 Does anyone around here doubt my reason for calling the company Thunder Prairie anymore? It may be a strange name, but after the past few weeks I don't think that anyone could question the appropriateness of it!

It seems that for the past few weeks we have had an unusually large amount of rain, accompanied by an equally large amount of thunder and lightning.

In fact, complaining about a wet spell in July is sheer foolishness in this neck of the woods!

But the thunder has rolled and rumbled daily during the past few weeks.

At night, the skies have been illuminated with sheet lightning and fork lightning. For those made uneasy by storms, it has been disturbing. For those indifferent or who enjoy storms, it has been a pleasant time.

Having missed (so far) the eighty mile per hour winds, the hail and four and five-inch deluges, we certainly have no reason to complain.

For me, I never sleep much better. I'd rather see a thunderstorm than watch fireworks anyway.

At the pasture, up on the prairie which inspired the Thunder Prairie logo, it is a joy to watch the clouds build from fluffy white into towers ten or fifteen thousand feet high, then begin their slow, stately move onward.

It is also pleasant to see cattle in grass knee deep and crops growing at a beautiful rate!

Another thing that intensifies the fondness for thunderstorms is knowing that in the summertime it is the only way it's going to rain! There just aren't any of those slow, dirzzly spring time rains in July and August!

So bear with it folks, it will surely be dry soon enough. And who knows, in only a few weeks we may all be wishing to hear one of those big black T-clouds rolling overhead!

John Suedal, Dallas architect, designed and built the 5,000 square foot bank in approximately six months, with several delays due to faulty weather conditions.

As yet another phase of The original Talco State Bank opened for business in Goolsboro, which was about 2½ miles east of the present location in FM 71, on July 6, 1912. After six months in that location, it was moved to a frame building at the corner of Broad and Fourth Streets in Talco in December, 1912 and to its now former location in 1913. The previous site was remodeled and modern fixtures installed a few years ago, keeping in step with the bank's rapid growth during the past decade.

Original stockholders were G.C. Glass, T.R. McLean, F.A. Loveless, Ben Clark, Dr. A.A. Smith, T.L. Leake, Morris Lillinstern, R.F. Lindsey, J.M. Burford, George Lillinstern, Oscar Lillinstern, D. Warner and

George Moyer and Oscar Keith.

Present directors are Jerry Jones, Bill Jones, Rusty Jones, Jack Winn, H.V. Bonham, Art Scharlach and John Conroy.

Officers and employees are: Bill Jones, chairman of the board; Jerry Jones, president and CEO; Rusty Jones, vice-president and cashier; Christelle Cato, assistant vice-president; Zeneth Hargrove, assistant cashier; Wanda Vickers, assistant cashier; and employees Jo Anschutz, Dana Anderson, Nelda Carroll, Lonetha Hanks and Stacie Hinton.

Deposits have grown from $3,020 in 1912 to $9,157,318 in 1982, while capital has increased from $12,000 to $935,000.

The entire banking staff extends a cordial invitation to everyone to drop by and see them during the Grand Open House and during regular banking hours.

Bogata City Hall was broken into, sometime over the weekend. At this time, however, nothing is reported to be missing from the office.

Entry to City Hall was gained through the Bogata Fire Station, which showed no visible signs of forced entry. The door to the City Hall office, however, was kicked in.

Red River County Sheriff's Department Deputy Barry McClure investigated the incident Tuesday morning, July 5.

Fishing Contest Over Prize Winners Announced

The fishing contest is over, and what a catch was made by area fishermen and women!

Bass ranging from 2 lbs. 13½ oz. to a whopping 6¾ lbs. were weighed in at the official weigh stations for the fishing contest.

In the crappie department, they ranged in size from 1 lb. to 2 lbs., not as large as the bass, but the entries seemed more plentiful.

Winning the Grand Prize in the bass category was Jim Boots Roberts of Bogata, with his 6¾ lb. bass caught during the first week of the contest. Mr. Roberts will be receiving a check in the amount of $25 for his grand prize entry.

Sharon Martin of Talco claimed the Grand Prize entry in the crappie category with her 2 lb. catch, also caught the first week of the contest. Congratulations to these two winners!

Close in contention in the bass contest was Alvin Poole of Powderly with a 6 3-16ths lb. bass, followed by Richard McLaughlin of Blossom with a 4 lb. 11 oz. entry, and a 4½ pounder caught by Tim Mullins of Blossom.

The fourth week of fishing saw Nickey Brown and Todd Ward sharing honors with their 1 lb. each crappie entry. Linda Ballard was close behind, missing the weekly prize by only 12 one-hundredths of a pound.

The Grand Prize checks will be in the mail to the lucky winners in the Fishing Contest, sponsored this year by these newspapers and local businessmen. Thanks to all the sponsors and to the fishermen and women!

We East Texans are discovering the joy of fresh, ripe blueberries, thanks to pick your own blueberry operations. The nearest pick your own blueberry orchard is Mrs. Moody Storey's, south of Avery. Almost any morning this week, and maybe next, you will find someone from Cunningham, Blossom, Deport, Bogata or Talco picking blueberries from the big bushes.
East Texans venturing into Arkansas will find pick your own blueberries through the fruit growing region of the Ozarks, My husband, Sam, and I visited the Cox Berry Farm three miles north of Clarksville, Ark. last week.

The Cox's grow thirty acres of strawberries, blackberries, red raspberries and blueberries. The strawberries are through bearing and the beds have already been reworked. Customers were picking blackberries, red raspberries and blueberries.
Pick your own prices for blueberries this year are $5.00 a gallon locally, and at the Arkansas farm we visited.

Boil 1 cup blueberries with water and sugar; strain. Add cornstarch to liquid; boil until thick. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Stir in remaining blueberries.

The filling could be poured into a baked crust and topped with whipped cream or the whipped topping of your choice.

Continental To Ask $10.6 Million Annual Increase

Continental Telephone of Texas and Lakeside Telephone Company have announced their intent to ask the Public Utility Commission for an increase in local telephone rates. The companies, which provide telephone service in 175 exchanges throughout Texas, will request a $10.6 million annual revenue increase from their Texas customers. Representative members of Continental's management filed all necessary documents with the PUC in Austin recently. Continental's director of Public Affairs, Loma Allen said that the need for additional revenues is the result of continued rising costs occurring since the last increase which had been granted in 1978. "We have been able to avoid raising rates for five years mainly because of our employee productivity improvement program and a tight cost control management policy."

Continental's record of service improvement and expansion in Texas is impressive, according to Allen. The company is operating within PUC service standards throughout its exchanges which reflect for the last five years a 31.1 percent growth in customers. "This rate increase will allow us to earn a reasonable return on our investment in order to remain financially healthy, and thereby enable us to continue to serve our customers well in the future," Allen said.

SPECIAL NOTICE

The sidewalks, driveways and yards in the housing authority are private property and must not be used as areas for children to play. Many of the tenants are ill-all require quiet for rest. The children have been asked to stay out of these areas.

At the new units there are handrails for aid to the tenants that could prove hazards to children on skates or bicycles. An effort is being made to establish grass, flowers and shrubs. Bicycles and three wheelers have resulted in damage to these efforts.

Parents, I need your help keeping your children from the two areas of apartments. Our elderly deserve the peace and quiet planned with the construction of these units.

I expect your help and consideration for our older citizens.

Trees Attract Birds To Yards

If you enjoy having birds around your home, trees and plants can encourage them to stay year round.

According to Ann Holland,
urban forester with the Texas Forest Service in San Antonio, "A variety of trees, shrubs and vines planted by a homeowner may create mixed habitats needed by
birds during all seasons,
places to feed, sing, court,
nest, rest or hide." Even small yards can be made attractive to birds by the right choice and variety of plants.

Recommendations for trees, shrubs and vines to attract birds includes:
Holly, used by 28 species of birds, including
mockingbirds, robins,
bluebirds and cedar waxwings. Firethorn, used by 16
species of birds, including
catbirds, brown thrashers, mockingbirds and cedar waxwings. Redcedar, used by 22 species of birds, including robins, cardinals,
bluejays and cedar waxwings. Crabapple, used by 24
species of birds, including
woodpeckers, robins,
evening grosbeaks and
purple finches. Hawthorn, used by 19 species, including
bluejays, mockingbirds,
robins and cedar waxwings.
Cherry, used by 47 species,
including woodpeckers,
orioles, tanagers, cardinals
and purple finches. Wild Plum, used by 16 species,
including mockingbirds,
brown thrashers, robins,
cardinals and rufous-sided

towhees. Oak, used by 37
species of birds, including
woodpeckers, bluejays,

chickadees, titmice,
nuthatches and evening
grosbeaks. Flowering Dogwood, used by 45
species, including wood-
peckers, robins, bluebirds,
