Amarillo Man Becomes Lake's Third Drowning Victim Saturday

Michael Scott Adair, 21, of Amarillo, became the third drowning victim in the history of Lake Mackenzie Saturday afternoon.

Briscoe County Sheriff Dick Roehr said that three boys, one of whom was Adair, jumped off a cliff and into about 60 feet of water on the south side of Lake Mackenzie, a popular but dangerous sport among area young people, and attempted to swim about 125 yards to the gas dock at the Cactus Cove Marina. The man disappeared beneath the water about 35 or 40 yards from the dock at 3:08 p.m. One of his friends attempted to help him, but Adair slipped from his grasp.

Adair was described as a poor swimmer and not in the best of physical condition. He had taken off his shoes about midway to the gas dock.

Rescuers were at the scene about 4:00 p.m. and began dragging operations, but divers didn't arrive until about 9:00 p.m. The water in the area is estimated at 30 to more than 50 feet deep, and is very cold. The divers worked until about midnight, using flashlights which illuminated only a few inches in the dark murky waters.

The search was suspended at midnight, with volunteers from Silverton and Quitaque standing watch over the area until the search resumed at 7:00 a.m. Sunday.

The divers brought up the body at 11:10 a.m. Sunday from about 43 feet of water in the approximate location that had been pinpointed by eyewitnesses. In the daytime, divers could see from about a foot to several feet underwater.

Adair lived with close friends in Amarillo, and his friends, parents, and a brother-in-law arrived at the lake about 5:00 p.m. Saturday. They were overnight guests of Mrs. Bess McWilliams at Coronado Shores (on the north side of the lake) and were at the lake when the body was recovered.

The body was brought to Schooler-Gordon Funeral Home in Silverton, and was transferred to Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo for an autopsy, which had been ordered by Justice of the Peace James Edwards, acting as coroner, who pronounced the man dead at the scene. The autopsy report indicated that the man had cramps due to having just eaten, and drowned.

The water in Lake Mackenzie is very deep and very cold, and divers had to use a special mixture in their air tanks to be able to carry out the search and removal of the body. The divers were from the Amarillo Police Department.

Sheriff Roehr asked that the Briscoe County News express the appreciation of the Sheriff's Department, other law enforcement officers, personnel of the Silverton Volunteer Fire Department, Silverton Volunteer Ambulance Service, Lake Mackenzie personnel and others at the scene for all who helped, furnished boats, ran errands, kept the lines of communication open, and those who prepared and served food for those working in the rescue operation. "The support of those who provided food was greatly appreciated," Sheriff Roehr emphasized.

Funeral services for Adair were at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday at San Jacinto Baptist Church. Officiating were Ron Trusler of First Southern Baptist Church in Fritch and the Rev. Stan Coffey.

Graveside services were at 2:00 p.m. Wednesday in Portales Cemetery at Portales, New Mexico by Schooler-Gordon Funeral Directors.

Mr. Adair, born in Portales, had lived in Amarillo six years. He had worked for Amarillo Hardware and was a member of the San Jacinto Baptist Church.

Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Adair of Amarillo; two sisters, Michell Cline and Kristina Adair, both of Amarillo; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Marshall of San Jon, New Mexico.

1983 Tax Collections Up From Previous Year

During the regular meeting of Briscoe County Tax Appraisal District's board of directors, Chief Appraiser Carlye Hill reported that 1983 collections are up from last year. Collections through the month of June are Briscoe County, 96.1%; Silverton ISD, 95.9%; City of Silverton, 96.7%; Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority, 96.4%. This amounts to 96.0% of the total 1984 taxes collected, as compared with 94.0% paid at this time last year.

All taxpayer's accounts which are still unpaid have been turned over to the District's tax attorneys as of July 1, 1984, and delinquent taxpayers should be receiving letters from the attorney's office soon, Mrs. Hill added.

Directors present at the meeting were L. B. Garvin, jr., Robert McPherson, Ray Teeple and Paul Ramsey. Director Joe Mercer was not in attendance.

The meeting was called to order by Chairman Garvin and Secretary Teeple read the minutes of the June 14 meeting. The motion was made by McPherson and seconded by Ramsey to correct the motion, "to pay for Carlye's tuition and travel expense to remaining schools required for her certification, and that she must complete her certification by June 1986" as follows: "motion by McPherson, seconded by Ramsey that Carlye must get her certification by June 1986."

The financial report was given by Mrs. Hill. Current month's bills were examined, and the motion carried to pay all bills presented.

It was reported that the Board of Review met to begin hearing taxpayer protests on June 29, and that their next hearing date is set for July 16.

A called meeting of the directors was held on July 5, at which time it had been proposed to discuss the proposed 1985 budget with the taxing jurisdictions. No representative from any of the jurisdictions being present, there was some discussion among the board members and chief appraiser pertaining to the proposed budget. At the regular meeting, the motion carried to adopt the 1985 budget.

WATERMELON LESSONS

Many relish watermelon. True, the seeds get in the way, but we "spit 'em out and go on eating." In life, setbacks may "get in the way," but it may be well to "spit 'em out and go on!" If life hands you a lemon, make lemonade.

William Jennings Bryan noted that a watermelon seed planted would, under influence of sun and rain, gather 200,000 times its weight and force it through a stem and build a watermelon. Outside, a green covering; within a rind of white and a core of seed-sprinkled red, each seed capable of doing the same work over again (Gen. 1:11-12). He queried, "What architect drew the plan? Where did that seed get its might, its flavoring extract, its coloring matter? Until you can explain a watermelon, do not be too sure that you can set limits to the power of the Almighty, or tell just what He would do, or how He would do it. The most learned man cannot explain a watermelon, but the most ignorant can relish it."

Another lesson: watermelon seeds produce just watermelons! Not cucumber nor squash. In the matchless parable of our Lord (Lk. 8:4-15) "the seed is the word of God." If I will provide good soil ("an honest and good heart") for God's seed (word), in obedience "from the heart" (Rom. 6:17), the "produce" will be exactly what God wants!

"Custom is lord of all mankind." Pushkin

FOOD POISONING

The "poison" in food poisoning is actually produced by a certain bacteria, a type of staphylococcus, which contaminates food, says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist.

The poison is eaten with the food and produces symptoms such as nausea and vomiting.

The bacteria often reach food from the hands of the person preparing it. But even when you're careful to wash your hands, bacteria from the skin, hair or throat can be spread to food, she explains.

The best way to prevent food poisoning is to keep hot foods hot and cold foods cold, so that bacteria don't have a chance to produce their poison.

A&M engineer finds oil demand down

COLLEGE STATION — Decreasing demand for oil during the 1980s could extend world petroleum resources as long as 50 years, says an energy expert at Texas A&M University.

"None of the forecasters of the late 1970s was correct in predicting the world supply of oil would begin a long decline by the year 2000," said Dr. Robert Wattenbarger, a petroleum engineer who developed crude oil supply models for Saudi Arabia and the OPEC cartel from 1975 to 1981.

"Increased efficiency, conservation and fuel switching have cut demand for oil," he said. "Forecasters thought the trend of increased oil demand would continue. What has actually happened is outside all our predicted ranges."

Wattenbarger said world oil resources can meet current demand until around the year 2040. Political interruptions could change the future, he admitted.

But "running out" of oil is not a good term, he said. "We will eventually see a long, slow decline with switches to alternate energy sources," said Wattenbarger.

SELECTING PROPER EQUIPMENT FOR COOKING OUTDOORS

There's a large assortment of grills—charcoal, gas and electric—from which to choose. So let cooking experience, prospective use and budget be your shopping guide.

(a) Braziers: The simplest models of this most popular grill style have shallow firebowls set on three or four legs. More elaborate braziers have half-hoods, covers, electric rotisseries and wheels. They may have adjustable grids and draft doors for temperature control.

(b) Hibachis: Usually made of cast iron, these Oriental-inspired grills vary greatly in size. They are most often used for hors d'oeuvres and small-scale barbecuing on patio, porch, even indoors.

(c) Cooking Kettles: Sometimes described as large Dutch ovens on legs, these grills can be used for broiling or to cook large cuts of meat by indirect heat with minimum watching. They can be used year around, even on damp and windy days. Some units have thermometers in the hood and rotisserie attachments.

(d) Gas Grills: Fast starts and quick heat control are the main advantages of these year-around cooking units that are fueled with natural or bottled gas. If stationary, gas can be piped in underground; if mobile, gas is provided in a portable tank. Depending on type, gas is fed into burners under a bed of ceramic briquets or infra-red units in the lid of the grill. A work surface is attached to some of these grills.

(e) Electric Grills: Another year-around cooking unit that requires no charcoal, the electric grill offers a range of temperature selection and usually better heat control making it unnecessary to raise or lower the grill. Many have rotisseries.

(f) Camp Stoves: These include one, two or three burner units fueled with gasoline in detachable, refillable tanks. These collapsible, portable stoves are compact, lightweight and easy to transport and use.

(g) Stationary barbecue fireplaces: Made of brick or brick and field stone, these are permanent structures built in individual backyards or public picnic areas.

TIPS FOR BUILDING YOUR CHARCOAL FIRE

Your success at grillside will depend in large part, on a good fire—one of the size required for the food to be cooked. The following are general guidelines for building a fire with charcoal briquets. Because grills vary, be sure to read and follow manufacturer's instructions.

Place the grill away from buildings, trees, dry grass and shrubs. A draft is necessary but do check wind direction so smoke will not interfere with activities.

Pile briquets in a pyramid in center of the grill base that has been lined with heavy duty aluminum foil and covered with a shallow layer of gravel or vermiculite. The number of briquets needed will depend on the size of the grill and the amount of food to be cooked.

About 20 to 30 minutes before you plan to begin cooking, start the fire with an electric starter placed on the briquets; or a liquid starter poured over them, then ignited; or kindling of crushed paper or dry wood, ignited under briquets.

The fire is ready when coals are covered with ash and glowing in the center. For grill-top cooking, spread coals in a layer so heat will be distributed evenly. They may be just touching or up to an inch apart. Place the grid over the coals and you're ready to begin cooking. For rotisserie cooking, place a drip pan under the rotisserie rod and arrange coals around the drip pan.

Pesticide chemicals more important than the product's name

COLLEGE STATION — Garden enthusiasts combatting insects this summer should look for the active chemical when buying pesticides rather than the product's name, says a Texas A&M University entomologist.

"You'll be better off looking for the active ingredients you want," said Dr. Rodney Holloway. "because products often contain the same ingredients but are sold by different companies which use their own marketing formula and charge different prices. The amount you pay doesn't always indicate how much pesticide you are buying."

In many cases different pesticides can be used in the same situation, he added. Diazinon, malathion, Sevin and Dursban are the most popular insecticides and will kill fleas, mites, aphids and cockroaches inside and outside the house, Holloway said. Chlordane is limited by the Environmental Protection Agency for termite control only.

In the old days, when falconry was in favor, first class birds were sold to European kings for the equivalent of thousands of dollars a bird.

Harman-Reid Vows Exchanged In Menard Saturday

MRS. BILL REID

Kellie Lynn Harman of Amarillo and William Robert Reid of Silverton were married Saturday in a ceremony at Menard Presbyterian Church in Menard with the Rev. Roger Sidener performing the service.

The church altar was decorated with two 15-branch candelabra holding ivory tapers accented with greenery and peach roses. Large bouquets of peach and ivory flowers flanked the candelabra. Pews were marked with bouquets of peach satin ribbon.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride is the daughter of Thomas Edward Harman of Menard and Mrs. Gerald Wayne Williamson of Amarillo. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Warren Reid, jr. of Silverton.

The bride chose a formal-length ivory gown by Joelle of organza and wedgewood lace trimmed with Venise lace, featuring a wedding band collar of Venise lace sprinkled with pearls and sequins and a sheer drop shoulder yoke of English net outlined with lace which cascaded onto her fitted basque bodice of wedgewood lace. Her pouf sleeves of organza were detailed with vertical bands of Venise lace and topped with a ruffle of wedgewood lace and a satin bow. Her gathered skirt of organza was bordered with a wide flounce edged with rows of wedgewood lace and was accented with satin bows. Her skirt swept into a chapel-length train in back.

Her fingertip veil of illusion was gathered onto a pouf scattered with pearls and was attached to a halo of silk blossoms and wedgewood lace. Ribbon streamers dotted with silk flowers drifted down her back.

Serving as maid of honor was Paige Parker, and the flower girl was Star Harman, sister of the bride. Miss Parker wore a peach chiffon floor-length gown designed with crystal pleated skirt and matching capelet. She carried a mixed bouquet of ivory and peach flowers. Little Miss Harman wore a peach organza floor-length dress with ribbon at the waist and sleeves, and a halo of peach silk flowers.

The bridegroom's father served as best man.

Guests were seated by the bride's brother, Todd Harman, and the bridegroom's brother, Gene Smith of Grapevine.

A reception was held in the Episcopal Parish House in Menard, hosted by Mrs. Thomas Harman, stepmother of the bride, and Margaret Harman, the bride's grandmother.

Mrs. Todd Harman registered the guests at a table decorated with ivory and peach flowers and an ivory candle in a silver holder.

The bride's table was covered with a floor-length ivory lace cloth. The table was decorated with a bouquet of peach and ivory flowers in a silver bowl and silver candlesticks holding ivory tapers. Punch was poured from a silver bowl and was served using crystal appointments with the ivory wedding cake which was designed in three tiers and was topped with roses and baby's breath.

The groom's table was covered with a matching floor-length lace cloth, and held an arrangement of peach and ivory flowers in a silver bowl, a silver candelabra with ivory tapers and a silver champagne fountain. The groom's cake was chocolate and was surrounded with peach rosebuds and greenery.

For traveling, the bride chose a light blue and ivory dress with ivory accessories and a corsage of ivory flowers. After their honeymoon trip, the couple will be at home southwest of Silverton where the bridegroom is engaged in farming and ranching.

The bride is a graduate of Cooper High School and attended Angelo State University and Amarillo College. The groom is a graduate of Silverton High School.

BARBECUE LUNCH

A barbecue lunch was hosted at noon Saturday for the out-of-town wedding guests by the bride's Grandfather Wilkinson.

Mr. Brannon and the former Gladys Vaughan were married July 17, 1934 at the Baptist parsonage in Silvertown by the Rev. J. E. Anderson.

The Brannons made their home in Silvertown and he worked as a self-employed carpenter until 1960, when they moved to Cedar Hill and operated a store. Later they moved to Floydada, and moved to Quanah in 1964.

Miss Meurer Is Shower Honoree Here Saturday

Miss Vickie Meurer, bride-elect of Joe Edd Arnold, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower on the afternoon of Saturday, July 7, in the Pioneer Room at First State Bank.

Guests were greeted by Mary Jane Patton and presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Christy Bartholmew, to her stepmother, Mrs. Arvilla Meurer and to the mother of the prospective bridegroom, Mrs. Lettie Hahn.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth and napkins used were in the chosen colors of the bride-elect, blue, orchid, yellow and pink. The centerpiece was made of grape ivy with yellow daisies in a wicker basket which was presented as a gift to the honoree. Punch, assorted cookies, nuts and fruit served from a carved watermelon were enjoyed by the guests. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Lisa Grabbe and Shelly Gould served the guests.

A special guest was Gladys Meurer, grandmother of the bride.

Patton, Sandy Harris, Della Boling, Shelly Gould, Rose Mary Perkins, Mary Lou Jarrett, Waynelle Couch, Lanita Cantwell, Alice Grabbe, Mary Myers, Pat Fitzgerald and Lisa Grabbe.

Agriculture-Related Businesses May Be Eligible For Assistance

Agriculture related businesses in several Texas counties may be eligible to apply for financial assistance from the U. S. Small Business Administration (SBA) under the Agency's Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL) program.

Ag-related businesses who sustained economic injury and business losses due to a variety of physical disasters from May 1, 1983 to November 30, 1983 may be eligible for the EIDL loans through August 1, 1984, according to Philip J. O'Jibway, district director of SBA's Lubbock office.

Texas counties included in the declaration are Comanche, Dickens, Donley, Eastland, Fisher, Foard, Hockley, Jones, Kent, Menard, Mills, Motley, Potter, San Saba, Scurry, Swisher, Tom Green, Briscoe, Crosby, Dallam, Randall, Floyd and Taylor.

"Only business loan applicants who are determined unable to obtain credit elsewhere are eligible for assistance," O'Jibway said. "EIDL loans are made by the SBA to small businesses sustaining substantial economic injury as a direct result of the physical disaster in their county, whether or not the business had actual physical damage."

The interest rate for eligible businesses under SBA's EIDL program is eight percent.

O'Jibway said individual business owners seeking more information or requesting loan applications may contact SBA's Area 3 Disaster Office at 2306 Oak Lane, Suite 110, Grand Prairie, Texas 75051 or call toll free 800 442-7206.

A&M study shows overhead fans help save on utility bills

COLLEGE STATION — The use of overhead fans could save residents of the Southwest up to 30 percent on their annual utility bills, the preliminary results of a Texas A&M University study show.

Researchers Larry Degelman, professor of architecture and of environmental design, and graduate students Syd Spain say the study is the first to look at actual energy savings due to the use of fans in the Southwest.

"Fans are a big hope for saving energy in hot months," Degelman said. "They could have the biggest impact on saving cooling energy since natural lighting."

The full study will examine the effects of the conventional ceiling fans and a system similar to the "whole house" or attic fan which draws air from the outside through the house and then exhausts the air into the attic and the outside.

More Than Just Versatile.

Versatile™ has been a pretty successful Canadian company. And because their main products are four-wheel-drives, some people equate their tractors to Steiger's. But when you really look at the two, there are some big differences.

More drawbar horsepower.

Look at Steiger's 325 hp. Panther CP-1325 and Versatile's 335 hp. 945. With 10 more engine horsepower under the hood, the Versatile seems like a bigger tractor. But at the drawbar the Steiger proves its power by putting 275 hp to work, while the Versatile delivers only 265 hp*.

Take a look at the Steiger's 12 mm (1/2 in.) frame next to Versatile's 9.4 mm (3/8 in.). It won't take you long to see why Steiger's shipping weight is 5190 lbs. heavier than the Versatile's.

Greater shifting ease

Compare the Steiger's 12-speed PowerPulse Controlled transmission, that lets you shift at the touch of the lever, to the Versatile's "stop and shift" manual transmission. The Steiger also has closed-center load-sensing hydraulics that deliver the flow and pressure required to meet a specific load. The Versatile has open-center. And try to compare Steiger's on-board computer to anything that's available on the Versatile.

There are many other differences. Like the Steiger's 10% larger fuel tank. 11.5 inch longer wheel base. 45% greater 3-point hitch lift capacity. 44% greater alternator amperage. Optional PTO. The list goes on and on...

You be the judge.

If you're looking for a four-wheel-drive, we encourage you to compare the two. The differences will soon show you that the most versatile four-wheel-drive for you might well be a Steiger.

WATERMELON TIME IS FUN TIME

"Nature's Treat, Nutritious, Delicious and Sweet" is a slogan for the Texas Watermelon Association. The sweet, juicy, red fruit is a favorite of many people at this time of year. Watermelons have been cultivated by man for more than 4,000 years.

One of the nice things about watermelons is that they are low in calories and full of health-giving nutrients, including Vitamin A, calcium and ascorbic acid. One 4"x8" wedge has only 115 calories. An average watermelon is about 92% water and 8% natural sugar, which makes it an unsurpassed summer thirst quencher. Watermelons are usually the cheapest fruit per pound that you can buy. When selecting watermelons look for a firm, symmetrical shape. Although there are no positive methods for selecting watermelons, several outward signs can be used as a guide to ripeness and quality. Mature melons have a velvety bloom—a dull rather than a shiny surface. The underside of the ripe melon is yellowish in color, beginning to turn from a white or pale green to light yellow. The basic outside color of a watermelon usually ranges from a deep solid green to a gray, depending on variety. Also sweetness is largely dependent on variety, not appearance. Major production areas in Texas for watermelons are South Texas, the Winter Garden area, Falfurrias-Hebronville and DeLeon, and some production occurs in the Panhandle around the Silverton and Quitaque area.

Currently watermelon supply is adequate and quality is average to good. The majority of watermelons are smaller than in years past due to dry weather conditions during the spring and early summer.

Watermelons—nature's treat, are sold in supermarkets, farmer's markets, roadside stands and from trucks parked on busy street corners. Current prices in Amarillo and area supermarkets range from $1.99 - $2.49 for a 19 pound melon to $3.98 for a 25 pound melon. Watermelon prices usually drop after the Fourth of July, which is the peak season for watermelons.

Since summer fruits and vegetables are a short-lived luxury—indulge in those juicy, mouth-watering Texas watermelons!

A squirrel has no color vision, it sees only in black and white.

Some children will tell you that their favorite subject in school is recess—leisure and playtime. Adults are no different. We all look forward to and need vacation time. Webster defines vacation as "a scheduled period during which activity is suspended." "A period of exemption from work granted to an employee for rest and relaxation." "A period spent away from home or business in travel or recreation." Since children are out of school and the hot humid days make concentration difficult, the summertime is the most popular season for vacationers. While vacations to other states and far away places are fun and exciting, we have many adventurous and educational activities, for the entire family to enjoy, here in our own backyard—Texas!

Various agricultural industries and crops provide excellent opportunities for children, as well as adults, to increase their knowledge of the importance of agriculture in this state. Pick-your-own type operations are a good example. Located throughout the state, farmers and producers, allow consumers to pick their own fruits and vegetables. Activities such as this provide children with a better understanding of the origins of the food they eat. Another added bonus is that the fruits and vegetables in Texas are tree and vine ripened, thereby providing more flavor.

Pick-your-own peaches usually cost between $5.00 and $10.00 per bushel, already picked between $10.00 and $15.00. If your household is small, take a friend, relative or neighbor along and divide the cost and peaches.

Those succulent, golden Texas peaches with the rosy blush, are currently available for picking in the Texas Hill Country. They will be at peak season the first to middle of July. The clingstone peach varieties are currently available in the High Plains around the Hedley, Clarendon and Wheeler areas. The free-stone varieties will be available beginning in mid-July.

Blueberries—a relatively new fruit crop, is in bloom in East Texas. Currently the acres of blueberries in East Texas number between 250-300. The rich sandy acid soil in East Texas is practically the only area in the state where blueberries can be grown. Although it will be several years before blueberries from Texas will be available for statewide consumption, between June 15 and July 31, pick-your-own operations for Texas blueberries and in some places, blackberries, will abound. The East Texas area is also noted for its Tyler roses and historic homes.

Pick-your-own operations are not the only place in Texas to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables. Through the efforts of the Texas Department of Agriculture's Direct Marketing Program and Commissioner Jim Hightower, in 1983 farmers markets were established in Sherman-Denison, Tyler, Vernon and Waco. Additional farmers markets will open this summer in various areas of the state. Farmers markets offer vacationers and consumers a chance to purchase fresh fruits and vegetables, along with other agricultural products, directly from the farmer or producer. When consumers purchase items from a farmers market, they know they are buying high quality vine or tree ripened, flavorful fruits and vegetables. Imagine tomatoes and carrots with fresh-from-the-garden flavor! Roadside stands, orchards and farmers markets provide families with the opportunity to visit with the farmer about the production and growing process of his commodity. This can be a valuable learning experience for urban oriented children.

The Texas wine and grape industry offers vacationers a chance to tour vineyards and wineries and learn about the state's most recent developing agricultural industries. Texas currently has thirteen wineries located throughout the state with a fourteenth to start production in July. Some of the wineries are open for tours by appointment only, others are open to the public Monday-Saturday.

A summer-long journey or a weekend excursion, the opportunities to explore, learn and enjoy await vacationers in Texas!

Mr. and Mrs. Berton Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall of Memphis were in Vernon on the Fourth of July for a family get-together at the home place of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Renfro. The Fourth of July was a lovely day and games of croquet were enjoyed on the back lawn all day as well as games of "42" and other games throughout the house. The chef, Gerald Gillespie, prepared the meats on the outside grill which was complimented by all kinds of salads. A special birthday cake was made to honor those having birthdays in June and July.

The day was spent in visiting, taking pictures and playing games. Some video tapes and movies were shown of the children and parents in earlier days which was enjoyed by all.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall, Memphis; Mr. and Mrs. Berton Hughes, Silverton; Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Renfro and their two sons and families, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Renfro and four boys and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Renfro, all of Vernon, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gillespie, and Gayle Renfro.

Also attending were the children of the Gillespie's, Ron Overmyer of Los Angeles, California, Mr. and Mrs. Kip Thornton, Anna and Matthew of Cleveland, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Dennis of Lubbock.

All of the immediate family of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Renfro were there except R. L. Renfro of Fort Worth. Rev. and Mrs. Randy Hughes, Amy and Matthew of Roscoe were unable to attend, but were by there a week ago to visit the home place and Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gillespie.

Mr. and Mrs. Berton Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall brought Gayle Renfro to Memphis for a visit. The Hughes returned home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Carver Monroe recently had a vacation come to an abrupt end. They were visiting some of the northern states and near Aberdeen, South Dakota Carver suffered a fall. They are home now and he is recovering from broken ribs and numerous bruises and abrasions. They report that because of excessive rains, the scenery was beautiful; but home never looked so good.

DRIVING SKILLS IMPORTANT FOR BOTH SPOUSES

After many years of being a two-car family, older couples often settle for one car. And who drives? Mile after mile, short trip or long, the husband does the driving. Seldom does the wife get behind the wheel except to run to the grocery store or to a club meeting, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Aging specialist Dr. Judith Warren.

Some wives simply stop driving and fail to renew their driver's licenses. Then when their husbands become ill or they are widowed, these wives may become stranded and dependent, although they remain in good health and have a car in the garage.

The thoughtful husband will insist that his wife drive at least half the time, even in freeway traffic, so that if necessary, she can become a competent widow, Dr. Warren says.
