Worth

By Nanalee Nichols
Well, folks, it has happened again. School time has sneaked up on us once more. Probably it sneaked a little faster this time because we took a vacation, and haven't had our minds on things just lately.

But since this is the sixth time that I have witnessed the opening of school from the vantage point of the newspaper business, one would think that it wouldn't just rear up so suddenly...but it always does.

School time is a good, happy time here at the papers...it means a lot more work...but a lot more pleasure too. It means lining up rows of smiling kids...something we always enjoy. It means sports, admittedly not the major doings of professional athletes, but rather the achievements of local youngsters, known by face and name.

It means scholastic awards and achievements, again, perhaps not the type that make the front page of a major newspaper, but worth a whole world of pride to those youngsters, parents and relatives and friends who can see the results of achievement on the pages of their local paper.

So why does something so important always catch me unawares?

It would seem that somewhere in the back of my mind is the idea that summertime will continue on forever...perhaps it is some child like lingering from summer vacations when it was myself that was forced to drop hot weather pursuits and return to desks and books. I freely admit that that was not always my favorite past time.

But now it will soon be the time when instead of having to struggle to find pictures, we will have to struggle to fit them all in. (A welcome change, I might add.)

Ball games will claim every Friday night, and the mileage on vehicles will mount up.

But no one here is complaining! We are, instead, finally waking up to the fact that school is actually about to commence...and we are gearing up and getting stoves, cameras and extra personell ready to go...as we prepare ourselves for the resumption of the educational process!

Locals To Participate In Paris Rodeo

The gates of action swung open at 8 p.m. Wednesday, August 3 for the opening performance of the Paris Championship Rodeo, sponsored by the Paris Rodeo and Horse Club.

With pre-rodeo festivities already underway, the queen crowning and street dance on the square in the downtown area, and a gigantic rodeo parade Wednesday afternoon, the action will now focus on the arena floor for four performances of the best rodeo action to be found anywhere.

This year's version of the rodeo has attracted past champion, current champions and title threats of the Central States Rodeo Association, because of the lucrative prize money being offered, $500 per event, and also because of the added attraction, a trip for two to Acapulco for the All-Around winner at this year's rodeo, courtesy of the Paris Rodeo and Horse Club and Odyssey Travel Agency in Paris.

Among champion contestants entered are Jack Foreman of Bixby, Oklahoma, former All-Around and Calf Roping Champion; Paul Lee Foreman, cousin to Jack, of Barnsdalle, Oklahoma, Team Roping Champion; Jim Martin of Canadian, Texas, three times Bareback Riding Champion; Mike Hemann of Miami, Oklahoma, Saddle Bronc Riding champion; Carolyn Rose of McAlester, Oklahoma, former Barrel Racing Champion; Kelly Alford Ray of Lavaca, Arkansas, three times Barrel Racing Champion and current leader in point standings for 1983; and Gary Hiner of Cuthand, Texas, 1981 Bull Riding Champion and current leader in bull riding standings for 1983.

With a total of 400 contestants entered in the seven championship events, a number of local people have signed up for the tough competition.

Local entries include Tracy Norwood, Scotty Norwood and Ricky Norwood, along with Brit Skidmore, all from the Deport area and Mike Fenner and Kenny Dearman from the Bogata area.

Ten ladies are entered in the queen and princess contests for the 1983 rodeo, including several from the area. They are, in the princess division: Mendy Norwood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Norwood of Cunningham; Georjeana Oats, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Ray Oats of Cunningham; Donna Kay Presley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Presley of Cunningham.

Queen contestants include Klarissa Keys, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul R. Keys of Deport; Kristi Bankhead, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bankhead of Cunningham; Kenda Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Allen of Deport; Darlene Brooks, daughter of Doyle and Nancy Brooks of Bogata. The queen and princess will be crowned at the opening performance of the Paris rodeo on Wednesday.

Thursday, (tonight) is ladies night at the rodeo, all escorted ladies being admitted free, and senior citizens night, those over 65 holding a general admission ticket will be admitted free.

Friday, Ronald McDonald will be present to judge a clown look-alike contest. All participants under 12 years of age who come to the rodeo dressed as a clown, will be admitted free. The children's faces will be painted from 12 noon until 6 p.m. that day at McDonald's in Paris. Each participant will receive a gift certificate from McDonald's.

Wing Ranch Rodeo Company of Bogata will be furnishing the livestock again this year for the rodeo.

As previously advertised, the bull No. 4, K-Bob, possibly the rankest bull in the world of rodeo today, owned by the Wing Ranch, was scheduled to compete during the Paris rodeo. However, the bull had eye surgery only last week, and his owners, Jerald and Joan Smith, felt that he was not physically up to competing.

Though the bull may be on hand for the rodeo festivities, it will be only in a celebrity capacity, and will be introduced during the bull riding at each performance.

Tickets are on sale at Young's Western Wear, Cavender's Western Wear, Brand's Western Wear and Glass Implements in Paris. Prices are $2.50 for general admission, $3 for reserve seats and $4 for box seats.

Miss Jeannie Mac Bradshaw and Ronald Gary Parker were united in marriage in a double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Terry Barnett at the First Baptist Church of Talco at 8:00 p.m. in the evening of Friday, July 29, 1983.

Wedding music was provided by Julie White at the piano who accompanied Nita Aston as she sang "If" and "Surround Me With Love". Immediately after the couple were pronounced man and wife, the groom sang "The Rose" to the bride.

Vows were repeated before an archway covered with greenery and orchid bows. Matching candleholders held white tapers and were also accented with greenery and bows of ribbon. Family pews were marked with orchid, white and purple flower bouquets with satin streamers. Other pews with white bows and orchid flowers.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride was wearing a gown of silk chiffon overlaying taffeta. The Victorian neckline was enhanced with alencon lace and seeded pearls. Pearl buttons closed the deep cuffs of the bishop style sleeves. From a fitted waistline the skirt fell beautifully, enhanced with details of lace forming ruffles that extended into a chapel train. The bridal veil was attached to a bandeau of lace and seeded pearls.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white daisies, orchid silk lilies, white field flowers and purple ribbon tucks, accented with satin streamers.

Nelda Anderson of Talco served the bride as maid of honor. Her white dress with orchid floral print was fashioned with scoop neckline accented with a high standup collar. The lace covered bodice was complimented with pearl buttons and the long sleeves were of lace. An A-line skirt fell into a large ruffle delicately sweeping the floor.

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood
The older you get, the more you remember about things that happened when you were a youngster and a teenager. I can remember some of the things that I did and saw that seem like they were just yesterday. One of them happened when I was a young man and had been out to some party. I was spending the night with a friend and he was the kind that got embarrassed very easily and was never sure of himself when he was around older women or young girls.

night at his house and he was too embarrassed to go on in the house and go to bed. So he decided he would spend the night in the cotton wagon that was parked out in the field. He said that the wagon had a sheet over it and if it did happen to rain, we wouldn't get wet. Well, I was tired and sleepy and just a little under the weather, so I let him talk me into sleeping in the wagon. Believe me, it was a very uncomfortable night because it was hot in that wagon. That was just one of the many things that we got into together.

BANK CENTS

By Neil Rozell

In order to carry on routine operations and be able at all times to redeem deposits on demand, all commercial banks must have on hand or subject to call an adequate amount of currency relative to the volume of their deposit liabilities. There must be vault cash to meet day to day demands and additional funds on hand or on deposit with other banks to meet a sudden increase in demand for cash payments. The proportion to cash deposit may vary from time to time, primarily depending on the type of economy and the size of the bank.

Wildflower Newsletter Has Offer

The Texas Wildflower Newsletter, now close into entering its eighth year, is a unique quarterly publication: it is the only magazine devoted exclusively to wildflower and native plant propagation and uses...and each issue offers free wildflower seeds to its subscribers.

Currently, subscribers can get a package for only the postage of scarified Bluebonnet seeds, enough to sow 100 square feet.

Since it was first published in the centennial year of 1976, the Newsletter has distributed an estimated 10,000 packages of free seeds. Many of the wildflower seeds are rare; some are so uncommon they are available only to Newsletter subscribers and no other.

One offering earlier this year was seeds of a plant, a giant white Allium...si new that it had not yet been assigned its botanical name.

The Newsletter is a venture of Carroll Abbott, the pioneer commercial collector of Texas wildflower seeds and plants, and the magazine has circulation all over the United States and some foreign countries.

You can order a year's subscription by sending a check for $7.50 to Green Horizons, 500 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, TX 78028.

Although Abbott was stricken with lung cancer last year, he resolutely kept plugging away and has now brought his magazine back on the proper production schedule. His illness caused him to form an advisory board which guarantees continued publication.

The Newsletter has received the Golden Quill award for horticultural excellence from the Men's Garden Clubs of America.

The current issue features a story on the Yuccas of Texas by Benny Simpson, renowned native plant expert with the Texas A&M research center at Dallas, and an article by Edith Bettinger on the 10 rules for successfully starting wildflower seeds indoors. It also gives details on how to join the endangered plant rescue effort and when to expect the publication of Wildflowers of Texas and the Southwest, a new book in the Audubon guidebook series.

Travel In Britain Proves English Not Always English!

By Nanalee Nichols
All too often in life, it seems that the dreams we pick as special, don't pan out when they actually take place. And then, sometimes, they actually exceed expectations.

That, for us at least, was the case when we finally took a long-dreamed of, long-saved-for, trip to Great Britain.

This is a travel story, of sorts, aimed at the fact that since almost all of us have one or more ancestors from England, Scotland or Wales, perhaps an account of some of the differences, and similarities, of our overseas relatives might be of interest to readers.

Upon arriving at Gatwick Airport near London, my husband and I, along with another couple, rented an auto, and not realizing just how brave we were being, set out to learn to drive on the left hand side of the road...but then, that will make another story.

The most obvious difference we noticed, of course, was that although all of us were supposed to be speaking English, somewhere upon the path there have been some rather serious divergences! It required all our attention to decipher what a Britian has to say...and then we noticed that even with our "drawing" Texas speech, they were having to concentrate quite as hard to understand us!

Some of the basic language differences were ones most people have probably heard before...petrol instead of gasoline, lift instead of elevator. But, how about the fact that the first floor is actually our second floor...the first floor being ground floor?

While eating seafood (a messy business at times) we asked the waitress for extra napkins. She simply stared blankly at us. "We asked once more...and more got an uncomprehending look...then we resorted to that ultimate, basic means of communication...pointing to the crumpled napkins.

"Oh" she exclaimed, "you want more serviettes."

Trucks are lorries, baby buggies (which are the huge, spring hung, old-fashioned kind) are prams...and diapers are nappies.

While asking for road directions...something we did VERY often...we learned that we were to "carry on" and "vary to the left...or right!"

Translated that means to drive on and take a left or right hand turn. We soon became used to being addressed as lass or luv, and the boys as blokes, chaps or lads.

We did not drive up to Scotland, we motored. Farmers do not unload their grain at the elevators...they

Buy Your Steaks Now

If you plan on treating yourself to a steak in the next few months, now may be the time to buy it.

Steaks cost less than they will two months from now. The long range forecast is that beef and pork will increase in price.

A good buy in steaks is when the market manager reduces the price for quick sale. Most stores do this after the meat has been in the case for two days.

These steaks are dark in color due to oxidation, but they are still good to use in a day or two or to rewrap and freeze.

Other good beef buys are ground beef, chuck and sirloin tip roast. In the pork section, ham is one of the best buys, as well as Boston butt and picnics.

The best overall meat buy is liver. Beef liver, which costs more than pork liver, is running about 30 cents per serving.

High prices are still the rule for fresh fruits and vegetables. And, as in previous weeks, the best buys are in the frozen and canned food sections.

Special Guards

American sheep ranching may be going to the dogs. Not just any dogs, but special livestock-guarding breeds that have been helping Old World shepherds look after flocks for centuries.

And by thwarting predators, the dogs may help ranchers and consumers save money.

NEW ROOF—The First Baptist Church of Bogata is receiving a new roof at present. The old, flat, roof which leaked, is being replaced with a new pitched roof, which should eliminate the water problem and add to the appearance of the

does the potential of costing area cattlemen thousands of dollars.

The disease first appeared in cattle herds in our area of the state about twenty years ago and cases have been reported annually since that time. It can be devastating to a herd if control measures are not taken.

The disease is caused by a small parasite that destroys red blood cells in cattle. The parasite is carried by infected cattle and is transmitted by horseflies, ticks, mosquitoes and man. Horseflies are the main culprit in our area and they have appeared for the first time this summer. Entomologists tell us that there could be a serious horsefly population this summer and that is not good news.

First signs of the disease can be abortion and small, weak calves. As the disease progresses, animals become weak, separate from the herds and refuse to eat. Others may become overly alert, belligerent and even charge.

Other signs to watch for are pink to yellowing of tissue around the eye, inside the nose, vulva or teats. This is due to anemia.

The animals themselves serve as a carrier even though it will never show signs of having the disease. The horsefly and other carriers carry the disease from the carrier animal to other animals within the herd and to adjoining herds. It is believed that the time period from animal to animal must be a very short period, (minutes at the most).

Most cattlemen feed a low level Aureomycin supplement to their herds. The feeding period should begin about a month prior to the start of the fly season. This is necessary to get the proper build up in the animals systems of the medication.

Another treatment is vaccination. There is not total agreement among people in the know about vaccination. There have been some side effects where the vaccine has been used in previous years. However, it is my opinion that where a cattle producer cannot use aureomycin and has Fly Fever in his herd, there is no other alternative to vaccination.

It could be too late this year for cattlemen to begin aureomycin feeding or vaccination since it will take about a month for animals to build up immunity. On the other hand, one of these may be the only option available.
