Nichols Worth

By Nanalee Nichols

Week before last my husband and I communicated for three entire days by those little notes that have sticky stuff on the top edge.

He left in the mornings early...then I would leave. We didn't manage to cross paths for lunch. We left for ball games meetings or some other function at different times. We took the evening meal wherever we could.

Finally, about eleven each night we would both tell each other "hello" for the day, and collapse for a short night's sleep.

While this isn't too uncommon for us, the thing I got to pondering on was the "sticky note" habit.

It seems that these handy little notes have revolutionized the note and memo world.

Instead of searching for tape to stick notes up with we simply left them on the kitchen door.

At work we use them in three sizes, little ones to scribble picture identification and short notes on, medium ones to put at the beginnings of articles with headlines or tag lines, and really big ones for those "notes" that come closer to approximating letters!

For years these little note pads came in any color desired as long as it was yellow.

All that has changed, however. Progress has opened up a creative horizon of sticky notes.

I have notes that have a bespectacled fox with a pencil, and a pad of "mouse ear" shaped notes from Walt Disney World.

Thomas has some with a tractor company logo on them.

They come in multiple colors, to suit any mood, any taste.

They come in spiraled shapes, neon colors, and a nearly unlimited variety of sizes. Some have silly sayings, some have flowers, others have borders.

The one thing they all have in common is that marvelous strip of stickum along one edge.

This amazing space age material will stick to metal, plastic, wood, other paper or formica so well...but will peel off leaving behind absolutely no sticky residue!

Most other offices and individuals use these handy little pieces of paper a lot too.

So, let's hear it for the sticky notes...who save tape and tempers and add a further dimension to the world of communications!

Halloween Should Be Fun, Not Frightening

Adults may frighten children more this Halloween than costumes or haunted houses.

According to a psychologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, young children have difficulty distinguishing between fantasy and reality—a fact that adults may forget.

"Adults sometimes let their imaginations run wild when putting together Halloween costumes or planning activities," said Dr. Lou Ann Mock, assistant professor of psychology at Baylor. "For example, an adult wearing a gory mask can be very frightening to a child because the mask covers the face."

If a child has existing fears and insecurities, then a frightening experience such as a visit to a haunted house can contribute to long term problems such as fear of the dark.

However, most healthy children will recover in a short period of time.

Young children often have misconceptions about reality. Parents can talk to children to help them develop ideas about what is real and can help relieve their anxiety.

Nightmares are common between the ages of 5 and 7. If a child is afraid of going to sleep, parents can ask the child what would help them not to be afraid. It may be something as simple as leaving a light on in the child's room or reading a book about fears to help the child see how other children deal with fears.

When planning Halloween activities, consider the children's ages and developmental levels and set some limits.

"Younger children will probably be satisfied with visiting a few houses at Halloween, while children older than 7 will want to do more," Mock said.

Haunted houses are popular. Parents can ensure enjoyable experiences by going through the haunted house first and then return with the child, pointing out scary scenes.

Halloween does not have to be a nightmare for parents or children, even on Elm Street.

Country Cooking

By Gerrie Bankhead

The Country Cooking Column is coming to you this week from the kitchen of Dan and Mary Barnard. They have been married for three years, attend the Deport Church of Christ and are the parents of six children; Vicki and husband Audie Neisler with two children of Maxey; David Basinger and wife Connie and their two children of Deport; Coralea and husband Russell Stidham and two children of Biardstown; Shelley Barnard of Greenville; Kanda Barnard of Sulphur Springs; and Brit and wife Amanda Barnard and one child of Blossom.

Mary has made Campbell Soup her career for the past seven years. Along with a full time job, she enjoys her grandchildren, sewing, cooking, camping, making crafts, going to garage sales, shopping for antiques, gardening, yardwork, flowers, walking, going to Race for Life, and collecting recipes. Of course, they prefer the modern day camping with all the conveniences. Mary loves to sew for her grandchildren and she enjoys making fancy holiday dresses to dress the girls up. She also sews for herself.

For the past couple of years, Mary has started and worked on putting her own cookbook together. It does and will consist of recipes from all her family members. Work on it has slowed down lately but is still a goal of hers.

Mary states the two worst things to cook if you're watching your cholesterol or dieting happens to be the two favorite things she enjoys cooking the most, breads and desserts.

Making string rag dolls, mop dolls and collecting rolling pins, irons and butter molds is a craft hobby she loves. She is always reading new craft books for ideas.

Mary loves growing flowers outside and watching the hummingbirds that have made a home on their lawn. They have even named the ones that have continued to hang around.

As shown in the picture Mary has created, her own version of cookbook with the Country Cooking recipes and that is to take a magazine (about homes and cooking, preferable) and on each page, tape the article and recipes shared. This would be very inexpensive and it is a very cute idea.

Mary's Buttermilk Pie recipe came from her sister-in-law, Judy, about 10 years ago. The Microwave Popcorn recipe came from her daughter, Vicki, about five years ago. The Corn Fritters recipe is Mary's original recipe she created last year. The Carrot Cake recipe came from a friend, JoNell Davidson, about three years ago. The Blackeyed Pea Dip is great for New Year's Eve while watching a football game. She got it from a friend at Campbell Soup and makes it every year at New Year's. The Flour Tortilla is David's favorite. She got it from a magazine about 20 years ago.

The Bubbles for Kids recipe came from Canton. She said it really works and makes it often. She got the recipe during this past summer.

Also included this week is a Tea Cake recipe from Mrs. Bonnie Dougan Johnson.

If you've enjoyed the article, request a recipe or have a recipe to share or suggest a feature, please call 652-6032 or write Rt. 1, Box 67A, Deport, TX 75435.

Rebel Sports Report

Rebels Fall To Chisum, 12-6

By Marian Green
The Rivercrest Rebels just can't seem to get it together. Last week, they met the Chisum Mustangs at home and lost another game, 12-6.

The first half for the Rebs was awful, but they came out the second half with tremendous playing energy. The Rebels won the coin toss and elected to receive but it didn't stop Chisum at all. Within the first quarter of play, the Mustangs scored but did not get the extra point. Doing the same thing in the second quarter, the Mustangs made the score 12-0. Even though the Rebels were inside the 20-yard line two times the first half, they did not succeed in scoring.

Coming out the second half after defensive adjustments were made, the game settled into a defensive contest with both teams exchanging punts throughout the second half.

With about 2:00 left, RHS scored on a screen pass to Tony Sanders. The extra point conversion was no good, and it made the score 12-6. This marked the final score for the game.

The Rivercrest JV was beaten by the Chisum JV 6-0. It was an unexpected loss considering the win over Chisum three weeks ago. And also, the Rivercrest Junior High won 20-0 against Chisum Junior High. This makes their record 4-1.

The Rivercrest varsity will travel to Leonard this Friday, October 25 for a 7:30 p.m. game. The JV and junior high games will be played at Rebel Stadium at 5:30 with the JV immediately following.

REBEL BACK Geno Sartor carried the ball for the Rivercrest Rebels against the Chisum Mustangs last Friday night at Rebel Stadium. The Rebels take on Leonard this Friday night at

FACTS ON THE TEXAS LOTTERY...
Merchandising a lottery is not an appropriate function of government. No government should have a huge bureaucracy specifically designed to encourage citizens in destructive behavior. The government should not profit from the weakness of any citizen. Lotteries are inadequate and inefficient sources of revenue that lull the citizenry into thinking real revenue problems have been met. Although a Texas lottery would raise only $460 million--less than 2 percent of state revenue--most citizens think that government could not be funded without lottery revenue. While proponents historically have claimed a lottery can divert the need for an income tax, more than 90 percent of the states with lotteries also have some type of income tax. The lottery creates a new generation of gamblers, some of whom could become compulsive gamblers. Although the state promotes lotteries as painless and voluntary, they are neither because high-pressure marketing induces citizens to engage in a gambling activity. Many of these citizens would never have gambled at the racetrack or in a casino. Because of the extraordinary amount of television advertising for the lottery to which they will be exposed, the children of today most likely will become the gamblers of tomorrow. The lottery is a regressive tax that falls unfairly on the citizens with the fewest resources. Collecting taxes by means of lotteries targets citizens with the biggest problems and the least hope. Lotteries are a tax on hope. The less hope one has, the more vulnerable a person becomes to the lottery's illusive dream of wealth. The lottery is another in a long line of threats to strong family structures. Not only are healthy family structures facing direct threats from state-generated advertising that hypes lottery gambling as a positive good, but these structures can also suffer when family funds are misdirected from needed goods and service to lottery purchases. The lottery is a bad buy, sold through deceptive marketing that competes in the marketplace with private businesses for the consumer's dollar. Lottery tickets, sold in bingo halls and convenience, grocery, drug or liquor stores, pay back 35 to 40 cents on the invested dollar. Lotteries are a scam so unfair that no private company could be allowed to run one. Texas merchants should fear the lottery because it will take away from the purchase of goods and services. Lotteries send the wrong message about success. State governments should not use their prestige, power and wealth to teach citizens the values of luck and chance as opposed to the values of hard work and planning. Lotteries challenge the biblical view of man and state. Lotteries promote a lifestyle of green, concern for self and disregard for others. They repudiate both the value of stewardship and of honest work. Sponsored by the Ministers of Bogata: Bob Bush, George Thomas, Allen Phillips and Larry Mann

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mrs. Nichols:

As predicted in my letter to you last year, the proposed foreign aid bailout of Moscow continues to develop momentum and is likely to be decided by Congress this fall. I am opposed to sending foreign aid cash to Moscow, and would like for you to know why.

At this moment, several proposals are being circulated in the Capitol and the Administration to send cash directly to the Soviets, to earmark assistance through multinational groups like the World Bank, to provide their types of foreign aid. While nobody wants to see additional human suffering in the U.S.S.R., a Marshall Plan type bailout of a failed and disintegrating communist system simply cannot be justified while so many of our own domestic needs remain unaddressed.

The proposal most likely to be debated this Fall is a plan to provide $3 billion in cash assistance to the Soviet government. Instead, Congress should take care of America first. Our priorities should put a balanced budget, fighting crime, improving health care, educating our kids, assisting farmers and creating new jobs ahead of bailing out the Soviet Union and its disassembled republics. These are my priorities for America, which I hope you share.

This fall, I intend to work hard to prevent the proposed Soviet bailout and to return America's priorities home again. It may surprise you to learn that it will be an uphill fight. The conventional wisdom in Washington is that a bailout will occur, the only question being which account the money will come from and how much money we will send to Moscow.

Well, I have bucked the conventional wisdom before and won. I plan on opposing the conventional wisdom of a Soviet bailout and, with your support, we will prevail. Sincerely,
Jim Chapman
Member of Congress

American Viewpoints

More than an end to war, we want an end to the beginnings of all wars.
Franklin Delano Roosevelt

"Thank A Veteran", Gramm Urges

U.S. Senator Phil Gramm is urging all Americans to "thank a veteran" on Veterans Day, November 11, for the service that millions of veterans have rendered to America.

"On Veterans Day, we honor the brave men and women who have answered the nation's call, who have gone all over the world to defend our freedom," Gramm said.

"I hope you will join me in remembering the 600,000 Americans who died for our freedom in this century and to join me in thanking the tens of millions who have served," he said.

"Like all of us, they had their individual lives which they left to stand up for America. They left their families, their schools, their jobs and went far away and served with distinction. Many faced combat and they fought with courage and pride."

"From Operation Desert Storm to the Revolutionary War, millions of Americans put on the uniform of our nation and pledged their lives to the ideal that is America," Gramm noted.

The senator said that "all of us can remember and honor those who have served and all of us can commit ourselves to the highest ideals for which they fought by working to make America the greatest country in the world."

for saving energy

Insulation can be one of the best investments you make in a home. Adding proper levels of insulation to either a new or existing home will pay you back in continuing, long-run energy savings throughout the year.

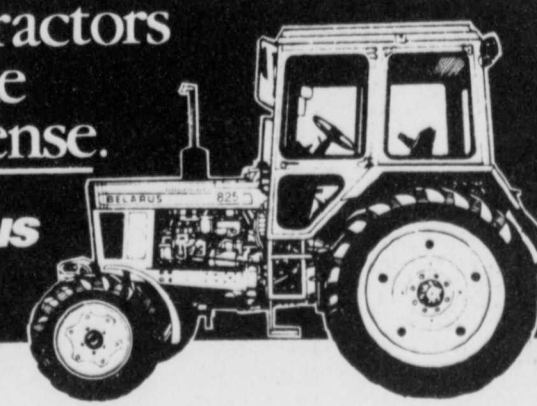

To learn more about insulation and saving energy, call or visit the neighbors at your local TNP office and ask for the free booklet, "Energy Management Guide."

Kenneth Koscuba, district manager in Texas-New Mexico Power Company's Friendswood, Texas, office, can help customers with their energy questions. Employees in all of the communities TNP serves are a good source of advice for using energy wisely.

Kay Brooks has been a lifetime resident of Bogata. It's something that she has no plans of changing. Over the years Kay has been a supportive member of the town and hasn't stopped yet. For the last two years, Kay has held the position of Assistant Vice President and Branch Manager of the Peoples National Bank in Bogata. She has worked in the banking field for 17 years. Working with the people, is what has kept Kay loving her job. The main goal of her job is to keep the hometown bank open for the people because she believes that the bank is the backbone of the town. Many changes have taken place in the banking profession. Kay believes the hardest change for people to adjust to is the delays that the paperwork causes when someone needs to make a loan. Kay and her husband, John, have been married for twenty-three years. Together they have two daughters, Kristi and Marla. Being a full-time worker has never been a problem for Kay in raising her children. Luckily her mother helped. The quality not the quantity of time spent with children is Kay's philosophy of raising children and working. Camping and fishing are her two favorite things Kay enjoys escaping the rat race. She loves the outdoors and working with teenagers. Currently, Kay is the Cuthand Methodist Church youth director and the treasurer for Rivercrest Booster Club. It's nice to know that someone like Kay is standing behind the community with good intentions.
