

Autumn Weather Has "Many Ways"

By Nanalee Nichols
 "We'll treat you so many ways you'll have to like some of them" is what a certain preacher I know is fond of saying.
 Well...that can be said of the weather lately, too. From cool to hot, wet to dry, the weather has had "many ways" during the past month. Fall is definitely in the air, with leaves on some trees beginning to take on an autumn tint, and others beginning to fall.

 Yet humid daytime temperatures have been enough in evidence to make everyone well aware that summer hasn't turned loose yet.
 Cotton farmers are getting their crop out, although the rains of a few weeks again have necessitated re-killing much of the crop.

 Rains caused the bare stalks to green back up, causing too much trash to be stripped.
 The cotton harvest has been good, in fact, better than many have anticipated.
 Rains have been scattered and often heavy...Blossom and Detroit received two heavy rains that Bogata, Talco and Deport failed to have.

 Heavy thunderclouds build up late in the afternoon and evening, and nights are frequently punctuated with lightning and thunder. Evening breezes and faster cooling down have been a hallmark of the fall.
 Dallas grass has kept growing at an astonishing rate, while many plants, both garden and floral, have begun a second spurt of growth.

 One ninety-plus year old woman predicts each year that thirty days after the first broom-weed blossoms appear it will come the first frost of the season. If that prediction comes true, frost will be early, arriving about the nineteenth of October.
 The weather affects everyone, whether an office worker or an outdoorsman. The changing seasons invariably bring feelings of elation or depression, usually depending on whether someone is a "summer person" or a "winter person".

 And although there is little that can be done about it, except prepare for it, weather watching always has been, and probably always will be, a favorite pastime.

By: Nanalee Nichols

For those who don't already know about it, (I've certainly told several people!) I have a part-time job...on Fridays when the office is closed, I go to Paris and work at a travel agency. For me, it's like working in a candy store...all those exciting places to think about going to!
 But I've had another lesson brought home to me while working there. Everyone in the office is a "transplant", coming from Illinois, Iowa or Arizona. There are lots of things they don't know (for instance that greens, cornbread and pinto beans is a complete meal).
 But one of the things they have really missed is the closeness of having lived in one spot for a long time.
 Our neighbor, Helen Nance, was in Paris last Friday when the water hose on her car sprang a leak, overheating and leaving her on a parking lot. She called me, I drove out and we got her to a filling station. I went back to work.
 Later, the staff was telling me how wonderful it was to take time to do that, how considerate. I looked at them and realized they really thought it was special!

I tried to explain to them that in any of our small towns anyone, stranger or long time friend, would be afforded help. I told them about running out of gas a few miles out of town and just standing there, waiting for someone I knew to come by and give me a ride. It took about five minutes before someone did.
 They looked at me with the most wistful, puzzled expression.
 We went on to talking about how everyone knew everyone, about the food and comfort in troubled times, about the fellowship of small sized football games or sporting events, about how everyone helps at fires.
 Trick or treat, even in Paris, has become enough of a problem that kids have to have each piece of candy checked out!

Sharing fresh tomatoes, left over pie, things that we all consider a normal part of life is an extra special consideration to them.
 When I offered to keep one woman's youngsters for a weekend, she was absolutely amazed...she knows no one well enough after a year in a larger town to leave them with!

Working among people who don't know their next door neighbor, much less everyone in town, has made me realize once again that the benefits of friendship and fellowship in a small town by far outweigh the drawbacks.
 Living in the middle of so many people, those people are so much more lonely than we are living out in the country!

Indians Defeat Rebels

By Stan Anderson

The Rivercrest Rebels traveled to Price last Friday night to face the fifth ranked Carlisle Indians. But eleven Rebel turnovers helped the Indians to a 27-0 victory.
 The Rebels took the opening kickoff at their own 18-yard line. They only managed seven yards before fumbling on a third down play. The Indians recovered the loose ball on the Rebel 28-yard line. But a fine defensive effort by the Rebels forced Carlisle to give up the ball on downs. Once again the Rebels had the ball, but fumbled after gaining two first downs. The Indians wasted little time scoring on the drive, their extra point attempt was good, making the score 7-0 late in the first quarter.
 The Rebels took the kick-off on their own 32-yard line, but seven plays later, the Rebels fumbled again, giving the Indians possession near mid-field. This time Carlisle used only two plays to score as quarterback Chad Gray connected to split-end Bo Martin on a long pass play for their second touchdown of the night. The extra point made the score 14-0. After the kick-off, the Rebels put together their first substantial drive of the evening.
 Seven plays later, the Rebels had a first down on the Indian 15-yard line. But tailback Amos Brown lost the ball on a first down run. Neither team was able to mount a drive in the second quarter leaving the Indians a 14-0 lead at the half.
 Carlisle received the second half kick-off, but could never get their offense untracked and were forced to punt. Rivercrest was also unable to produce a first down and punted on fourth down. Rebel quarterback Jimmy Lewis was intercepted on a third down pass play, giving the Indians possession near mid-field. Unable to get the ball into the endzone, Carlisle kicked a field goal making the score 17-0.

 On the Rebels next series tailback Amos Brown missed a pitchout from quarterback Jimmy Lewis, giving the Indians the ball on the 23-yard line. Once again Carlisle settled for a field goal, making the score 20-0. On the ensuing kick-off, Carlisle Indian Brian Heim stripped the ball from the Rebel return man, thus setting up another Indian touchdown. Kicker Jeff LePelky made good on his extra point attempt giving Carlisle a 27-0 lead to end the game.
 A fine defensive effort by the Rebels helped keep All State running back Phoenix Brown off balance most of the game and allowed Carlisle 219 yards total offense.
 Rivercrest travels to Redwater Friday night for a contest with the Class AA Dragons. The game starts at 8 p.m.

Blakely-Smith Exchange Wedding Vows

Gaylene Blakely became the bride of Jim Smith on Saturday evening, September 27 at 6 o'clock in a semi-formal ceremony held on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Barney Gayler of Bogata.

The bride is also the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Blakely of Clayton, NM. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith of Talco.

The Rev. Gary Mueller, pastor of McKenzie Memorial United Methodist Church at Clarksville, heard the couple's double-ring vows before a white wrought iron archway accented with polished greenery and lavender satin bows. Baskets of fresh ferns flanked the archway and one was placed at the back of the arch. Guests were seated in chairs on the lawn which formed the aisle. The aisle was accented in satin ribbons of the bride's chosen colors of lavender, blue and pink.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by the organist, Kathleen Mendenhall. Mrs. Mendenhall accompanied Tammy Strain as she sang "You're My Inspiration" and "Always and Forever".

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents, chose a formal gown of silk organza over bridal taffeta. The gown featured a jeweled neckline on an inset yoke of English net. Silk Venice lace motifs adorned the basque sleeves held scattered beaded motifs of silk Venice lace. Tiny self-covered buttons closed the back. The softly gathered skirt, embellished with embroidered motifs, fell to a front hem of embroidered lace and encircled the cathedral train from which rows of full organza ruffles enhanced the back of the scalloped edge. The bride's matching hat was accented with hand beaded motifs of Venice lace and her fingertip veiling of illusion fell from its rolled edge. She carried a cascade of pink rosebuds, lavender daisies with pink, blue and lavender satin ribbons and a string of seed pearls.

Jana Berry of Austin was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Tammy Strain of Dallas and Laura Vaughan of Bogata.

The attendants wore gowns in shades of lavender, pink and blue. The gowns featured a ruffled veneckline which formed caplet sleeves. The bodices were accented by a gently raised waist and soft fabric flows at the ribbed back. Each carried a matching parasol.

Rhonda Blakely, niece of the bride, was flower girl and Zachary Smith, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Tess Morgan presided at the register.

Jeff Franklin of Lubbock served as best man. Groomsmen were Britt Morgan of Arlington and Michael Trapp, also of Arlington.

Ushers were Brad Smith of New Boston and Alan Blakely of Burns Flat, OK.

A reception honoring the couple was held at the Gayler home following the ceremony.

Members of the houseparty were Sherry Huddleston of Bogata and Anita Smith of Bogata, Laura Smith of New Boston and Janna Snow of Denison.

The bride is a graduate of Rivercrest High School and has an associate degree from Tyler Junior College. She is employed by Lovett and Rodgers Law Firm of Paris. The bridegroom is a graduate of Rivercrest High School and attended Paris Junior College and Kilgore College. He is employed by The Clarksville Times.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith were hosts for a rehearsal dinner Friday, September 26 at the Gayler residence.

The bride was honored with several parties prior to her marriage.

A lingerie shower was held August 2 at the home of Jamie Huddleston in Bogata. Sharon Davison was co-hostess.

A shower was held September 6 at the home of Joan Barnett in Bogata. Co-hostesses were Leilani Ward, Barbara Wad, Shirley Anderson and Marilyn Garrettson.

Hobbs-Ariail Exchange Wedding Vows

Miss Michelle Rae Ariail became the bride of David Maurice Hobbs in a formal ceremony at 11:00 o'clock Saturday morning, September 17 in the garden of the Earle-Harrison House, 1901 North 5th in Waco.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Ariail of Bosqueville and the granddaughter of Mrs. Gladys P. Smith of Anniston, Alabama.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad M. Hobbs of Milton. He is the grandson of Mrs. Max Mauldin of Bogata and the late Maurice Hobbs and Tully Temple and the late Helen Temple of Milton.

The pastor, Dr. John Davidson, retired professor of Religion at Baylor University, heard the couple's double-ring vows before a white colonial style gazebo. Boston ferns and assorted garden greenery complimented the area. Guests were seated in chairs marked with white satin bows.

Pre-nuptial music was presented by the Baylor University String Ensemble Quartet. Selections were from Handel: Selections from the "Music Water" and Mozart: String Quartet in G Major. Wagner's Bridal Chorus was played as the wedding party descended, from the 128 year old colonial home, along a brick-lined walkway to the wedding scene.

The bride, escorted by her father, chose a formal victorian style gown of white bridal taffeta, organza and lace. The gown featured a lace-trimmed band collar and a sheer yoke inset. The long sleeves, with lace insets, were of a modified bishop style. Lace motifs, re-embroidered with seed pearls embellished the bodice and skirt. The full skirt tapered into a chapel-length train accented with a ruffle encircling the entire skirt. The bride's hat, fashioned by her mother, was adorned with white silk flowers. Her veiling was attached at the back of the hat, to a pouf of silk illusion and extended the full length of the train. The bride's white and pink bouquet was a flowing cascade of roses, and stephanotis blossoms.

Miss Vanessa Webster of Waco was maid of honor. She wore a tea-length gown of pink satin featuring a wide V-shaped neckline. She carried a pink and white colonial nosegay of fresh roses, mini-carnations and baby's breath.

Stephen Hobbs of Waco served his brother as best man.

Usher was Terry Ariail, brother of the bride, from Irving.

A reception honoring the couple was held in the Earle-Harrison mansion.

Members of the houseparty were: Mrs. Stephen Hobbs of Waco, Cindy McCord of Anniston, Alabama, Diana Balderama and Pam Eskew of Waco.

The bride is a graduate of China Springs High School, attended McLennan Community College, Waco and Jacksonville State University in Jacksonville, Alabama. She is employed as a unit secretary at the Hillcrest Baptist Medical Center in Waco.

The groom is a graduate of Midland Lee High School and served five years in the U.S. Navy. He is presently a student at T.S.T.I. in Waco and is pursuing a degree in computer maintenance technology.

Following a wedding trip to Dallas, the couple will be at home in Waco until the groom's graduation in May.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: John Manley Temple and Colleen Temple of Plano, Ms. Merita Baptista and daughter Leslie of Arlington, Mrs. Max Mauldin of Bogata, Mrs. Charles Martin of Paris, Mrs. Gladys Smith of Anniston, Alabama and Mr. and Mrs. David Dakil of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Hobbs were hosts for the rehearsal dinner Friday evening. Guests were served dinner in an historic atmosphere at the Austin Hills Restaurant. The honorees presented gifts to their attendants.

Myers-Goates Exchange Wedding Vows

Lisa Myers and Scotty Goates were married Saturday, September 27 in an informal ceremony performed by Rev. Gary House, Talco Baptist minister.

Attendants were the bride and groom's parents, Marvie and Gene Goates of Talco and Marjorie Myers of Bogata.

Bogata To Go On New Switching System

Installation of Continental Telephone's new switching center in Bogata is complete and final testing is underway. Once the telephone computer begins to handle calls, the present electromechanical switching office will be retired from service.

Frank Gadek, local area telephone services manager, says the new switching computer has stored programs. Solid state components have eliminated moving parts, reduced maintenance and improved reliability. The computer has an improved test program which looks for faulty circuits within the switch. Should it find one, the computer reroutes calls to other circuits and alerts technicians by displaying a message on an electric typewriter built into the system.

Gadek added, "After the new switch is in service, Touchtone will be available to all customers and custom calling features will be available to one-party customers."

Local calling will be faster because the called phone will ring as soon as the last digit is dialed. Dial tone, ringing signals, and busy signals will all sound different. Continental is adopting nationwide frequency tone standards with the change. Customers are advised to dial all seven digits when placing local calls. Persons on the same party line may call each other by simply dialing the directory number. Customers will receive a letter giving specific dialing instructions.

Most customers have individual line service. The new computer will automatically identify these numbers for billing purposes. An operator will come on the line briefly to obtain the billing number of party line users.

Keeping Healthy

Replacement for Dental Braces

Modern dentistry may have finally come up with the answer to every child (and parents') nightmare—the need for dental braces, according to MD Magazine. A clear plastic piece resembling an athlete's mouthguard which a child "bites" into four hours a day and at night can take the place of the dreaded braces. It has about a 70 percent success rate, works in six to ten months, and is estimated to cost only $800, according to the article.

Recollections Of The Drivers License Test

By Mollie Williams
 Several of the young people around town have recently completed a course in Drivers Education and I read in the papers that the colleges in our vicinity are offering courses on defensive driving. In my opinion, these courses are very good and necessary. As all of us realize, the number of automobiles on our highways has increased overwhelmingly in the past few years. Many can probably remember a time when there were only a few people that owned automobiles and when a drivers license was not required. As time progressed, however, and more families were able to own automobiles, a license was required for those who operated the vehicles. The first licenses issued required no test. A person wishing to drive an automobile could acquire a license simply by going to the courthouse in their county and signing their name. Many people were issued a license even though they did not own an automobile, but wanted to have the license in hopes for a car sometime in the future.

A little nervous, to which he replied, "What do you think about me, woman, I've got to ride in this car with you." Mr. Sweeney explained to her once again the procedures she was to go through for the test. He emphasized the importance of stopping quickly when he gave the command. Somehow, she managed to make all the right moves and even did a perfect parallel park, then braced herself for the quick stop. Now it just so happened that the day before, my dad had bought a sack of apples and they were behind the back seat next to the back glass. When Patrolman Sweeney gave the order for the stop, she applied every ounce of strength she had to those brakes. Apples came flying through the air, almost scaring mother and Sweeney to death.

She got her license that day, but driving has never been too enjoyable for her. We've often teased her that Mr. Sweeney only passed her to keep from having to ride with her again. To make my story complete, Mrs. Barrett finally passed the test after three attempts. Too bad they didn't have Driver's Ed back then.

Later the drivers test was instituted and a drivers handbook was made available to the public for preparation for the test.

A highway patrolman named Sweeney was the official who gave the drivers tests about this time in Clarksville. He also patrolled the area in and around Bogata.

Many of the housewives and teenagers around Bogata and other rural areas had driven for some time without a license, but talk around town was that Mr. Sweeney, who visited friends in Bogata quite frequently, was well aware of those driving without a license and was watching for the opportunity to stop them. Three of these unlicensed drivers were my mother, my sister, Tommie Joy and a neighbor, Beulah Barrett. The rumors of Sweeney's watchful eye reached them and they began taking extreme precautions when driving to the post office and other places in town. They discovered many discreet and out of the way back roads to travel to their destinations.

After a time, they sent for a drivers handbook and began preparing for the test. There was total havoc around our house during this time. It seemed as though my mother and the neighbor lady thought they were going on trial for their lives. Tests do strange things to some people, and they were two recipients of the strange things. They lost sleep, couldn't eat, worried and became altogether distraught. On the other hand, Tommie Joy, with that wonderful time in life called youth, studied and learned all the driving techniques for the written test and the driving test without any problem at all.

Finally, test day arrived and the three were taken to Clarksville. For those of you who know my mother, you know that the wor dnervous could never describe her condition that morning. The written test was given first and my mother and sister both passed, but the poor neighbor failed. Tommie Joy also passed the driving test, but my mother's nervousness caused her to slip up on a few of the rules and fail the test.

Back at home again, mother and the neighbor, Mrs. Barrett, studied and practiced driving every spare minute. Everyone around seemed to have advice to give them and they were willing to try it all.

Once again the big day arrived and the two returned for the test once more. Results of the written exam proved Mrs. Barrett had flunked again. Then it was time for my mother to prove her driving skills. She anxiously took her place behind the wheel and at the same time explained to Mr. Sweeney that she was

Red River Wagon Masters Trail Ride Set For Oct. 3

The Red River Wagon Masters will have a "Sesquicentennial" Trail Ride on October 3. The origin of the ride will be at old Jonesboro. The train will travel east on Highway 410 along the Red River onto Highway 195 continuing to Highway 37 and onto a campsite at Dimple. Watch for signs.

There will be a barbeque dinner catered by the Billy Erwins at 6 p.m. The dinner will be opened to the public with tickets purchased Friday morning at the start of the ride for $5.50 per person.

A program will be held at 7 p.m. at the campsite. Local historian, Skipper Steely, will tell of the history of Jonesboro and Miller County, AR. Steely is a descendant of the Wright family who were early settlers on the Red River. A question and answer period will be conducted by Steely and promises to be the highlight of the evening campfire session.

Saturday morning, the wagon train will continue on into Clarksville and will kickoff the annual Historical Society Bazaar. The riders will have a campsite on the street designated as "The Street of Living History".

Stew Cook Off Results Announced

The Red River County Fair Stew Cook-Off was held Saturday, Sept. 13 at the County Fairgrounds in Clarksville with 18 groups cooking a pot of stew for competition. All pots were cooked over an open wood fire.

First place went to Fay and Thomas Smith of Clarksville, who commented that the secret to good stew is an all day simmering.

Second place went to the City of Clarksville, Bill Phillips, Patti Donovan and Frances Thornsberry. Not only did they cook stew, but beans and cornbread, also.

Third place went to Midway 4-H Club. The youngsters demonstrated they had a winning recipe. Helping with the cooking were Leslie Clarkson, Gaylene Henexson, Heather Denison, Karen Carpenter, Aaron Clarkson, Shelli Coleman, Katina McCain, David Carpender, James Oldfield, Tiffany Denison, Tamara Marr, Jewlie Tolson, Shawanna Rhodes and Chuck Crawford.

The Smiths and City of Clarksville donated their award checks back to the fair.

There were approximately 550 bowls of stew sold.

The stew cook-off, sweet shop and cake auction raised approximately $2,500 for Red River County Fair Fund.

Judges for the contest were from the Paris Army Recruiting Station: Sgt. 1st Class Marrion Wallace, Sgt. Jackie Crawford and Staff Sgt. Raymond Estrada.
