THE SHOW SURPASSES ANY PREVIOUS ATTEMPT

Friday night's presentation of Haskell outdoor style show, surpasses any previous attempt in the way of a show of this size and scope. It is the first city of its size to have an outdoor show, which is very large indeed. This was done as a result of necessity as no other style shows have been so successful in the past and the audiences that we have outgrown any other city. Therefore the beautiful house was chosen for the show which neighboring cities do well to pattern after. It was a delight from the moment that the first models were seen and if there were anyone who was not a courteous and attentive listener, they straightened to attend to the finish of the first they paused for a moment before marching down the east walk, which had been built on a level with the audience. In this way they passed among the audience, and the garments were much better displayed than was possible in the theatre. The cream of the local selection in suits, coats, street and traveling dresses was represented on the stage in the display from the various merchants. The color was markedly beautiful, with a leaning toward warmth of tone. This particularly was evidenced in the tans and browns. The hats worn were trim and beautiful. The school coaches for the little girls showed a most admirable simplicity of cut and ornamentation. The sport models shown brought forth many exclamations of delight, and the merchants deserve much credit for selecting such high class stylish merchandise.

The merchants, their employes and those who acted as models deserve much credit for the splendid success of the show. Haskell has made for herself a record in style shows for which we are justly proud and they have become a semi-annual event which is attended by people from all over Haskell and adjoining counties.

Following is a list of the stores and their models:

Hancock & Company.—Mrs. H. A. Nicholson, Mrs. Burl Hight, Misses Exa Cahill, Alberta Smith, Francis Post, and Mildred Brooks

J. E. Grissom & Company.—Mrs. Elmer Irwin, Mrs. Claybourne Payne, Misses Gladys Taylor, Mary Clifton, Mary Alice Nolan, Bernice Mask, and Little Miss Erlene Mask

Grissom's Store.—Mrs. Walter Fox, Misses Elele Killingsworth, June Smith Madaline Hunt, Stella Fox, Sallie Caldwell, and Mattie Bell Jordan.

E. V. Robertson Company.—Mrs. Alfred Pierson, Mrs. Hill Oates, Mrs. John Oates, Mrs. Loma Ware, Misses Edna Kinnard, Louise Brooks, Theima Williams, and Ethel Russell.

F. G. Alexander & Sons.—Mrs. Mathew Alexander, Misses Bernice Long, Velma Stephens, Virginia Walthall, Frankie Mae Brooks, and Lynda Robertson.

standing the orchestra being late, the show started promptly and things went off with a bang. The opening of the program was an address by C. B. Long, followed by Mrs. Hardy Grissom, the Bunkley and Miss Elma with Mrs. Grissom as accompanist. The style display was a credit to the city and the general comment was general praise on the handsome fall and winter models. The beautiful living models were a beautiful garment after another in cut, color and display, and exclamations from the audience were heard on every side. The new things for this year were shown in the most beautiful display ever seen in Haskell. The school Kiddles Chorus sang "This Sum," with Miss Ellison as soloist. The Bunkley gave a very good show which was greatly appreciated. The door of the court house was decorated with many beautiful decorations fitting back ground for the models as they appeared on the stage, stepping from there into the beautifully decorated stage where

The Port of Missing Men

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE IS CONSTANTLY INCREASING

New pupils are being enrolled almost every day in the Haskell schools. The high school is receiving the heavier percentage of these new pupils. The first primary, upper grammar and high school are the most crowded departments of the schools. These are the rooms and departments that should have small classes above all others. The school enrollment now totals approximately 650 pupils. This is an increase of about eight per cent over the initial enrollment. Of this total, 170 pupils are enrolled in high school, thus about twenty-six per cent of the entire school is made up of high school pupils. This percentage is quite in excess of the average elsewhere.

Judging from a comparison of the town's total population with the school population, Haskell's average family would delight the heart of a Teddy Roosevelt. Not only is the number of children out of all proportion to the town's adult population but the number of boys about equals that of girls—a rare occurrence as evidenced in superintendents reports the land over. In an estimate made from those actually present Monday, forty-six per cent of the high school was composed of boys. The holding power of the high school for boys as shown here is truly remarkable. On the same day the school population of the North Ward, high school and elementary grades combined, registered 49 1/2 per cent plus boys. The boys at the South Ward Tuesday registered 47 per cent of the total enrollment.

The attendance is not only heavy but constant as well. Few absences and few tardies have occurred. The South Ward up to Wednesday led with an average of attendance of slightly less than 90 per cent and a tardy record of less than one per cent. Regular attendance counts heavier than any other single factor in making for a successful school record. The present constant attendance record indicates a more than ordinarily successful school year.

The school morale is excellent everywhere. Child attitudes are usually reflexes of parent and teacher attitudes. Teachers, both old and new, are working with enthusiasm and earnestness. Perhaps the magic inspiration of a "dandy" new school building going up is having something to do with the excellent school spirit shown. At any rate, school morale this season is registering higher than at any time within the experience of the present management.

The high school literary societies are much enthused over the prospect of winning the elegant cup offered by the Knights of Pythias. At the society programs Monday morning, formal announcement of the gift will be made and contestants registered. Each society will then prepare for try-out contests. The winning team from either society will then contest in an inter-society debate for the cup.

MIDGET CAFE WILL MOVE TO NEW LOCATION

The Midget Cafe, one of Haskell's most popular eating houses, will move next week to the east side of the square in the building formerly occupied by Kelley's Tailor Shop. G. C. Cameron proprietor of the Midget, states that they have enjoyed a very nice patronage since coming here, and that in their new location they will be better prepared than ever to serve the public.

Carroll Bledsoe, who is attending business college in Abilene, spent several days in the city this week.

Guy Sherrill, Bert Welch, and Kenneth Thornton attended the Baylor county fair at Seymour Saturday.

EXHIBIT BEING PREPARED NOW FOR DALLAS FAIR

B. M. Whitaker is working this week on an exhibit to be sent from this county to the Dallas Fair, which will be held this year from Oct. 8 to 23rd. Haskell County's exhibit last year won eight places, and was handicapped greatly on account of not entering any fruit line to the late frost which killed the entire fruit crop of the county last year. It is hoped this year that Haskell county can have a full exhibit at the fair that will demonstrate the wonderful fertility of Haskell County soil. The exhibit will be in charge of R. M. Whitaker, and all farmers are asked to gather a part of their produce and bring it to the fair. It is intended to make this the most complete exhibit ever sent out from Haskell County, and to do this it is necessary that the farmers co-operate with Mr. Whitaker in every way possible, and secure a part of all products raised in Haskell County this year. This must be done at once, as the opening date of the fair is only two weeks away. This is ample time, Mr. Whitaker believes, if the farmers will begin now—today—and secure some of all the products grown this year and if this is done, there is no reason why Haskell County should not take first place at the fair this year.

A total of $236.00 has been raised for the purpose of paying the expenses of the exhibit. Below is a list of those contributing with the amount given:

COINCIDENCES OF THE EARLY PRESIDENTS

The following list of twelve coincidences noticeable in the names and lives of the first seven presidents of the United States—Washington, John Adams, Jefferson, Madison, Monroe, J. Q. Adams and Jackson—was published in 1855 by the Boston Transcript:

1. Four of the seven were from the same state—Virginia.
2. Two others bearing the same name (Adams) were from the same state.
3. The remaining one of the seven (Jackson) being particularly tenacious of his opinions and ways, came very properly from Tennessee.
4. All of them except one, were 60 years of age on retiring from office.
5. All these last mentioned served two terms.
6. The one who served one term only, had he served two terms, also would have been 60 on retiring.
7. Three of the seven died on July 1, and two of them on the same day and year.
8. Only one of the seven had a son, and that son was one of the seven Presidents.
9. Two of them were of the sub-committee of three that drafted the Declaration of Independence, and these two were they that died on the same day and year, and on the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and just a half century from the day of the declaration.
10. The names of three of the seven and in "son" yet none of these transmitted his name to a son.
11. One difference as respects the elder Adams and the younger (not worth mentioning on any other occasion) was the latter sported a Q in his name, but the elder the cue on his back, as an appendage to his head-dress.
12. In respect to the names of all, it may be said in conclusion, that the initials of two of the seven were the same—and of two others that they were the same—and the initials of still two others were the same. The remaining one who stands alone in this particular, stands alone in the admiration and love of his countrymen and of the civilized world—Washington.

That was printed in 1855; maybe we can find some equally interesting facts in the lives of the men who came to the presidency subsequent to that time. No man has ever gone from the senate to the Presidency—Mr. Harding is the first, but Andrew Johnson went to the senate after he had filled the office of President. Grover Cleveland served one term, failed of re-election, and four years later came back. Benjamin Harrison was the grandson of a president and a direct descendant from Pocahontas and John Rolfe. Zachary Taylor had not voted for forty years when elected President. James Buchanan never married. John Tyler was a member-elect of the Confederate Congress at the time of his death.

Reckoning Ohio as originally a part of Virginia, the latter is to be credited with fourteen of our presidents, while New York and North Carolina are tied with three each. No man has ever come to a third term in the presidency.—Waco Times Herald.

THRIFT

In an announcement recently made by Orrin C. Lester, acting director of the savings division of the United States Treasury Department, he states that there is held by millions of investors throughout the country the stupendous sum of $678,520,000 of government savings securities. This fact is an evidence that the American people are beginning at last to learn the long needed lesson of thrift.

The calls made on the country for loans of money to the government for war purposes were many, but on the whole, they were cheerfully met, and by none more than the small investor. Some disgruntled persons regarded them as a nuisance, and even a few sage economists wagged their heads and deplored the supposed loss of capital or its withdrawal from productive uses. But they have proved a blessing in disguise, for they made investment in government securities popular, provided the comparatively poor citizen with a safe and sure means of putting his savings out at a fair rate of interest and, in addition helped to create and foster a national sentiment for thrift. It is no exaggeration to say that the savings campaign conducted by the Treasury Department started thousands of people to save money who never saved it before. Thus the United States, formerly and justly regarded as the most spendthrift nation in the world, has been placed on the right road to becoming one of the most thrifty.

Under the Freeman law, the teaching of thrift has been made compulsory in the schools of Ohio, and in several other states the subject of thrift is a prescribed course of study. In this country we have the thrift societies in the schools, which encourages thrift in a practical way. This is an example that should be widely followed. It is beginning at the right end, for when the children of today grow up to be men and women of tomorrow with the idea that saving is a virtue and extravagance a crime implanted in the minds, it is easy to foretell not only that national wealth will greatly increase, but that of every holder of a government security will be a bulwark against the attacks of socialism and bolshevism.

WIT AND HUMOR

Evidence to the Contrary
"Madam," said a young man standing in the street car, "why do you persist in punching me with your umbrella?"
"I want to make you look around so I can thank you for giving me your seat. Now, sir, don't go off and say that women haven't any manners."

Generalities
Said one to another: "Oh, really, darling, husbands are such impossible creatures!" And the other equally fed-up darling returned: "No, dear, the trouble is, that they are so possible."
A Young Hopeful, Anyway
"I suppose you are disappointed it isn't a boy?"
"No sirree! When I think that women now vote, smoke, go anywhere, wear whatever clothes they like, if any, and that the men can't even have a glass of beer any more, I'm satisfied."

Naivete
He (lovingly): "What would you do now if I should kiss you?"
She (timidly): "I—I don't know. I have never had to answer such a question before!"

The Trouble Hunters
"Some of these days," says a Georgia philosopher, "you'll see things so clearly that you'll wish you were back where you're located now, and you won't have a return ticket."

Abstract Youth and Age
"Aint no old-folk in dis town," remarked a colored laborer as he pitched a shovelful of dirt from one side of the road to the other and stopped to rest awhile. "No old-folks tall; 'n no chilluns, neither. All the old-folks rassel 'round like de young uns and de chillun dun growed up fore dey gets started!" After which soliloquy he resumed work, for a few minutes.

A Trick Worth Knowing
"Your dog sit up and begs nicely. You have taught him well."
"Too well. Every time I try to teach him a new trick, he starts to beg."

A Stepping Stone
Lawyer (to desperado who has been appointed to defend): You've done well, my friend, to assassinate six people, and I shall defend you—my pleading will be matterly. Of course, you'll be condemned to death, but my reputation will be made."

Civic Pride
The old wheeze about a robber holding up a policeman has come true. It happened right here in Los Angeles. We lead the world!—Los Angeles Times.

Little But Long
"So our wife doesn't say much when you stay out late?" Boggs remarked enviously.

"No, she doesn't say much." Sport-lain answered bitterly: "but she keeps on eternally repeating it."
Mr. Newlywed (attempting to start car): This darned self-starter won't work, there's a short circuit somewhere. Mrs. Newlywed: Well, why don't you lengthen it, dear?

Skilled Labor
The modern artisan was teaching his son the trade. "Learn all the tricks in the trade, my son," he said, "and by practice and care grow broad in your skill, my lad, or you'll be kept so busy you'll never get a day off."

Application Denied
A lady writing in answer to a house-maid's advertisement received this mis-sive: "Madame.—You have a good name and address, but you write on a measely half-sheet of paper which shows me you are no lady, and as such, and considering the paper you write on, the place wouldn't suit me, being accustomed to things being different."

Potential Privation
Mother-in-law: I wish I'd won a fortune in the lottery.
Son-in-law: What would you do with it?
"Disinherit you!"

"A SHINE IN EVERY DROP"

Home Town Paper Week

Every Four Corners has its Home Town week now-a-days, but all the boys and girls who have wandered from the Township Center cannot get back to enjoy the loved surroundings. But all can subscribe to the old home town paper and thus keep well in touch with the little spot they once called home.
What joy to run over the school promotions an find that the tots of a few years ago are moving higher and higher in scholastic circles and eventually blossom forth as the "sweet girl graduates," or the clean strong boys discarding knickerbockers.
Just watch that hardened old city coddler open up his home paper—it is the first thing he picks up out of his bunch of mail—and what can he find there to interest him? Angus McGinnis's horse died yesterday; Peter McGregor will run for the county clerkship; Horace Jell hopes to win the secretaryship of the Hilltown agricultural society; Lynda Munger has opened a millinery store in one side of the printing office; Mrs. Brown lost her hand satchel in the butcher's; Dr. Dorland is attending Clara Brown who is down with a severe cold; Mrs. Piater broke her ankle and is in the county hospital.
Yet though he smiles at the old-time styles and expressions he enjoys it all over and over again, for it takes his mind back home where his wonderful boyhood days—happy days—were spent.

HELPFUL HINTS

2 tablespoonsful of flour.
3 egg yolks.

Scald milk, add sugar and flour mixed together; stir and cook until thick, cover and cook ten minutes. Add the egg yolks, slightly beaten, and cook two minutes. Cool and add vanilla. Peel, scrape, and slice the bananas. Into a crust already baked, put a layer of the custard and a layer of the banana slices and continue until all the bananas are used, having custard on top. Cover with a meringue made from egg whites and three tablespoons sugar. Set in the oven to brown but not long enough for the bananas to heat. Serve cold.

Remove from stove, stir in fruit and nuts—as follows—1 pound of chopped raisins, 1 pound English walnuts chopped fine, 1 pound pecans chopped, not too fine, and one box of shredded coconut. Flavor with vanilla, other flavoring may be used if desired.

Sponge Cake (Almond)
One and one-half cups of sugar, 8 eggs, 1 1/2 cups of flour, 1-2 teaspoon baking powder, 1 teaspoon extract bitter almonds. Boil sugar in one and half gills of water until, taking some up on end of spoon-handle and cooling in water, it breaks brittle, when at once pour it on the eggs, previously whipped ten minutes; continue the whipping twenty minutes longer; add flour, sifted with powder and extract; bake in well-buttered cake-mold, in quick oven, 30 minutes.

Raisin Roly-Poly

It's about time for some weather prophet to kick in with a prediction of an open winter, because the squirrel's hair is short, or something fool theory.

Everyone has done a few things they would like to forget about, so why keep digging up the other fellow's past? Maybe yours don't look any better to others.

The prediction that things are steadily coming around to normal again doesn't contain a lot of cheer for the fellow who faces a winter of unemployment.

The average pessimist is so thoroughly determined to see the gloomy side of everything that he's always worrying for fear something will happen to make him happy.

Girls can certainly say the meanest things about each other. Let a girl wear a long skirt down a street and another is sure to say she wears it to hide her bowlegs.

"Fatty" Arbuckle will likely find that his little party that resulted in the death of Virginia Rappe, will turn out to be more expensive than the wine that flowed so freely during the revelry.

If the spirit world can really keep in touch with the material, it must be a source of great regret to Jesse James and other bandits of bygone days that they lived too soon to get the soft pickling.

A senator now proposes to legalize 2.75 per cent beer. Since the government don't seem able to stop the brewing of it he is of the opinion that the government might as well get some tax out of it.

My Civic Creed

My city is the place where my home is founded; where my business is located; where my vote is cast; where my children are educated; where my neighbors dwell, and where my life is chiefly lived.

My city has a right to my civic loyalty. It supports me, I must support it. My city wants my citizenship, not my partnership; Friendliness, not selfishness; Co-operation, not dissension; Sympathy not criticism; My intelligent support, not indifference.

My city supplies me with law and order, trade, friends, education, rights, reaction, and the rights of a free-born citizen.

I should, and do, believe in my home town, and I will work for it and stay with it on every occasion, so help me God.—Exchange.

Home Town Paper Week

It is very rare that the average newspaper boosts its own business, but gives quantities of space in boosting the affairs of others.

Somebody suggested that it was time for the newspapers of the country to adopt a week in which their own business should be given precedent, and the Free Press thoroughly endorses the idea.

The date set is the second week in November, from the 7th to the 12th, including that great world event, Armistice Day.

The official title for the week will be "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week."

Thousands of papers will join in the event, and our readers will hear more about it as time goes on.

Ever ready to help in any cause that is in the interests of a better community, better living conditions, and better government, we now ask the readers and advertisers of the Free Press to turn in and lend a hand during "Subscribe for Your Home Town Paper Week" and boost for us.

A Recipe for Home Brew
A Missouri friend sends us this recipe for making home brew:

THE TYPICAL AMERICAN
The Free Press' Americanization Series

We hear a great deal said, particularly each year when the New England Societies meet, about the virtues of the Puritans; but we should not forget the fact that the Cavalier as well as the Puritan was on the Continent in its early days, and that he was "up and able to be about."

Let me remind you that the Virginia Cavalier first challenged France on this continent; that Cavalier John Smith gave New England its very name, and was so pleased with the job that he has been handing his own name around ever since; and that while Miles Standish was cutting off men's ears for courting a girl without her parents consent, and forbade men to kiss their wives on Sunday, the Cavalier was courting everything in sight.

But having said this much for the Cavalier, we let him work out his own salvation, as he has always done with engaging gallantry, and we hold no controversy as to his merits. Why should we? Neither Puritan or Cavalier long survived as such. The virtues and traditions of both happily still live for the inspiration of their sons and the saving of the old fashion. But both Puritan and Cavalier were lost in the storm of the first revolution; and the American citizen, supplanting both and stronger than either, took possession of the Republic, bought by their common blood and fashioned to wisdom, and charged himself with teaching men government and establishing the voice of the people as the voice of God.

It has been said that the typical American has yet to come. Let me tell you that he has already come. Great types, like valuable plants, are slow to flower and fruit. But from the union of these colonists, Puritans and Cavaliers, from the straightening of their blood, slow perfecting through a century, came he who stands as a first-typical American, the first who comprehended within himself all the strength and gentleness, all the majesty and grandeur of this Republic—Abraham Lincoln. He was the sun of the Puritan and the Cavalier, for in his ardent and in the depth of his great soul the faults of both were lost. He was greater than Puritan, greater than Cavalier, in that he was American; and that in vast and thrilling forces of his ideal government; charging it with such tremendous meaning and so elevating it above human sufferings, that martyrdom as a fitting crown to a life concentrated from the cradle to human liberty.

Let us, each cherishing the traditions and honoring his fathers, build with reverent hands to the type of this simple but sublime life in which all types are honored; and in our common glory as Americans there will be plenty and to spare for Puritan and Cavalier.—Henry W. Grady.

COLLEGE OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS (STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN) DENTON, TEXAS.

The College of Industrial Arts offers the following advantages to Texas girls: (1) a pleasant, healthful, and accessible location in the State of Texas, (2) an unspicacious moral and religious environment, (3) freedom from distracting internal and external influences which tend to lower the morale of the student body and the value of the work of the College, (4) a standard of living that discourages extravagance and promotes a democratic spirit in keeping with sound economy and with the best American traditions, (5) courses of study that combine sound culture and accomplishment with preparation for practical, useful living; that chiefly keep in view the needs of the present and the future; and that are flexible enough to allow, within safe limits, conformity with the aptitudes and inclinations of the individual student, (6) a faculty of college and university trained specialists—men and women of maturity, scholarship and demonstrated teaching ability, (7) an administrative system that develops initiative, resourcefulness, and self-control in the part of its students, and fosters the highest ideals of character and conduct.

It is a college of the first-class and gives literary, technical, and vocational training of the best quality, designed to develop mental discipline, social culture, spiritual vision, and efficiency. It confers the degrees of bachelor of arts, bachelor of science, bachelor of music, bachelor of business administration, and bachelor of literary interpretation; awards vocational diplomas and certificates, and issues teachers' State certificates.

The NEW EDISON

Bamboschek, principal conductor of the Metropolitan Opera, listened to Muzio, the dramatic soprano sing in comparison with the New Edison's RE-CREATION of her voice, and the following is his signed verdict:

"I consider that the quality of Miss Muzio's living voice and the quality of her RE-CREATION voice are identical."

Clubman is surprised at country boy's knowledge of Muzio's voice.

BY-PRODUCTS OF LITERATURE

Authoress, Planning African Trip, Certainly is Overlooking Nothing That Can Be Made Useful.

Using the by-products is the most characteristic feature of distinctly modern industry. How thoroughly this principle has been applied to literature comes out in an interview with a charming and able Chicago novelist who is taking her five-year-old daughter into Africa gorilla hunting with Carl Akeley's party.

The author in question will make the trip to collect local color, the basic material in the fiction industry. The first product will be a novel, with a movie to follow. But not all the local color which an African trip is bound to yield can be used in a novel, so the author plans to work over the waste in a travel book, which will find a ready sale to that small but choice public which has weaned of fiction. The third and rather special product will be the story of her small daughter's reaction to the adventure, which is expected to make another interesting book.

Each of the three books is a separate product of the basic local color; each will satisfy a certain special need and reach a public of its own.
Between the fiction readers, the armchair travelers and the students of the child-mind, this author pretty well covers the book-buying classes. Considering how little daughter will probably react when she sights her first gorilla, the "child reactions" book may fairly be called "utilizing the squeal."

KNOWS RIGHT TIME TO FISH

Man's Many Friends Have Furnished
Him Just the Particular Dope, and the Rest is Easy.

"I have the accurate dope now on just when to go fishing at the lakes," said a man who expects to take a vacation soon.

"I talked to a man last week and he said if I wished to do any good, to fish from 12 midnight to six in the morning. He used frogs and spatted for bass and caught lots of bass and also bluegills at that time. Besides it isn't hot then.

"Talked to a man Monday and he told me just when to catch them. I learned from him that the time to fish was between sundown and 12 midnight. He caught lots of bass and bluegills and crappies at that time.

"Talked to another man and he told me the best time to fish was from sunup until about 10 o'clock, and from 4 p. m. until dark.

"There was another neighbor of mine who gave me good advice. He never fishes after dark, but says he never paid any attention to the heat and that he always caught as many fish in the middle of the day as he did early in the morning or in the cool of the evening.

"So you see, I know just when to do my fishing."

Hints to Young Authors.

John Augustus Scribble wearily opened the envelope that brought back from its twentieth journey his "Ode on a Crushed Caterpillar."

There dropped upon the floor this letter from the regretful editor:

"Hint 1--Borrow half a dollar's worth of stamps.

"Hint 2--Don't begin to write till you feel you must. Such an attack is heralded by dizziness, listlessness and pains in the back.

"Hint 3--Then write down just enough words to relieve your pent-up emotions.

"Hint 4--Erase every second word.

"Hint 5--Carefully erase all the remaining words.

"Hint 6--Sell the stamps."—Pittsburgh Sun.

Disappearing Eagle.

Americans have made war to such an extent upon the national bird-- the American eagle--that few specimens of the species are left in the East, and when one of these birds does show itself the first impulse of the man or boy who sees it is to shoot to kill. Yet the eagle is a harmless bird and does ill to nobody. Now and then a bald-head eagle flies over the national capital and a few are to be seen in the region of Washington, but they have become rare. Last spring a large and handsome member of the species was shot and killed in the woods bordering Neasco creek, about thirty miles below Washington and close to the junction of that creek and the Potomac river.

Beirut's Housing Problem.

The return of many Syrians from North and South America, the presence of the French army of occupation, civil officers, European commercial travelers, tourists and refugees have together caused an unprecedented housing shortage in Beirut which is becoming a serious problem. The local government has attempted to control the rents by a decree, but the upward trend continues.

The several hotels deserving of mention can accommodate only about 250 persons in all. The city, with a population of 190,000, has no first-class hotel.—Commerce Reports.

Canada Liberal to Its Veterans.

The gratuity paid by the Canadian government to her World war veterans was by far the most liberal of all the $600, and a single man $420, while the officers and noncommissioned officers received more, according to their rank.

Veteran of Civil War Still Hale and Hearty

GEORGE D. SHAW, Springfield, Mass.

"To say that I feel twenty-five years younger, twenty-five years healthier and twenty-five years stronger express what Tanlac has done for me better than any other way I can put it," said Geo. D. Shaw, veteran of the Civil War, who now lives at 321 Walnut St., Springfield, Mass.

"I am now seventy-eight years old, and I don't hesitate to say I have never known a medicine to equal Tanlac. For fifteen years I was subject to attacks of indigestion that were so bad at times I would have to lay up for a week or two. For a long time I lived on crackers and milk alone as nothing else agreed with me.

"When I started on Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and seventeen pounds and my days were thought to be numbered. I've been so wonderfully built up. I now weigh one hundred and forty-three pounds and my stomach is as sound as a dollar. In fact, I believe I could eat the old army rations again without it hurting me in the least.

"I never miss a chance of saying a good word for Tanlac and I would like to urge the boys of the 'Sixties' who are not feeling right to give it a trial, for I am sure it would put them in line again just as it has me. For a man of my age to have no physical ailment, to be well and strong and enjoy life as he did twenty-five years ago, is certainly something to be thankful for and there is nothing too good I can say for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Haskell at Reid's Drug Store.

IT'S the STYLE that COUNTS

If a garment is ever so fine; is made of the most expensive materials; can it be worn with that satisfaction and confidence that are necessary if it is not in style? Styles are a study that they are ever changing, never still. They can not be bought at random but must be selected with care and thought to give the wearers the pleasure and expectations they pay for. Our ready to wear department offers you everything that careful buying in the leading markets of the United States affords. Our styles are approved and were much admired at the Style Show Tuesday evening and very favorably commented upon. Every garment shown by us is for sale in our ready-to-wear department.

ABOUT COATS

Our showing of coats is really remarkable, such a variety to select from in both pattern and style. Brown is the favorite color, though taupes and various blues are approved. Untrimmed models with a self-dropped, or scarf collar are much in evidence and other models are richly embroidered and a very great many employ natural furs for collars, cuffs and often for decorations. Every garment offered by us is reasonable in price. We are making good with our endeavor to sell real merchandise at reasonable prices.

Separate Skirts Good

Separate skirts are having their usual popularity. The styles are attractive and both pleated and plain models are approved. Straight lines of slightly longer lengths than last season are noticeable. They make a very practical garment for every woman's wardrobe. They are also reasonable in price.

We are prepared to take care of our customers whether they want coats, skirts, suits, dresses, millinery or any of the accessories necessary. We have made it our business to put our store in readiness for your fall trading and we will welcome your visit.

OLD DOBBIN IN EAST HEADED FOR MUSEUM

New York.—The horse will be returned only a subject for natural history museum in the United States within a week. F. W. Penn, Secretary of the National Motor Truck Committee, National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, declares.

"This animal, which has served mankind for ages, is disappearing so rapidly as the result of his displacement by motor machinery that even now he is almost a curiosity in the larger cities.

"The value of the horse has depreciated to such an extent that thousands of farmers are loading onto their wagons because they can't sell them, and when these they own at present lose their usefulness, they will be replaced by automobiles and tractors.

"Of course the race horse will remain with us, but in numbers he is negligible.

Penn said the forthcoming report of the New York board of health will show there are approximately 10,614 less horses and 1,784 fewer stables in New York City today than in 1919.

"Other localities besides New York report similar reductions in the horse population," he said. "Registered stables in Wisconsin decreased from 2,437 in 1918 to 1,688 in 1920. Ohio had 265,000 horses in 1917 and only 242,000 in 1919. One hundred and sixty horses were recently sold in Portland, Oregon, for chicken feed.

"There were approximately 25,000,000 horses in our country two years ago. If they could have been disposed of, automobiles and motor trucks substituted, the value of the wheat that would have been raised on the land then required to feed horses would have been sufficient to pay our national debt, including the Liberty bond issues to date.

W. E. Osburn was able to be up again Tuesday for the first time in several weeks. While practicing for the roping and riding contests in the Rodeo three weeks ago he broke his right leg just above the ankle when he jumped from his horse. The injury was quite painful, but he has been getting along fine.

Aeroplane Making Flights Here

Monday afternoon an aeroplane piloted by J. E. Merrill, accompanied by "Francis Lorette" arrived in Haskell from Sargerton. These men with their plane were one of the attractions at the Baylor County Fair last week, and were here for the purpose of taking up passengers. Several local people made flights with them Tuesday and Wednesday. Messrs Merrill and Lorette left Wednesday afternoon for Spur for four days flights.
