

NICHOLS' WORTH

By: Nanalee Nichols

Like most folks, the weather has dictated what we did and where we went over the past few days.

Icy roads and bitter temperatures have kept lots of people inside, while others didn't have that luxury.

Now most people didn't enjoy it...but my husband, Thomas, did. He's a "winter person" and for years has been trying to get me to move into a colder climate. I won't.

But, trying to be a good sport, I have consented to taking long walks every day.

After the first few minutes of skidding around, I went back to the house.

I located the spiked pole Thomas uses to pick up paper with when the Rawlins Club has clean-up days. It works great.

But during those walks we discovered a whole new world of tracks, treasures and jewels.

To begin with, every tiny creature can be tracked. The multitude of rabbits running here and there can be followed from plant to plant sticking up out of the snow. Bird tracks are everywhere. The occasional coyote track can be found following the prints left by mice and rats.

One small blood stain and a cluster of hair told the tale of a coyote finding himself a meal.

Human tracks, too, show clearly, as we left our own trail behind.

Down upon creeks the world is a frozen citadel of ice. Trees, streams and weeds combine to provide a palette of jewel-like beauty.

Old barbed wire fences, coated in glistening ice, stately trees outlined with snow, the beauty as the winter sun sparkles off of them, creating blue shadows unseen in our ordinary brown winter world, is breathtaking.

Far from chopped up icy roads, the world is silent, the only noise the sound of boots crunching. The air has a smell unlike its usual odor. It is the ultimate in clean, fresh, scent.

Tucked away between hollows and under brush piles, tiny creatures peer out.

A handful of bread crumbs and some chopped apple yields a harvest of colorful birds to delight the heart. Brilliant against the pristine background, cardinals flash down to feed. Juncos, plain in their charcoal suits, hop everywhere. Field larks and red wing black birds strut among the smaller birds.

The whole episode has provided a rare glimpse at a world we know little about.

Inconvenient, yes, but beautiful...incredibly so.

Winter Storm Keeps Icy Grip On Area

Was it snow or was it sleet? One thing it definitely was, without a doubt, it was cold and slick.

Area residents watched last Wednesday as sleet and freezing rain fell for hours, then slowly turned to tiny ice crystals that weren't fluffy snow, weren't rounded pellets of sleet.

By Wednesday night, with the temperature in the low 20's, northeast

Texas was partially paralyzed by one of the worst winter storms in many years.

Roads were four inches deep in packed ice, while the rest of the world was coated with glittering whiteness.

Not a single school system in the area operated, giving youngsters the chance to take advantage of the rare winter wonderland.

Creek banks and hills became sledding slopes as kids used plastic barrels, cardboard boxes and plywood to go skidding down to the bottom. Getting to the top sometimes took as much sliding as going down did, however.

Snowmen were very, very scarce however, as the dry ice crystals simply refused to pack into any kind of shape. Those who persevered made tiny snow sculptures.

Adults tried to stay inside as much as possible, doing their shopping and mail gathering at the same time, and using whatever four-wheel drive

Front wheel drive, four wheel drive or chains provided the only reliable means of transportation, and accidents were not uncommon.

Ditches slowly filled with vehicles along major highways, trucks pulled over before they jack-knifed and minor "fender benders" abounded.

Throughout the rest of the week, although the weather was clean and free from any more gifts from the skies, the stubborn ice kept a firm grip.

Ranchers were busy feeding cattle, whose nutritional requirements shot up as the mercury plunged down.

By Monday morning roads that had a lot of traffic on them had cleared, but icy patches were still frequent. Tuesday's warmer temperatures helped finish off the ice and snow, but the weather forecast predicted a chance of more sleet.

YOUNGSTERS all over the area used cardboard, plastic and whatever else came to hand as improvised sleds as they took advan-

At that time, he was elected as Justice of the Peace, Precinct 3 and held that position until the office was terminated in January of 1987.

Since that time, Brown has been employed by the Talco State Bank. "I have always had an interest in our county's government, and in being a part of it, have knowledge of the operation of our county," Brown stated. Girl Scout Cookie Sales Start Saturday Area Girl Scouts will begin their annual cookie sale Saturday, January 16. Orders will be taken through January 29 and the cookies will be delivered between February 24 and March 6.

Seven varieties of cookies are again being offered this year at a cost of $2.00 per box. They include old favorites such as the original shortbread, thin mints and peanut butter sandwich, along with chocolate chip, peanut butter patties, caramel delights and lemon pastry cremes.

According to cookie sale coordinator Betsy Mills of Paris, all proceeds from the Girl Scout cookies sold in this area stay in this area. The Red River Valley Council uses the money to purchase equipment, train leaders, maintain and operate Camp Gambill, and provide scholarships for summer camp and extended travel opportunities.

Girl Scout troops keep a certain portion of the proceeds and decide themselves how to spend the money they earn. In recent years the money has been spent on service projects, field trips, campouts and other troop activities.

Girls can earn awards according to the number of boxes they sell. Each girl who participates in the sale will receive a theme patch.

If you are not contacted by a Girl Scout for your order, you may call the Neighborhood Cookie Chairman, Kay Ross at 632-4259.

High-Potassium Diet May Reduce Risk Of Stroke

A high intake of dietary potassium appears to provide protection against death from stroke, a University of California, San Diego School of Medicine study has shown.

The results indicate that one extra serving of fresh fruits or vegetables a day may decrease the risk of stroke by as much as 40 percent, regardless of other known risk factors.

This relationship between dietary potassium and stroke mortality was still strong even after the researchers accounted for other classic risk factors for stroke, including blood pressure, cigarette smoking, age, sex, blood cholesterol level and fasting blood glucose level.

Being a spoilsport could save your child's life

When your children want to listen to the radio in the bathtub, be a spoilsport and say no. You won't win a popularity contest, but you could save their lives. Water and electricity are a dangerous combination.

If your children want to climb a tree or fly a kite near power lines, don't worry about spoiling their fun by saying no.

Power lines are dangerous if anything comes into contact with them - including a tree branch or kite string.

It's yours for the asking, so send for it now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than an eighth of an ounce, and it fits completely into the ear canal.

These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Rebs, Rebelettes Win Road Game

By Stan Anderson
The Rivercrest roundball teams journeyed to New Diana last Tuesday night for a rematch against the Eagle teams. An earlier season match-up netted the Rebels and Rebelettes both victories. The Rebelettes wasted little time by thrashing the Eaglettes for 24 first half points. The Reb fems rode a balanced scoring act the second half, racking up 50 total points and an easy win over Diana, giving the Rebelettes a 2-0 sweep of the Eagle team for the 87-88 season.

Rosie Norman led the Reb charge with 18 points. Cindy Thompson followed with 12 points and Kristie Stansell added 10. Kim Clark and Tonya Hawkins chipped in four each and Rachel Smith finished with two.

The Rebel men were up next and had previously beaten the Eagles by 30 points, and appeared to be well on their way to another landslide victory in the first quarter, that saw Rivercrest pour in 22 points, including a 13 point effort by Bradley Woods. The second quarter had the Diana team pulling closer to the Rebs for a 38-33 halftime difference.

Rivercrest struggled in the third quarter, scoring only 10 points. But managed to pump 13 points in for the final quarter to squeak out a 61-60 win over the Eagles.

Bradley Woods led the scoring with 21 points, Craig Savage had 12 and David Bush had 10. Marvin Anderson added eight and Donald Combs finished with six. John Purviance and Jimmy Lewis each had two points.

Last week's ice storm delayed a pair of district games until Monday evening when both Rivercrest varsity teams traveled to Leonard for a pair of district contests. In the girls division, both teams came into the contest sporting undefeated records. The game proved to be a thriller as the two teams battled to a 7-6 difference with Leonard holding the advantage. In the second quarter, the Tigers pulled a little farther in front of the Rebelettes, taking a 24-17 lead at halftime.

The third quarter proved disastrous for the Reb team as the Tigers widened their lead to 32-17 before the Rebelettes rallied back to trail 34-26 going into the final period. Two minutes into the fourth quarter, the Rebelettes had pulled back within two points, 36-34, but a Tiger run gave the Leonard team an 11 point spurt and a 47-39 victory.

Cindy Thompson led the Reb effort with 16, followed by Rosie Norman with 12. Amy Gladden had six points, Kim Clark and Tonya Hawkins finished with three and two points respectively.

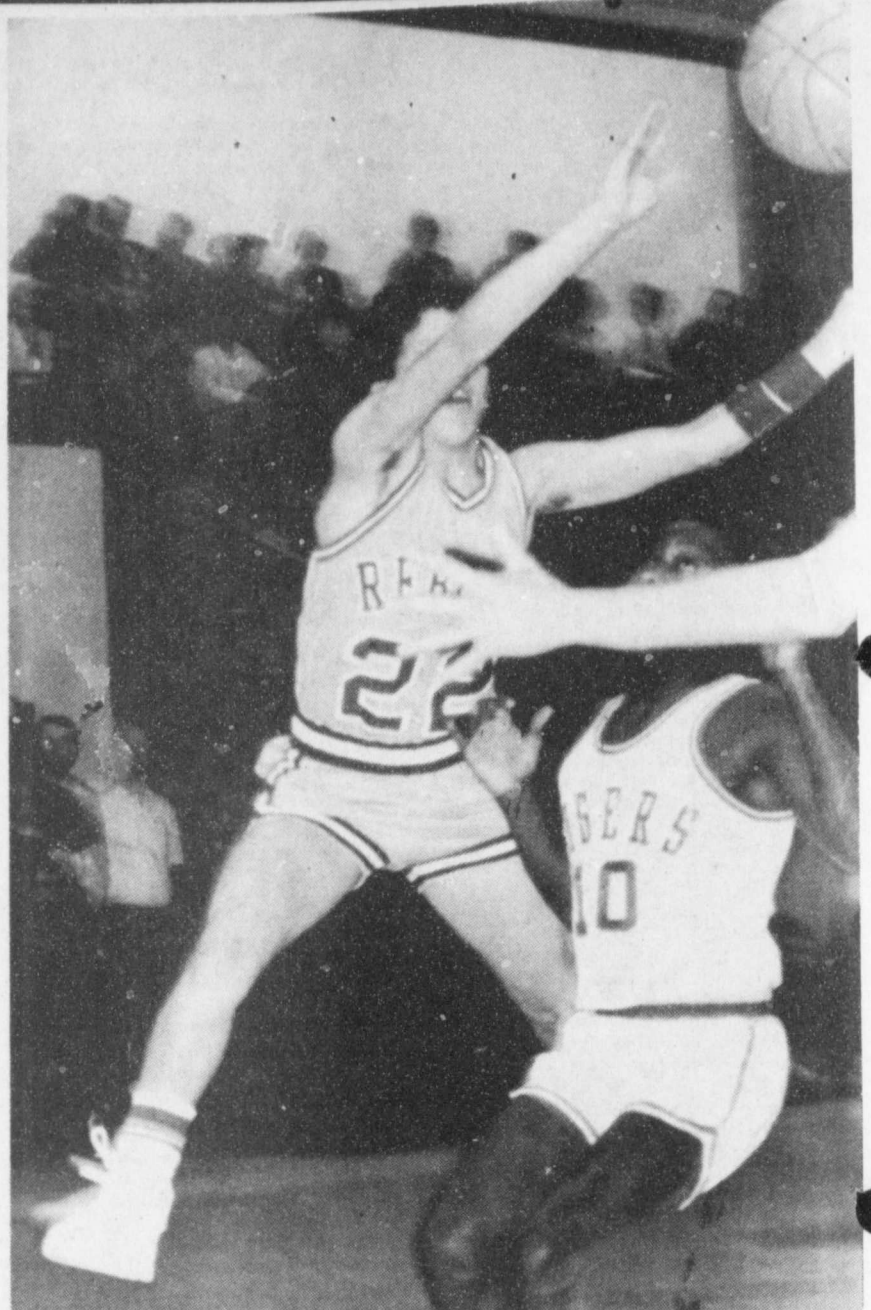

The nightcap featured the Rebel men in their first district contest of the season. The Tigers fielded a tall, heavy line-up that gave the Rebs a tough time on the boards. Rivercrest used their speed to establish an 18-14 lead at the end of the first quarter. The Rebs quickness was more than Leonard could handle in the second quarter as Rivercrest widened its lead to 33-20 at the half.

Leonard staged a good comeback effort in the third quarter, forcing the Rebs to slow down and play half-court ball. This type of offense proved to be the Rebs undoing, allowing the Tigers to use their size advantage to score easily inside and tie the game at 48 each at the end of regulation play. A Rebel foul at the buzzer gave Leonard a chance to steal a victory by making a free throw after the clock had expired. Luckily for the Rebels, both attempts fell short and the game was forced into overtime.

A pair of buckets by Bush and Savage gave the Rebels a quick 52-48 lead, but the Tigers banged the ball inside for a pair of buckets, leaving the teams deadlocked at 52. With :03 seconds remaining on the clock, Rebel forward Bradley Wood launched a 30-footer on the run and made it, giving Rivercrest a hard fought 55-52 win.

Bradley Woods led all scorers with 24 points, Craig Savage followed with 17, Marvin Anderson and David Bush finished with seven and six points and Donald Combs had one point.

This week Rivercrest hosts Honey Grove on Tuesday night and travels to Chisum on Friday evening.

DONALD COMBS, Number 22, scores two points in a close game against Leonard on Monday night. The Rivercrest Rebels won by three points, 55-52. (Staff Photo by Stan Anderson)
