Worth

By Nanalee Nichols
There was something really scary...and sad...about Halloween this year. For the first time ever it was entirely too quiet!

The constant reports and warnings of poisoning, sharp objects, and various other things found in trick or treat candy cut down on the number of youngsters whose parents allowed them to go door to door and justifiably so.

People having a usual 100 spooks and goblins on Halloween night report only 20 or 30 of the little creatures came begging.

For those of us in small communities one of the most treasured parts of our lives has always been the feeling of safety and confidence that children were free from fears such as found in larger metropolitan areas...now it seems that we are no longer immune.

Block parties and church or organization sponsored carnivals and "spook" houses are part of the answer, but it still seems a shame for youngsters to not feel free to go from house to house.

Perhaps the answer might also be found partly in the kinds of treats houses hand out.

Although it is impossible to completely protect children, handing out pencils, small change, erasers, inexpensive coloring books, or other trinkets that aren't edible might help minimize parents' and children's fears. The cost would not be any higher, and it might save a few cavities too!

The sight of children asking fearfully "are you sure this candy doesn't have something in it" is disturbing.

The insecurity they feel shouldn't become a part of their lives.

Hopefully communities can work together to provide safe Halloween eyes for their most precious resource...children...and not have to see the pleasant fall festival become a dying tradition.

Next year let's all work a little harder...and try to alleviate dangers so that kids can still have fun without fear!

Logan Captures Commissioner Seat

Few Local Offices Contested, Turnout Up

After a fairly heavy voter turnout on a state and local level several expected, and some unexpected election results are in.

Mark White, the Democratic underdog in the governor's race, defeated incumbent Republican Bill Clements in a neck-and-neck contest that finally gave White an approximate 55.85 percent over 43.32 percent win.

Neither Lamar nor Red River County had a judge, clerk nor commissioners race that wasn't decided last May during the Democratic primaries. Write-in votes were few.

Local election results were sketchy, with the Red River County Clerk's office not opening until after deadline, but apparently Titus, Red River and Lamar Counties voted heavily in favor of Democratic candidates.

Titus county had the only local race that was contested, in a Commissioners bid for Precinct 3 between Ronnie Logan and Hill Enochos. Logan captured the position in a landslide 1124 to 336 victory.

Titus county had the only local race that was contested, in a Commissioners bid for Precinct 3 between Ronnie Logan and Hill Enochos. Logan captured the position in a landslide 1124 to 336 victory. Titus county also reported 4982 voters turning out, a slightly heavier than usual vote.

In Bogata Clements received 149 votes, White 279; Senators race: Collins 130, Bentsen 291; Rep. Hall 330, Traylor 1; Lieutenant Governors race Strake received 92 votes and Bill Hobby 323.

Other voters boxes were not available at press time.

On a state-wide basis U.S. Senator Jim Collins received 39.18 percent of the vote; incumbent Democrat Lloyd Bentsen 60 percent.

In the Lieutenant Governor race, George Strake, R. received 37.95 percent of the vote while William Hobby, D. received 61.07 percent.

The Attorney Generals race saw Jim Mattox, D. with 62.41 percent of the vote and Bill Meier, R. 35.61 percent of the vote.

Comptroller of Public Accounts: R. Mike Richards received 38.27 percent and Bob Bullock, D. 60.25 percent.

State Treasurers race: Allen Clark, R. 35.45 percent, Ann Richards, D. 63.83 percent of the vote. These figures were obtained before all precincts on a state-wide basis were in, but the races are considered to be decisive.

Rebels Destroy James Bowie

Rivercrest Takes 40-15 Victory Over Pirates

By Pat Wright

There was nothing dull about the 40-15 Rivercrest Rebel win over the James Bowie Pirates Friday, Oct. 29. In fact, it was probably the most exciting game in the district, in spite of the fact that neither team is at the top in district standings.

The excitement wasn't long in coming, either, when Rebel John Hines took the opening kickoff and returned it 20 yards, then was hit and popped the ball into the waiting arms of Pirate lineman Bryan Burkett, who returned it for a touchdown. Rebel fans looked at each other in shock and disbelief, but Rivercrest coach Milford Groves was incredulous. Later, Groves commented, "Something crazy always happens when we go down there to play." He recalled an incident several years ago when the football bounced off a Rivercrest player and into the end zone and a Pirate fell on the ball and made a touchdown.

The next kickoff was not so disastrous, as Randy Galloway took the ball on the 25 and returned it to the 37, then took a pitchout on the next play and scampered 21 yards to the James Bowie 42.

The first few minutes of the game were not at all lucky for John Hines, as he fumbled the football again to James Bowie on their own 28 yard line. He made up for it on the next play, however, when he picked up a Pirate fumble following a completed pass.

The Rebels settled down to their own brand of football on the next series, and moved the football to the James Bowie 25 for a first down. Larry Davis took the ball around the right end from the five yard line for the touchdown. The try for two extra points was short, so the Rebels still trailed by one point at the end of the first quarter.

The Rebel line permitted three Pirate first downs and penetration to the Rivercrest 35 yard line before Hines made up for his second mistake with an outstanding fingertip interception on the James Bowie 20 yard line. The Pirates worked on the center on the Rebel line, but were checked by Steve Stephenson, Lonny Sheffield and Stanley Jessee.

The Hines interception set up the first Rebel touchdown, when Richard Winkler caught a pass from Rebel quarterback Bradley Moore for a 74 yard touchdown effort. The two point effort after the touchdown was also a Moore / Winkler combination, and the Rebels took the lead 14-7.

The Pirates managed only one play from scrimmage before the hard hitting Rebels knocked the ball loose, and Joel Mangrum came up with the football on the James Bowie 26 yard line.

It wasn't far from there to the goal line, and Galloway and Moore did the work to the five, when Richard Mayes went through a hole in the line for the TD. Moore again passed to Winkler for the two points after.

The Pirates faced fourth down and one at their own 45 yard line, but Bryan Crawford slipped through the center of the Rebel line and scampered 55 yards for the Pirates second and last touchdown. The try for two points, a pass from Pirate quarterback Mark Prater to Jason Beggs, was a successful carbon copy of the Moore/Winkler extra point combination.

The Rebels gave up an interception to the Pirates before the half, but James Bowie returned the football on a fumble a few plays later. It was just in the nick of time. There were only seven seconds left on the clock before Rebel quarterback Moore ran 11 yards around right end for another six points. The score put the Rebels in the field house at halftime with a 28-15 lead over the Pirates.

The first punt of the game, forced when Jessee and Sheffield dropped the Pirate quarterback for a 10 yard loss, came four plays into the third period when the Pirates put the ball on the Rivercrest 46 yard line. The Rebels worked their way to the James Bowie 46, were penalized back to their own 49, then gave up the football on a fumble.

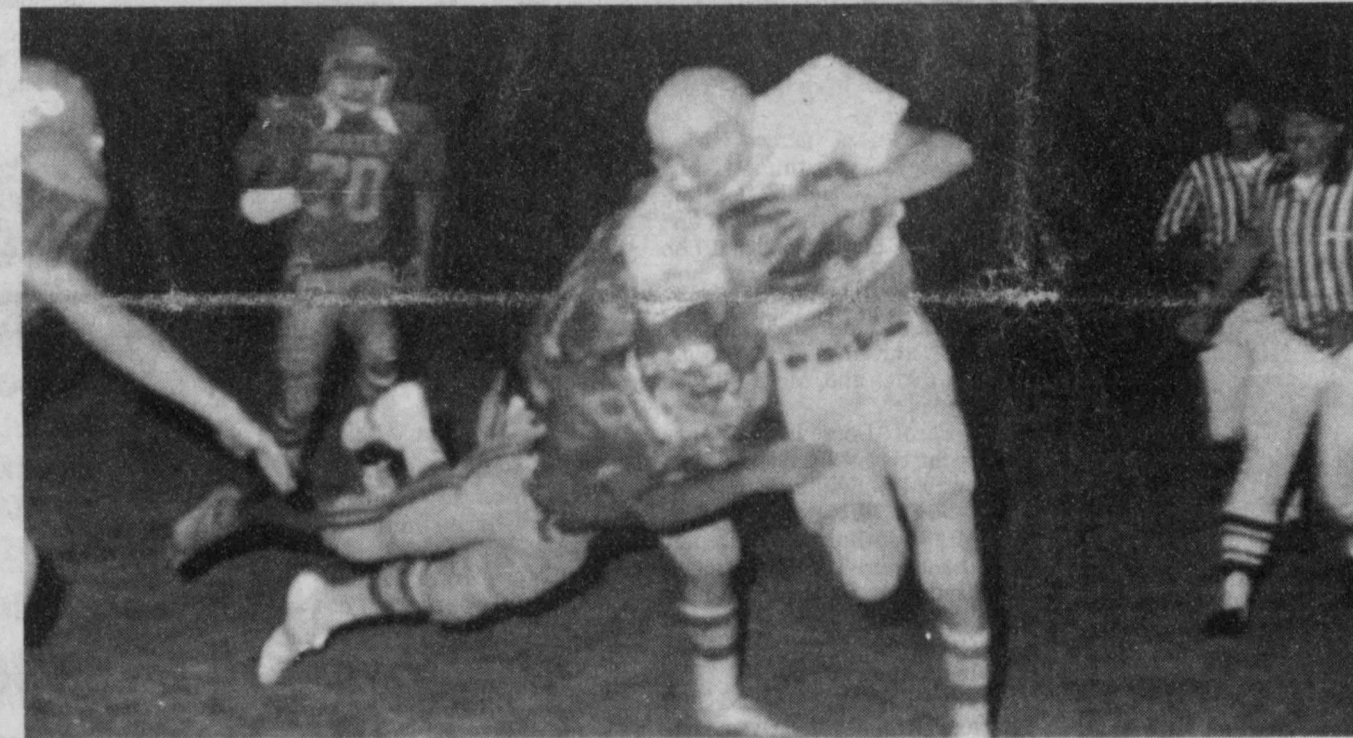

The Pirate possession lasted for three plays, and Winkler made a quick-thinking interception on the Rebel 45 yard line and raced to the James Bowie 29 before being brought down.

Mayes was put to work for a 16 yard gain, then Moore carried the ball around right end for 13 yards and the touchdown. The try for points after failed.

The effect of yet another Rivercrest interception by Hines was blunted somewhat by a 15 yard penalty for blocking below the waist, but the Rebels managed to engineer another score before the end of the game. The Rebels kept the ball on the ground until they reached the James Bowie 41 yard line, then Moore connected with Winkler for the touchdown with 52 seconds to go. The try for extra points was again unsuccessful.

Outstanding defensive players not yet mentioned included James Noey, Jim Earley, Harold Holt and Billy Mayes.

The Rebels will play at Como-Pickton this Friday night. Coach Milford Groves said Tuesday, "Como-Pickton is a young team, but they are big and have two big running backs. They are improving, but hurting on numbers and inexperience. If we play to our capabilities, we can win this one."

"3" Is Lucky Number

Bell, Barker, McGee Claim Football Loot

This week's football contest had some of the best guessers so far. David Bell of Bogata and Troyal Barker of Blossom each had only 3 bobbles apiece, when the average number of misses has been from five to 8. Bell, however, was awarded the first place prize money of $12.50 as he picked Rivercrest to win over James Bowie 18-12. Barker claimed the second prize $7 picking Rivercrest over James Bowie 13-12. No one seemed prepared for the staggering 40-15 victory the Rebels handed out. Not far behind the first two winners was Anthony McGee of Talco, who missed 4 games and figured Rivercrest to win 22-6. Paul Lyles of Paris missed 4 games also, but had figured Rivercrest to take James Bowie at 7-0. Winners of the games were Grand Saline, Clarksville, New Diana, Paris, Ore City, Prairiland, Wolfe City, Cooper, Yale, Texas, Stanford, in a big upset, Oklahoma, SMU, Penn State, Pittsburg, LSU, Nebraska, Southwest Texas, Paul Hewitt, Daingerfield, Alabama, Arizona, Duke, Arkansas, Tulane and Hughes Springs. Another set of games are set up for football fans to test their skills on this week, and entries can be turned in at the Bogata News Office on Main Street in Bogata, or the Deport Times office on Main in Deport. Mailed in entries must be in the Saturday morning mail, or entries hand delivered no later than Friday afternoon. There's only one more week of the exciting contest, so enter now!

Burglary Sunday
Red River County Sheriff Department officers were summoned to a home near the Young's Chapel Cemetery at approximately 5:30 p.m. Sunday evening to investigate a reported burglary.

A number of household furnishings were taken during the incident. The persons being sought in the offense were believed to be heading for Arkansas shortly after the burglary was reported. An immediate search of the northern part of the county for the suspects was unfruitful. Oklahoma and Arkansas officers were notified of the burglary and requested to be on the alert for the suspects.

Other Activity
The Sheriff's Department was contacted shortly after noon Sunday by a nurse with the Red River Valley Home Health Services who had found an elderly Detroit man dead at his residence on FM 410, north of Detroit. Sheriff Department officers and Justice of the Peace Ballard Holley investigated the death. The deceased, E.R. Ellard, had been ill for some time.

Freak Accident Tuesday
The Red River County Sheriff's Department received the report of an accident near the English Community on FM 1699 Tuesday evening about 9:30 p.m.

Officers arrived to find a large gas tanker precariously parked in the front yard of the Eulin Cain residence. Witnesses said the large truck, owned by Exxon distributor, Jimmy Smith, left the road while traveling north on the rural farm road, traveling down a ditch for some distance before rambling across the yard of the residence and slamming into an Avery school bus parked in the yard. The impact knocked the bus about 20 feet into a fence. The driver of the truck, Fred Tippie, was not believed to have suffered serious injuries and was taken to his home shortly after the accident. State Trooper, Howard Dunham, investigated the accident.

Kelsey Home Destroyed By Fire

This melted TV may have been the source of a fire which heavily damaged the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe T. Kelsey of Bogata.

A neighbor thinks lightning hit the antenna of the house, and shortly thereafter a fire was spotted within the home.

The Kelsey's were not at home when the fire occurred. The living room was destroyed, and the

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood

With winter coming on it takes me back to the times we had when I was small and growing up out in the country.

Wood was the only thing we had between us and that cold north wind that started to blow about this season each year.

Before I was old enough to help my Dad he and one of the neighbors would spend every spare minute in the summer cutting wood and MMY Mon and sister would be busy putting up all the fruits, vegetables and jellies and jams they could. It wasn't just for good eating back then...it was a necessity.

All of those canned goods sure tasted mighty fine when winter came and there weren't any fresh vegetables to be had like there is now. We used to spend cold winter nights with the family gathered around the fire, playing "old maids" cards or some other games to pass the time until bedtime.

Of course there was no television, and very few were affluent enough to afford a radio, so we all invented our own entertainment.

Mom or Sis one would either pop popcorn to eat while we played our games or by brother and I would nibble on it while we studied our lessons. We always hurried through the lessons as fast as we could so we could have fun instead.

Those times were times I'll never forget. Sometimes we would just sit and talk about what we had done or were going to do someday...with a good crackling fire and loved ones surrounding you...that was something special. No matter how hard that old wind blew, or how cold the rain or sleet might be, it felt good inside.

A special treat might be popcorn balls to eat, and if times were good we would have homemade candy.

Another thing that felt real good was when mom and dad included the kids in the strengthened by the lifestyle of the times...and it was a good thing that I hope youngsters today aren't missing!

In all the years lots of great things have happened to me, but I don't think anything will ever make me forget those nights listening to the folks talking, popping corn, and just plain feeling safe and dry and at Home.

Capital Gain.

Time and again, you've heard it said, "To make money, you have to have money."

The truth is, you have to know how to save money before you can think about making more.

That's why more and more people are joining the Payroll Savings Plan to buy U.S. Savings Bonds. That way, a little is taken out of each paycheck automatically.

In no time, you'll have enough Bonds for a new car, your child's education, even a dream vacation.

Whatever you save for, Bonds are the safest, surest way to gain capital.

When you put part of your savings into U.S. Savings Bonds you're helping to build a brighter future for your country and for yourself.

Green Thumb Program Survives Budget Battle

For almost 1,000 older workers in the Texas Farmers Union Green Thumb program, the "battle of the budget" came to a happy conclusion with the recent Congressional override of the President's veto of a supplemental appropriations bill.

The bill provides money for a variety of programs and agencies ranging from the defense department to NASA to Title V of the Older Americans Act, which funds TFU Green Thumb and other senior employment programs, according to Diane Parrish, Green Thumb state director. Speaking to 95 Green Thumb workers at a training session in Naples, Tex. on 10-21-82, Parrish said the Congressional override "was decisive" in saving the jobs of more than 54,000 Title V workers nationwide. The workers are all 55 and over, low income, and provide services for libraries, schools, senior centers, and museums.

"Without the override, the only hope would have been yet another appropriations bill," she said, "and there were no real guarantees that another one would have been passed and signed in time to keep the program going." The new bill funds the program through June 30, 1983.

Green Thumbs had already received letters informing them that their last day on the job was to be Sept. 24. Parrish said the letters had to be sent out because "there was no assurance that both houses would override the veto. What we've seen is a minor miracle." The override vote in the Senate was 60 to 30, exactly the two-thirds majority necessary.

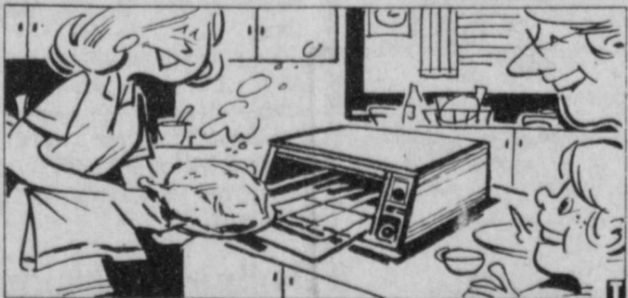

"One more vote against the appropriations bill and the dismal news in your letters would have been all too true," she said. "And I'm afraid we all know that these aren't enough jobs out there in the private sector for 54,000 older workers."

Green Thumbs from Wilkerson Community attending the training session at Naples, Texas were Leola Posey, Joe Belcher, Anna Bell Dyke, R.F. Matthews,

NEW EMPHASIS ON COOKING THAT'S EASY

Changing lifestyles mean there's a new emphasis on easy cooking. In the '80s, more households include working partners who come home tired and hungry. Older couples, whose children have left the nest, look for simpler cooking as well. Many welcome meals that can be prepared ahead of time and popped into a top-of-the-counter appliance like the Toast-R-Oven™ toaster from General Electric. Its versatility allows baking, broiling and top browning with less energy than a conventional oven. It keeps the kitchen cooler, too.

Here is one recipe that can be prepared ahead of time and refrigerated for baking at the last minute. Rice and a crisp salad round out the meal in minutes.

CHEESY CHICKEN CASSEROLE

- 2 cups sliced carrots (about 6 small carrots)
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup all-purpose flour
- 1 can (10 3/4-ounce) chicken broth
- 8 ounces Cheddar cheese, shredded

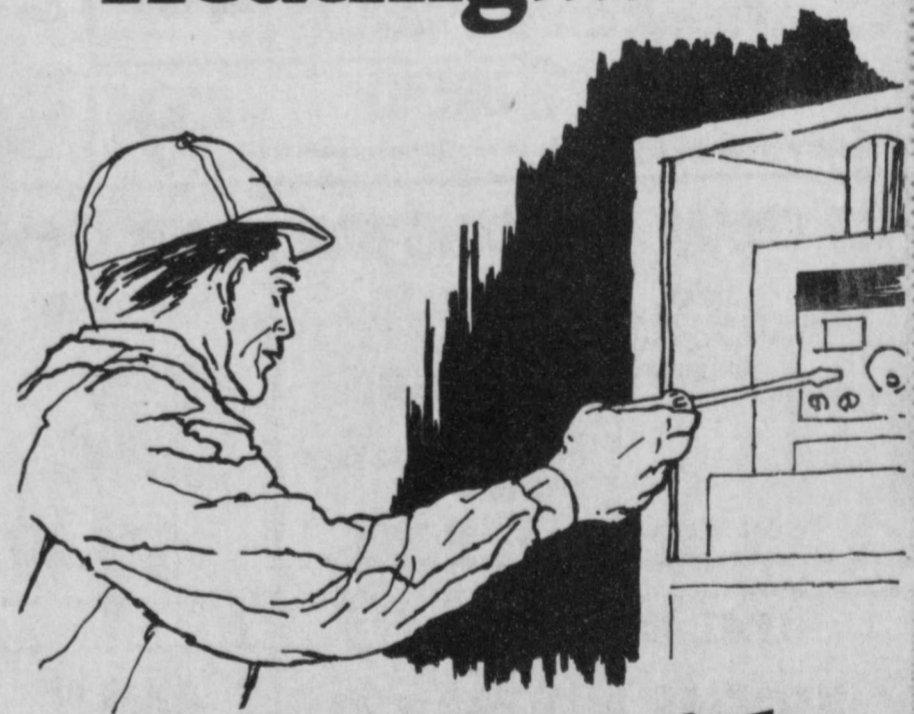

- 4 cups diced, cooked chicken (about 4 chicken breasts)
- 1 jar (4-ounce) chopped pimiento

Bring 1 cup salted water to a boil; add fresh carrot slices. Cover; simmer until not quite tender, about 15 minutes. Drain. In 3-quart saucepan, melt butter over medium heat. Stir in flour. Then, add broth, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Set aside 3/4 cup shredded cheese; add remaining broth mixture. Stir until cheese melts. Stir in chicken, pimiento and cooked carrots. Pour into two 1-quart casseroles. Sprinkle reserved cheese over top of each. Freeze 1 casserole for later use and refrigerate the other until baking time.

Preheat Toast-R-Oven toaster to 350°F. Bake casserole for 50-60 minutes or until hot and bubbly. (If casserole is baked directly after being prepared, it only takes 30-35 minutes.) Thaw frozen casserole prior to baking.

MAKES: 2 (1 1/4 cup) servings/casserole

Honolulu News Provides Different View Pearl Harbor Reports In Old Paper

By Nanalee Nichols
The words cause a chill to crawl up the spine as they leap out from the yellowed page. The headline is huge, and it has only one thing to say...WAR.

Underneath is a slightly smaller headline that reads "Oahu Bombed By Japanese Planes".

The time, December 7, 1941, the newspaper, the Honolulu Star-Bulletin, The event, obviously, was the entry of the U.S. into war with Japan.

It is an event with which almost everyone is familiar...the bombing of Pearl Harbor is in every history book, and in the minds of all who can remember those days.

But the newspapers brought in by Muri Roach, in incredibly good condition, provide a look at the bombing that is personal, from a different standpoint than the history books or papers on the mainland.

Under the opening headlines it is reported that Transpacific telegraph has said that "President Roosevelt announced this morning that Japanese planes had attacked Manila and Pearl Harbor". Most Americans didn't have any idea where Pearl Harbor was, but the people of Honolulu knew all too well.

The fear and uncertainty came through the papers, no matter how hard the journalists tried to be calm and professional.

The list of the island's dead and injured was a long way from complete, but already the column was lengthy.

Over 400 were said dead on Oahu. Blackouts were announced, and what was moveable of the U.S. Fleet was moving out to sea.

Attacks on Manila and Guam were printed.

Warnings to boil water because of contamination were run, and mainland papers carried no accounts of terrified civilians hiding from a fiery rain. There were no first hand accounts of damage to the governor's mansion, or unexploded bombs in the U.S. papers, but in the Honolulu paper there were.

The second edition ran a huge headline too... "SABOTEURS LAND HERE". Beneath that... "Britain, Australia Declare War!"

An entire page of photographs showed the devastation of naval vessels, base buildings and business areas.

Reports of Japanese submarines off the West Coast of America added to fears that a full-scale attack on the U.S. was underway.

It is an oddly eerie paper, from long ago, loaded with history that was not history then. Then it was worry, insecurity and no one knew what the outcome would be.

There was no assurance that the war would be won by the U.S., no promise of victory, only reports of what was happening...day by day, week by week while it sometimes seemed that the world was going up in smoke.

The old paper provides a fresh look at history now. For those who cannot remember that far back it is a view from outside the school books. For those who can remember it is a revival of old memories...of where...of when...but very few can ever really understand why.

Eye To Eye With The Bull....

GET BACK THERE! Casey Jeffery...he's the one with the hat...makes his living as a rodeo clown. He has recently been selected as one of the clowns who will work the CSRA rodeo finals in Tulsa this month. His mom, Pat Jeffery, says...she'd just as soon he did something else!

Casey Jeffery Loves Being A Clown

By Diana Eudy

Part of Casey Jeffery's dream came true recently. The dream...being a cowboy...was fulfilled when he was selected as a clown for the CSRA Rodeo Finals.

It's considered an honor, if playing with huge, mean bulls is your thing...and the clowns are selected by the top 20 bull riders in the association who vote on ten clown nominees. The top 15 bull riders pick the top 2 clowns.

Casey, the son of Kenneth and Pat Jeffery of Bogata, will be fliriting with the big bulls and protecting the lives of bull riders at the finals in Tulsa, Oklahoma on Nov. 3, 4, 5, 6, and 7.

He says he is excited about being one of the clowns there. There will be a bull fight-off contest that pays four places. The top 6 clowns will draw a bull and have 3 minutes to "fight" it. A lot will depend on which bull a clown draws. The bulls will all be good though, as each stock producer selects his 5 best bulls for the finals.

How did Casey wind up in such a dangerous and fascinating profession?

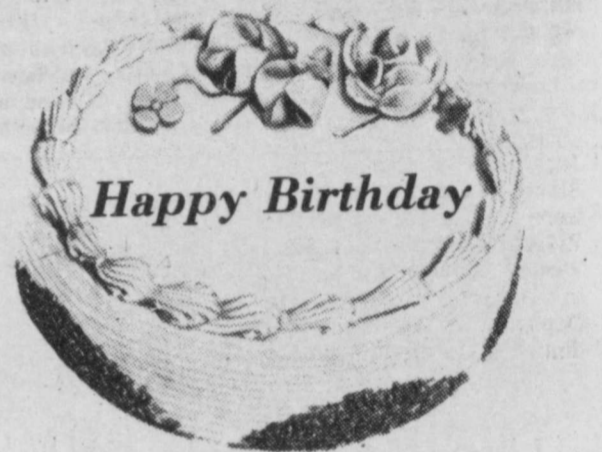

When he was 12 he and some friends, among them Brett Davenport, Brian Harville and Monte Randolph, would go to the Bogata rodeo arena on Sunday afternoons to watch the "buck outs". When no one was looking the youngsters would slip onto an animal themselves. Pretty soon, Casey says, rodeoing got into his blood.

He started to work for Jerald Smith of Wing Ranch Rodeo Co. He rode bulls in high school junior rodeos along with Eddie Belcher of Cuthand. Eddie has continued riding bulls...Casey found something he liked better...Dressing up and standing eye to eye with them!

He started out dressing up as a clown and passing out rodeo tickets to school children. Then Jerald started letting him fill in at junior rodeos when someone was sick.

THREE ADMIT RUMOR SPREADING WAS WRONG

Three persons recently admitted that they were wrong to have associated the Procter & Gamble company with satanism and to have encouraged others to stop buying P&G products.

The three have signed agreements not to spread the false rumors. As a result, P&G dropped charges it had filed against them in Federal Court. The company said it is still pursuing three other similar lawsuits, and added additional suits are possible.

"Our sole purpose in filing these lawsuits was to stop the spread of false and malicious stories about our company's 'moon and stars' trademark," said P&G spokesman Donald Tassone. "Since these people have publicly stated they were wrong to have believed and spread the rumors, there is nothing to be gained by continuing these two lawsuits, and they are being concluded."

Tassone said in the past seven weeks, telephone calls to the company about the trademark have decreased dramatically, and the decline is continuing.

"It's apparent that the problem is diminishing as Procter & Gamble has dropped lawsuits against three people who admit they were wrong to have spread false rumors about the company.

people involved become aware of the facts," the spokesman said.

P&G went on the offensive in June to stop false stories linking its century-old trademark with devil worship. The company attributes part of its success in putting down the rumors to the public support it received from several nationally prominent religious leaders.

The Reverend Billy Graham said, "I urge Christians everywhere to reject these false rumors." The Reverend Jerry Falwell and others also have called for an end to the false statements.

Barry & Ellen Hanna, of Longview, are pleased to announce the arrival of their son, Joe Collins.

"Joey" was born, Friday, October 29, 1982, at 2:02 a.m. in Good Shepard Hospital, Longview. At birth, Joey weighed 7 lbs. 4 oz. and was 21 inches long. Grandparents are Floyd Hanna of Kilgore, Frances Mears of Midland and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martin of Bogata. Great-grandparents include Mrs. Edwin Hanna of Sorrento, Louisiana; Mr. and Mrs. Tullie Burns, Ida Mae Mauldin and Margaret Martin all of Bogata.

Your Public Schools

by Willard H. McGuire, president National Education Association

While news headlines focus on the impact of high technology on factories and business, there's a similar but much less publicized revolution going on this fall in public schools across the nation.

About one out of every four public schools—about 22,000 in all—now have at least one microcomputer or computer terminal for instructional use by students and more and more classroom computers are being installed all the time.

The classroom computer marks a significant change in the educational process. It's natural for parents—and teachers—to have a number of questions about them. Many people are wondering how effective the new instructional techniques are, and others are also concerned about the "human factor"—whether, or should, or how will computers replace teachers.

Many children, of course, are already somewhat familiar with the new technology. They've played computer games complete with out-of-this-world sounds, colors, explosions, and striking targets. Changing the mind-set of a child exposed to Pac-Man and Galaxy to a computer programmed for reading, writing, and arithmetic is one of the major challenges teachers face.

Many NEA classroom teachers are currently working to advance quality control in the educational analyzing and debating how teachers can help the manufacturers of computers and computer programs better meet the needs of classroom teachers and individual students.

In the near future other emerging technologies are expected to join computers in the classroom. The NEA and the American Broadcasting Company have been working cooperatively on SCHOOLDISC, a program that permits videodisc instructional material to be used with or without a computer hookup.

Lone Star Specialist Pete Evans uses two balloons to explain an important home-heating message. The message is that a new high-efficiency* gas furnace can help you stretch your energy dollars.

A high-efficiency gas furnace makes a difference you can see.

The larger balloon could hold 104,000 cubic feet of natural gas; enough to heat an average home for more than a year.

The smaller balloon can also hold enough natural gas to heat the same home for the same amount of time.

Why the difference in size? The larger balloon represents the gas capacity you'd need to operate a gas furnace built 10 or more years ago.

The smaller balloon represents the gas capacity you'd need with a new high-efficiency gas furnace.

Yes, it's quite a difference. Especially when you add up annual savings over the lifetime of the new furnace.

Gas has always been your most efficient fuel. A high-efficiency furnace makes gas go even further.

Call your local dealer. Tell him you'd like to stretch your energy dollars with a high-efficiency gas furnace.

Kanawha Has Site On National Historic Register

The Neely Site, a significant Red River County historical site, was officially listed in the National Register of Historic Places on August 20, 1982. Nominated for inclusion in the Register by the Texas Historical Commission, the site is now formally recognized for its contribution to the history of the American people.

The Neely Site in Kanawha, dating to 900 A.D., is an important example of a prehistoric, small, rural village in the central Caddo area. The site provides a key to understanding both the transition from Archaic to Caddoan sites, as well as the range of variation within early Caddoan times.

The National Register is a nationwide inventory of those historic properties especially worthy of preservation because of their cultural and historical values. The Neely Site is one of approximately 750 Texas sites of archeological, historical, or architectural significance which have been included in the National Register, under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966.

National Register status offers a measure of protection from federally-funded or licensed projects such as highway or reservoir construction. It does not infringe upon site owners' private property rights. National Register properties may be eligible for financial assistance through the grants-in-aid program which awards money for preservation or restoration of these sites. This money is not tax money; it comes from lease payments made to the Department of Interior for resources exploration on private lands. The Interior Department allocates the intended monies to the states annually. In Texas these funds are administered by the National Register office of the Texas Historical Commission, under the direction of Curtis Tunnell, State Historic Preservation Officer and executive director of the agency.

There are also considerable tax benefits for the rehabilitation of certain income-producing National Register properties.

The Texas Historical Commission is the Official State Agency for Historic Preservation. It acts as a clearinghouse for preservation information, sponsors educational and consultation programs, and publishes preservation-related materials. The agency is responsible for the state historical marker program and for an extensive program of workshops, publications, and services in the fields of preservation, archeology, and museology. The Commission works closely with a network of 250 county historical commissions as well as 350 nonprofit heritage organizations in the state.

Mrs. Barnett Is District WMA Leader

"We Would See Jesus" 1982-83 theme for the Fellowship District Women's Missionary Auxiliary was used Thursday when new officers were installed at their quarterly meeting at the Macedonia Baptist Church, Pittsburg.

The Rev. Glen Carroll voiced the opening prayer and Mrs. Lucille Smith of the Bethel Baptist Church, Pittsburg gave the devotional from Psalms 107. Mrs. Terry Barnett, First Baptist, Talco, installed as president for 1982-83, presided during the session with Mrs. Bob White, vice president and program chairman, introduced Mrs. Don Hill of Wills Point who challenged and installed the new officers. She presented each new officer a brochure of their duty and a silk flower.

Those installed were Mrs. Terry Barnett, president; Mrs. Harold Williams, vice-president; Mrs. Bob White, second vice-president; secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J.C. White; Asst. secretary-treasurer; Mrs. John Newbold; Historian, Mrs. Barbara Attaway; Song Director, Mrs. Doyle Rust, and pianist and youth director Mrs. Mike White. Special music was provided by Mrs. Donald White of Wills Point.

Ladies of the Macedonia Church were host for a covered dish luncheon at the noon hour in the Fellowship Hall.

Next quarterly meeting will be hosted by the First Baptist Church January 20, 1983.

In Red River County....

Brucellosis Program Accelerated

A program to encourage livestock producers to increase their efforts in calfhood vaccination of heifers for brucellosis control is being launched in Red River County. The Animal Health Commission will have inspectors at the Clarksville Livestock barn to calfhood vaccinate heifers from 4 to 12 months of age for bangs.

Vaccination is the most important thing a rancher can do to protect his herd and build up immunity against the disease in his cattle, says Bob Moody, County Extension Agent.

Vaccination with the reduced dosage of Strain 19 is an important element in the state's brucellosis program the agent adds.

Moody points out that not only does the vaccine provide protection for the cattle, they should be worth more when vaccinated, and vaccinated animals can move more freely.

The accelerated brucellosis education program is being launched in Texas counties that stretch from the Red River southward to the Gulf Coast. This area generally has about 50 percent of the known brucellosis infection in Texas, a recent survey showed.

Additionally, the survey-conducted by the Texas Animal Health Commission—also indicated that Texas has about 30 percent of the known brucellosis infected herds in the United States.

"Overall goal of the accelerated brucellosis vaccination program is to increase immunity so that Texas livestock will have more freedom of movement in regard to brucellosis regulations," says Moody.

The present infection rate prevents the entire state of Texas from being classified as a "B" state under the new proposed U.S. Department of Agriculture classification system, although the western portion of the state qualifies.

An obtainable overall goal should be to raise the immunity level in cattle so that a minimum of 70 percent of the adult female population will have been vaccinated, Moody says.

Rabbits and cats both wash their faces with their paws, but a rabbit uses both paws at once and the cat only uses one paw at a time.

Propane Appliances Do A Workhorse Job On Field Mouse Rations

Many homeowners are reducing their fuel bills by making the switch to appliances that run on low-cost, clean burning propane gas.

Compared to electricity, propane—also known as liquefied petroleum or LP-Gas—can cost half as much for the same energy depending on rates. Propane also compares favorably with heating oil and kerosene.

Today's new propane appliances are models of efficiency. For example, a new gas range with all the conveniences, such as exact and immediate temperature control and programmed ovens, uses only about one-third the energy of like appliances made just five years ago.

A propane hot water heater warms almost two and a half gallons with the same original energy as electricity uses to heat just one gallon, says the National LP-Gas Association. Propane can heat two homes to one electrically—for the same money. New propane gas heating equipment cuts fuel consumption 20%. The savings could be great enough to take care of your cooking and clothes drying needs for an entire year.

Frost Can Endanger

By Paul D. Payne
FROST POSES DANGER: Cattlemen should be cautious when allowing cattle to graze Johnson Grass, Sudan or regrowth Grain Shorghum that was hit by frost this past weekend. One mouthful of this type grass can result in death to the animal.

Prussic Acid Poisoning is the name given to the malady. Symptoms include a brief period of stimulation followed by depression and paralysis. Difficult breathing and frequent convulsions result from the action of the poison on the brain centers controlling breathing.

Most cattlemen are first aware of the problem when a dead animal is found. It is not necessary for an animal to eat a belly-full of the frost damaged grass. One mouth full is all that it takes. More often than not, cattle will break out and graze the grass along the road right-of-ways. So, the danger is present, and producers need to be alert to its presence.

There is not a lot that one can do to determine if certain plants are affected. Plants can be tested but tests are not always conclusive. It tells you that the particular plants tested do or do not contain the Hydrocyanic acid (causative agent).

The best advice is to keep cattle off of pastures, fields and meadows containing one of the plants until after the hard killing frost occurs. Once the plant is killed by a frost and it cures, there should be no danger of Prussic Acid poisoning. This is about as specific as one can get.
