It was with distress that I learned recently that one of this nation's most treasured symbols, the Statue of Liberty, is literally crumbling away!

While on a recent airline flight, a short film showing the grave danger the monument is in, brought the matter to my attention. Further attention to the matter came from a member of the Kiwanis Club, who are taking responsibility for the local branch of a nationwide fund raising which would restore the grand lady to glory once more.

The restoration of the statue is under the heading of the President's Commission on Restoring the Statue of Liberty and Ellis Island, P.O. Box 1986, New York, N.Y. 10018. Many major figures in the nation are involved in the project, including Bob Hope and Lee Iacocca.

Locally, donations may be sent to the Paris and Lamar County Statue of Liberty Restoration Fund, Interfirst Bank, Paris, account number 01-5540-8. Donations from any surrounding counties can also be sent to the same address.

Millions of dollars will be required to remedy the sad deterioration of the symbol of freedom.

The idea that one of our most cherished symbols of freedom is literally crumbling away is frightening!

The American bald eagle is already in trouble...but making a comeback. Surely we can prevent yet another of our fine traditions from being lost?

Plans for the restoration to be completed by July 4, 1986, are already being made. At that time, and again on the fine old girl's 100th birthday, October 28 of the same year, a week long celebration will be held.

Although many of us may never actually see the statue of liberty ourselves, we can be content to know that our help preserved her, and in doing so, will have insured that a small piece of her spirit lives within us, too!

The Statue of Liberty Restoration is a very worthy cause...think about it, and help if you can!

In his ministry of near 40 years, Dr. Ackenbom has served churches in several

The economy ranked as the most important issue facing the United States, while unemployment was named as the most important issue facing Texas, according to a recent poll commissioned by the Texas Foundation for Conservative Studies.

The TFCS is a policy research and education organization that seeks to define critical problems facing Texas and develop practical and conservative solutions to these problems.

The TFCS commissioned Arthur J. Finkelstein and Associates to conduct the poll. A sample of 606 adult Texans were interviewed.

Accuracy level of the poll is within +4 percent at the 95 percent confidence level.

Texans interviewed were asked a series of questions, one of which was: in your opinion, what is the most important issue facing the United States today?

The top ten results were: the economy 29.7 percent, unemployment 20.5 percent, nuclear weapons freeze 11.6 percent, inflation 5.0 percent, foreign affairs, 3.8 percent, national defense and military 3.0 percent, war and peace 2.5 percent, taxes 2.5 percent, nuclear war 1.7 percent, energy 1.5 percent and crime 1.5 percent.

There were differences by areas. In Houston, the economy was more important than in the rest of the sample. Dallas, Houston, Austin and Beaumont were more concerned with the nuclear weapons freeze than the rest of the state," Collins said.

According to Collins, those Texans who called themselves conservatives showed greater concern for national defense and war and peace than the rest of the sample. When asked what they felt was the most important issue facing Texas.

unemployment ranked as the number one issue with 28.5 percent of the responses.

The other results were: economy 12.7 percent, education 6.6 percent, illegal aliens 5.8 percent, teachers' salaries 5.0 percent, inflation 3.5 percent, oil and gas situation 3.1 percent.

water 2.5 percent, taxes 2.0 percent and overpopulation 1.7 percent.

"Area differences were also evident in the responses. In Dallas, Abilene and Wichita Falls, concern for the education issue was higher than in the rest of the state. Lubbock and Amarillo led the state in concern for the water issue. While El Paso, Midland and Odessa were more concerned with the illegal alien issue than the rest of the state.

"Beaumont and Port Arthur led the state in concern for unemployment, with 71.4 percent of the people there naming it the number one issue in Texas," said Dick Collins, president of the TFCS.

This year the TFCS has published studies on state spending and bureaucracy, crime victims' restitution centers, state severance taxes on oil and gas, and the Texas prevailing wage law.

Accident Injures Three Near Talco

Texas Highway Patrolman Frank Munsinger investigated a two vehicle accident, just north of Talco on Highway 271 on Wednesday, August 3 at 7 p.m.

A late model Plymouth Arrow, driven by Sheila Lennon, 36, of Dallas was northbound when she pulled to the right shoulder then started making a U-turn in front of an 18-wheeler driven by Edgar Owens, 35, of Hughes Springs, who was also northbound.

Owens hit the left front fender of the Lennon vehicle with his right front fender. On impact, Teresa Gibbons, 33, of Arlington, a passenger in the Plymouth was thrown from the car and landed in the grass on the right of the roadway. Lennon was trapped in her car for approximately 45 minutes to an hour before rescue workers freed her.

The Owens truck loaded with tubing landed bottomside up with its bed across both lanes, its cargo all over the highway and the cab in the ditch.

All three were taken to the Titus County Memorial Hospital by ambulance. Lennon was later transported by helicopter to the St. Michael's Hospital in Texarkana where at last report, she was listed in guarded condition in intensive care.

Teresa Gibbons was taken by helicopter to Hugley Hospital in Ft. Worth. Owens was treated and later released.

Dorothy Jones To Chair Drive

Mrs. Dorothy Jones will be the chairman for the Arthritis Victory March in Talco according to Samson Wiener, president of the North East Central Texas Chapter of the Arthritis Foundation.

The Victory March, a public awareness and fund raising campaign, will be held in September.

"Arthritis is a serious disease," said Wiener. "Too many people think of it only as the minor aches and pains of old age. It is the nation's number one cripler afflicting over 36 million Americans including infants, children and young adults, as well as senior citizens. This devastating crippling reaches into homes and changes life styles drastically. One in seven are stricken and three times as many female children and adults than males."

Funds raised will help the Arthritis Foundation continue and expand its programs of research, patient services and public education.

Volunteers are needed to call on their neighbors and to help distribute kits. Anyone who would be willing to give an hour or two to help the 3,063 victims, including 21 children, of arthritis in Titus County are asked to call Mrs. Jones at 379-2781.

Footprints From The Past

By John W. Hood
Was sitting in front of the air conditioner Sunday afternoon and got to thinking about how we used to spend our Sunday afternoons when I was growing up. There was no air conditioner or T.V. so we had to make do with what we had.

We used to go to a lot of singings held around the country. There were some country schools where they would have a singing every Sunday in the summer, and some pretty good singers would come. One of the best country quartets that I had the privilege of listening to was one from Deport that consisted of Sam Monk, Pony Cogbill, Morris Hobbs and Johnny McLemore. I have heard some of the best, or they were supposed to be the best, like the Stamps Quartet, but for my money, I liked the Deport group the best.

When I was young living south of Deport in what was called Lone Oak and Sam Monk would hold a singing school in the school house every summer and I never could sing, but Mr. Monk would tell me that he had to have me come to the school so I could sing bass for him. Since I have thought about it, I know that all he wanted was just for me to come to the school so he would have enough pupils to hold a school. Anyway, all the young people in the community would go, and at the end of the school we would have a big singing. It was an all day thing with dinner on the ground. All the ladies of the community would fix their favorite dish and we would all sing all morning and at lunch time, the ladies would have the dinner all spread out under the trees, and believe me, after you have been cooped up in a hot building, all morning singing, it sure was a relief to get out in the open and have a good lunch.

I think that the Stamps School of Music sponsored all different singing schools and also the singings around the country and at the end of the summer they would sponsor a singing school in Dallas for a week and at the end of the week they would get all the ones who were in the school to help them and they would have a big blow out that would last all Friday and then on Saturday they would start at ten in the morning and sing all day and all Saturday night and they would have all the best students and also some of the best quartets that they could get to come and help them. It was a big thing back in those days and people from all over the state and from other states would be there and some very good singing as there were some very good singers and some were professional singers would attend. It was quite an honor to be invited to appear on one of their programs at the end of their singing school.

They would have very big crowds every night and on Friday and Saturday they would have more than they could seat and they had a very big building on Jefferson Street in Dallas.

The Stamps bunch was also a music PUSHING HOUSE FOR GOSPEL MUSIC. They had their plant on Bishop Street in Oak Cliff. The singing schools and the singing convention were quite a thing in the late twenties and early thirties, but they all have died out now, I guess, for the only place that you can go and hear good singing is out at Lone Star and if you have not been out and heard them singing, you should make a special effort to do so and I do know that the good people out there will make you feel right at home, so go out some night soon and hear them sing.

Mother's Talents Seem Routine To Youngsters

By Joyce Alexander "But mother, I thought the lady wanted to ask about your talent," said seven year old Michael Hackler. To Michael, baking and decorating cakes and doing floral arrangements and catering weddings and parties is something every mother is supposed to do.

Only a mother that does well to get a cake frosted nicely or throw a few flowers in a vase and call it an arrangement know better.

Charming green-eyed Patty Hackler and her two children, Michael and Tabatha, age 2, reside on Crawford Lane in Talco in a lovely three bedroom home that displays much of Patty's handiwork.

A magnificent arrangement of cattails, sage grass and other foliage in fall colors stands in a bamboo urn before the west window, while other handiwork includes macrame that hangs from the ceiling, ceramics nestled on tables and shelves, Southern Bell, Snow Girl and Dutch Doll quilts draped over the back and arms of over stuffed chairs. There is also crochet and pin and ink drawings.

Her cake baking and decorating started with birthday cakes for the children and expanded to baking for relatives and friends and on to catering for weddings and parties. The floral arrangements began eighteen months ago when her son mangled his foot in a lawn mower accident, then the cake decorating and floral arrangements became a necessity to earn money for household expenses.

Events she has made arrangements for are weddings, showers and banquets, also individual corsages for Valentine's Day and Mother's Day, etc. Christmas wreaths, floral arrangements for churches and funeral wreaths are among her specialties. All arrangements are made from dry and silk flowers.

Patty said she loves her job as dispatcher for the Titus County Sheriff's Office. That comes first and all hobbies are done in her spare time depending on what shift she is working on. She is a Talco native and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Odia Story.

By Paul D. Payne
Area beef cattle breeders with bull consignments for the 18th annual Red River Valley All Breed Bull Sale should be making plans to make those entries with the Lamar County Chamber of Commerce.

Entry deadline is October 1, but changes in brucellosis testing this year make it necessary that a decision be made earlier. This sale is scheduled for November 28.

The brucellosis restrictions that will apply to bulls entered in the sale will require bulls from non-certified brucellosis free herds to have two negative tests 60 days apart. The last test must be made within 30 days of the sale. Therefore, the first test must be made prior to September 28 and there must be at least 60 days from that date to the second test.

Bulls from certified free herds may move without being tested. All bulls must have a TB test and Leptospirosis vaccination as well as fertility test. Bull consignments must be between one and five years of age and weigh at least 1,000 pounds. They must also be registered. The entry fee is $25 per bull which applies to the sale commission of 10 percent of the gross sale price up to $1500.

Rohm and Haas Seeds, Inc. have announced that they have high yielding, disease resistant soft and hard wheat hybrids for the next season. They call them Hybex hybrids. The company states that the varieties have been shown to increase yields by up to 20 percent.

BANK CENTS

By Neil Rozell

There is a part of Individual Retirement Accounts (IRA) that has not received much publicity. We have seen how you can place up to $2000.00 per year into an IRA without being subject to tax until retirement, but little has been said about the other parts of the same law.

Primarily, we speak of the person that works for a company who has a retirement program of their own for the employee. Without the use of IRA, when an individual retires from a company and receives a lump sum settlement, this amount is immediately subject to taxation. However, if the amount received from the retirement program, less voluntary contributions, is deposited within 60 days to an IRA, tax can be avoided until withdrawals begin. The taxes will normally be less when the total annual income has been decreased by retirement.

We want you to know more about our business!!!
