Oh, why do we all have to be sooooc sick? Sick with such a wide variety of illnesses...sick for so long...sick so

It has been one of the unhealthiest winters in a long time. If the flu don't get ya', the virus will!

ween those two there is a range of variances...complete with headaches, upset stomach and fevers. All the area is afflicted with these illnesses Always before, I've been one of those lucky folks who never caught ANYTHING. And this year I've caught EVERYTHING that drifted into town on little germ feet. A lot of other folks usually unaffected by such things have succumbed too.

Wherever one goes there is a chorus of sniffles, sneezes, groans and wheezes. Red eved clerks stagger as they try to make it through the day. A trip to the doctor often reveals the folks we hope will cure us have been unable to cure themselves.

What germs caused all this? New germs, old germs, Asian germs, it doesn't really matter. But while shivering and aching in the depths of a virus last week, semi-delirium took over and I began to picture the microscopic culprits as looking something like Atilla the Hun....or perhaps Genghis Khan. Evil eyes sparkle with malice, gleams of light strike from their teensey helmets, swords and spears as they mass for the attack. Unholy glee spurs their unhearable war cry as the microscopic hoards charge the body's defenses and overwhelm the "good

Or perhaps they look like little gunfighters, six guns hung low on their germ hips, black hats pulled low on vicious foreheads?

The bad thing about them, no matter what form, is that they never wear out....after devastating one victim they swarm over another...and another.

This winter it has seemed endless. A recovery from one illness simply made one ready for the next.

And throughout it all, there have been those oblivious souls who sail right along...without catching

In the past I have always been one of those fortunate souls....and never, now, realized how....how.... DISGUSTING-LY HEALTHY they are!

Coach Wood Sees 400th Victory

By Gary House

The Rivercrest Rebels come-frombehind victory over the Cooper Bulldogs last week was a landmark game for Rebel head coach and Athletic Director, Wake Wood. The noteworthy achievement was that this was the 400th career win in 20 years that Wood has served as a varsity Significantly, number 400 came against the hometown and school from which Wood excelled in basketball and graduated from in 1960. Wood also played basketball at the College of the Ozarks in Clarksville, AR. He then returned to his native Texas where he graduated from East Texas State University in Commerce. He also received his Master's Degree in Mathematics from this institution.

Four hundred wins means that Wood has averaged 20 wins a season. Of special note is the fact that all but 27 of the 400 wins (373) have come during the 18 years Wood has served at Rivercrest. Wood also coached at White Oak for two years, and early in his career, was the Junior Varsity coach at Mt. Pleasant High School.

The 400 wins are a direct result of the 45 year old mentor's coaching philosophy, "Be in better shape, work harder, hustle and win more games.' Coach Wood believes it really does matter who wins or loses. "If you are not playing to win," he says, "why are you playing at all?" Wood has dedicated himself to building a winning basketball program. To insure this, he consistently schedules the best opponents for his teams, especially early in the season, because he feels it prepares his squad for the all-important district play.

This is one reason why Wood coached teams make the play-offs with regularity As an example, last week's win improved the Rebel season record to 22-7. The seven losses have come against either bigger schools (3A or 4A) or while playing in the toughest class 2A district in Texas (17AA), which boasts of two of the top ten squads in the state. Wood appears to have special insight into the development of younger players, and challenge them to play to the fullest extent of their abilities. This year, he has not been reluctant to put any player in the squad into any game situation, because he knows each one's specific talent. Wood often exhorts his players with this battle cry, "Play your best, have fun, give 100 percent plus.'

In response to the question, "To what do you attribute your success?", Wood made the following observations.

"Any time an athletic program is successful, it is due to many more factors than a single individual. I feel there are at least four reasons, and these are not in any particular order.

First, we have an extremely supportive school board and administration. Superintendents and principals, past and present, have pushed for a well-balanced athletic program. Many school boards emphasize only one sport, but this is not so with the Talco-Bogata CISD.

Wood stated that another reason for port. "Especially helpful are the parents of the athletes, who are willing to make sacrifices in order that their child may get to and from prac-

This is her second year to enter the journalism contests. She advanced to the Regional Contest last year by winning first in feature writing at the district level. He added, "This is harder to do in our situation because of the location of Rivercrest High School. But parents contribute greatly to the success of the program.

Finally, Wood stated that 400 victories have come because "we have good kids to work with; not necessarily great athletes in every case, but young men and women who are willing to work hard and give their best to the program.'

Wood has many other responsibilities at Rivercrest High School. As Athletic Director, he is responsible for the overall sports program, including budgeting and scheduling. He also teaches advanced Math courses.

Coach Wood has been married for 24 years. Beth is a fourth grade teacher at Talco Elementary School, and is also a devoted basketball fan. The couple has two children. Stan is an engineering student in Dallas. Scotti has followed in her father's footsteps, and coaches at Whitewright. She must have been taught well, for her team is in the play-offs thi syear. Talco VFD Gets Aid

Randy Carroll, Talco fire chief, met with the Titus Conty Commissioners at their meeting Monday morning, Feb. 23 to ask the court to help purchase a new fire truck for the Talco Volunteer Fire Department.

Chief Carroll stated that the 1968 Dodge used by the 20 man volunteer department was unsafe to drive at the speed needed to drive sometimes. He also pointed out to the commissioners that they hardley ever ask anyuthing of them. "And you know if we do, it's a true need. We are an all-volunteer service and we provide a good service" he said.

The department wants the commissioners to add $10,000 to the $13,000 they already have to outfit a four wheel drive vehicle. Commissioner J.W. Terrell helped back up Carroll by reminding the court that 70 per cent of the calls made by Talco were out in the county. TAlco helps Mt. Pleasant more than any other area department in the county. The court approved the EMPLOYERS: Can You Afford A POWER LINE ACCIDENT?

Electrical accidents can result in valuable time lost on the job. Worse, they can cause serious injury to your employees.

That's why you should take extra care to instruct your employees to avoid contact with power lines, especially when using ladders, tree pruning equipment, winches or anything else that might touch a line.

The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be By Mollie Williams

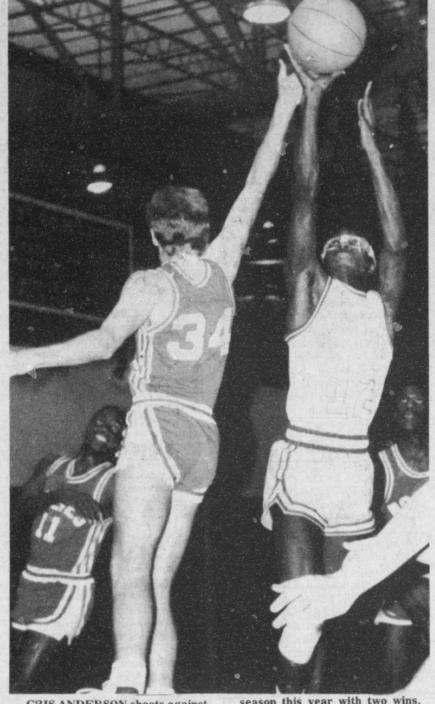

One of the things I think I miss most from my younger days is the capability of being limber. Once you pass the awkwardness of adolescence and are able to adequately control your motor muscles, there's a whole world of things you can do, such as cartwheels and back flips.

Somewhere around the age of 13 or 14, I learned how to do the backbend. Now, this was before kids around here knew about gymnastic classes and cheerleader camps. I thought I really had a unique ability. I had learned it from my older sister. My cousin and would practice our backbends for hours. We always did an exhibition of t at our girlie get-togethers. It was so easy back then. No cramps, no sweat, just stiffen the legs, lean back and

Through the years, I would, at times, rehearse my little "act", and for a while was able to do it with some, but very little difficulty. I was always pleased when my daughter would bring her friends who were visiting her into the room where I was and say to me, "Show them, Mom. Show them you can still do the backbend." After a little persuasion, I would proudly position myself into the acrobatic stunt, realizing that with each time it became a little harder.

It's been several years now since I've tried the backbend. My younger two children never knew of that accomplishment in my life, so they have never called on me to demonstrate.

I was in the News Office the other carefully reaching for the floor. Finally, my hands touched the heavenly feel of the soft carpet beneath me. The ceiling which I was now looking at from my position, was beginning to swirl a little, but I had made it. I had actually performed the backbend

I moved a few chairs out of the way, making sure that if I fell, I'd land on something soft, and proceeded to do the backbend. Holding my hands on the back of my thighs, I slowly began to bend backwards. If anyone had been close enough to hear, I'm sure they would have thought I was eating cereal by the sounds of snap, crackle and pop. Down, down, down I went. A bill which would allow citizens to vote on the creation of a countywide water conservation and reclamation district has been introduced into the Texas Legislature by State Rep. Barry Telford.

The bill, Number 829, would allow the voters of Red River County to decide if they want a water district to protect current water supplies and maybe create new surface water sources, says Telford, D-DeKalb. Telfor went on to express his belief that the availability of fresh water for personal, recreational and industrial uses is crucial to the economic development in the area Telford's bill was developed with the help of an ad hoc committee of Red River County citizens and officials. The committee was formed about a year ago to study the creation of a district to develop surface water supply for the county

James Vaughan Jr. of Clarksville headed the committee, and city officials from Bogata, Calrksville, Detroit, Annona and Avery, along with the commissioner's court and officials of Red River Water Supply Corporation made up the committee's membership.

According to Representative Telford the bill mandates a nine member board of direcotrs to oversee the operations of the district. The bill appoints the initial board, which contains representatives from the ad hoc committee and will call the confirmation election if the bill is approved once the two year terms of the initial board expired.

Appointed to the board were James VAughan, Jr., Edward Hausler, Alfred G. Piuckett, W.C. Covington, Gene Warthan, Harley Bridges, Don Cole and Travis Hale.

City councils in AVery, Bogata, Annona, Clarksville and Detroit and the Red River Water Supply board would appoint their members to the board of directors after the initial term expired.

Telford says the House Bill 829 will likely be introduced on House floor and referred to the Natural REsources Committee this week. Sen. Richard Anderson, D-Marshall, will likely sponsor the bill in the Senate or file companion legislation.
