine. Of course, not all the news is good. Many prices rose, including eggs, bread, milk, orange juice and pork chops. Other items had a mixed price history.

Soil Surveys Available For Red River

The soil survey of Red River County can save many people time and money, according to Charles VanDeaver, District Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Red River County.

The survey contains detailed maps of Red River County's soils, plus numerous pages of information telling about the soils for a variety of land uses. The information is based on soil observations to a depth of five feet.

The survey can help a homebuyer or developer determine soil-related hazards or limitations that affect homesites. It can help city and county planners determine the suitability of areas for housing or onsite sewage disposal systems.

A farmer can use the survey to estimate the average potential crop or forage production of his land. Engineers can use the Soil information to determine the suitability and limitations of soil for pipelines, buildings, landfills, recreation areas, and many other uses.

Many people assume that soils are more or less alike. They are unaware that great differences in soil properties can occur within a short distances.

Soils may be seasonally wet or subject to flooding. They may be too unstable to be used as a foundation for buildings or roads.

Very clayey or wet soils are poorly suited to septic tank absorption fields. A high water table makes a soil poorly suited to basements or underground installations.

These soil properties and many others that affect land use decisions are given in the soil survey for the county. The survey describes the properties of soil in the county and shows the location of each.

The survey publication is available at one copy per individual or organization from the Soil Conservation Service office in Clarksville. Anyone engaged in engineering, building, planning, land appraising, real estate, and local or state government, or farming or ranching can make use of the survey.

Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

1981 is gone now, and 1982 is here to stay for awhile. The TV networks have all been reviewing the past events that will go down in history for the year 1981.

Thinking about 1981 in our communities, I tried to review any major events for the year. Didn't come up with too many earth-shaking things. No revolutions, no assassinations, no major crimes.

The year was studied with an assortment of thefts and break-ins, it's usual contingent of automobile accidents, some of them tragic.

We lost, as always over the course of a year, some fine citizens, and gained some more.

Perhaps the economic crunch we see so much about made itself evident more this year. As in all farming or rural communities we felt the impact of low agriculture prices in our area.

These papers have basically watched the world go by, and reported on it for three-quarters of a century now. There's not a lot that they haven't touched on in that time.

Major world conflicts, minor outbreaks, death and life have all been a part of every year's publication.

1981 will not stand out as one of the best, nor worst in all that series of time.

Here's hoping 1982 will be one of the best!

Build East Texas Meeting Is Scheduled

The annual meeting of the Build East Texas organization is scheduled for Wednesday, January 13, at the Sheraton Inn in Tyler, according to L.M. Vaughan, BET coordinator for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Registration for the event begins at 2:00 p.m. with the business meeting starting at 3:00 p.m. C.B. Richards, BET chairman, San Augustine County, will preside. A registration fee of $10 includes a buffet dinner.

After dinner speaker is Reagan Brown, Texas commissioner of agriculture.

Following the dinner, the V.A. "Bill" Clements Award winner will be named.

Guest speaker for the business session is Bruce Lynn of Shreveport, Louisiana. Lynn serves in the Louisiana House of Representatives, as vice president of the Louisiana Bank and Trust Company, and is a successful farmer. He also served as a member of President Reagan's transition team. His topic is "Agricultural Outlook From Producer, Banker and Political Standpoints".

Also included in the business session will be remarks by Dr. Dan Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service; a report of the nominating committee; multi-county reports and the election of officers and executive committee. A social hour will be sponsored by Velsicol Chemical Corporation.

Build East Texas is an economic development program organized in 1963. Coordinated by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the program is designed to enhance agricultural production and marketing in the 37 county area.

Lions Club Meeting Scheduled

The Bogata Lions Club will hold their regular first Thursday meeting tonight Jan. 7, 1982.

The meeting will be at the Community House at 7:00 p.m. Judge Watson will furnish the fish and Lion Howard Edd Bryson will fry them. All try and come to the first meeting in the Community House.

WINTER COMFORT

The best way to keep warm is to wear layered lighter weight clothes, rather than one heavy layer. Light weight clothes can be removed layer by layer as the temperature or level of activity increases. Excess perspiration must be controlled if you want to stay warm and the best means of control is not to wear more clothes than necessary.

FINDING THE MESSIAH

December 27, 1981

Background Scripture: Mark 8: 27-29; Luke 24: 25, 26; John 2: 35-42; 7: 25-31.

Devotional Reading: Colossians 1: 3-14.

"We have found the Messiah!"

Thus said the Galilean fisherman to his brother, Simon Peter. According to John's Gospel (1: 35-42), Andrew had gone out into the wilderness to see this man they were calling John the Baptist. He had heard John say of Jesus, "Behold, the lamb of God" (1: 36). With a companion Andrew had followed Jesus for some distance before Jesus turned and asked, "What do you seek?" And Andrew and his companion replied, "Rabbi (which means Teacher), where are you staying?" What they were saying to him was that they wanted to be his followers.

Andrew Found Simon

Yet, although Andrew called Jesus "Rabbi," when he found his brother Simon Peter, he didn't call Jesus a Rabbi, but "the Christ." Andrew had already decided that Jesus was the long-awaited Messiah, an expectation that appeared repeatedly in the Old Testament.

So what was the Messiah?

As a Jew, Andrew and Simon Peter probably knew that the term "Messiah" meant different things to different people. In Hebrew the word literally meant "the anointed one." Such a person was someone specially set apart and designated by God for a particular mission or task. The anointing rite was a symbol of God's selection.
