Electric Company Announces Plans To Raise Retail Rates

Southwestern Public Service Company announced today that it needs to increase its retail rates by 14.78% to the customers in Texas served by the electric company.

Information outlining Southwestern's needs was presented to area city officials earlier this week. Formal filing with all regulatory bodies is pending.

Bert Ballengee, executive vice president of SPS, said the increase is needed for three primary reasons: inflation, the high cost of money and the cost of switching from gas to coal.

"Every one of us is affected by inflation including SPS," Ballengee said. "As our costs for making and delivering electricity continue to go up, the price must also go up."

"Every one of us is also affected by high money costs, including SPS. When we borrow money at today's record high interest rates, or sell stock, people are actually letting us use their savings to build new power plants and lines and to build new equipment. If we do not give them a reasonable return on their investment, the people will stop letting us use their money and our ability to deliver electricity to our customers will be limited."

"And every one of us is affected by the change in the way we make electricity. We must build coal-fired plants instead of the conventional gas-fired plants because of cost, supply and government regulation. Coal-fired plants cost almost twice as much but the electricity will still cost less than continuing to burn higher priced natural gas," Ballengee said.

Ballengee also said that based on existing rates being charged to all Texas retail customers, SPS projected revenues for 1979 will be less than the cost of service to those customers by $42,657,065.00.

The 14.78% increase is an average for all types or classes of customers. The increase will vary from one rate class to another. For example, the customer that uses 500 units of electrical energy per month would have an increase of $5.43 per month.

The increase in rates would not affect the rates charged to wholesale power customers.

The last base rate increase in Southwestern's rates for retail service was based on 1977 costs and went into effect in October 1978 and amounted to about seven percent, well below the amount the company needed at that time.

JO JARRETT ON DEAN'S LIST AT TECH

Jo Jarrett was one of the students of the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University who was named to the Dean's Honor List for posting a 3.0 or better grade point average for the fall semester 1979.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Jarrett of Silverton.

This evergreen tree shows how Jack Frost's brush has turned the Silverton scene into a frozen winter wonderland, beautiful and dangerous. Temperatures have hovered in the teens. A couple of power outages in Silverton have amounted to about two hours without current, but in the rural area a number of people have been without electricity since Tuesday due to downed lines.

Little more than half an inch of precipitation has fallen during the month of January, and more of the cold, snowy condition is predicted for the remainder of this week. Travel advisories continue to be posted daily, and even though Panhandle highways remain open they are slick and travel is discouraged. Poor visibility has also hampered travel. CONTROL SOIL INSECTS
IN GARDENS

Soil insects can take a heavy toll of garden vegetables unless control measures are taken two to four weeks before planting.

Most soil insects attack either the seed at planting time or small tender plants. These include wireworms, cutworms, white grubs, mole crickets and various maggots or fly larvae.

Diazinon provides effective control of soil insects. For 1,000 square feet of surface area, use ¼-cup of 25% emulsion concentrate or ½-cup of 50% wettable powder in 2½ to three gallons of water. Apply the insecticides to the surface and mix thoroughly into the soil to a depth of 4-6 inches.

Before applying any pesticide, be sure to read the label and follow all directions.

STERILIZE SOIL FOR GROWING TRANSPLANTS

Gardeners are beginning to grow transplants for the coming spring season, and they should make sure the potting soil or medium they use is disease free.

Even bagged potting mixes are often contaminated with disease-causing organisms, according to research.

So the answer is to treat small amounts of soil in the home oven.

Heating soil actually pasteurizes soil rather than sterilizes it since some, but not all, disease organisms are killed.

Since some beneficial organisms that convert ammonia to nitrate are killed, treat soil with nitrate so plants won't experience a deficiency.

Common forms of soil treatment are dry and steam heat. Most homeowners use dry heat since they don't own steam generators.

Different temperatures control different organisms. Some fungi die when soil is held at 115° F. for 30 minutes to insure good control of disease organisms. Using higher temperatures will destroy organic matter, create toxic compounds, and damage soil structure.

Soil to be treated should be moist enough for planting seed. Cover the soil container with aluminum foil. The foil should have a small hole in the center for inserting a meat thermometer. Make sure the thermometer does not touch the bottom of the container or it will give an inaccurate reading.

A novel testing method is to place an Irish potato (1½ inches in diameter) in the center of the soil. If the proper temperature has been held for the right amount of time, the potato should be perfectly cooked.

Chemical treatment with a material such as Vapam is also satisfactory. For best results, enclose the potting mix in a plastic cover after treating outdoors.

Regardless of the soil treatment method, make sure the soil does not become recontaminated, so store it in garbage cans lined with plastic bags.

Also, do not plant infected plants in treated soil.

the Long Arm of God

There may be times when your church seems to be growing slowly, when you become discouraged because your work seems to bear no fruit. Don't be discouraged. The Lord would say to you in Deut. 1:21, "Fear not, neither be discouraged," for I am with you.

During the very time you are discouraged, the Lord may have good news for you. This period of time may be more spring than winter. It is an open secret that God's arm is not shortened that he cannot save; neither is his ear heavy that He cannot hear.

Therefore, let us keep on working and praying that we may in our hearts possess the land of rest and comfort and peace with God. "The glory of the Lord shall be thy reward." He tells us in Isaiah 58:9, "Then thou shalt call, and the Lord shall answer; thou shalt cry, and He shall say, Here I Am."

We pray that the church and its fellowship will be your dearest treasure. May the church be the place where your "heart interest" lies. We invite you to attend services this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Double up, America.

Two can ride cheaper than one.

If you drive to work by yourself, you're spending twice as much money on commuting as you should. That's too much. Cut it in half. Take a friend. Not only will your daily commute cost you half as much, but that monotonous trip will be a lot more pleasant. Let's double up. Carpools are a great way to get where we're going. Faster and cheaper.
