Body Found In Pasture Is Identified Here

The decomposed body of a man found Sunday afternoon in a pasture just above the Tule Canyon rim northwest of Silverton has been identified as that of a Pampa man who had been missing since January 21.

A billfold found on the body, which was lying face down in a clump of high grass in the pasture, contained the name of Manuel Parras Davila, 31, of Pampa. It also contained family pictures and the name of his wife. There was no money in the billfold.

The family is satisfied with the identification and has proceeded with funeral arrangements, although formal identification cannot be made until a fingerprint check is made at the Texas Department of Public Safety laboratories.

Cause of death has not been determined, Briscoe County Justice of the Peace Barbara Pigg said, and a verdict is being withheld pending submission of results of an autopsy being performed in Amarillo.

Davila had been in Silverton on January 21 visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Davila. He was last seen at 8:30 p.m. on that date when he left Silverton reportedly to take two Mexican nationals to the bus station in Amarillo.

On January 23, Davila's wife reported him missing, and since then officers of the Briscoe County Sheriff's Department and the Texas Rangers have conducted a search, including several helicopter flights to survey the area.

Davila's car, a 1966 Thunderbird, has not been found, Mrs. Pigg said.

Briscoe County Sheriff J. L. Williams was out of town when the body was found about 5:30 p.m. Sunday by two couples, one of them residents of the Littlefield ranch and the other from Amarillo, who were looking for cattle in the pasture.

The property is located 12.5 miles northwest of Silverton, at a spot about three miles from Highway 207. The scene is 2.5 miles northeast of Lake Mackenzie, officers said.

Texas Ranger Jim Mull described the place as several miles from an old ranch house, which is not occupied and was vacant at the time of the disappearance.

Besides Mull and Mrs. Pigg, officers who visited the scene included Texas Ranger John Dendy of Canyon and Briscoe County Deputies Don Fugett of Silverton and Johnnie Butler of Quitaque.

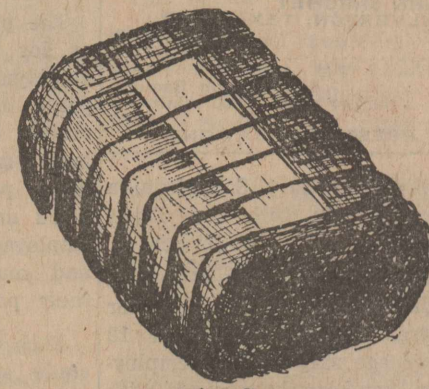

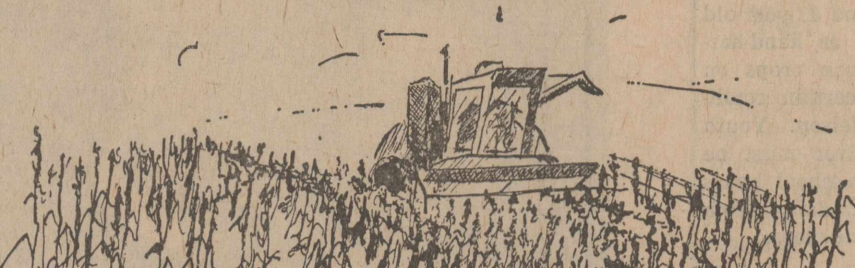

Some of the worst weather of a bad winter occurred after Davila's disappearance. Officers said the man was wearing work clothes and a sweater, but they will be unable to determine whether exposure contributed to his death until results of the autopsy are available.

Services for Davila will be conducted at 4:00 p.m. Thursday in Silverton.

Services will be conducted at Our Lady of Loreto Catholic Church with Father David Greka officiating. Burial will be in the Silverton Cemetery, with arrangements under the direction of the Moore-Rose Silverton Funeral Home.

Davila, born at Ashington, Texas, was married in 1965 at Silverton. He was employed as a welder.

New Labor Regulation To Affect Ag Youth

Agricultural producers who rely on hand harvesting of short season crops should know about a proposed federal regulation that would allow the hiring of 10- and 11-year old youth for this work, announces Dr. Gary S. Nelson, a safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Presently, as a result of a 1974 amendment to the Fair Labor Standards Act, minors under 12 years of age may only be employed for non-hazardous work with written parental consent and only on farms where the employees do not come under federal minimum wage provisions. This means a farm having less than 500 mandays of agricultural labor during any quarter during the preceding calendar year.

The proposed regulation provides for a waiver to permit the employment of 10- and 11-year-old youth in agriculture as hand-harvesters of short season crops on larger farms under certain conditions, points out Nelson. Youth hired under the waiver must be employed during non-school hours and must commute daily from their permanent residences.

Each waiver application must include signed statements by the employer, employees, county Extension agents, officials of the state employment service, and other knowledgeable individuals regarding substantiation of the following provisions of the waiver application:

1. Such agricultural operation "is customarily and generally recognized as being paid on a piece rate basis in the region in which such individuals would be employed."
2. The "industry of such employer has (prior to the 1974 restrictions) traditionally and substantially employed individuals under 12 years of age without displacing substantial job opportunities for individuals over 16 years of age."
3. The crop to be harvested is one with a "particularly short harvesting season," normally within a four-week period, in the particular region in which the waiver will be applicable.
4. The 12-year minimum age prescribed since 1974 has and would cause "severe economic disruption in the industry of the employer applying for the waiver."
5. Neither the type of "employment" nor the level and type of pesticides and other chemicals used "would have a harmful effect on the health and well-being of the employed minors."
6. Individuals age 12 and above are not available for such employment.

Nelson cautions that this regulation is only a proposed regulation at this time. Comments, pro or con, regarding the proposal are invited from producers and other interested persons and should be mailed by May 4 to Lucille C. Pinkett, Wage and Hour Division, Room S-3022, New DOL Building, 200 Constitution Avenue NW, Washington, D. C. 20210. For further information call 202 523-8412.

A Crown for Mother

You, as a Mother, are honored by your children on a special day — Mother's Day. How the little things they make for you with their own small hands please you and warm your heart.

It warms and quickens the heart of God when you honor Him on His special day. "Remember the Sabbath Day, to keep it holy." Exodus 20:8. Worship God on this next Sunday in the church of your choice. We should honor our loving Heavenly Father even as we expect our children to honor us.

Attend church on Mother's Day.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Historical Marker Dedicated At Folsom Kill Site

Sunday afternoon, April 30, at 4:00 o'clock a historical medallion was unveiled and dedicated at the Folsom Kill Site in Caprock Canyons State Park north of Quitaque.

Mrs. Edwin Dickerson of Silverton, chairman of the Briscoe County Historical Survey Committee, was in charge of the program which opened with the presentation of the colors by Boy Scout Troop 262. This was followed by the group singing of "America the Beautiful," led by Elgin Conner, minister of the Quitaque Church of Christ. He also led the opening prayer.

The guest speaker was Curtis Tunnell of Austin, a former resident of Turkey, is the State Archaeologist. He brought some interesting notes of history on the Folsom Site. It is thought that the bison kill was probably 10,000 years ago. The area was much different then from what is now seen. The layers of earth which have been moved have told many interesting things about when the Indians roamed the area. He stated that "bits of pollen" lead one to believe that the immediate area was covered with pine trees. The wildlife was probably herds of buffalo, antelope, wild tigers and lions, much like Africa today.

"Then where did it all go?" one may ask. Tunnell says the dry weather and dust storms from the Plains covered the entire area. Later, in the rains, the lake was uncovered. The archaeologists believe that when the Bison Kill took place, the men who were here probably dressed in skins of animals. They killed great numbers of bison near the site of the historical medallion. They probably spent months there, dressing and preparing the meat for food.

At the close of Mr. Tunnell's address, he asked Mrs. C. L. McWilliams of Silverton, the Briscoe County Historian who is also with the State Archaeological Department, to read the inscription on the medallion.

LAKE THEO FOLSOM BISON KILL SITE

"Stone tool fragments were discovered in 1965 and 1972 on the shores of Lake Theo, named for former landowner Theodore Geisler. Archaeological testing in 1974 revealed a campsite and bison butchering and processing area dating back to the age of Folsom years ago. Projectile points and scraping tools were found at a depth of four feet, along with over 500 bones from an extinct type of bison.

AVON TEAM LEADERS ENJOY TRIP TO MISSOURI

A group of Avon Team Leaders Ponds in Holmes Canyon, now covered by Lake Theo, probably attracted prehistoric men to this area. 1978."

Mr. Tunnell also introduced Bill Harrison, curator of the Panhandle-Plains Museum at Canyon, and Henry Smith of the West Texas State University archaeological department. They told of the uncovering of more history in the last year at the site. The archaeologists have worked there, moving dirt from June to October 1977 and in the caves they have discovered the Plano culture and the Plainview culture, which proves what Mr. Tunnell had stated before: that the dirt from the Plains had covered the area about 2000 years later than the culture.

Memorial Day Is Appropriate Time To Give Gift Of Life

Mrs. Peggy Fleming, Memorial Chairman for the Briscoe County Unit of the American Cancer Society reminds all Silverton residents that Memorial Day is an especially appropriate time to give a Gift of Life in memory of a loved one.

Memorial gifts to the American Cancer Society support programs of research to find a cure for cancer, public and professional education, and services for cancer patients and their families.

Contributions made in memory of a friend or a member of the family are acknowledged by the American Cancer Society, and a memorial card is sent to the family stating that a memorial gift has been received and giving the

The highlight of the trip was a tour of the Avon Branch. The group was met by the president of the Kansas City Branch, who let them see their orders being processed. This branch processes about 47,000 orders every 10 days.

The ladies were quite impressed with the computers and all the modern means of filling the orders and always working on even better ways to serve their customers.

After their tour, they were served lunch at the cafeteria. They spent the afternoon at The Crown Shopping Center. That evening they enjoyed dinner at the Plaza III.

Eight ladies from Amarillo, Canyon, Umbarger, Groom and Silverton made the trip. Mrs. Winnie Smith was chosen to accompany the group from Silverton.

A State Income Tax. A Hangman's Noose For Texas.

If you think taxes are choking you now, consider the possibility of a State income tax. It would be a noose around your neck. Around the neck of every Texan. And around the future of Texas.

- A vote for John Hill is a vote for:
- bigger government.
 - more government spending.
 - more inflation.

AND FOR A STATE INCOME TAX.

- A vote for Dolph Briscoe is a vote for:
- fiscal responsibility
 - less — not more — government.
 - continued economic growth.

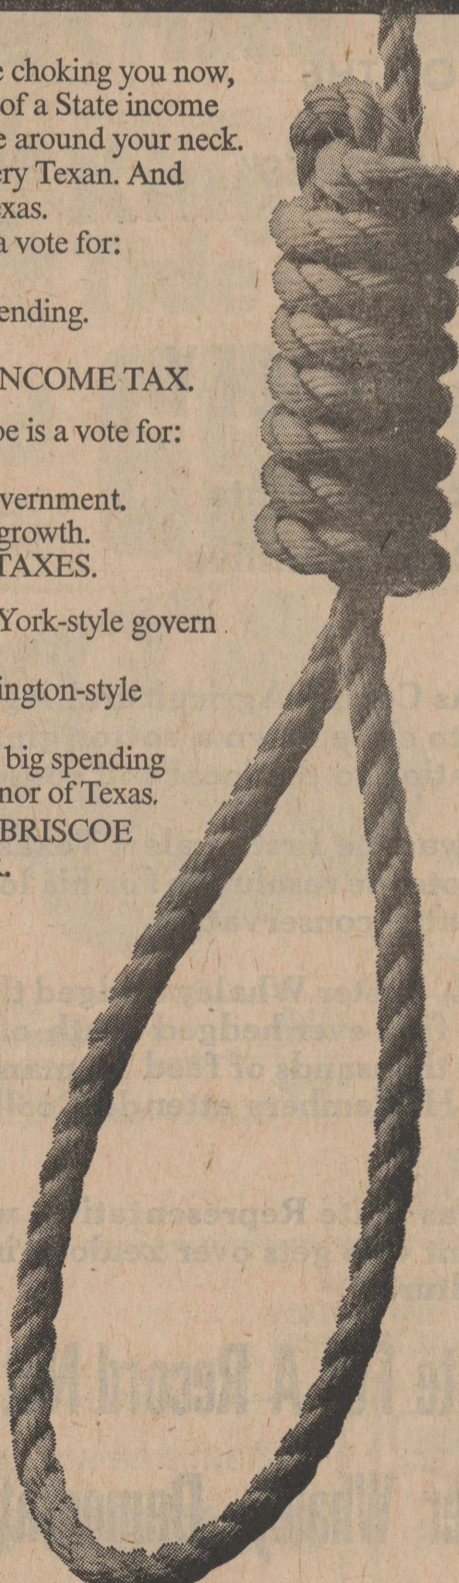

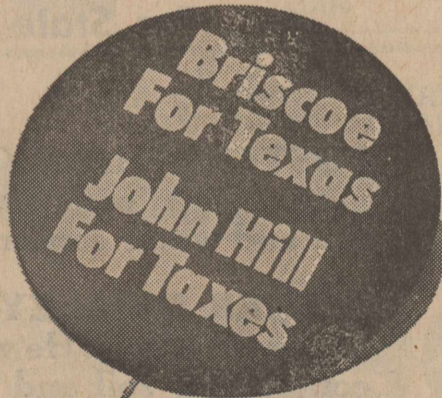

AND FOR NO NEW TAXES.

- We don't need New York-style government in Texas.
 - We don't need Washington-style bureaucracy in Texas.
 - And we don't need a big spending liberal activist as Governor of Texas.
- LET'S KEEP DOLPH BRISCOE AS OUR GOVERNOR.

"We are already footing the bill for run-away government in Washington. As Texans we should not have to foot the bill for run-away government in Austin.

"I don't think Texas should spend itself into a state income tax. That is exactly what will happen if Mr. Hill fulfills only some of his political promises."

HAPPY MOTHER'S DAY TO ALL YOU MOMS! Sunday, May 14

JONES DEPT. STORE
 Silverton, Texas

Dr. Atkinson Is Circuit Preacher With High-Speed Horse

Dr. Strauss Atkinson, known to many in this area, is sort of a circuit preacher with a high-speed horse. He's that and much more. He says he's in a different pulpit just about every Sunday, but when it comes right down to it, he's in a different town just about every day.

Strauss Atkinson is officially the director of missions for the Caprock Plains Baptist Area, a grouping of some 15 counties from Northfield near Childress to Tokyo near Brownfield and from Farwell to Spur.

That's something like 40,000 square miles.

He is a preacher and, as he says, is usually preaching somewhere every Sunday. His title says he's a director of missions and he does a little of that, too, he says, missions aimed primarily at the Mexican-American communities.

But, primarily Strauss Atkinson is an organizer, problem solver, resource person, confident—the man who keeps the Baptist churches, particularly the small rural churches, on an even keel.

"I think of myself as an equi-herd," he says. "I help to equip ministers and churches in leadership roles."

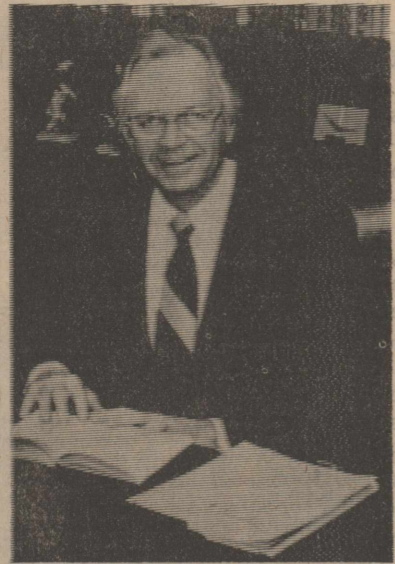

To do that he works 14 to 16 hours a day and travels about 50,000 miles a year.

His day starts at 6:00 a.m. with a personal devotional at home and some time to study.

He hits the office about 8:00 or

8:30 (the office is the area's center at Tenth and Utica in Plainview), and those days he spends in Plainview are spent in conference with pastors, church groups, deacons and, at times, in personal counseling sessions with individuals. Counseling, he says, is one of his own long-standing interests.

He also spends a good deal of time on the road to somewhere within the 40,000 square mile area.

That's a bunch for a man who says he still occasionally yearns for the close personal ties of simply pastoring a church.

At 59, Strauss Atkinson has already formally served the Baptist church for 38 years.

He was born in Florence in Central Texas, but moved with his farming parents to Littlefield when he was still very young.

He says he was always very active in the church "in my upbringing," but that his youthful exposure to religion was "very ecumenical." His parents were Baptist, he says, but there were also a variety of other close relatives who were all sorts of religious persuasions.

When his parents moved back to Central Texas while he was still in high school, Atkinson says, he stayed in Littlefield and lived with a family there. That family was half Church of Christ and half Christian Church.

When he graduated from high school, he went to work managing a grocery store. That lasted three years.

In 1939, already married and starting a family, Atkinson says, "I accepted the call and entered Hardin-Simmons (University) that fall."

He pastored a number of rural churches in those years and by 1944 when he graduated he had already been called to the First Baptist Church at Moran.

He and his wife moved to Fort Worth where he attended Southwestern Baptist Seminary and commuted to Moran on the weekends.

After seminary, he spent the next 25 years in two pulpits, first Kermit and then for almost 19 years at the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

He says he can remember driving to his first full pastorate in Kermit and wondering just what he and his wife, Trudy, were getting into.

As they drove into the setting sun, he says, a coyote leaped to the middle of the highway, stopped, looked at them and leaped on.

Strauss says his wife wasn't real sure God had intended them for the desert, but, he says, what they found were wonderful people. Atkinson says he's always found wonderful people.

He's a people man, he says. "People are what the church is for."

After they had moved to Canyon in 1951, he took some post-graduate work at West Texas State University in counseling so that he could better help people.

He still does counseling work, because he likes to help. He says his version of counseling is listening and letting people solve their own problems. "People need to talk to someone and somebody needs to listen."

Some of his official duty falls into the same category, listening to young ministers and would-be ministers, listening to church groups and trying to help them solve their problems.

Somehow he is the one who's called when a church congregation reaches a crisis. It could be because he'll always answer the call.

"If you have people you're going to have problems," he says, "and problems are a challenge . . . I've always been an optimist . . . a problem can always be solved."

He solves problems with a simple philosophy: "Wait on the Lord."

A lot of things can be solved if people take time to think them out and pray them out. I try to be a reconciler . . . I try to be supportive of the church and the pastor. There are always two sides and I like to see both of them saved."

Eight years ago, he says, when he took the directorship for the area, he began getting his massive duties on a personal basis. "In the first three months," he says, "I tried to visit with every pastor and in the first year I tried to visit every church."

Now, the pastors are friends and most of the members of the congregations are known to him.

Even in those days, he says, it wasn't unlike the circuit preacher of early days. Meals after Sunday services were usually offered and a place to sleep on the road was usually available.

He says one family simply offered him a key to their house, just in case he was caught in their town too late to drive back to Plainview.

But unlike the days on a horse when a day's ride got the rider nowhere, Atkinson can make it some in a couple of hours and is usually determined to do that.

Trudy travels with him some (almost always on his Sunday assignments) he says, but he also likes to maintain what home life his working hours will allow. "We like to have our Saturday's together."

The couple has two children, Mrs. Dale Cain, wife of the minister of the Calvary Baptist Church in Lubbock, and Mrs. Gary Ward, wife of a math teacher in Dallas; and three grandchildren.

He says he's never actually thought of returning to a pastorate because "I took this job with the conviction that this is where I would finish my ministry. This is where I can do the most good."

Besides, with services somewhere every Sunday, occasional Wednesday services and the ordaining of ministers and deacons "I preach more now than I did when I had a church."

He says he might have thought about moving on if the duties had turned purely administrative, but they are hardly that . . . "Any work worth it's salt is an unending task."

And, because of these things, Wayland Baptist College conferred an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree. It is a way of saying "thank you" for a job well done.

John Hill Opposes State Income Tax

When he announced for Governor, Attorney General John Hill said that he would oppose — and would veto — a state income tax or any other new tax bill. He has repeated that pledge many times since. Anyone who says that Hill would support a state income tax is just trying to mislead the public.

As Attorney General, John Hill cleaned up political corruption in Duval County, sued the phone company to stop an increase in rates and worked for a national energy policy that would be fair to Texas.

As Governor, John Hill will use the state's budget surplus to reduce property taxes and to help pay more of the cost of our public schools. There will be no state income tax and no other new taxes if Hill is elected Governor.

FOSTER WHALEY as County Agricultural Agent used his boots on a couple of bureaucrats; one tried to close down a cotton gin, the other tried to sell compulsory soil and water conservation to the local soil conservation district.

FOSTER WHALEY was the first to alert Texas' major farm organizations of this statewide effort. He wrote the resolution for his local farm organization's opposing compulsory soil and water conservation.

IN THE PEN ABOVE, Foster Whaley hedged the first cattle ever hedged in Gray County, and among the first ever hedged south of the Canadian River. IT'S A FACT

Agriculture and industry are benefiting from Air Force research and development projects: One program with widespread use is the linear accelerator, which gives kinetic energy to charged particles such as electrons or protons. It is used to mix plastics, thereby improving products. The food industry employs the accelerator for large scale food sterilization and preservation. Metal casting producers use it to detect defects in their products.

What Think Ye?

There was a boy who dreamed that an angel took him to a great church. They stood at the back of the church, looking down at the people, listening to the music and prayer.

As the lad gazed around, his eyes wandered to the ceiling. He could hardly believe what he saw, for there, floating around about in the rafters, was the strangest collection of things one could imagine: frocks, ladies hats, golf clubs, footballs, meat, vegetables, cakes, account books, washing machines, automobiles, cotton bales, cigarettes and racehorses running.

"Please, what are those things up there?" asked the lad of the angel. "Those are the things the people are thinking about during the prayer," the angel replied. "You see, their thoughts only go as far as the roof. They cannot get any higher, because they are not thoughts of God."

There was a British soldier who one night was caught creeping stealthily back to his quarters. He was taken before his commanding officer and charged with having communicated with the enemy. The man pleaded that he had gone into the woods only to pray by himself. That was his only defense.

"Have you been in the habit of spending hours in private prayer?" the officer growled.

"Yes sir!"

"Then get down on your knees and pray now!" he roared. "You never needed prayer so much as now."

Expecting immediate death, the soldier knelt and poured out his heart in prayer, that for eloquence could have been voiced only by one who knew how to pray.

"You may go now," said the officer simply, when he had finished. "I believe your story. If you had not been often at drill . . . you could never have done so well at review."

How would it have been with me?
