You've heard of the man without a country and the rebel without a cause. Have you heard about the woman without a place to write?

Well, that's me. I have no place to write...nothing to write on. How's that, you say? Well, let me explain.

I'm listed as the publisher and editor. Supposedly that means I'm at the "top". But the top is pretty low around our organization, and it seems everyone else has a shot at the machines before I do.

When we installed the new Mac system a year or two ago the typesetter got a terminal, and the ad layout department got a terminal. I didn't get one...we couldn't afford it.

So, I moaned a little, but kept right on pecking away on my old Smith-Corona portable. Whenever I managed to find someone away from their terminal I scooted over and set my stories on it...usually to look up and find someone glaring at me saying "I NEED my machine". Cindy in particular was always saying "Leave Timothy ALONE". (Timothy being "her" machine's name, mind you.

Which was fine until the typewriter packed it in and broke.

They can't fix it. I'm not kidding...it's been to the shop 6 times now, and they can't fix it!

But I didn't worry about it too much, because around Christmas I located a used Mac terminal and bought it.

I gloated. I crowed, I rubbed it in! At last a terminal of my own. No one to tell me they needed it. No more waiting my turn.

Finally, a machine at my beck and call. I should have known better.

Because the hard drive on that machine turned up faulty. No problem, just ship it back...it's under warranty. That is, until the shipping company lost it!

So here I am...not typewriter...it's in the shop, apparently unfixable.

No terminal...the hard drive is lost and we're waiting on "trackers".

No chance at the other terminals...everyone is as possessive as ever.

I'm reduced to the old paper and pencil method...which is slow to say the least.

No one will take pity on me...they just laugh at my slow scribbling.

Sooner or later I'm gonna get that terminal in shape...and I'll write when I want to, what I want to...and I won't have to wait on anybody!

But, for now, I remain a frustrated writer without a place, or the equipment, to write with!

April Is Fair Housing Month

Deport Mayor Charles Foster has proclaimed the month of April as Fair Housing Month.

The National Fair Housing Law of 1968, as amended, prohibits discrimination in housing and declares it a national policy to provide, within constitutional limits, for fair housing in the United States.

The principle of Fair Housing is not only national law and national policy, but a fundamental human concept and entitlement for all Americans.

The 22nd anniversary of the National Fair Housing Law, during the month of April, provides an opportunity for all Americans to recognize that complete success in the goal of equal housing opportunity can only be accomplished with the help and cooperation of all Americans.

Mayor Foster urges all citizens of this locality to become aware of and support the Fair Housing law.

Finding Fabulous Flowers

Wildflowers get thousands of Texans and tourists on the road each spring, looking for the most spectacular stands of bluebonnets, phlox, coreopsis, and many more varieties. To help in this search, the highway department's Wildflower Reporting Service started its fourth year March 12.

Weekly, workers in all 24 highway districts note stands of blooming flowers, and, via computer, share the information with other highway department offices. Wildflower seekers can call department headquarters in Austin, one of the 12 Texas travel information centers, or the nearest district office, and get directions to the best places to see flowers.

The program is one way the department tries to make driving a more pleasant experience for Texas travelers. Through vegetation management, landscaping and propagation of native plants, highway department experts cooperate with nature to prevent erosion, minimize "highway hypnosis", and keep Texas highways some of the most beautiful in the world.

Locally, call 784-4311.

Karen Hudson Receives National Recognition

The United States Achievement Academy announced today that Karen Hudson has been named a United States National Collegiate Award Winner in nursing. This award is a prestigious honor very few students can ever hope to attain. In fact, the Academy recognizes less than 10% of all American college students.
Karen, who attends Paris Junior College, was nominated for this national award by Marcia Putman, an instructor at the school. She will appear in the United States Achievement Academy Official Collegiate Yearbook, published nationally.
The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of professors, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the standards of selection set forth by the Academy. Criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation for a professor or director.

Karen is the daughter of Billie Pirtle and the late Kenneth Pirtle of Bogata. The grandparents are Ora Pirtle and the late Jim Pirtle of Jolntown and the late Sterlon and Bertha Landrum of Paris. She is married to Brad Hudson of Deport and they have two children, Brandon, age 8, and Kami, age 6.

Denny Is Finalist In Rural Electric Contest

Again this year, Rivercrest High School takes pride in announcing a finalist in the Washington, D.C. Rural Electric Youth Tour Contest. Scott Denny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eddy Denny of Bogata, wrote an essay of up to 500 words for Mrs. Barbara Russell's English IV class on the subject "A Day In My Electrical Life". His essay was selected as one of the best eight from among many that were entered by students from Paris, Avery, Detroit, Rivercrest, North Lamar, Cooper, Chisum, Prairiland, Roxton and Clarksville schools.

The final judging will be March 30 in Paris at which time Scott and the other seven finalists will speak two to four minutes on their essay before parents, teachers, Lamar Electric Cooperative personnel and three judges. In addition, each student will answer the question: "How do you think you will personally benefit from the trip to Washington, D.C.?" One boy and one girl will then be chosen to represent the area in the Government In Action Youth Tour to Washington this June.

In Case Of Robbery....

Citizens and the sheriff working together against crime have released facts concerning robberies that can be of major assistance to many persons placed in the circumstances of a robbery.

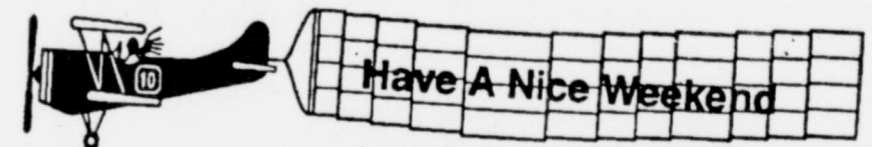

Before a hold up, fortify your business against robber attack. Instruct employees of actions to be taken in the event of a robbery. If you have an alarm system, show your employees how to use it. If practically, mark doorways at varying heights to facilitate subsequent identification of the robber. Booby trap your cash register with "bait money", bills that have been pre-recorded with serial numbers and series. The most dangerous times of day are opening and closing hours. Have one person wait across the street while the other locks the store. Tell the world that you have a good cash protection system. Signs help deter burglars and robbers. Keep the absolute minimum of working cash on hand and overnight. A first time good haul for the burglar or robber increases the likelihood that you'll be hit again. Don't let large amounts of cash accumulate in your register. There are special undercounter, quick deposit lockers in which money can be stored until you go to the bank. Use all precautions when you bank cash. Use armored car services if you can. Avoid routine. Bank during daylight hours and take different routes at different times of the day. Count cash in a private area away from the public eye. Don't hesitate to call the Sheriff when you are worried about special risks or if anyone acts suspiciously. Do not use or encourage the use of firearms. No amount of money is worth the personal safety of you or your employees. Do install a daytime alarm system that silently signals a remote monitor during a holdup. If you are operating a high risk business, consider additional deterrents such as camera surveillance equipment, time locks and bullet resistant partitions.

During a hold up, take no action that would jeopardize personnel safety or your own. Treat any firearm displayed by a robber as loaded. Activate the alarm only if you can safely do so. Attempt to alert other employees by use of pre-arranged signals. Don't be a hero, follow the robber's directions but don't volunteer more than he asks for. If the robber has written a note, place it out of sight to retain as evidence. Give the robber only that money he demands. Study the robber carefully, his race, age, height, sex; clothing, the way he walks; speech characteristics, scars or deformities; and the method of operation. Note the number of accomplices and how they escaped; direction, type and color of the car, license number. Observe the type of weapon used.

After a hold up, call the sheriff's department. Give the exact time of robber's departure. Lock all doors and ask all witnesses to remain until deputies arrive. Do not let anyone in except deputies, and medical personnel if needed. Protect the scene of the crime, touch nothing. Jot down everything you can remember about the crime and your description of robbers. Ask all witnesses to do the same. Do not discuss details of the crime with anyone until after you have given your information to deputies. Assist investigating officers in every way you can. Don't discuss details of your security system with persons other than deputies or security equipment representatives.

There is a trained Crime Prevention officer in your Sheriff's Department who can help you—call him for a security survey and recommendation for security measures on your place of business. Report any suspicious or unusual circumstances by calling the Sheriff's Department. Help the Sheriff's Department prevent crime, reduce criminal opportunity.

New Jersey Man Has Hobby That Keeps Him In Touch With The World

By Nanalee Nichols
Some time ago, we received a letter from a man by the name of John Weite, who lives in Union City, New Jersey. Mr. Weite asked us for copies of our "flags", the heading on the front page of our papers. We were happy to help him, but asked for some more information, plus a picture about his unusual hobby. This week we received a reply, and found him to be a most interesting man. Weite is a veteran of World War II Bomb Disposal Unit. He and his wife have been married for 50 years, and have one daughter and three grandchildren. He began his flag collection in 1974, while he and his wife were on vacation. While vacationing, they would pass the time buying local papers to read. He found the small-town papers to be the most interesting of all, and decided to save them. However, this soon began to take up a lot of space, so he settled on just keeping the names. Soon his friends, neighbors and relatives began to help him collect newspaper flags...he was hooked! He obtained a list of the State Association of Newspapers to get more names, and his collection now numbers upwards of 25,000!! He has written to editors and publishers for more flags...and says that they are very cooperative. He was even asked by a woman of the Bird City Times to guest-write on hobbies and has made lots of friends, some of whom he may never meet, but keeps in contact with. The books he keeps the flags in are homemade, and indexed by states, foreign and Canadian. He mounts each flag on a page with a colored border, population and any data such as birthplace, historic data, etc. He says the hobby keeps him very busy, and he also does oil painting, which he says "clutters my home and fills my hours". His wife doesn't complain about this. His hobby and picture have been published in both the U.S. and Canadian newspapers. He trades with two other collectors, one in England and one in California. His books are carefully indexed for easy reference. Mr. Weite certainly has come up with an unusual hobby, and we are grateful to him for his interest...perhaps it may stir someone else to find a different way to get to know people, to pass the time, and to expand his knowledge of the world!

UNUSUAL COLLECTION-- John Weite of Union City, NJ has a collection of newspaper "flags" (the name and information heading on papers) that numbers over 25,000. He recently added four more to his collection when he asked for, and received, those from the Blossom, Bogata, Depart and Talco papers.
