Well, there is justice, truth, and some renewed faith to be found in the U.S. Government after all! Or at least in the U.S. Postal department.

Those of you who read my column several weeks ago are familiar with the problem of "The" as attached to three of our newspapers. The postal authorities had decided that we didn't have a proper authorization for "the" in front of Deport Times, Bogata News and Talco Times.

They wanted money to change it. We didn't think that made much sense, since they had been that way for 80, 79 and 55 years respectively.

Well, Jack Crane, the Bogata postmaster, sent a copy of my column and a letter to the powers that be in Washington D.C.

We sent a letter and copy of the column to the powers that be in Dallas.

Both powers have responded...and politely, helpfully and promptly!

The lady in Washington D.C. wanted to know if she could see that the "The" was left in if we would write a column saying that someone in the wheels of governmental machinery actually was listening. We said of course...and we say now...someone in the postal system DID listen.

The people in Dallas called to personally say that they had considered the matter, and were going to give us a new authorization without charging us for it. They couldn't have been nicer.

We were excited and pleased by all of this. We were also fairly amazed! Could it be that truly the government isn't so big and impersonal that they really were listening! What a wonderful thought.

Then the second incident occurred that confirmed this. We were told during the postal audit that we needed to relabel some of the papers we were sending into the state, such as Denton, Dallas, etc. We did so. Almost immediately we received a deluge of letters from people wanting to know why their papers were taking a week longer to arrive!

We called the post office in Dallas. They said it shouldn't be that way. "Uh oh" we thought, "here we go again". We packed up some of the letters and mailed them in as proof. We had some folks give them a call, and we called and read them several letters. And guess what? They called last week and said to go back to labeling things the way we had been! For the second time in a matter of weeks the post office had acted compassionately, rationally and pleasantly.

It was a matter of getting people's attention, apparently.

We want to tell them thank you, thank you, and thank you for their response to our problems.

I suppose it would be asking too much for them to reconsider that increase in postage they slapped us with? Nahhh...I'll bet I'd best be contented with the victories we have!

Connie Sloan Presents Drug Program

Mrs. Connie Sloan, Project Director of Northeast Texas Highway Safety, and an associate spent two days last week on Talco School campus presenting a drug and alcohol program to the students. Mrs. Sloan, an ex-police officer with the Texarkana Police Department, met with individual grade levels for the purpose of educating the students on the dangers of using drugs and alcohol.

She presented a program at Region VIII for teachers at the beginning of school and explained that it is not enough to teach children to "just say no". Peer pressure easily wipes out mere words. The schools and society must educate the students on exactly what drugs and alcohol do to the body.

On Tuesday morning she met with kindergarten, first grade, and then a combined second and third grades, and with the help of a television film explained on their levels how drugs and alcohol affect the brain and thus the entire body, including the emotions and vital organs. She followed up with funny books and bumper stickers. Tuesday afternoon she met with the fifth grade and described in more graphic detail and with more personal experiences the results of putting drugs and alcohol into the body. Wednesday afternoon she presented the material to the fourth grade. On Wednesday morning she met with Mr. Gable's science classes, 6-8, and shared basically the same information she had at teacher inservice. She gave many first hand experience from her work in the police department. She explained exactly how cocaine affects the nervous system by tricking it into thinking it is having a normal superpleasurable experience, how marijuana affects the nervous system and can leave permanent chromosome damage, plus a chance of irreversible brain damage and how alcohol puts the brain and then the body to sleep. She was careful to stress that drugs and alcohol have a much more serious effect on young people and teenagers because their nervous systems and bodies are not yet fully developed and any intake of these substances can disturb or destroy the normal growth pattern and developmental process. She issued a stern warning to the students to not think that they will be the exception, that these drugs affect all body systems the same way and if they take them into their bodies it is just a matter of time and chance until it gets them. It could be on the first try.

As a follow-up, Talco fourth graders are writing speeches from the viewpoint of a police officer on what to tell other fourth graders about "Crime and Drug Prevention". They are planning to write letters to Mrs. Sloan and encourage her to keep telling kids to stay away from drugs and alcohol.

Talco-Bogata Students Have Best Academic Test Scores In Area

Students of Talco-Bogata I.S.D. schools have the best academic test scores in the area, and among the best in Texas.

U.S. President George Bush has declared that American schools must improve if our country is to stay competitive. Talco-Bogata schools are one jump ahead of him, and aiming to stay that way.

In "TEAMS tests" taken by students of this year's twelfth and ninth grades, Rivercrest students scored better than students at any other school in this area, and among the very highest in Texas. TEAMS tests are "Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills" examinations to determine whether Texas schools are meeting the academic goals sought by the state legislature.

One hundred percent of this year's twelfth graders met the state's standards in mathematics and 97% met standards in language arts. This year's ninth graders also excelled: 88% met standards in mathematics, 91% met standards in reading, and 89% passed the writing tests.

Also taking TEAMS tests last spring were students then in the first, third, fifth and seventh grades at Talco and Bogata, they also excelled in all areas. The following table shows

Grade	Math	Reading	Writing
First	94	90	94
Third	100	96	98
Fifth	86	100	82
Seventh	98	96	92

Talco elementary students' performance improved by 38% over the previous year, with 92% of regular students passing. Bogata elementary students improved slightly, to 83.8%.

At all levels, the district's students outperformed those in every other school and school district in the area, even those in affluent districts with larger tax bases.

Speaking of the two high school classes tested, Rivercrest Principal Dr. James Smith said the district's performance reflected the combined efforts of students and parents, teachers and administrators. "Even in the best schools, you only get results like ours when students are motivated to succeed and are encouraged by their parents."

Superintendent Harold Cowley agrees, emphasizing the role of skilled and highly motivated faculty members. "If the faculty is excited about the effort to improve, students and parents share in the excitement," he says.

"Our community supports academics," Cowley feels. "Whoever heard of a pep rally in support of entrants in UIL competition? Last year we had one, just as enthusiastic as any sports pep rally you ever saw."

Cowley and Smith note that one Rivercrest faculty member, math teacher Larann Denison, had been selected by the state to help design the TEAMS mathematics test to be used statewide next year. "Her well-deserved selection is an honor to her and an honor to Rivercrest," says Smith.

Superintendent Cowley emphasizes that the district's results were not the result of a single burst of effort, but reflect the cumulative results of several years' work. Noting that in future years high school students will also be tested in science and social science, Cowley recognizes that competition will get tougher as schools throughout Texas strive to meet national goals.

"We are ready to compete," Cowley says. "Our faculties are strong and well-motivated. We now have good library services, first-rate science laboratories, and a wealth of learning materials."

An Editorial....

"We Have A Right To Brag A Little"

On the outskirts of Paris they have billboards praising local schools' championship sports teams of recent years. At Mt. Vernon, the praise is for UIL successes.

Perhaps on Highway 271 near Bogata and Talco, we ought to put up a billboard telling the world about local students' academic achievements, detailed elsewhere in this paper. Talco-Bogata schools are no slouches in sports or other areas of UIL competition, but their achievements on academic tests may say even more about the quality of our families and our schools, and about the future prospects of our youth.

Rebels Scare Purple Tigers

"Up the field, down the field, take the ball and score."

The cheerleaders' exhortation to the sidelines was executed without reservation by the players on the Rebel Stadium turf last week.

The result was an entertaining donnybrook in which the decidedly underdog Rivercrest Rebels fought they were playing one of the area's offensive powerhouses, the Mt. Vernon Purple Tigers. Before falling 41-21 behind two Purple Tig touchdowns in the final six minutes. The ground game of the Purple Tigers proved too potent for the outmanned Rebel defense, as the Purple Tigers garnered 408 yards overall. The Tiger tandem of Noel Dunlap and Steve Gadlin combined for more than 300 yards, while Junio Tyler Banister added another 70 yards.

But the fact that the Rivercrest rebounded in the second half, after falling behind 21-0 midway in the third period, impressed Rebel mentor Terry Giddens. "We wanted to come through this game on a positive note," said Giddens. "I am well satisfied with the performance of the Rebels, as they faced a very good Mt. Vernon squad, one which will probably win their district," he continued. "Of course, we would like to have won the contest, but the size and talent of Mt. Vernon was no match for our small squad." The coach concluded his evaluation by saying "We are on a roll now, and I am confident we are going to fare well the remainder of the year."

The adjustments made by Rebel coaching staff enabled the offense to get on track in the third period. "We began to cross our backs," said Giddens. Indeed, the Rebel backfield found gaping holes created by down linemen Jesse Woods, Chad Ingram, Kevin Binion, Russell Ward, Stacy Horton and Joey Webb.

The Rebels gained only 120 yards on the ground, but made most of that yardage in the second half. Marcus Savage ran for a total of 63 yards, while Tidwell added 55. Down 21-0, Clint Tidwell scored on a 33-yard sprint midway in the third quarter. Sophomore Josh Abshier then gave the Rebels their first extra point of the season and secured himself a new position as place kicker as he booted the first of three points-after-touchdowns for the Rebels.

With only 50 seconds elapsed in the fourth quarter, the Rebels made it interesting as they drove nearly 60 yards for a score that brought them within a touchdown of the perhaps overconfident Tigers. Quarterback

Shane Beers who continues to show improvement each week at the slot, scored from two yards out.

The Tigers responded with an eight play, 68-yard drive capped by Banister's 19-yard run. James Street added the point after, his fourth of the night to make the score 28-14 at the 6:39 mark.

The next 30 seconds of play provided plenty of excitement. On the second play, Beers found Tidwell on a short pass in the flat, which Tidwell went low to scoop. Appearing to be stopped by the swarming Tiger defense, Tidwell eluded the pursuers and found his way into the Tiger endzone to complete the Rebel scoring for the night. The play covered 67 yards. Score was now 28-21.

After the Rebel kick off, Gadlin ran a sweep around right end, good for 71 yards to rebuild the Tiger advantage to 14 points. The big play parade continued as wingback Jeremy Abshier tried to repeat his touchdown-producing kickoff return from last year's contest by going 60 yards to the Tiger 10-yard line. However, the Rebels could not capitalize on the play as Beers suffered his second interception of the night from Tiger safety Monty Holloway to end the Rebel rebellion.

Beers passed for 84 yards on only three completions. He was sacked twice.

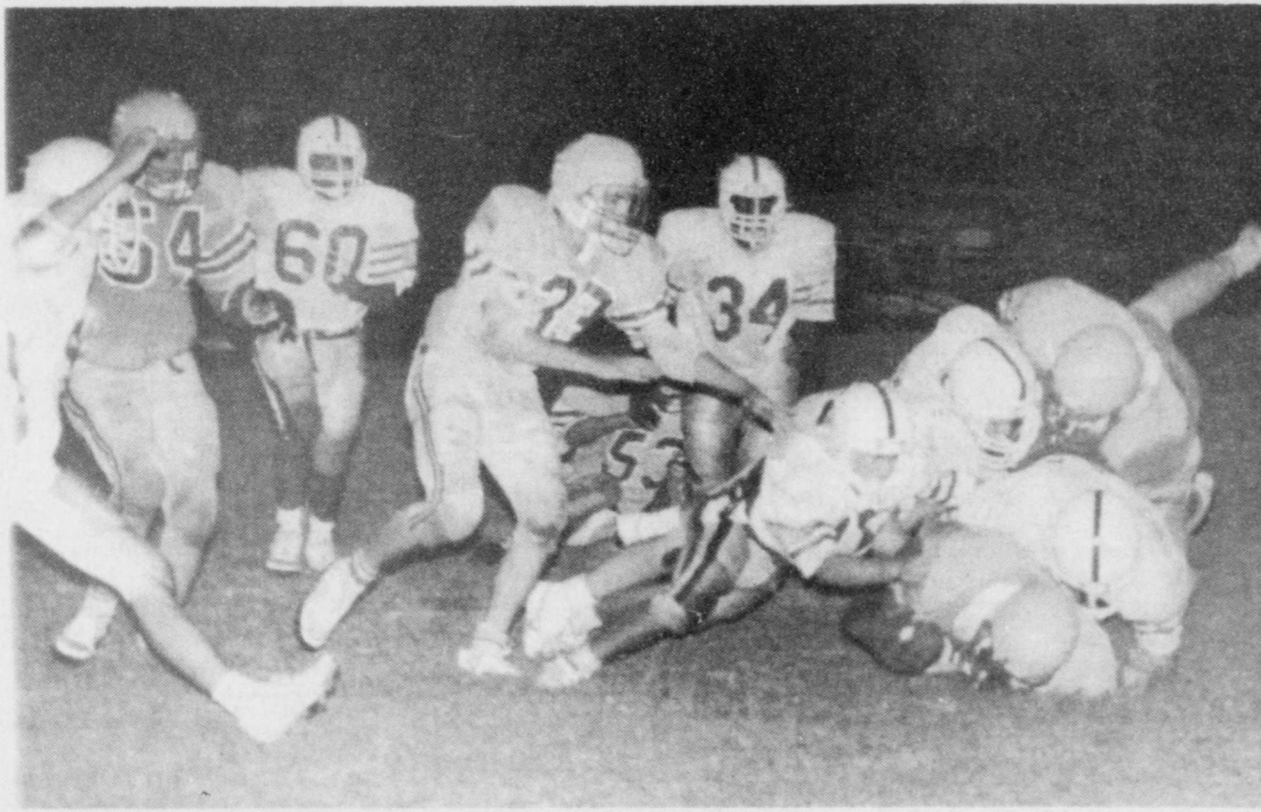

The Rebel defensive unit played an admirable game in spite of the score. Forced to play nearly the entire first half, the unit led by linemen Woods, Binion and Eric Cabell and supported by linebackers Joe Dellis and Beers and free safety Ronald Simmons, slowed the Tiger march in the second half.

"The Rebels deserve a lot of credit," commented Tiger Coach Wylie Rotten.

The Rebels will continue their homestead this week as they face the Rivercardinals in their homecoming game.

Talco Getting New Streets

A combined effort of the City of Talco and the County have provided citizens of Talco with several new streets.

Plans were for the City to furnish materials and the county would do the work of building new streets in the city.

According to City Secretary, Jone Clemmons, the street project was postponed because of weather earlier in the year.

The streets that have been replaced now will be all the streets that can be replaced this year because of the cooler temperatures.

Plans are to finish replacing the remainder of the city streets some time next year.

Junior High Rebels Lose Opener

The Junior Rebels dropped their season opener to a much larger Mt. Vernon Cub team 28-6.

Although few statistics are available, the Rebel score came as Micquial Jackson crossed the endzone on a 10-yard run. The tally was set up on a pass reception from quarterback Matthew Childress to Elliott Pogue.

The running game was fueled by tailback Rickey Beene. The Junior Rebels travel to Maud on Thursday for a 5:30 p.m. game.
