Rate Agreement Reached By Public Service Company, Cities

Bert Ballengee, executive vice president of Southwestern Public Service Company, announced March 19 that Southwestern Public Service Company and the Steering Committee representing South Plains and Panhandle cities have reached an agreement on the Committee's recommendation of its member cities concerning SPS's 1980 rate case. The Steering Committee recommended the following: municipalities in the SPS Texas service area set the revenue deficiency at $31,923,000; rates to correct this deficiency should become effective with the May billing cycle; there will not be any differential in the summer-winter rates and the Public Utility Commission should eliminate the requirement to show the fuel cost adjustment as a separate item on the bills.

Ballengee said that Southwestern Public Service Company accepted this proposal for three reasons: "We have settled because of SPS's need for immediate relief in order to maintain its current construction program and the quality of service our customers require. Our original request was projected for two years; however, present economic uncertainties on the national scene make it very difficult to project exactly what will happen in the future. By accepting less, we may have to ask for additional rate relief sooner than previously anticipated. By implementing the rates in May, we will hopefully be able to save our financial bond ratings which are vital to our customers' long range benefit," Ballengee concluded.

As A Man Thinketh

Gerald Beasley
 WHEN DOES AN INDIAN MEAN NO?

Some Indians say yes to everything they are asked to do. When do they mean yes and when do they mean no?

In the 1952 meeting of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia the question came up on the floor of the assembly, "When does an Indian mean no?" A bronzed and wrinkled elder arose and in a deep voice stated, "It is plain when Indian mean no—when Indian say yes and do nothing, then Indian mean no."

The "forked tongue" seems a universal possession. To obligations, challenges and opportunities we may mouth a ready yes, but pretty soon our life indicates that our yes meant no. How delightful that person whose yes is backed up by consistency in life.

"That which is gone out of thy lips shalt keep and perform" (Deut. 23:23). "I have sworn, and I will perform it" (Psa. 119:106). "... let your yea be yea; and your nay, nay" (James 5:12). Of the scribes and Pharisees Jesus says, "But do not ye after their works; for they say, and do not."

GETTING OUT... the Vote

Mrs. Jones is active in all types of community work. She is active in politics at the local level. From a list of voters at her elbow she telephones to see if any local residents need the services of the various car pools. Because of this service many who could not otherwise do so, get to the polls and vote.

But more than this, Mrs. Jones is a friend and servant of God. She supports her church and its services because she knows it is the center of all that is good and worthwhile in the Community. It is a place where the souls of men are uplifted and saved.

We, ourselves, would do well to emulate Mrs. Jones. May we urge that you, also, not only vote, but help get out the vote — that you not only attend church, but support it actively with your service.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Southwestern Corn Borer Survey Results Released

The southwestern corn borer is alive and well on the High Plains. Palmer and Associates have recently been surveying random

Young Farmers Enjoy Barbecue

The Silverton Young Farmers met Thursday night, March 27, in the vocational agriculture department.

Members and guests were served a meal of barbecue beef, german sausage and red beans.

The meal and program both were furnished by Funk Seed.

Guests attending were Wade Brannon, Seymour Brannon and Moe Eddleman.

Members enjoying the meal included Cal Gauden, Calvin Shelton, Fred Minyard, Deanie Henderson, Donnie Perkins, G. W. Chappell, Fred Brannon, Wayne Stephens, Donald Perkins, Clinton Dickerson, Tode Riddell, Jerry Bean, Orville Turner, Fred Hill, Able Asebedo, Bill Reid, Johnny Tiffin, Lyndall Couch, Rick Hester, Jeff Tiffin, Tommy and Rodney Bullock, and Jim Davidson.

tilled and untilled corn fields east of Plainview to the Olton-Hart area to determine degrees of winter survival for southwestern corn borer. Winter survival is a good indicator for predicting the potential problem with this pest for the 1980 corn growing season.

The larval stage overwinters in the base of the corn stubble crown which may be three to five inches below the soil surface if left untilled. The soil and corn stalk surrounding the larvae offer an excellent overwintering site due to the insulation effect.

Fields of corn followed by wheat are even more conducive since the beds are reshaped, pushing more soil around the corn stubble. In the first situation, there was a thirty to fifty percent survival rate of overwintering larvae. The second type yielded thirty-five to fifty percent surviving borers. Properly tilled stubble showed no signs of overwintering borers. Tilling pulls the stubble above the ground, releases soil adhering to the plant crown and decreases the insulating effect on the larval overwintering habitat. Cold weather is a natural controlling agent for these overwintering larvae.

While conducting the survey, evidence was discovered of pupation. The pupae is the transformation stage from the overwintering larvae to the adult. What this suggests is early emergence of the moth this year; possibly as early as May 1. The Olton-Plainview area has an average emergence date of June 1 as seen from this same survey in past years.

The bottom line for this survey's results is that 1980 corn adjacent to these high overwintering populations could have economically damaging and early first generation borer infestations. High densities of first generation larvae can be very detrimental and may result in "dead heart." This is caused by consumption or disruption of the meristematic tissue (growing point) inside the whorl. Young corn may be killed or fruiting greatly reduced due to this type of injury.

Manipulation of planting dates has been very helpful in the past to lessen the severity of first generation borers and subsequently reduce the attractiveness of corn to borers throughout the remainder of the season. Corn planted as early in March as possible up to, and no later than April 7, will reduce attractiveness since the corn plants will be more mature and less succulent at times of high borer density. Also, the more mature corn will be better able to resist infestation leading to a reduced need for chemical control, an important cost factor in corn production. Lodging of infested plants, if it does occur, may be delayed until around September 15. Corn should be harvested by this date which allows a margin of safety before lodging can occur.

Observing Easter

"Jesus said, I am the resurrection and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die." John 11:25.

Easter, the day on which we celebrate the resurrection of our Lord, should find us worshipping Him in His Church. He is alive! His presence fills the sanctuary! All things are made new. It is the time of beginning again. Attend church and join your neighbors in singing praises to God for His Glory and Power and Love; and some of this Resurrection Joy and Power will come to you.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Youth don't learn without help. This is why the involvement of adults—and especially parents—is so important to 4-H work.

I want to share the following information from a 4-H leader in Washington. I hope it will encourage all the parents of 4-H youth to help them prepare for upcoming 4-H contests they might be interested in.

"To the Editor. Recently in a local newspaper in our area there was an article that questioned who does the work—4-H youth or parents. To the person who posed that question, I would like to respond:

"I'm a 4-H leader of a large club with several eight and nine year-old kids. Please stop, look and listen to the kids before making such a statement.

"It is true, certainly, that 4-H is supposed to be done by the kids themselves, and this is basically true. But no child arrives at the age of 10 knowing instinctively how to sew, raise rabbits, show cattle and hogs, bake cookies, etc. He or she may wind up doing all this himself or herself, sure, but someone has to show him or her how.

"The 4-H leaders help, but they can't do it all. And that's where the parents count. It is a hard job to stand there wanting your child to do well and wanting to do it for him—it would be so much easier.

"You point out errors you'd like to let go by. You guide small fingers. You bite your nails and sometimes fight back irritation. And worry that some other parent is guiding, consulting and working better than you.

"You think your kid deserves a blue ribbon but you're afraid he'll only get a white. When he does get a white you feel his disappointment more than if it were your own.

"Why do we as leaders and parents go through this?

"You do it for that moment when he reaches that goal of a blue ribbon and his face lights up and, oh yes, when he's handed that blue, and he turns toward you, Mom and Dad, and smiles.

"You know he did it on his own. Forget the harsh words and bitter tears of frustrations of the past.

"That smile says it all. It was worth it."

This was written by a 4-H leader and submitted by Dwight E. Palmer, State Leader of Youth, Washington State.

REMEMBER THOSE YOU LOVED WITH A MEMORIAL GIFT TO THE AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

The American farmer builds two things better than anyone else in the world. He builds the next generation, passing along a special kind of wisdom... respect for the soil, honesty, independence, and faith in the future. Cards of Thanks

I would like to express my appreciation to everyone involved in the Little Dribblers' organization this year.

Thank you to the school for your cooperation with us, the parents for working at the gate and for bringing your children to the games, and to the coaches for devoting so much time and effort to making our program successful.

Thank you, also, to the referees of our games and to the officers of the organization for your help.

A very special thank you to all the kids that played basketball. You all did a good job!

Pat Edwards
President, Little Dribblers
P. S. Good luck, All-Stars!

I'd like to thank my friends in the Silvertown area for the prayers and cards while I was in the Amarillo hospital following surgery and my accident later the same day.

It's nice to be remembered by those we love.
Miriam Jowell

Thanks so much to our many friends, neighbors and relatives who have done so much for us during the illness and death of our loved one. We thank you so much for the working of our cropland, the ones who furnished and served the food for the workers, for the ones who came to Amarillo to give blood and for all the visits and cards.

Thank you for all the floral offerings, memorials, cards, phone calls, food and every act of kindness shown to us. It has helped ease the burden. May God bless and keep each of you.

Thank you so much.

Just to tell all of you, our friends, that I got the brace off my arm last week. The struggle to get back the use of it begins now. Everyone has been so good to help me, and so considerate of the things that I couldn't do or left undone. I just want to tell all of you that I appreciate it so very much.

Thanks to Bro. Royce Denton and his church in Silvertown for your prayers. Thanks to all our friends in the churches and those not in churches who remembered me in prayer. Thanks for all the cards, gifts, food, and words of concern and encouragement. We want especially to thank EVERYONE who has helped to keep the newspaper going. Thanks most of all for just being our friends.
Lottie and Gaston Owens
