Children have strength we can only imagine!

We shelter our children. We don't want to see them sad, or see them suffer, which is a natural instinct. But I believe that they have strengths we can't even begin to understand.

A year and a half ago one of my nieces and her husband adopted a little boy, Chase. What he went through in his first three or four years was pretty tough. But he a loving, open and friendly little boy, ready with a smile and hug for the whole world.

My dad died last Thursday after a long, courageous battle against cancer.

Over the past two years, as he weakened and slowly became less and less mobile, one of his greatest joys was a visit from his great-grandchildren. His face would light up when Jeffrey, Elliott, Bryce or Raquel came in the door. When Chase joined our family, he also became a joy to "Old Paw Paw". Chase would sit with him and eat cashew nuts and chatter about any and everything.

When dad became bed fast, and was too weak to speak or drink anymore, we knew the end was near. He wanted to die at home, and we made sure he got that wish.

My niece, Christy, talked it over with me and decided she would bring Chase to see Old Paw Paw because too many people have just vanished from his life. We decided that he needed to understand that Old Paw Paw was sick, and would die, but wasn't just "vanishing".

Chase came in and hopped up beside dad. How dad's face lit up! Too weak to speak at all, still he managed a big smile. Chase took his beloved Old Paw Paw's cool, emaciated hand in his chubby, warm little one and began to stroke it with a look of great compassion. And, while the rest of us watched with tears in our eyes, dad drifted off to sleep, still smiling. Chase looked up at me with his five-year-old face as peaceful as a cherub's, and said "He's smilin' at me". Almost choking, I told him it was because he had made Old Paw Paw feel better.

"I'm glad" he said serenely, "because I love Old Paw Paw".

He sat there for a long time, holding his great-grandfather's hand.

When he left he was not disturbed at seeing someone so very ill, or so thin and pale. There was no "trauma". Instead, when dad died, he accepted the fact, knowing that he was too sick to get better and that he was now all right and in a better place.

And, he made my father's last hours so much better.

Children are tougher than we think, but also in many ways they are more adaptable and accepting than adults. Their faith has a strength I can only wish I had.

It was a good decision to bring him to see dad. It helped my dad and it helped Chase to understand something that is a part of life...death.

As for Chase, he says that Old Paw Paw is sitting in his chair, all well now, and God is feeding him cashews. How's that for an image?

Beaten woman's body discovered near Sulphur River

Gregory Dale Belcher of Talco, age 33, has been charged with murder in the beating death of 25 year old Sandra Lynn Williams, whose body was found on NW 39 near the Sulphur River at 9:50 a.m. Sunday morning, August 3rd, according to Titus County Sheriff Rickey Poole.

Belcher is currently being held in the Titus County Jail on a $250,000 bond, Poole reports. Belcher was arrested sometime Sunday evening by Titus County Sheriff's Department investigators, on a warrant issued by Pct. 1 Justice of the Peace Eva Laing Walker's office, according to Poole.

Reports indicate that her body was discovered by a boy riding his four wheeler. Sheriff Poole says that she apparently died from "blunt force trauma" and that sheriff's investigators are still trying to determine a motive for the killing.

Sheriff Poole reports that her body was sent to a forensics lab in Dallas for further investigation, and that "we'll know a lot more when that comes back".

The couple were married in January, reports indicate.

Crowston participates in Operation Sail 200

Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Steve Crowston, son of Rita N. and Billy W. Crowston Sr. of Talco, recently participated in "Operation Sail 200", the bicentennial celebration for the USS Constitution, or "Old Ironsides", the world's oldest commissioned warship afloat.

Crowston's ship, the guided missile destroyer USS Ramage, home ported in Portsmouth, VA, sailed in formation with the guided missile frigate USS Halyburton, home ported in Portsmouth, VA, and the USS Constitution.

USS Constitution, a national monument at Charleston Navy Yard in Boston, recently completed a four year overhaul to restore her to original hull strength. In-depth structural tests and evaluations of the ship and a lengthy crew training program prepared the ship for its first sea voyage since 1881, and sailed with the same six-sail configuration that she normally used for battle.

The operation highlighted the direct correlation of today's Navy and Marine Corps Team, the importance of forward presence, advanced technology, core values and the dedication and professionalism of our sailors and marines with the rich maritime history of the United States.

The 1992 graduate of Mt. Vernon High School, joined the Navy in June, 1996.

Man dies from fall from car

Anthony Neal Braudaway, age 24, fell from the top of a car and died in the early morning hours Sunday, August 3rd. Reports indicate that Braudaway and another man were apparently on the roof of a car being driven down a county road near the Post Oak Community near Blossom.

He was pronounced dead at McCouston Regional Medical Center at 3:00 a.m. Sunday by Justice of the Peace David Merritt, who said the incident was the result of "horseplay".

Vandals leave trail in Bogata

In the wee hours of the morning, Thursday, July 31, a group of vandals literally left a trail of destruction behind them in Bogata.

They first went to the City Shop behind City Hall where, according to City Secretary, Anita Couch, they broke a door glass in order to get inside. They stole a large, dry chemical, sulphur based fire extinguisher, a pipe cutting tool valued at over $800.00, a metal detector and a canteen. The canteen was later found behind Buckman Drug. They had recently stolen a fire extinguisher from a City of Bogata backhoe. This caused them to have two fire extinguishers.

They took the fire extinguishers to Bogata Post Office where they activated one of them causing the contents to go all over the walls, the fronts of the mailboxes and even some of the fumes went inside the inner area of the Post Office. Bogata Volunteer Fire Department was called out to the Post Office where they attempted to maintain hazardous chemical control.

After leaving the Post Office the vandals went to Bogata Elementary School where they broke a window in the cafeteria, stole more fire extinguishers and totally covered the inside of the Elementary building with the contents of the extinguishers. They filled computers, copy machines, etc. with the sticky white foam. They also left fingerprints and footprints in the mess.

It took hours to clean the Post Office according to Postmaster, Danny Efav. Bogata School Principal, Bill Mabry, said that the school is still not clean and he doesn't know what can be salvaged. A total damage cost cannot be figured until the cleaning is complete, since most of the damage cost will be the man hours required to remove the chemicals from the school.

After they did their dirty work the vandals put the empty fire extinguishers up on top of the school building. The Red River County Sheriff's Department is investigating the crime.

I'll bet you thought hot peppers were all grown in Texas, with maybe just a few from down Mexico way! Nada! This week's recipes are a little off the wall for this part of the country, but they come from Jamaica, Cuba, Nigeria, Louisiana, Indochina and other parts of the "good ol' USA. This week's column is a fun column dedicated to the much maligned chili peppers.

There are hundreds of varieties of these little succulent hot morsels. There is even magazines dedicated to them. They feature recipes, all different types of seasonings using peppers. They come in powdered, dehydrated, crushed and any other form you can imagine. Chili peppers are used to season sourdough pretzels, pepper jelly, candy, XXX Hot Sauce, Fruit Hot Sauce, many types of condiments, chips and many, many more. They even have chili pepper ice cream. Not sweet either. It has the taste of the red candy Cherry Bombs that you buy in the store. Imagine eating a bowl of that for a late night snack! They even have a website.

These recipes are only for the pepper lovers and are not to be taken lightly. Latest hint for a "pepper mouth" (is caused after consuming hot peppers) is to place salt on the spot that burns the most. Jalapeno Potato Cakes is an appetizer recipe to start your meal off dipped in Grilled Green-Onion Sour Cream. This is only a medium "hot" dish on the Heat Scale.

Akara Yoruba Bean or Black-Eyed Pea Cakes can be eaten as a snack food or while drinking your favorite beverage. Serve with Ata and Ata dindin (This is an Yoruba name for red pepper). Rated "mild" on the Heat Scale.

Gator Chili is a mixture of black, white and red beans, using alligator meat (you may substitute pork). Flavored with several types of peppers and ranges "hot" on the Heat Scale.

Rougail Tomatoes South Sea Salsa is one of those "ZING" recipes that I always talk about. This hot salsa is the standard accompaniment to Indian Ocean Creole dishes. Can also be seasoned with coriander, ginger or parsley.

Moqueca Cilantro Saffron Seafood is a Cuban dish with a mixture of seafood delights. Can be served over pasta or rice. Heat Scale is "hot".

Wild Turkey Sausage Bread is a turkey hunter's dream. Can be served as an appetizer or serve with breakfast. Delicious when served hot. Heat Scale-"medium to hot" depending on how many peppers used.

Bye for now and we will see you in the kitchen!

Top with remaining half of dough and cook at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Yield 20 servings.

London, still big and busy and expensive!

By Nanalee Nichols
 This is the last of our vacation stories, we hope readers enjoyed them.
 One of the things I forgot to describe last week in my article was York and it's famous minster. York is a bustling city, but there are sections that look as if little ladies in mob caps and aprons should be cleaning the streets. Narrow cobbled stone, old buildings, neat shops make it a tourist delight.
 The soaring spires of the minster are truly awesome, but it is the inside of the cross shaped building that causes the heart to soar upward. I have never seen pale carved stone pillars leap to the ceiling with such effortless grace. Arches and memorials, incredible wood and stone carvings make it a house of worship to remember.

In our previous visits to London we had never gone to the world-famous Harrod's Department store. Phil dropped us off there, and we entered into another world.
 First, the food courts of Harrod's are unbelievable. Wild game, every imaginable type of seafood, every type of pre-prepared food in bewildering variety, every kind of coffee, tea, sweet or anything anyone has ever thought of is on display in the food court. Green aproned, straw boatered attendants are everywhere to assist customers with this costly but tantalizing business.
 There is a joke about the American who approached the Harrod's delicatessen counter and asked for an elephant sandwich. The attendant said "Pardon me sir, but I need to check". He returned and said that he was very sorry, but he could not fix the man his elephant sandwich today.
 "Ah HA," the American said, "I KNEW Harrod's didn't actually have everything...I knew you wouldn't have elephant!"
 "Oh, no sir, it isn't the elephant that is the problem" the attendant coolly replied. "They ran out of fresh baked bread about five minutes ago".
 After seeing this incredible display, I can almost believe they would have elephant sandwiches!

London, a city of cities, one not to be missed. That's what I kept telling my cousin Medora. She doesn't like cities, not that I do much either, but London is exciting, huge, old and filled with so much incredible history that I can't help but like it.
 Phil, intrepid as ever, took us in to London that morning. What a driver! He made the frustrating and chaotic traffic of this city seem quite manageable.
 We did the drive around tour of Number 10 Downing street, where the prime minister change over was taking place, past the changing of the guard, Picadilly Circus, Marble Arch, the Thames river and it's accompanying historic sites such as Tower Bridge.

What an assortment of things to shop for! Furniture, housewares, kitchen wares, exotic makeups and perfumes, the Egyptian court, clothing, the list of what is available goes on and on and one.
 During this time we went in search of the restroom. Imagine our show at the sign that there was a one pound charge at the restroom door! That's $1.62 per person just to enter. I was all for waiting, and would have had the attendant not noticed my cane and said "we waive the charge for the handicapped". Medora slid right on in with me, solicitously holding my elbow to support me! I use the cane only on bad days, and didn't feel quite right about it...but then I don't think it's right to have that steep of a charge, either!
 Inside was like some fabulous mansion, silk and tapestry, brocades and maids, fresh cut flowers, quite nice so perhaps the fee was for the ambiance!
 It is said that everything in Harrod's is 20% higher than the same thing can be bought elsewhere...so the only things we purchased were small and on the sale racks!
 Having gotten there early we enjoyed ourselves for about an hour, but in another hour the crowds were coming in and it was soon too constricted to be fun anymore.
 We left for a ride around London again, then insisted that Medora had to go to the Tower of London. I tried to convince her that no visit was complete and she couldn't be a proper world traveler without a visit there to see the crown jewels. Dubiously, she went off with Thomas, my knees not being up to the lines and waiting I knew was in store for her.

Harvest Aid Speeds Cotton Harvest
 With so much profit riding on cotton grades, quality becomes a critical factor. Planning harvest timing to maximize cotton quality and yield is essential. Using a harvest aid program speeds harvest and helps maintain crop quality. Harvesting early can improve yield potential, by avoiding regrowth caused by late season rains.
 Most growers in our area have their own harvest aid tankmix recipe. No matter what you use for a harvest aid program, be sure to include CYCLONE® harvest aid in the program for faster, more effective defoliation and desiccation.
 Cyclone offers the most effective and efficient harvest aid results of any product available. Adding it to any defoliation tankmix stretches your harvest aid dollars. Plus, Cyclone's flexibility will allow a whole crowd of tankmix partners. Cyclone fits any harvest aid program.
 A harvest aid program that includes Cyclone:
 • produces cleaner, higher quality cotton
 • works quickly and is rainfast in only minutes
 • provides good, fast, effective results, even in cool weather
 • offers the lowest cost-per-acre of any burndown on the market.
 Cyclone is very predictable. Even in cool weather, count on Cyclone to do its job in only four to seven days.
 For best results when using Cyclone, carefully time harvest aid applications. Crop maturity remains the most important factor in determining harvest aid applications. Otherwise, proper development of immature bolls may be inhibited. A managed approach to harvest using Cyclone will open mature bolls, desiccate weeds, get higher grades and avoid the chance of stained cotton.
 Growing high quality cotton is a yearlong job and Cyclone offers ways to help you see it through. Cyclone puts you in control of cotton harvest.

High-pressure oxygen has medicinal benefits

COLLEGE STATION — Breathing high-pressure oxygen may provide relief from the often-crippling symptoms of chronic Lyme disease and post-polio syndrome, medical researchers say.

Two weeks of treatment with hyperbaric, or high-pressure, oxygen appears to provide relief — apparently often permanent — from the symptoms of chronic Lyme disease, researchers in Texas A&M University's Hyperbaric Laboratory told a meeting of the Southwest and Rocky Mountain Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science in College Station.

Similar treatment with high pressure oxygen appears to stave off muscle weakness, pain and stiffness associated with post-polio syndrome, a sometimes-crippling legacy of polio epidemics that swept the United States in the 1940s and 1950s, another Texas A&M hyperbaric researcher told the conference.

Student-researcher Alan T. Flanigan said a continuing study of people suffering from chronic Lyme disease suggests that hour-long doses of hyperbaric oxygen administered daily for two weeks relieve the joint pain, neurologic symptoms and other complications of the tick-borne disease in most cases. Flanigan stopped short of claiming that the oxygen treatment cures Lyme disease, however.

The treatment relieves the symptoms of the disease, Flanigan said. He said the researchers suspect the oxygen may kill the Borrelia burgdorferi bacterium that causes Lyme disease, but current laboratory tests can't tell the difference between live bacteria and antibodies to those bacteria produced by the immune system.

The Allen children Mary Ellen, Charles Tanner, Barbara and Charlotte

Mysterious Ways

by Mary Jane Lowry

God does work in mysterious way His wonders to perform!

IN the past few weeks a group of people have seen a miracle take place and it is being such a joy and causing such excitement-and it is a little puzzling too!

Eleanor McClure works at the Red River County library on Wednesdays, and a few weeks ago she called Margie Myers and told her that some one had sent a box of vintage scrapbooks and picture albums to the library in the hope that someone could help find the owner. They had been found by Catherine Lair of Denton. Eleanor looked through the scrapbook and found a letter I had written to Charlotte Allen while I was in Austin visiting when I was twelve years old. Eleanor asked margie if we would go to Clarksville and see if we could come up with something. When I opened the first picture album and saw all those pictures of one of my favorite families from the past, (Charlotte and I were such good friends), well, of course, I just cried right there. The Allen family consisted of Martha and Charlie and four children, Mary Ellen, Charles Tanner, Charlotte and Barbara. Charles Tanner was a World War II casualty. One of his little readers was in the box, along with Barbara's Bible. Also her high school scrapbooks after they moved to Dallas about 1942. There were snapshots of Mary Ellen and Charles Tanner with Charlotte and me when we were babies and two pictures of Martha when she was just a girl. One of the scrapbooks, probably Charlotte's, was full of little scraps of dresses. Oh, it was such a treasure chest of goodies, all in mint condition.

Margie and I came back to Blossom and started trying to locate somebody. I called Joy (Pike) King and she didn't know where any of Charlotte's children were and nothing about Barbara. Mary Ellen died a good many years ago and Charlotte died three years ago. This left only Barbara and I though I was stumped because I had not seen nor heard from her since they left Bogata. God somehow in the excitement brought Amanda Allen to mind. Her husband, Gordon, was Mr. Charlie's brother. We called Jimmie Lou Pope and she gave us Amanda's telephone number and I called her with much prayer. Praise be, she had Barbara's address. I called information and got her telephone number in Fairfax, VA. It was so late by then I waited until morning to dial her and just blew her out of the water with the news. She could not imagine how the things had been left behind and could hardly wait to see them. I went by the library in a few days and boxed up everything and mailed them to her.

The Allen's, at one time, printed the Bogata News and later Mr. Charlie had a little grocery store on the east side of main street. Remember how Mr. "T" on television years ago used to say, "I love it when a plan all comes together"? Well, God had to plan this for that box to have survived rain, mice and termites all these years, and for someone like Mrs. Lair to get it somewhere it could be sent to someone who will love and cherish these precious keepsakes and pass them on to her children.

The whole thing has blessed my heart with such fond memories of time spent with this special family. People always laughed about the fact that they thought Mama and Martha were carrying each others babies around-Martha was a fiery redhead and so was I, and Charlotte was dark haired like Mama.

A special thanks to Mrs. Lair for her thoughtfulness.

HOSPITAL HAS NEW TELEPHONE SYSTEM!!!

E.T.M.C.-Clarksville is pleased to announce the installation of our new telephone system. You will now be able to call all patient rooms, and all departments of the hospital, by direct-dial.

Our main number will remain the same, 427-3851.

However, if you know your patient's room, you may now dial: 427-65--(room number), and your call will go straight in to their room, without having to go through the PBX Operator.

For example, if you want to call a patient in Room #311:

Dial: 427-6511. If their phone does not answer within 6 rings, your call will then be re-directed to the Operator, for assistance.

We believe this new system will prove to be very helpful in your day to day communications with ETMC-Clarksville, as it should prevent you from having to encounter a busy signal when you call the hospital.

We are continually striving to update every area of patient care, in an effort to improve treatment and satisfaction, and hope that the new telephone system will be just one of the many areas of improvement that you will notice as you visit the ETMC-Clarksville facility.

Texas-New Mexico Power
 renews effort to bring choice of electric suppliers to Texas customers

Texas-New Mexico Power Company forged ahead today with its voluntary plan to bring choice to its Texas customers by filing a transition-to-competition plan with the Public Utility Commissioner of Texas.

"We're moving our plan forward now because we want our customers to realize price reductions immediately, as opposed to waiting on them being part of a legislative mandate in a few years," said TNMP Senior Vice President and Chief Customer Officer Jack Chambers.

TNMP has been consistent in its belief that the time is right to begin the process of bringing the benefits of retail electric competition to its customers. Today's filing has the benefit of the input received in the company's original filing for retail competition with the PUC, as well as from its participation in the recent negotiations for the proposed electric competition legislation, its successful New Mexico competition plan and experiences of other states.

Because the plan blends components from the 1997 Texas Legislative plan, TNMP's earlier proposal in Texas, the company's successful plan in New Mexico, and plans approved in other states, Chambers said he hopes the PUC responds favorably. "With the PUC's approval, our Texas customers would begin to see the advantages of the transition to competition much like those being realized by our New Mexico customers," he said.

TNMP's transition plan filing includes the following elements: A series of rate reductions during a transition period for residential and commercial and municipal customers. Overall, residential customers will realize about a 2-percent reduction rate on Jan. 1, 1988, 2002 and 2002, for a total of approximately six percent in base rates. Commercial customers will see a one percent reduction effective on the same dates, totaling approximately 3 percent in base rates. No reduction in industrial rates is proposed.

A five year transition period from Jan. 1, 1998 through Dec. 31, 2002. At the end of the transition, TNMP's Texas customers would have a choice of energy suppliers.

A redesigned rate structure to provide greater overall equity.

Offsetting of stranded costs through an earnings cap and accelerated depreciation of TNMP's lignite-fueled power plant.

Customer choice rather than community choice.

Simplification of other factors involving the rate structure.

A customer transition charge at the end of the transition period for any remaining stranded costs.

"With the advent of competition in the electric utility industry, the old model of a traditional rate case no longer has a role in today's market environment," said Chambers. "Competition in Texas is inevitable-it's just a matter of timing. We're making the timing work to our customers' advantage with today's filing."

In addition to the transition-plan filing, TNMP also responded today to a request for a rate filing for a review of rates by eight of the 76 Texas cities the company serves. These cities have 185 days to evaluate the rate-review filing.

Texas-New Mexico Power Company provides community-based electric service to 85 cities and more than 220,000 customers in Texas and New Mexico. It is a wholly owned subsidiary of TNP Enterprises, Inc.

1997 Property Tax Rates in City of Bogata

This notice concerns 1997 property tax rates for City of Bogata. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 85,558
Last year's debt taxes	$ 0
Last year's total taxes	$ 85,558
Last year's tax base	$ 18,282,200
Last year's total tax rate	$.46799 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 85,124
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 18,203,660
= This year's effective tax rate	$.46762 /$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$.48164 /$100
This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 85,124
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 18,203,660
= This year's effective operating rate	$.46762 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$.50502 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ 0 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$.50502 /$100

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

McConnell family holds reunion at center

The family of the late Annie and Will McConnell gathered Saturday, August 2, 1997 at the Community Center in Thomas Park for their annual reunion. Annie Waddell was born in North Carolina in 1884 and traveled to Texas with her parents, J.C. and Sarah Jane Waddell, when she was six weeks old. Will McConnell was born in 1876 in Ladonia and married Annie Waddell in 1900 in Red River County where they raised eleven children: Iva McConnell Williams, Clabe McConnell, Edmond McConnell, Lillie McConnell Harville, Gracie McConnell Bankston, Maggie McConnell Taylor, Vernon McConnell Moore, Nady McConnell Reid, Austin McConnell and Sam McConnell. Six of the eleven children survive and live in within a few miles of the home place. Also attending were descendants of the late Jim Butler and Lena McConnell Butler, a sister of Will McConnell.

Vernon McConnell of Talco offered the blessing before the covered dish lunch was enjoyed by approximately 100 people. Displayed in the Community Center were many old family photos and documents that family members shared. Most of these items had not been seen in years. A family history program followed the noon meal.

Though many people have researched the genealogy project, Eva Privett Blaylock was one of the first to document the stories from Privett, McConnell, Waddell and Horne family lines. Evelyn McConnell, wife of the late Austin McConnell of Kilgore, carried on the work until her death when daughters, Marty McConnell Reeves and Cammie McConnell Rounsaval assumed the task. George and Ruth Alspaugh and Wanza McConnell Person rekindled the family's interest with their many hours in libraries and archives across the country and their work continues.

For the 1997 program, Rick Baird of Cuthand discussed his efforts through the Sons of the Confederacy to obtain the marker for the Oklahoma grave of Lee Privett, the maternal grandfather of Will McConnell. The headstone was displayed and interested family members plan a trip to Oklahoma in the late fall to set and dedicate the marker.

As with many Southern families, old stories have hinted that Frank and Jesse James were "kin" and their genealogy was discussed by George Alspaugh, husband of Ruth Butler Alspaugh. The James name is prominent in two generations of the McConnell's history. George and Ruth's work concentrates primarily on the McConnell and Butler lines.

Wanza McConnell Person of Ft. Worth, daughter of the late Clabe McConnell and Berniece Parker McConnell, currently of Bentonina, Mississippi has studied genealogy for several years and has contributed greatly to preserving this family's history. On display were several hundred documents and photos she has obtained. She used a large wall map to explain the emigration routes used by the different families as they moved west to Texas from Virginia, North Carolina, Illinois and Missouri.

The final speaker, Melanie McConnell Klein of Whitehouse, mentioned the children's story "Stone Soup" as a reminder that little bits of information from everyone combine to make a rich family history. She also read excerpts from the 1869 Emigrants' Guide to Texas and discussed the life of her paternal great grandmother, Sarah Jane Horne Waddell who homesteaded land that is now owned by Sammie and Sam McConnell.

The afternoon was spent visiting and remembering old times. The reunion will be held the fourth

Attending were: Gloria McConnell Kirk, of Bentonina, Ms. Wanza McConnell Person of Ft. Worth, Bobby Jo and Robert McConnell and Edy, Vicksburg, Mississippi, Jeanne and Billy McConnell, Jay McConnell, Kevin McConnell and Will of Yazoo City, Ms., Ruth and George Alspaugh of Columbia, Tn. IN MEMORY
Martha Michelle Glass June 6, 1973-August 5, 1977
Twenty years ago - God selected one of the most precious little girls to come to heaven. It was a great tragedy for our family and friends. There's never a day goes by that you're not in our thoughts. Memories are beautiful.
We know your are happy and perfect. Someday we will be in heaven with you -
*In the golden streets of Heaven
As the happy children play,
Gentle Jesus watches o'er them.
Caring for them day by day.
Our little one is happy
In the sweetness of his love.*
We love you,
Your family
