

AND GOD BLESSED THE SEVENTH DAY AND SANCTIFIED IT

Read Genesis 2:3: "And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made." But when did God bless and sanctify the seventh day? Too many people when reading this verse in Genesis decide that it says that God did so right then in the dawn of time immediately after creating all things. But read it again. It does not so state. Please remember that Moses wrote Genesis and this record of creation guided by inspiration hundreds and hundreds of years after it all happened. As we shall show Moses wrote after God had actually sanctified the seventh day and had given it as a rest day to the Jews. Thus looking back knowing that the seventh day, the one on which God had rested from all his labors, had been sanctified Moses then in recording the creation simply states that God blessed and sanctified the seventh day. The book of Exodus will tell you exactly when God did this. Therefore, it is not true that the Sabbath as a rest day has been in existence and has been observed even from the beginning of time. Not one single verse in the Bible teaches this theory.

A long time after creation the descendants of Abraham through Isaac and Jacob had gone down to the land of Egypt and eventually they had become slaves. God heard their cries and to them sent Moses as a deliverer. Across the Red Sea Moses led them into the wilderness and thence down to the mount called Sinai. There God to these Israelites gave the ten commandments including the one concerning the sabbath. Just a few days before, there in this wilderness, God had told them to gather twice as much manna on the sixth day since none would appear the next day. Notice in Exodus 16:22-30 that Moses had to explain to these Israelites concerning the sabbath. If they had since the beginning of time observed the sabbath why the need of this explanation? Jehovah was merely showing them how he wants the sabbath observed and within a few days he made the observance of it official by giving the law at Sinai.

At Sinai when God gave the ten commandments (including the one concerning the sabbath) here is what Moses said about them: "The Lord made NOT THIS COVENANT WITH OUR FATHERS, BUT WITH US, EVEN US, WHO ARE ALL OF US ALIVE THIS DAY." Then Moses lists the ten commandments as that covenant. Read Nehemiah 9:13-14, "Thou camest down also upon mount Sinai—and madest known unto THEM thy holy sabbath." It, the sabbath, was made known at Sinai unto them, the Israelites. Now then, read Exodus 31:16-17: "Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the sabbath—it is a sign BETWEEN ME AND THE CHILDREN OF ISRAEL forever."

The observance of the weekly sabbath as a law was given to ONLY the Israelites to be observed by them. The gentiles were never commanded to keep the sabbath. The New Testament, our law today for gentiles and Jews alike, says nothing about our keeping the sabbath today. Deut. 5:15 plainly says that God commanded the Israelites to keep the sabbath in order for them to remember that He had led them out of bondage. This simply could not apply to anyone else. The sabbath along with all of the other shadows of the Old Testament was nailed to the Cross and abolished. Col. 2:14 and Eph. 2:15-16.

TAKES ENJOYABLE TRIP TO FORT WORTH

It isn't often that the Baird Star editor gets out of the city, but he went to Fort Worth Tuesday and returned Wednesday. The occasion was a district sales meeting of the Humble Oil & Refining Company. Joe Mistretta of the Abilene office came by and we hopped in. Before coming to Baird we were employed by the Humble Company and quite a number of our old friends were at the Fort Worth meeting. G. A. (Pop) Mabry, advertising director and public relation manager, was master of ceremonies at a banquet held in the auditorium of the new Methodist church. E. W. Berry, Abilene district superintendent, opened and closed the meeting. Frank Watts, Humble sales manager, was the speaker. Mr. Watts told the nearly two hundred Humble people present from throughout this district that they were on the eve of the greatest sales era in the history of the company.

He pointed out five high lights in their selling job. First, quality products, second, public good will, third, preessege of a good company, fourth, sales promotion, and fifth, team work throughout the entire organization. We were impressed by the stage that is being set for one of the greatest selling programs that any company ever undertook in Texas. Mr. Mabry explained the program and said, "we have the enthusiasm, energy and ability to put it over." The first thing to do it to get ready for the big season, he said, and by way of demonstration he introduced the elf, Marvin, known on all driveways as the attendant who does things wrong. Marvin finally saw the light in the short sketch presented on the stage, and everybody present "saw the light" in the secret of pleasing the public. It was a great meeting and we thoroughly enjoyed seeing many of our Humble friends again for a day.

Foreign affairs—the principle of the Golden Rule, extended to all nations, all-out cooperation with peace-loving peoples who desire only the rights of mankind and the enjoyment of peace and plenty. Labor — Maintenance of the principles of collective bargaining, with a sharing of responsibility by labor, industry and government; the promotion of live-and-let-live attitude between capital and labor, with the rights of the public to be recognized and protected. Oil—Continuance of the practice of conservation through cooperation of state and federal government, and the protection of the interests of the producer, landowner and consumer—which in the long run are identical. Sandefer presents a concise, yet comprehensive platform for the consideration of the people of the 17th district. It follows: For GI Joe and his sister Jane — The help and encouragement of a grateful country, in every way that can be accomplished. For the war's disabled; All they need, at whatever the cost.

For the farmer and stockmen — A legislature program geared to their needs responsive to their wishes, and guided by their advice and consent, administered as far as possible by the farmers and stockmen themselves through boards representing their local or regional interests.

For the small business man — Recognition as the mainstay of the American system, assistance and encouragement whenever he needs it, protection against the powerful forces that would destroy his existence, and a minimum of governmental interference in the conduct of his business.

For national defense — An adequate and alert military establishment, backed by continuing research and experimentation, officered and manned by professional soldiers paid a decent wage, given an equal break in privileges, and made to feel that their career is as honorable as it is ancient.

FEAR OF GERMANY

It is explained that Secretary of State James F. Byrnes proposed a twenty-five-year agreement between the four big powers to control Germany because the fear of Germany continues extant throughout Europe.

There is a general fear that the United States will leave Europe to enforce the peace terms and protect itself against Germany, a fear in Russia that the British will try to build Germany up as a bulwark against Russia, a fear in England that the Russians might gain control of Germany with a similar result and a strong fear in France against revival of German power.

Apparently, Mr. Byrnes believes that if the United States makes plain its determination to see the Germans do not involve Europe in another war, there will be a willingness on the part of the nations to agree upon matters in dispute. This is based in the belief that fear of future German power makes them ask for measures and territory designed to afford protection.

STRIKES INJURE THE PUBLIC BUT WHAT CAN CONGRESS DO?

The effect of the coal strike is seen in the ban on virtually all freight shipments except food and fuel, and the warning from J. Monroe Johnson, Director of Transportation, that "much more severe orders will be necessary if the strike is not settled."

Not only will the transportation of the nation be severely curtailed but it is certain that the processes of production, largely dependent upon coal for fuel, will be restricted at a time when the national economy requires a larger volume of goods than ever before in its history.

It is not our purpose to attempt to assess blame for the strike or to pass judgement upon the demands of the miners and the refusal of the owners to accept them. Certainly, some public agency is badly needed in order to pass upon the merits of the controversy, with power to take whatever action is necessary to secure the production of coal.

While there is always the danger of strikes so long as our present economy operates, it is high time that vigorous steps be taken to protect the public interests. Obviously it is an absurdity for 135,000,000 Americans to suffer because of a dispute between several hundred thousand coal miners and a small group owning the coal mines. Such disregard of the public interest, if repeated very often, will inevitably lead to the nationalization of certain key industries which occupy vital roles in the nation's productive system.

COLLEGES MUST SERVE VETERANS

The colleges and universities of the United States face a sever strain as veterans plan to begin, or continue, their education under the GI Bill of Rights and it is unlikely that facilities will be sufficient this year to take care of all the veterans who want to continue their education.

General Omar N. Bradley, Veterans Administrator, says that 1,687,000 veterans have indicated an intention to go to college. He predicts that 750,000 will be in school this fall, with another 1,000,000 waiting to enter. He calls on the leaders of higher education to make room for former service men, even if traditional practices must be shelved and warns that unless this is done, pressure will be put on the government to establish special institutions of higher learning.

The General points out that housing is the difficult problem that confronts colleges in their desire to expand and he suggests that techniques be altered to fit changed conditions. He makes it clear, however, that he does not suggest that classroom standards be lowered.

We agree with General Bradley, who says the unprecedented influx of veterans into colleges is a tremendous challenge to our educational system and a magnificent opportunity. Insisting that no veteran be denied the right to study because of housing difficulties, the General observes that the veterans feel they have earned the right to return to school without the loss of additional years and says that the returned service men have seen too many impossible things done to put much trust in "it can't be done."

95 PER CENT READ THE BIBLE

A scientific and exhaustive nation-wide survey of the taste of the American reading public during the first six months of last year has been made by the Book Manufacturers Institute and the results are extremely interesting.

Encouraging is the report that ninety-five per cent of the people read the Bible but discouraging is the observation that a large percentage read only a few verses in church on Sunday or report that they read it sometime in their life.

By comparison, the survey reveals that eighty-four per cent read "Forever Amber," one of the lurid sex novels of the recent past. If this figure is correct and what we hear of the book is an accurate report, the survey indicates that considerably more time was given to the study of the amours of the heroine than to the study of the great truths of the Bible.

The survey reports that adventure books are the most popular, with other favorites being war books, social problems, history, religion, mystery, humor and last, poetry. As to age groups, the evidence indicates that youths between fifteen and nineteen read more than any other group and that interest in reading declines as people grow older, reaching a low at the age of sixty. Women, it is pointed out, are more avid readers than men.

Why and how people read is also discussed, with the survey reporting fifty-eight per cent reading at home, sitting quietly and smoking, twelve per cent lying in bed, seven per cent listening to the radio and four per cent at work.

Never imagine that you are smart enough to tell somebody else how to operate his business and always assume that you have sense enough to run your own. Your mistakes will cost you less.

Before the election this year the experts will tell you, with learned reasons, why so and so will happen, afterwards, with the same learned reasons, they will explain why it didn't.

WHERE IS 1945's FEED CROP

Half of the feed produced in Texas in 1945, on the basis of total food value, was wasted.

That is the contention of G. G. Gibson, dairy specialist of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service, who points out that most sections of the state have 90 days of plentiful pasture and feed and a nine-months period of getting by the best way they can.

In his estimate of lost food value which might be conserved for feeding, Gibson includes such potential crops as fence row Johnson grass, crop residue, and bundle feed which is stacked in the open. Rat and weevil damage to stored grain, of course, takes a heavy toll.

"There has never been a year when it is so important not only to produce as much feed as possible, but to save every bit that is produced," Gibson said.

He pointed to the silo, especially the trench silo, as the surest and least expensive method of storing feed.

"Some farmers point to high labor costs and labor shortage as the reason why trench silos were not dug and filled in 1945," Gibson added. "I believe that lower cost at its present level is not the limiting factor for food conservation in the face of the nation wide food and feed shortage."

ABOUT RATICIDES

Scientists have developed some excellent raticides recently, but they're still too deadly and too potent to be relied generally to the public.

Until these can be made available safely, folks should make the best use of the controls they have at hand, advises J. E. Poore, assistant district agent for the Rodent Control Service. When mixed with attractive feed materials, red squill gives food results with both Alexandrian and Norway rats, those most commonly found in Texas, Poore says.

He also recommends that use of poison be supplemented with rat-proofing where this is practical. Removal of food for rats and of harboring places also is an aid in control.

ABUNDANT FISH SUPPLIES TO CONTINUE

With plentiful supplies of fresh and frozen fish assured in markets generally for the next few months, Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation for the A. & M. College Extension Service, urges Texas housewives to include fish often in their meal planning. "Use of the more abundant foods will save other foods for shipment to famine areas," she says.

The heavy fishing season, which began about the first of April promises to be unusually heavy this year according to

U. S. D. A. reports. In fact, the catch may set a new record because of favorable prices, plenty of good boats, more workers for onshore plants, and abundant fish in banks along the coast. Frozen fish supplies in storage already are very large. On March 1, almost 100 million pounds of frozen fish were in cold storage—about twice as much as the year before.

Supplies of canned fish in the stores will continue to be very short until the new pack is marketed because of heavy export demands on last year's pack, the food specialist says. But even so, there will be more canned fish for civilians this year than last—or than in previous war years when military takings were large.

Three should be no lack of protein in American meals this spring in spite of smaller meat allocations. Miss Lawrence concludes.

ALFALFA SILAGE VS HAY

To the dairyman, alfalfa has greater value as silage than when it is field cured, according to recent studies of the USDA's Bureau of Dairy Industry.

Recent studies showed that cows on silage produced about seven per cent more milk than those on hay. At the beginning of the trials, the silage contained nine times as much carotene as the hay, but at the end the silage was 14 times as rich in carotene, because the hay lost carotene at a higher rate. In addition, cows fed silage, gave milk much higher in Vitamin A potency. The protein content of dry matter was found to be 21 per cent in the silage and 15 per cent in the hay.

J. W. Davis, assistant dairyman for the A. & M. College Extension Service, says he believes this study and others similar will stimulate increased interest in trench silos in Texas.

CHECKING UP ON ELECTRIC LAMPS

Since electric lamps should be arranged in homes for the best service and for attractiveness, Miss Allen, advises housewives to make check-ups in their own homes for possible improvements.

Be sure there is enough light when and where it is needed. A table lamp should be equipped with a bulb or bulbs totalling at least 100 watts. And a floor lamp with reflector should have a minimum of 150 watts. Lamps should always be bright enough for tasks for which they are used.

Lamp shades should all be flared to spread light over a wider area. Any lamp shades with dark-colored linings should be removed as they soak up as much as 50 percent of the light that would otherwise be reflected for use.

Height of table lamps is important. They should be tall enough to spread light over the intended area. Glare, also, should be checked on. An unshaded bulb should be used only in storage rooms clothes closets, or similar places.

Lamps should be arranged to avoid shadows. For close work, the light should come from the left for right-handed persons and vice-versa for those who are left-handed. Sharp contrasts of light and dark within a room are hard on eyes, as they must keep adjust to different amounts of light. Lamps with glass or plastic reflectors under the shade will do away with these contrasts. Lamps properly arranged will bring less eye strain and more beauty, Miss Allen concludes.

They bring attractive furnishing and color combinations to life.

Rutherford were transacting business in Baird Monday. Claude Cunningham of Midland spent the weekend visiting with his mother, Mrs. Ella Cunningham, and other relatives. Calvin King spent the past several days in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. King. Mrs. Loren Everett, Artie Cook and La Verne Rutherford were shopping Monday in Cross Plains and Rising Star. The Putnam Grammar School is presenting an Operetta Wednesday evening, 8:30, May 29. Walter Yeager of the Dothan community was a visitor Sunday in the home of his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Yeager. Mrs. Neil Norred and Bill are visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brandon. John Ila Clark left one day last week for points in Indiana where she expects to take up Teletype work again. Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Hamlin of Hamlin were guest Sunday in the home of his mother, Mrs. Emma Hamlin. We are glad to report Mrs. Hamlin's health is improving and is able to be up again. Roland Nichols had the misfortune of breaking a rib last Friday, when he was thrown off his horse. Olan White is quite sick from malarial fever. We wish him a speedy recovery. Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mitchell of San Antonio were weekend guests of Mrs. Rosa Ryan. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bailey of Moran, Route 2, were transacting business here Saturday and visited Mrs. Rosa Ryan.

ASTAIRE, LUCILLE BREMER, SCORE IN MUSICAL DELIGHT. All the facts of entertainment are brilliantly blended in the new M-G-M Technicolor musical, "Yolanda and the Thief," which opens at the Plaza Theatre for Sunday and Monday showing. It is an ideal vehicle for the talents of Fred Astaire and Lucille Bremer, who recently scored together in "Ziegfeld Follies," and who again prove themselves an acting dancing and singing team of top calibre. Astaire, master of the jaunty role, is at his best as the light-hearted and light-fingered crook who finds himself "guardian angel" of a beautiful young heiress. Charming his way into her heart, as well as into her safe, he is well on his way to confiscating her fortune when the girl's real guardian steps in with unexpected results. Miss Bremer is completely delightful as the naive maiden who places her trust and her bonds into Astaire's slippery fingers, and in the numerous musical sequences proves herself a perfect singing and dancing partner for the incomparable Astaire. Most of the picture's laughs—and it abounds in them—come from Frank Morgan and Mildred Natwick, the Broadway comedienne. Morgan is cast as Astaire's partner in crime, affable and willing but not much of a help since his is the type of mentality that tries to sell an oil well to the man who owns it! Miss Natwick is riotous as Yolanda's aunt who can't resist a salesman, or any man, for that matter. Great imagination has been shown in the settings of the mythical state in which the story takes place, and the musical scenes, including a carnival scene and a dream ballet, are strikingly lovely. Vincente Minnelli's fine direction helps make "Yolanda and the Thief" outstanding entertainment. Cecil West, of Crane, is visiting his wife and children here this week.

You Can Be As Carefree As A Barefoot Boy

If you could be sure that your electric service would not go off, you could leave home without a worry in the world. If the refrigerator, the stove, the chicken brooder, and many other electrical appliances in your home were sure to give service, most of your worries would be over. That is the kind of uninterrupted electric service typical of the service rendered by Baird's Municipal Light Plant. With the recent installation of another big engine, you may be more sure now than ever of getting the best of service.

Call us for electric service today. Municipal Light Plant Owned By The People of Baird

FIRST ATOMIC POWER PLANT

The blueprint for the first plant to produce power from atomic reaction has been prepared, declared Dr. Farrington Daniels, director of the University of Chicago's Metallurgical Laboratory, who says that the plant will be sent to Oak Ridge, Tennessee, where the first test power plant is being constructed.
Dr. Daniels points out that the work is experimental and that a power plant using atomic reactors cannot at present compete economically with coal as a source of power.
If future developments bring down the cost, it is possible that there will be competition with both coal and water power, but the scientist points out that the total cost of electric power and that the reduction in the cost of power, when atomic energy becomes cheap, will not be very great.

FOR SALE OR TRADE—Pvt. Johnny Swinson arrived home on Mother's Day to spend a 30 day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Swinson. He will report to duty at Ft. Sam Houston on May 30th.
