Warrior '89 F-15s vs. T-38s

By 1st Lt. Tom James
54th Flying Training Squadron

Aircrews and maintenance personnel from Reese took part in "Warrior '89" this past weekend at Holloman AFB, N.M. with the 9th Tactical Fighter Squadron's F-15 Eagles. Nineteen T-38s flew from Reese to Holloman to perform a simulated attack profile against a target where F-15s were poised to intercept the inbound Talon intruders.

The objectives of the mission were to improve the working capability between Air Training Command and Tactical Air Command, provide TAC F-15s with an alternate source for multi-targets to practice radar and weapons employment, provide ATC personnel with a look at TAC operations, instill pride in the Air Force mission, build morale in the instructor pilot force and to accomplish our training requirements.

The weekend planning began several months prior and required extensive coordination between Holloman and Reese personnel.

At Reese the project officer was Capt. Ron Hoover, aided by 1st Lt. Brad Buck and 1st Lt. John Hampton in getting all the details worked out. Hoover, formerly based at Kadena in the F-15, also devised the tactics to be used by the T-38s when penetrating the simulated hostile airspace.

The event started early Friday when two Reese T-38s flew to Holloman carrying two instructor pilots who would monitor the GCI (ground control intercept) and coordinate the final preparations. Flying with them were four crew chiefs who were to perform maintenance support and launching and recovery duties.

The crew chiefs were an integral part of the mission providing ground support for the T-38s. The participating crew chiefs were MSgt. Roy Gamble, SSgt. Bruce Martin, Sgt. Randy Stutesman and SrA. Pat O'Hara.

The three separate waves of aircraft (19 total) went flawlessly as the tower, maintenance support, base operations and the aircrews worked together to ensure precise takeoffs, beginning at 11:40 a.m. Friday, which was critical for the "time over target" planning.

The three waves entered the Military Operating Areas at timed intervals to realistically portray a hostile attack by a numerically superior enemy. The Talons were arranged in separate elements providing for mutual air coverage for the low level attacking T-38s. Maneuvering began once inside the MOAs to provide real world practice for the defending F-15 Eagles. The six Eagles had to find and identify 19 targets moving at 400 knots as well as sort them out and divide the task of shooting them down. The maneuvers performed by the hostile T-38s were specifically designed by Hoover to "confuse and task saturate the F-15 radars and their pilots."

The Eagles worked in concert with each other as well as their GCI officers to shoot down 16 of the 19 attacking T-38s. Three Talons made it through the "Wall Of Eagles" including one of the low level attackers whose primary job was to drop simulated bombs on the target.

After the mission, the crews of the Reese

Guest speaker for the graduation is retired Maj. Gen. Dudley Faver, who served as wing commander at Reese from Jan. 17, 1964 to June 25, 1966.

A parents' social starts at 5:15 p.m., followed by the graduation ceremony at 5:50 p.m. Cocktails begin at 7 p.m. followed by the dinner dance at 7:45 p.m.

During the graduation ceremony, several members of the class will receive awards for performance during the year of pilot training.

The awards are: Commander's Trophy (top graduate), Distinguished Graduate, Leadership Award, Outstanding Second Lieutenant, Flying Training (Top Stick) and Academic Training. Also awards will be presented to the outstanding academic instructor and instructor pilot in T-37 and T-38.

Two crew chiefs will also be presented awards, as best T-37 and T-38 crew chief.

Six students have been given follow-on assignments here. Returning instructor pilots from the class are: 2nd Lts. Theodore M. Bryant; Bryan K. Fulton; Paul Dwight Gloyd II; Curtin W. Miller; Brian J. Paddock; and Charley Mack Richardson II.

Other graduates for the class are: Capt.

Thomas A. Pelczynski; and 2nd Lts. Robert J. Bennington Jr.; Douglas Scott Beyer; Scott Frederick Brown; James L. Chamerlain IV; Michael J. Cunningham II; Jason Kyle Duffee; Kevin Gerald Fox; Christopher P. Jones; Gary Jon Larson; Mark Andrew Parmley; William Saladin; Mark F. Schwartz; David R. Smithson; and Danny R. Wolf.

Commander's Perspective

Special Olympics — special for Reese as well. Last week Col. Ford Barrett, CMSgt. Coy Martin and I had the pleasure of representing the wing at the opening of the Area 17 Texas Special Olympics at Lubbock's Estacado High School. We were not alone in our representation of the Air Force, however. More than 230 dedicated Reese people braved the record West Texas heat Saturday to help put on the games.

Col. Monroe S. Sams Jr.

The Non-Commissioned Officers' Association has taken charge of this event for the past several years and has put on a fantastic show. CMSgt. Lenny Minzer and MSgt. Leslie Wallace, who received awards for their herculean efforts last year, coordinated this year's activities as well. The color guard and state flag detail, commanded by Lt. Col. Tim House, added a touch of class. Many other Reese people acted as escorts for the special people competing in the events, in the booths, and in a multitude of other support functions.

A recent Gallup Poll showed that U.S. military personnel had a trust factor among the American public second only to the clergy. I am convinced that a great deal of this trust is a direct result of our strong support of the local communities in which we live. Participation in South Plains community projects helps illuminate Reese in the best light possible, and I appreciate all of you who made the Special Olympics possible last Saturday.

I recently received a "heads up" from ATC that three of our officers, Capt. J. C. Curran, Frank Fields and Gary Middlebrooks, have been selected as Distinguished Graduates of Squadron Officers' School. These selections continue a long Reese tradition of excellence. Capt. Kathy Doby and Danny Lee were selected from previous classes since the beginning of the year, with Capt. Doby receiving the coveted Outstanding Graduate award. Our young officers are "showing the way" down at Maxwell.

Our recent UPT graduates are tearing up the Pilot Instructor Training program at Randolph as well. Congratulations to Capt. Bob Edington, top grad of PIT Class 8907, and 2nd Lt. Melissa McDonald, top grad of class 8908. Both are assigned to the 35th FTS, as are Maj. Nelson Koeck and Capt. Larry Gudger who were selected as "DGs" of their classes. Great show!

CARELINE

The CARELINE is prepared by Col. Monroe S. Sams Jr., 64th Flying Training Wing Commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARELINE will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their names and duty telephone numbers so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARELINE only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARELINE number is 885-3273.

Kids' copies

When the Xerox machine in the base library broke down there was no alternate copier for Reese children to use for their school projects. I would like to know if an alternate is available or will be provided in the future.

I understand your concern. Another public access copier on base would be useful, but currently the library has the only funded one. The library copier was purchased with non-appropriated funds enabling it to be used by the public, while other base copiers are appropriated fund items and restricted by law for official government business only. When base equipment breaks down, repair calls are made immediately. The off-base repair shop fits us into their repair schedule in the order calls are received.

Village rumors

Editor's note: Several people have expressed concern regarding an increase in security police patrols in Reese Village. The following will hopefully clarify our enhanced security effort.

Recently, the security police received several reports of individuals stopping and talking to children in the housing area. In response, we stepped up patrol activity to include plain clothes security police in an effort to identify any intruders. So far we've been unable to substantiate any criminal activity or intent.

Unfortunately, the increased police activity has generated many rumors which are causing Reese Village residents undue worry. We will continue our increased patrol activity until we are absolutely sure there is no danger to our children. However, please be assured that there has been no harm to any child in Reese Village, and if anything does come up in our investigations, we will fully inform our residents.

Paint flagpole

I noticed the large flagpole in front of Bldg. 800 looks like it could really use a re-painting or something.

Documents have been prepared and forwarded to base paint contractor. The flag pole will be painted on or before May 12. Thank you for being concerned about how Reese looks.

Hot question

I would like to know when the air conditioning is going to be turned on in our dormitory? I live in Bldg. 1145 and I understand according to the weather reports that today is supposed to be in the 90's and tomorrow in the 100's and all next week in the upper 90's.

The air conditioning for Bldg. 1145 was turned on April 21 as originally scheduled. Please don't hesitate to call the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron's Customer Service, 3210, if there are any problems with the air conditioning.

Tips for controlling your summer cooling expenses

By Bill L. Orr
Wing Energy Manager

We are rapidly approaching the time of year when many organizations as well as households will be trying to beat the heat by turning on their air conditioners.

Refrigerated air conditioning consumes the largest portion of the electrical energy that we use during the spring and summer months. Therefore, it makes good sense to use electricity more efficiently, saving wherever we can, and assisting in the conservation of

For example, you can help your air conditioner do its job more efficiently by following these suggestions:

- Whenever possible, run the fan without using the cooling portion of your unit.
- Place the thermostat on the highest comfortable setting. For each degree you raise the air conditioner thermostat you can save at least five percent on the cost of operation.
- Check the filter periodically, cleaning or replacing it as necessary. A dirty filter makes the air conditioner work harder to do the same job.

- Keep windows and outside doors closed.
- Keep out solar heat by closing blinds and drapes over windows exposed to direct sunlight.
- Just as insulation saves on your heating bill by keeping warmth in, good insulation pays summer dividends by keeping heat out.

Remember, conservation is an individual responsibility. No one else can do your part.

What's your blood 'I.Q.'?

The following true-or-false statements test what you know about blood:

1. Giving blood is a simple process.
2. Artificial or animal blood can now be used in place of human blood.
3. You cannot get AIDS or any other disease by donating blood.
4. Giving blood more than once a year will make you weak.

Answers to the questions are:

1. TRUE. Giving blood is simple and easy. You follow four steps: registration, medical history, donation and snacks. The actual donation time takes less than 10 minutes and is virtually painless, except for a little sting at the very start. The entire process takes about 30 minutes.
2. FALSE. There is no substitute for human blood. Human blood cannot be manufactured; animal blood cannot replace it. People are the only source for blood. The gift of blood is the gift of life.
3. TRUE. There is no risk of getting AIDS or any other disease from giving blood. A brand new needle is used for each blood donation. Once it is used, the needle is destroyed.

4. FALSE. Giving blood will not decrease your strength. Healthy donors can give blood as often as every 8 weeks.

Reese AFB is sponsoring a BLOOD

DRIVE Thursday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Mathis Recreation Center. The need for blood is never-ending. If you have any questions or concerns about donating blood, contact MSgt. Gary Siegel, base blood drive officer, 6041. GIVE SO OTHERS MAY LIVE.

Roundup
One on One

Col. Bill Henny
64th Air Base Group
Commander

(Editor's note: "One-on-One" is a new weekly feature designed to give Roundup readers an insight on 64th Flying Training Wing/Reese AFB officials. In addition, One-on-One will periodically profile visiting dignitaries and leaders in the local community. This week's interview is with Col Bill Henny, 64th Air Base Group commander, and was conducted by Sgt. Mike Breslin, Roundup staff writer.

Q: Since assuming command of the 64th ABG in January, what's been your impression of the base and its people?

A: It's obvious why Reese has had a reputation of excellence over the years — the people here take great pride in their base, their facilities and their homes.

I am impressed with the professionalism, enthusiasm and positive attitude of our people. It is exciting to me to be at a base where people are having fun and are proud of their contribution to the wing mission.

Q: You've been known to describe your job as "the mayor of Reese." Why is that?

A: Traditionally, the base commander has been known as the mayor of the base community. ABG is a service organization, and as commander, I'm responsible for areas such as base security and law enforcement, civil engineering, mission support activities and morale, welfare and recreation.

It's my job to see to it that everyone who works or lives at Reese is provided with the best possible service and support.

Q: Are there any particular areas you plan to emphasize or focus on at Reese?

A: I want to make Reese a fun place to work, recreate and bring up our children. One of my goals has been to open up our facilities and expand operating hours.

With the congressionally-mandated cuts that have taken place over the past few years, cutting back on services would have been an easy course to take. Of course, cutbacks in services have a negative impact on morale.

My aim has been and will continue to be, to not only avoid cutbacks, but to expand services wherever possible, while remaining fiscally responsible. A good example of this is the child development center. In the past, the center only opened on Friday nights if there was a great enough demand. Now, the center is open every Friday evening so that parents who want to go out for an evening for discussion and good crossflow of information. We'll probably spend the first 45 minutes or so looking at where the base is going in the future.

Of course, the most important part of any town meeting is to give people an opportunity to ask questions about things that are going on around base and to offer suggestions on how to make things better. Therefore, most of the evening will be spent doing just that.

Q: How do forums such as town meetings help you do your job as base commander?

A: I believe a commander needs feedback, that Reese people have.

Ratings? I don't think they're as important as is the opportunity to show people from outside how well we do our jobs. So often, we work day in and day out and never pat ourselves on the back.

Having the inspectors come in is like having an external audit. I am confident they will do the patting on the back via the rating system and the list of outstanding performers.

One reason my confidence is so high is because all of the inspection preparations I've seen so far fall into the category of fine tuning, as opposed to crisis management. I haven't seen any major changes that have had to be implemented because of the IG. That says a lot for how we do our jobs every day.

Q: How would you compare the base-community relationship at Reese with previous assignments?

A: I'd have to say it's the best I've ever seen. I've been at many bases during the past 22 years, and I've never come across as strong a relationship as the one between Reese, Lubbock and the surrounding communities.

Q: On a personal note, what do you do in your free time?

A: What free time?—just kidding. One of the things I like to do is get out and meet the people on base I don't meet during duty hours. It's really amazing the number of activities that go on at Reese on the weekends and in the evenings. As far as hobbies go, I enjoy golf, working on my sports car and projects around the house.

Q: Is there anything you'd like to add?

A: I would like to encourage everyone to attend the town meeting. Also, I hope everyone will take Colonel Sams' advice when he says now is the time to reflect on the great job you do. Don't be afraid to show the inspectors the things you are proud of. Just say, "Follow me. I want to water your eyes."

have quality child care at their disposal.

I think it's terribly important that we become more innovative with those functions that we're now charged with running without appropriated support to ensure they're providing the services that Reese people want and deserve.

Q: You've scheduled a "Town Hall" meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday in the Enlisted Open Mess. What's on the agenda?

A: I decided to have a town meeting to give everyone on base, including our civilians, an opportunity to sit down with base leaders and tell us what we're doing right and what we're doing wrong.

The atmosphere will be informal to allow both positive and negative, to be effective. Today, feedback is on the "front burner" throughout the Air Force — the new officer and enlisted evaluation systems are evidence of that. I view the town meeting as an excellent forum for feedback.

Q: With the approach of the Headquarters Air Training Command inspection in May, Reese is readying itself for a thorough assessment of its capabilities. What's your assessment of the base going into the inspection?

A: We will "water their eyes." From the moment they arrive, the inspectors will see the tremendous enthusiasm for their jobs and the second-to-none sense of professionalism

89-08 faces bright future

2nd Lt. Curt Miller
UPT Class 89-08

Finally, it's our turn. We, the members of Class 89-08, are actually pinning on our wings - and not a moment too soon! A motley crew from the start, the unspeakable horrors of Undergraduate Pilot Training have markedly taken their toll on our ever-dwindling members.

Scarred and battle-torn from busted checkrides and bungled tests, we never claimed to be a pretty sight, except for 2nd Lt. Mark Parmley, that is. We've been a tightly knit group, and the friendships we've made and memories of the past year will last a lifetime.

Parasailing above the Smyer, Texas cow pastures was one such bonding event. While most of us dazzled our parachute instructors by leaving craters in the desert floor, bantam-weight 2nd Lt. Gary "Lars" Larson performed ballet-like parachute landing falls on just his tippy-toes every time.

We thought we were pretty cool by the time we reported to the T-37 flightline. After all, our future's so bright, we gotta wear shades! Head Aggressor Capt. Dave Doby sure cut us down to size in a hurry.

"So, 2nd Lt. Michael Cunningham," said the fearsome Captain Doby, addressing our six-foot six inch 2nd Lieutenant Mike "Stretch Monster" Cunningham, who suddenly felt about two feet six inches, "I understand you want to fly an airplane that accelerated straight up?" "Y-y-y-yes-sir," was all the mighty "Stretch" could say. "Well, dreams are nice," said Captain Doby, "but you have to get by me first."

We sobered up in a hurry and actually survived the death-defying solo flight in the T-37.

Second Lt. Bob "Big Bob, Boost Pump, Briefcase, Blue Belt, Bouffant, Befuddled Biker" Bennington added a new twist to this anxious moment, much to his IP's dismay. "Boost" decided the Tweet's air conditioning just wasn't sufficient on this hot summer's day, so he taxied out and tried to take off with the canopy in the full open position. The RSU crew convinced him that the airplane actually flew better with the canopy closed, thus once again narrowly averting disaster with a pinging Pogo student.

Another Tweet hurdle was the formation solo flight, and 2nd Lt. Bill "Fat Boy" Saladin got everyone worried when he couldn't get a landing gear down and locked indication in his cockpit.

He declared an emergency, talked to everyone but his dog on the radio, and ran every imaginable checklist trying to get "three green."

Almost out of fuel and ideas, someone finally told "Fat Boy" to check the gear light dim switch, used to dim the interior cockpit lighting for night flying. Lo and behold, after a few interminable seconds, we heard, "Uh, yeah, I've got three down and locked now." Hero to goat in one brief moment!

Somehow, we graduated from Tweets and moved down the road to G-Flight in the T-38 squadron. We officially became Gorillas, unofficially Gumbys, and garnered another collection of smooth moves in the hear of battle in the T-38.

Second Lt. Brian "Coach" Fulton once thought he was still in Tweets and taxied his White Rocket to the T-37 runway. Boy, was his instructor impressed. Second Lt. Mark "The Schwaaaaaz" Schwarz, whose oversized oxygen mask gives him an unmistakable anteater-like profile, was instantly recognized on his T-38 solo ride by one of his old Tweet IPs in the T-37 RSU.

Spotted a mile away, the young Lieutenant was cleared to "Cross the inside runway for one Schwaaaaaz!" Second Lt. Charley Mack "Possum Head" Richardson managed to thrill his crew chief on his initial solo ride by having to shut down shortly after engine start, unstrap and climb into the rear cockpit to flip one seemingly unimportant switch he'd neglected during his preflight. After all, it is nice to be able to use the radios when you're solo, right, Charley?

Second Lt. Ted "Shell Answer Man" Bryant really had his act together for his T-38 dollar ride. As if he didn't have enough to worry about on this flight, he was perplexed by his parachute not quite fitting correctly. After readjusting the straps, he left it on the tarmac and tried to strap into the jet without it.

After figuring that one out, he was further bothered by his helmet and mask just not quite feeling right. After fumbling around for an inordinate amount of time, the crew chief finally had to climb up the ladder and help the deft Lieutenant fasten his chin strap.

Vowing to have a few harsh words with those scoundrels in Life Support who had undoubtedly tampered with his equipment just to give him a hard time, Ted was somewhat humbled to discover he had grabbed someone else's parachute, helmet and mask.

Our fearless student leader, Capt. Tom "Ski" Pelczynski had an adventure of his own on his night solo flight. An IP in another jet saw the "Ski man" break out of the traffic pattern and vanish into the ominous-looking cloud deck above... definitely a big no-no for a night solo student.

The IP transmitted, "Bugle 52, are you in the weather?" Thinking quickly to save his own hide, the good captain replied, "Er... uh... not any more!" Sure, we believe him, too.

The two canine members of the class, 2nd Lts. Kevin "Double Stuff" Fox and Danny "Airwolf" Wolf have managed to keep a relatively low profile here at Reese. We all know they've done something embarrassing enough to reveal here... they're just not telling.

Rumor has it that "Wolfie" still diligently checks the oxygen regulator in the simulator on every mission - just in case he suffers a simulated rapid decompression at a simulated 35,000 feet.

Well, that about wraps it up for 89-08. Though we may not miss everything about being in UPT, we're definitely going to miss our friends. It's been quite a year - some good, some bad and a lot of stress. We pulled together to make it through this ordeal, and now realize that there's no way we could have made it without each other.

For those missing in action, either transferred to another UPT class, or to another part of the Air Force, you'll be with us in spirit when we pin on those wings. Here's to good friends, good times and great flying... so long Reese!

T-38s and Holloman F-15s met in a debriefing room to sort out the battle by watching the gun camera films and diagramming the airborne events. This gave the air crews a chance to talk about tactics employed, mistakes made and ways of improving their performance in the future.

"Warrior '89" was a great learning experience for the aircrews and maintenance personnel. The weekend provided ATC pilots a glimpse of TAC's mission as well as fostering team work and pride in the Air Force's mission. The precise coordination required gave the aircrews, maintenance, tower and base operations personnel a chance to work together in a way that typifies the excellent work done here at Reese AFB.

New Enlisted Evaluation system effective May 1

Editor's note: This is the second of three articles on the new Enlisted Evaluation System. The first story, which appeared in last week's Roundup, was titled "Evaluation system focused on feedback."

AIR FORCE MILITARY PERSONNEL CENTER, RANDOLPH AFB, Texas (AFMPC) — Enlisted Performance Reports will replace Airman Performance Reports under the revised Enlisted Evaluation System that goes into effect May 1.

Under the revised system, reports will be eliminated for airmen basic, airmen and some airmen first class with less than 20 months total active military service. Promotions to airman and airman first class are based on time in grade and time in service plus the squadron commander's recommendation. In addition, other personnel actions such as assignments, retraining and separations don't require EPRs.

This first 20 months will allow time for an airman to learn and adjust to military service before a permanent record file is established. It will also eliminate approximately 50,000 out of 89,000 reports written annually.

Beginning May 1, Airmen with less than 20 months' TAFMS will normally receive their first EPR when they reach 20 months' TAFMS and 120 days supervision or as soon as these conditions are met. Another smaller group will receive their first EPR when they make a permanent change of station move. Airmen making a permanent change of assignment move during their first 20 months will receive a letter of evaluation. These reports can be used by the gaining commander to assess the new arrival.

Endorsements for airmen basic through technical sergeant will be capped at two evaluators — the rater and the rater's rater. This is reduced from the four evaluators allowed in the current process. Voluntary escalation is prohibited except to meet the minimum grade of master sergeant needed to close out the report. Unit commanders will review each report, as is currently the procedure, to check for realistic ratings, quality control indicators, feedback, and the like.

The Air Force Form 910, Enlisted Performance Report, will be used for technical sergeants and below. The front of the form contains seven performance factors. The rater will mark the block that accurately reflects the ratee's performance. The subsequent evaluator will initial in the appropriate block if he does not agree with the rater's assessment.

The performance rating scale now contains four choices on the rating scale instead of 10. Any mark to the far left is referral while the others are degrees of meeting standards from acceptable to exceptional.

Reese fuel station opens for business

Starting Tuesday, government vehicles requiring fuel will gas up at Bldg. 42, located on B Street next to the new transportation complex. The new facility is the result of a military construction project that was planned in 1984 and funded with fiscal year 1986 money. The final cost is estimated at $311,000 while taking over 18 months to complete the project.

Unlike days of old, the new station is equipped with state-of-the-art features such as a digital pump-monitoring system operated from inside the station; a fuel-oil water separator; double-walled fuel tanks with leak sensors; and dispensing pumps with a vapor recovery system.

Connections were also installed in anticipation of the fiscal 1991 conversion to a fully-automated system.

Hours of operation will remain the same: Monday through Friday, 7:30 to noon, 1 - 4 p.m., and 11 p.m. - midnight; Saturday, Sunday, and holidays, 1 - 2 p.m. For emergency service, contact the Fuels Control Center, 3500, or the base Command Post on weekends and holidays after normal operating hours.

Any questions regarding the operation of the service station should be sent to the fuels superintendent, SMSgt. Conrad, 3905.

Court decision affects retirement benefits

A recent case decided by the U.S. Supreme Court (Davis v. Michigan Dept. of Treasury, US Sup Ct, No. 87-1000, Mar 28 89) has significance to many federal retirees. The court held a Michigan statute that exempts state retirement benefits from state income tax but gives no equivalent exemption for federal retirements benefits.

Justice Kennedy, writing for the court, indicated the statute violates the constitutional principle of inter-governmental tax immunity. The state may not apply differing tax treatment to state and federal employees unless the inconsistency is related to and justified by "significant differences between the two classes." Michigan failed to show any such significant differences. Fourteen other states currently grant tax exemptions for retirement income to state and local employees that they do not grant to federal employees.

The 14 states affected are: Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Louisiana, Missouri, Montana, New York, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina, Virginia and Wisconsin. As a result of the Davis decision, Louisiana and Missouri have indicated that military retirees should be exempt from state income tax. Alabama and Arizona are considering making part of all government retired pay tax-exempt. Virginia's General Assembly will meet May 1 to consider the issue and other states are forming task forces to evaluate their tax provisions. Military retirees in the 14 states should file amended 1985, 1986, 1987, 1988 tax returns to protect their rights under the Davis decision. Addresses and telephone numbers of the taxing authorities of the affected states are available through the legal office, 3505.

General Soper visits

Brig. Gen. W. John Soper made his first visit to Reese April 19, since he has become the Air Training Command deputy chief of staff, logistics.

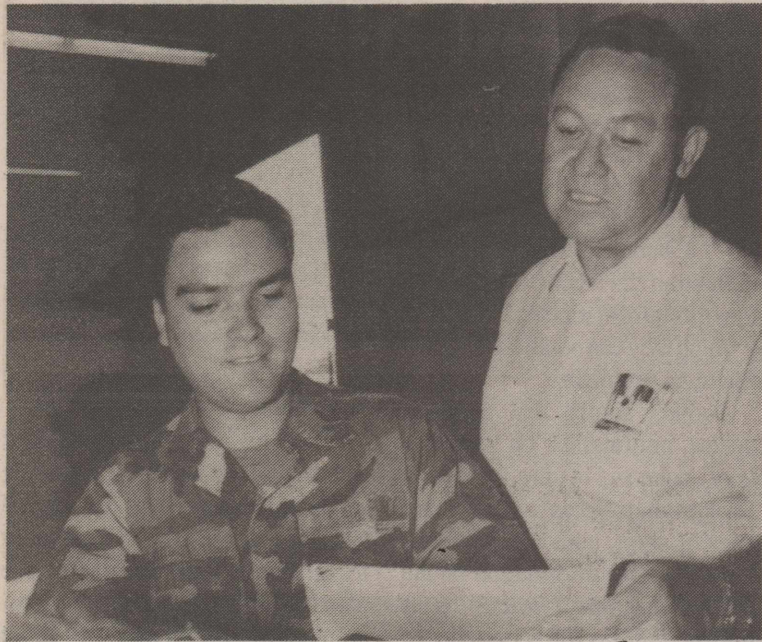

During his visit, he attended a maintenance conversion briefing, given by Lt. Col. Robert House, Reese's maintenance control officer.

He also presented three awards in resource management. The first award was presented for the 1988 ATC Best Material Storage and Distribution Branch.

James Truelock was presented the 1988 ATC Civilian Junior Manager of the Year award, WS-9 and below category. Truelock is the 64th Supply Squadron's material storage and distribution officer.

News Briefs

911 underway

The new emergency 911 telephone system is underway. The system has a direct line to the command post, which in turn connects the calls to the applicable agencies; fire department, hospital and security police.

The system allows three base phone calls and two base-housing phone calls to be received at one time. If more calls are received at once, a busy signal will transmit over the excess lines. In the event of a busy signal, hang up and try again.

Graduation

The Noncommissioned Officers Leadership School graduation is May 11 at the Enlisted Open Mess. Social hour begins at 6:30 p.m., dinner begins at 7 p.m. The guest speaker for the event is CMSgt. Lee Lucas, senior enlisted advisor, 96th Bombardment Wing, Dyess AFB, Texas. All base personnel are invited to attend. Please RSVP by May 5 by calling the PME Center, 3147.

NCO Status

The Noncommissioned Officers Status ceremony is today at 4 p.m. at the Enlisted Open Mess. All base personnel are invited to attend.

Reese personnel wanting the base photo lab to shoot or process photos for publication, in the ROUNDUP must first coordinate the request with the Public Affairs

Division. To obtain authorization for such audio/visual support, either contact the ROUNDUP staff at 3843/3236 or bring a completed AF Form 833 by public affairs, Bldg. 800, Room 204, for review/approval. The photo lab will not accept work request citing the base paper or public release as justification unless the request has been validated by the Public Affairs Division.

Tip of the week

Parts of pens and pencils may be exposed when carried in the compartment of the left pocket of the fatigue or battle dress uniform. Except as authorized above, wallets, pencils, pens, check books, watch chains or fobs, pins, jewelry, handkerchiefs, combs, cigars, cigarettes, pipes and sunglasses are not exposed while in uniform. Items in pockets will not detract from a proper military image. For more information call 3402.

"Chip seal"

The contractor will begin "chip seal" of base streets Saturday. The streets and parking lots will be closed to traffic while they make the application of asphalt, aggregate and rolling, approximately 45 minutes. Each intersection will be barricaded and flagmen will be on station until each section is completed and ready for traffic. Most intersections have alternate routes traffic can use. The following streets and parking lots will be

"chip sealed": Golf Course Road, S. Main, C, E, J, K, 5th, 10th and 11th Streets; also the front and rear parking lots for Bldg. 800 and the parking lot from 10th to 11th Street. For information call 3916.

Attention officers

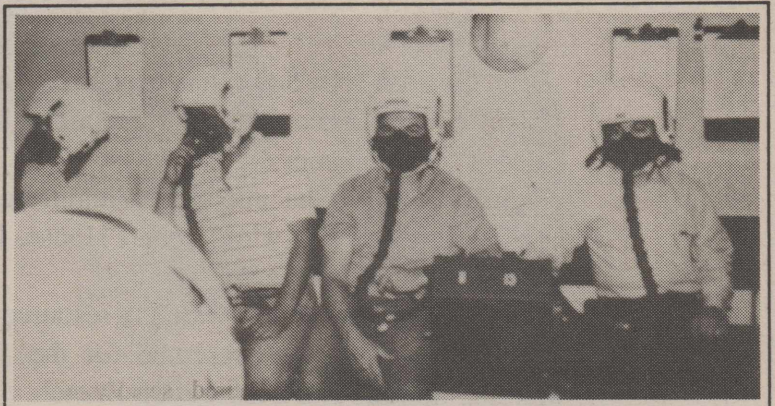

The customer service desk at the Consolidated Base Personnel Office has the revised AF Form 90 guide available to assist you in filling out the new form dated Jan 89. If you are in need of one, stop by the customer service desk, CBPO.

Overseas info

Air Force members being re-assigned overseas require timely information about their projected duty location in order to minimize problems normally associated with relocation. Within available resources, the Air Force Individualized Newcomer Treatment and Orientation (INTRO) program provides this information and a method by which they can obtain answers to individual problems.

Another source that provides concise information on virtually every country in the world is "Background Notes"—a unique series of short, authoritative pamphlets that give information on the history, geography, culture, government, politics and economics of a country, plus travel tips on climate and clothing, health precautions, transportation, visa requirements and tourist attractions. For more information call 3276.

Florida Air Guard

The Florida Air National Guard is in the process of opening a satellite communications unit at Patrick AFB, Fla. Qualified 304XXs interested in applying for Palace Chase or Palace Front assignments should contact SMSgt. James Long, AUTOVON 854-4007.

Texas Air Guard

The Texas Air National Guard is looking for personnel separating soon or considering the Palace Chase program. You may qualify for the Palace Front program in one of our needed specialties in communications electronics. For more information call AUTOVON 954-2478 or commercial (409) 727-2336.

ALL MENU ITEMS SUBJECT TO CHANGE WITHOUT NOTICE DUE TO THE AVAILABILITY OF ITEMS

OOM offers special dining

The Reese Officers' Open Mess has a new service for members who are looking for a special weekend dining experience set in a classical, refined setting.

Every Saturday from 6 - 9 p.m., the club is offering formal dining in the Jack Davis Room. Although the dress requirements are no different from those normally in effect (no shorts), the service is anything but ordinary.

A new menu featuring many fine dining choices has been put together. It contains selections for every palate, such as shrimp scampi, filet mignon and more. Entrees from the menu range from $6.95 to $11.95.

Special entrees aren't the menu's only attraction. A dessert cart with different dessert choices is also available.

In addition to the menu's appeal, the Davis Room provides the perfect atmosphere for an enjoyable meal.

Community notes

Mother's Day cards

The Youth Center is sponsoring a Mother's Day card contest for all children 6 - 18 years of age. Bring cards to the Youth Center. Age divisions are: 10 years and below and 11 years and up. Entry deadline and judging is May 12 at 5 p.m. Winners will receive a beautiful flower tribute. For more information call 3820.

Youth picnics

Reese youths close out the Month of the Military Child with picnics. The Child Development Center is holding an open house and picnic today from 11:30 a.m. - 1 p.m. Cost is $2 per plate. The menu includes hot dogs, baked beans, potato salad, chips and a Jello/fruit salad. Parents wishing to volunteer their services should call 3541.

The Youth Center is having a bar-b-q at the center tomorrow from 4 - 6 p.m. Cost is $1, and the menu includes hot dogs, hamburgers, baked beans, chips, drinks and a surprise dessert.

Honor guard

The Reese Honor Guard performed 41 details on base and throughout the South Plains this past quarter. The details included change of command ceremonies, funerals, banquets, Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School and Preparatory Course graduations and a performance at the Miss Texas Tech pageant. The ceremonies required an average of three hours and six members to perform. Currently comprised of 39 members, the honor guard is seeking 11 or more highly motivated airmen and NCOs to represent Reese AFB and the U.S. Air Force in ceremonies on base and across the South Plains. Anyone interested can pick up an application from SrA. David Ramirez, honor guard NCOIC, Bldg. 16. Call 3738 for more information.

Kindergarten 1989-90

Registration for children who will be attending kindergarten classes during the 1989-90 school year is Thursday, 3 - 5 p.m., at all elementary schools in the Frenship Independent School District.

Students eligible for kindergarten must be 5 years old on or before Sept. 1, 1989. Parents should register their children at the school they will be attending. The following will be brought to school when registering:

- Shot record
- Birth certificate
- Social security number

For more information, contact Dan Newberry, Reese Elementary School, 885-4910.

New manager

Reese is seeking an experienced, aggressive and motivated Federal Women's Program manager. For more information call 3975 or 3973.

Farm visit

The child development center is going on a field trip to the Texas Tech Farm in New Deal, Texas, May 5 at 9:30 a.m. For more information call 3541.

Reese Manor fee

Beginning Monday, a user/maintenance fee for Reese Manor will be charged for private functions, to include private parties, wedding receptions, baby showers or other personal gatherings. The fees will be charged as follows: $25 — Department of Defense employees and $50 — any civilians, private organizations or groups.

There will be no charge for official functions such as: Commander's Calls and meetings for base-recognized organizations.

For more information, contact the recreation center at 3787.

AFCOMS bi-plane

Bowlers return from ATC tourney

The Reese team which represented the base at this year's Air Training Command Bowling Tournament on Chanute AFB, Ill., recently returned from the competition.

While the results may not have been as good as hoped for, the team didn't return without making a mark at the tournament.

Mark Orison and Jerry Ballard managed to take sixth place out of 26 teams in the doubles competition. They finished the event with 2,434 pins, 163 behind the Chanute pair which took the doubles.

In the women's doubles, Sheila Newman and Gretchen Vermilye took fourth with 2,036 pins. They also placed fifth and sixth, respectively, in both the women's singles and the women's overall competition. The pair just missed getting a spot on the ATC team.

In both the team event and the overall competition, Reese finished in the middle of the pack. Individually, Orison led the team with 3,498 pins with teammate Ray Moore only 16 off the pace.

Four of the six bowlers were repeats from past ATC tournaments. One of them, Orison, said his average at the competition far exceeded his usual performance.

"I averaged almost 195 during the tournament," he said. "I carried a 165 here." He credited the level of competition as one of the reasons for his bowling at Chanute, along with the condition of the lanes.

Rattlers get rolling

Base varsity teams start season

By Sgt. Mike Breslin
Staff Writer, Roundup

Both the men's and women's softball seasons have been underway for a few weeks, and the coaches of the two Reese teams recently took time to talk about how the season is shaping up for the base teams.

On the men's side, the Rattlers are coming off a 12-6 victory against the River Smiths Tuesday night. The win marked the team's (mention first two losses) first victory against two losses. Prior to that, the team placed fourth in a base tournament held Saturday and Sunday.

The Rattlers were one of 10 teams in the competition, and their fourth-place finish came on the strength of a 3-2 record.

As for the balance of the season, player/coach Gary Grant admits improvements are needed. "We have to work on our hitting," he said, prior to Tuesday's game. "In our second game, we got four hits—you can't win games like that. Hopefully, Tuesday's win is the start of a trend at the plate for the Rattlers.

Grant also mentioned that the Rattlers still have to work on playing together as a team. However, the team isn't without bright spots. In addition to the progress the team has been showing defensively, there are eight players who played with the Reese team at the command tournament last year. "Their experience should come in handy when it comes time for the tournament," Grant said.

Also, while team hitting may have been a problem, there are several players who have been swinging a hot bat. The hottest of them all belongs to infielder Todd Codgill, who's batting .619 with eight home runs and 31 runs batted in after only 42 at bats.

Meanwhile, the Lady Rattlers are off to a fast start, going 2-0 and posting a fifth-place finish and 4-2 record in a downtown tournament held Saturday and Sunday. Two team members, first baseman Melissa Ward and shortstop Wendy Williams, were named most valuable players in the team's first and third games, respectively.

Prior to the tournament, the team's coach expressed cautious optimism about the team's performance so far. "We've looked good in the first two games, but we really don't know how good the competition in the league is yet," said Ivan Cole.

"However, even though it's early, I'd say this is the most talent we've had in the three years I've been with the team," he continued. "Right now, we need to work on playing together as a team. Fielding, turning the double plays, and so on — is where we need work."

The next test for the women's team is this weekend. The women's varsity team from Cannon AFB, N.M. will match up with the Lady Rattlers in games at noon Saturday and 1 p.m. Sunday at the ball fields by the Reese Youth Center.

The men's next game is at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday against Monterey White. The men play all their regular league games on Buerl Huffman Field Four.

Rattler outfielder Leo Jones connects with a pitch during first-inning action Saturday against the 2040th Communications Squadron. The two teams locked up during a base tournament, with the Rattlers going down to defeat, 6-5. (U.S. Air Force photo by Sgt. Mike Breslin)
