OBITUARIES

T. S. STEVENSON, SR.
 Funeral services for T. S. Stevenson, sr., 97, of Canyon were conducted at 10:00 a.m. Friday at the Schooler-Gordon-Herring Funeral Chapel in Canyon. Officiating was the Rev. Jim Hancock, pastor of First Baptist Church in Canyon.

Masonic graveside rites were conducted in Memory Gardens Cemetery at Amarillo by Canyon City Lodge No. 730 AF&AM.

Mr. Stevenson died Tuesday, October 16.

Born in Seymour, Mr. Stevenson was the third youngest child of the late Robert F. and Mary Elizabeth Stevenson. He moved with his parents and eight brothers and sisters, ranging in age from two to nineteen, in February 1892. A wagon pulled by oxen carried the household goods and three wagons pulled by horse and mule teams held the remainder of their possessions. Some cattle and horses were herded along with the family wagon train. They arrived in Silvertown on March 11, 1892.

Their first home was a half-dugout about three miles east of Silvertown. A few months later, the family moved to the "old home place" which was about where the Towe office building is now located.

When he was a small boy, Turner Stevenson began sweeping out at the First National Bank in Silvertown. He wanted to become a banker and as soon as he was old enough accepted a regular job. After spending several years in that bank, he accepted an official position at the First National Bank in Lockney.

He married Molly Penn in 1910 in Silvertown. She died in 1978.

The Turner Stevenson family lived in Lockney several years before he became President of the Floyd County State Bank in Floydada. They spent many years there before moving to Canyon in 1933. There he was in the loan, real estate and insurance business. He owned the Dodge, Plymouth, DeSota dealership until 1951 and Stevenson's Investments until he retired in 1965.

He was a member of First Baptist Church in Canyon, Rotary Club and Senior Citizens Association of Canyon. He was a 32nd Degree Mason and a Shriner.

Survivors include a son, T. S., jr. of Amarillo; a daughter, Mrs. Nell Bright of Sedona, Arizona; eight grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. He was the uncle of Mrs. Bertha Mae Allard and Mrs. Jettie Harcastle, both of Silvertown.

Please be there and be on time. This is a very important practice.

Brownies To Have Annual Investiture

Silvertown Brownie Troop #165 will hold its annual investiture ceremony October 29 at 7:00 p.m. at the bank.

In this ceremony the new Brownie members make their promise and receive their pins.

All parents, grandparents and friends are invited to attend.

Forgeries Being Reported In Area

During the past several months a group of subjects have been passing forged stolen company checks in the West Texas and Panhandle area. The subjects are both male and female, black and white, and they are believed to be operating out of the Lubbock and Amarillo areas.

The forged checks were stolen from companies during normal business hours. They use both a check protector and typewriter to fill out the checks, usually in the amount of $300.00. They pass the forged checks at grocery stores on Friday evenings or weekends or on "double stamp" days.

A stolen Texas driver's license, altered with a photo of passer, is used to pass the checks. The following businesses have had their stolen checks passed in Amarillo: Automotive Automatic, Hi Plains Canvas Products, Douglas & Johnson Motor Company, Camper Round-up, Jeff's Greenhouse, Reynosa Construction, Amarillo Wood Works, McMurray Auto, American Health, American Insurance and Kerr-McGee.

The following names have been used in passing the checks: Jana Matlock, Bonnie Denney, Melody Savelle, Deonn Young, Delores Jones, Dawn Davis, Vickie Reed, Mary Alaniz and Theresa Kelly. Anyone having information regarding this is asked to notify Briscoe County Sheriff Dick Roehr or Texas Ranger Jim Gillespie at Dumas.

Sheriff Roehr has advised local residents not only to be aware of the check cashing scam, but also to protect their checkbooks, because these individuals are looking to steal any checks they can get their hands on.

"The Capitol is the cornerstone of our government. It has been my pleasure to serve with three presidents there during the time I have been your congressman. Two were Republicans, one a Democrat. I have helped each of them when I could, consistent with my own responsibility to represent the people of this district, not hesitating to be a part of the loyal opposition when I thought they were wrong. Fred Dunham Promoted To IVM Sales Force

Fred Scott Dunham of Marlin, son of Mrs. Maxine Morris of Silverton, has been promoted to the Industrial Vegetation Management sales and service force for Velsicol's South District III—covering Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma—according to Walter L. Matheny, District Sales Manager.

Dunham, who is married to the former Sue Lanham, daughter of Mrs. Letha Lanham of Silverton, served with the agricultural products sales force in the same district before receiving the promotion. He has been with Velsicol since March 1982.

Dunham graduated from Silverton High School, and received a bachelor's degree in agricultural business from West Texas State University in 1966. He is active in several agricultural, business and civic organizations, including Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers, Texas Agricultural Chemical Association, Texas Forestry Association, and the Houston-Galveston Drainage Council.

October 29 Is Deadline For Nominations

Only a few days remain to nominate farmers as candidates in the upcoming ASC community committee elections.

First duty of the newly-elected community committee members will be to serve as delegates to elect new members of the county ASC committee. Producers are reminded that this is an important occasion for the responsible farmer-chosen team of ASC community committee members.

The ASC community committee election will be conducted by mail from November 23 to December 3. Voters may also get ballots at the ASCS county office by turning in a total of five or more petitions. Farmers in each ASC community have the opportunity to prepare the slate of nominees themselves.

Shortly after October 29, all petitions will be reviewed. If five or more valid petitions have been received for an ASC community, the county ASCS office will prepare a slate containing the names of all eligible nominees. If less than five valid petitions are received for any ASC community, the incumbent county committee will add nominees needed to complete the slate.

To submit a valid petition, three or more ASC farm voters must sign a statement endorsing an eligible candidate. The statement must include certification that the nominee will serve if elected. Petitions must be dated and mailed or hand-delivered to the county ASC office no later than October 29.

The opportunity to nominate, vote, and be elected to office in the upcoming ASC committee election is guaranteed to all farmers regardless of race, religion, sex, color, or national origin.

HALLOWEEN'S CREATIONS

The Great Pumpkin Cookie turns a trick into a treat for the smallest goblin or the largest ghost.

Halloween is a time for creativity and fun, especially for young children. Finding innovative ways to give old favorite motifs, like ghosts, goblins and witches, a new look plays a large part in the excitement and fun of this happy occasion.

Bringing your child and his/her friends together at a costume party, or for the older children, at a baking party, helps add to the festive air of Halloween. To make these events even more enjoyable, serve the party-goers their favorite beverage and Great Pumpkin Cookies. They're made with good-for-you ingredients including oatmeal and nutritious canned pumpkin. Children can decorate these big, tasty, cookie-face treats in any way they like and even hold friendly competitions over their "artistic" creations. Or, you can decorate them yourself, including in the design the name of each child, and watch their faces light up with surprise!

Tie the "cookie creation" up in a bright kerchief for the child to show at home.

Made with LIBBY'S canned Solid Pack Pumpkin, these cookies are right in season for a tasty and fun celebration of October's sweetest holiday!

LIBBY'S GREAT PUMPKIN COOKIES

2 cups flour
1 cup quick or old fashioned oats uncooked
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup granulated sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 cup LIBBY'S Solid Pack Pumpkin
1 cup semi-sweet real chocolate morsels
Assorted icing or peanut butter
Assorted candies, raisins or nuts

Preheat oven to 350°F. Combine flour, oats, baking soda, cinnamon and salt. Cream butter; gradually add sugars, beating until light and fluffy. Add egg and vanilla; mix well.

Alternate additions of dry ingredients and pumpkin, mixing well after each addition. Stir in morsels. For each cookie, drop 1/4 cup dough onto lightly greased cookie sheet; spread into pumpkin shape using a thin metal spatula. Add a bit more dough to form stem. Bake 20 to 25 minutes, until cookies are firm and lightly browned. Remove from cookie sheets; cool on racks. Decorate, using icing or peanut butter to affix assorted candies, raisins or nuts.

Yields 19 to 20 cookies.

Variation: Substitute 1 cup raisins for morsels.

Although Halloween only lasts for one day, these cookies will be a favorite for a lot longer. So bake them ahead in big batches and use them for snacks and desserts. Both the cookie dough and baked undecorated cookies can be frozen, another aid toward advance planning for Halloween.

Since Halloween is considered to be for children, many adults pass up the pleasure of this fantasy day. But don't pass up everything, at least enjoy your Great Pumpkin Cookies with a little Halloween on each one!

The Great Pumpkin Cookie is one of the more than 140 favorite recipes found in Libby's new "The Great Pumpkin Cookbook." Pumpkin—it's not just for pie anymore.

"Experience is a dear school but fools will learn in no other."

Benjamin Franklin

"Lloyd Doggett is the best thing to hit rural Texas since twist-off caps."

Jim Hightower

LLOYD DOGGETT knows that when our agricultural producers are paid a fair price for their products, it brings prosperity not only to our small town merchants but to our entire state and the U.S. economy in general. And he says, "The mismanagement of the farm program is a national scandal. We don't ask any other segment of our economy to sell their products for less than what it costs to produce them, but current farm policies have done that for three years running and still cost U.S. taxpayers six times more last year than the average farm program costs throughout the entire decade of the '70s. When our farmers are paid a fair price, the rural economy will boom and it will cost taxpayers much less."

Lloyd will fight for a 1985 Farm Bill that will get a handle on overproduction and assure our family farmers of at least recovering their production costs and give them a chance to make a fair profit.

He supports reasonable debt restructuring and a moratorium on farm foreclosures by FmHA until fair price and production policies can be put into place.

In the Texas Legislature, he fought to grant property tax relief to family farmers and ranchers and to deny the relief to giant corporations and land speculators. In the U.S. Senate, he will continue fighting to eliminate tax breaks that give agribusiness conglomerates, "pinstripe farmers" and land speculators a competitive advantage over our farmers and ranchers who aren't in a position to "farm the tax code."

Lloyd authored the Resolution of the Texas Senate to veto a nuclear waste dump in the farmland of the Panhandle.

Lloyd Doggett is the only candidate in this race who has ever had a vote against gun control and he will continue in the U.S. Senate to oppose gun control.

PHIL GRAMM and two big-city Republicans were the only Texas Congressmen this year to support the Dannemeyer amendment designed to gut agriculture. In voting for the Dannemeyer amendment, Gramm in one stroke voted to:

- Slash agricultural price supports and eliminate deficiency payments.
- Reduce federal price support payments and loans to farmers by $16 billion (60%) over three years.
- Phase out farm ownership and operating loans by the Farmers Home Administration and replace them with loan guarantees.
- Eliminate the wool and mohair payment program.

Gramm and a Dallas Republican were the only two members of the Texas delegation to oppose, on March 15 of this year, the Small Business Authorization bill which gave the S.B.A. the authority to make disaster loans to Texas farmers and ranchers being wiped out by the disastrous, ongoing drought.

On Sept. 9, 1982, when he was still calling himself a "Democrat," Gramm voted against allowing farmers to defer their FmHA loan payment if they could prove they were in trouble due to circumstances beyond their control. Gramm was one of only 39 who opposed the bill; 372 voted for it!

On June 6 of this year, Gramm voted for an amendment to slash the Agricultural Research Service, the Extension Service and a variety of other vital federal/state research programs.

Gramm, who has received more money from the nuclear power industry than any other Congressman, even voted to weaken Texas' right to veto a nuclear waste dump in the farmland of the Panhandle.

MRS. ROY DEAN McCOY

Perkins-McCoy Vows Exchanged In Double-Ring Ceremony

Miss Rose Lee Perkins became the bride of Roy Dean McCoy in a double-ring ceremony performed by Ted Kingery at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, October 13, 1984, at the First United Methodist Church in Silverton. The couple is now at home at 1014 Holly Lane in Canyon after a honeymoon trip to Red River and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lee Perkins, sr. of Silverton and the bridegroom is the son of Roy Lee McCoy of Fountain, Colorado and Mrs. Betty Grayson of Wheeler.

The church altar was decorated with three brass candelabra holding yellow tapers accented with white and jade bows. Yellow tapers in brass holders were placed in the windows of the church. Pews along the bridal aisle were accented with jade bows and brass hurricane lamps.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of white Chantilly lace fashioned with a Victorian neckline. Her sheer three-quarter length sleeves were accented with satin bows and her skirt flowed into a cathedral-length train. Her hat was crowned with Alencon lace and the satin-covered brim was edged with lace appliques and pearls. A pouf of illusion sprinkled with pearls and chapel-length streamers detailed with lace appliques highlighted the back.

She carried out bridal tradition by placing a penny in each of her shoes minted in the year of birth of the bridegroom and herself for good luck. For something old, she carried a bible wrapped in a handkerchief belonging to her maternal grandmother. Her gown was new and she borrowed her hat from her sister-in-law. She added a blue garter, and wore a diamond and emerald necklace and earrings which were a gift from the groom.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Lou Perkins of Canyon, sister-in-law of the bride. Bridesmaids were Carol Lester of Lubbock, Connie Simpson of Lubbock and Teri Becker of Lake Jackson. They wore tea-length dresses of jade green embossed satin featuring drop-shoulder sleeves and white satin sashes. The attendants carried yellow fans with day lilies, yellow peonies, mint and jade streamers.

Ring bearer was James Ray Devoll of Pampa, nephew of the groom. Flower girl was Sara Perkins of Dover, Delaware, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Tommy Perkins of Canyon, brother of the bride. Groomsmen were Walter Perkins of Canyon, brother of the bride, Chester Bradford of Lubbock and Doug Reed of Wheeler, brother-in-law of the groom.

Guests were seated by Danny Perkins of Silverton, brother of the bride, James Devoll of Pampa, brother-in-law of the groom, and Phillip Stevens of Canyon.

The pianist was from Lubbock. He sang "The Lord's Prayer," and with Carol Lester sang "To Me." Miss Lester also sang "Surround Me With Love."

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony in the Pioneer Room at First State Bank in Silverton. The bride's table was covered with a mint green cloth with lace overlay. The centerpiece was white, jade and yellow silk flowers in a crystal vase. Refreshments were served by Misses Lori Clay of Plainview and Donna Rowell of Lubbock.

The groom's table was covered with a yellow cloth with white lace overlay. The centerpiece was a miniature saddle atop three small bales of straw hay. A horseshoe-shaped German chocolate cake, nuts, mints, coffee and spiced tea were served by Mitzi Devoll of Pampa and Kandi Reed of Wheeler, sisters of the groom.

Guests were registered by LaDonna Murdock of Garland.

The bride's traveling attire was a pink blouse with charcoal slacks.

The bride is a 1980 graduate of Silverton High School and is a graduate of Clarendon College. She is employed by Taylor and Sons Enterprises in Canyon.

The groom is a 1979 graduate of Pampa High School and is a graduate of Clarendon College. He is employed by the Texas Highway Department in Canyon.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

A rehearsal supper was served in the backyard at the home of the bride's parents Friday night, October 12.

LINGERIE SHOWER

The bride-elect was guest of honor at a lingerie shower hosted by her sister-in-law, Lou Perkins, before the wedding.

COMES TO TEXAS

Halloween is not complete without a scary face carved on a pumpkin. In fact, eighty percent of the fresh market pumpkins harvested in the United States are sold at Halloween for use as jack-o-lanterns.

Although Texas is not noted for pumpkin production, the state holds its own among producing states. Harvest of pumpkins begins in the High Plains in late September and runs into October. The majority of pumpkins are grown in Bailey, Floyd, Deaf Smith, Parmer and Lamb counties. Most of the pumpkins produced in West Texas are sold to produce and canning companies, the rest are sold in supermarkets and roadside stands. Prices paid to farmers for pumpkins vary, depending on the supply; however, pumpkins usually average around five cents a pound plus freight.

Pumpkins vary in size from four to 100 pounds. Good quality pumpkins will keep at least a month and if stored out of the sunlight they may be stored two to three months without spoiling.

Technically, pumpkins are members of the squash family. The East Indians and East Africans eat pumpkin as a vegetable. Americans still prefer their pumpkins as pie. Pumpkins have long been a tradition in America. One of the few sweets in the Colonist diet was pumpkin, which was harvested by Pilgrims in New England, then baked and filled with maple syrup. As food staples became more available and the quality of life improved, these baked pumpkins evolved into pumpkin pie.

Smaller pumpkins have a sweeter flavor and a finer texture than larger ones, although any size is edible. When selecting pumpkins, select well matured pumpkins which are not broken or cracked and are free from soft rot and excessive scarring. They should also have a rich orange color. In addition to their use for jack-o-lanterns, pumpkins provide the basis for spicy pumpkin pies, pumpkin bread or muffins, various puddings and custards and small pumpkins may be used for stuffing with meats and vegetables or meats and seafood for an interesting change.

Although most of us cook with canned pumpkin in order to save time and labor, you may want to take the extra effort to prepare the fresh product. If pumpkins are to be carved, their meat can be removed and set aside for cooking. Place the meat in a large saucepan and cook it in a small amount of water for 25-30 minutes or until it is very tender. Drain the pumpkin, and mash it well or puree it in an electric blender. Pumpkins bought strictly for food can be baked in the oven. Wash the rind well and cut it in half. Place the cut sides down on a 15 x 10 x 1-inch jellyroll pan and bake for 45 minutes or until the meat is fork tender. Cool for 10 minutes, peel, discard the seeds or reserve the seeds for roasting, and puree the pulp. Three pounds of fresh pumpkin will yield about three cups of cooked, mashed pulp.

Pumpkins are an excellent source of Vitamin A and other vitamins and minerals and they are low in calories - one cup of canned pumpkin has 75 calories. If substituting canned pumpkin for fresh in a recipe, remember this formula - use one 16-ounce can for every two cups of fresh pumpkins.

Enjoy these recipes from the Texas Department of Agriculture and satisfy your taste for pumpkin throughout the fall and holiday season!

Some fireplace-powered water heaters can explode if the water boils into steam and the pressure is not released. Consumers should have their fireplace-powered water heaters checked by a qualified, licensed plumber to make sure that they have a safety valve in the proper location with the appropriate pressure rating and flow capacity.

Consumer Product SAFETY ALERT

FROM THE U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20207

October 1984

Under laws administered by CPSC, an estimated 325 million potentially hazardous products have been called back from the marketplace and consumers since 1973 (when CPSC was created). Most of these were voluntarily recalled by manufacturers who established programs to repair or replace the products, or to refund the purchase price.

CPSC Warns of Explosion Hazard with Fireplace-Powered Water Heaters

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission warns of a potential explosion hazard with some fireplace-powered water heaters used to supplement home heating systems. The Commission urges consumers who have these water heaters to have them checked for any possible repairs which may be needed. It is also a good time to have safety devices installed as described below. At least thirteen explosion incidents reportedly associated with the failure of these devices have occurred since 1977, resulting in one death, seven serious injuries, and substantial property damage. Five of these explosion incidents have come to the Commission staff's attention after an alert about this hazard was first issued in November 1982. If you have a fireplace water heating unit, the Commission urges you to have it safety checked immediately.

These devices are made of tubular steel or steel plate and resemble a fireplace grate or liner. Plumbing connects the unit to the water heating system of the home. When there is a fire in the fireplace, furnace heat is either supplemented or replaced entirely by heat generated through the fireplace.

Slowing or stopping the flow of water through the unit (resulting from circulator pump failure, electrical power failure, or frozen pipes) may result in water in the unit boiling into steam. If the unit does not have an adequate pressure relief device, properly installed, the build-up of pressure can cause an explosion.

CPSC urges consumers who have one of these units to have it safety-checked by a qualified, licensed plumber who has specific knowledge of boilers, water pumps, pipe freezing problems, and pressure relief valves. Of particular importance is the location, pressure rating, and flow capacity of the safety valve. If there is no safety valve, have one installed with a pressure rating and flow capacity suitable for any type of fire. The installation of a valve should be done only by a qualified, licensed plumber.

The unit should also be equipped with a burst disk, fusible plug, or blowout plug. These devices act as a back up to the safety valve, should it fail.

The safety valve should be installed in the outlet piping as near to the unit as possible without risking damage due to overheating. It should be oriented according to the valve manufacturer's recommendation to avoid safety valve clogging. The outlet pipe from the unit to the safety valve should contain no other valves or restrictions.

The safety valve should be checked periodically by triggering it to be sure that it will relieve pressure. CPSC recommends that your installation be checked with caution by a qualified licensed plumber to avoid hot water scalding.

To report a hazard with a fireplace-powered water heater, call the Commission's toll-free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter for the hearing impaired is at 800-638-8270. (Maryland residents only call 800-492-8104.)

Michael Flowers Makes National Merit Program

Tulia High School has been notified that one of its seniors has been designated Commended Student in the 1985 Merit Program.

Mrs. Linda Hicks, principal, announced that Michael Flowers placed in the top five percent of over one million participants in the 30th annual competition and will receive a Letter of Commendation in honor of outstanding promise for future academic success.

Participants entered the current Merit Program by taking the PSAT/NMSQT in the fall of 1983, when most of them were juniors. Although the qualifying test scores of the 35,000 Commended Students designated nationwide were very high, they were slightly below the level required for Semifinalist standing in the competition for some 5,500 Merit Scholarships to be awarded in 1985. The 15,000 Semifinalists in this year's competition were announced publicly by NMSC on September 13.

Flowers, a former student in the Silverton Schools, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jarus Flowers, who live in the northwest part of Briscoe County.

Deficiency Payments Scheduled For Wheat Farmers

Briscoe County farmers who accurately reported their 1984 crop acreages to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service will likely receive wheat deficiency payments totaling about $1,196,000.

The 1984 farm program participants become eligible for deficiency payments if national average market prices for wheat during the first five months of the marketing year fall below the government-established target price of $4.38 per bushel.

Nationally, farm prices received by farmers during the first three months of the marketing year have averaged near the $3.30 per bushel loan rate.

Farmers who have filed applications for payment will likely receive a deficiency payment of between $0.95 and $1.03 per bushel on their 1984 wheat crop. The agency will begin issuing wheat payments to farmers after December 1, 1984.

Deficiency payments are computed by multiplying the program yield for the farm by the acreage planted for harvest times the payment rate. The per-bushel payment rate is the difference between the target price and the higher of either the loan rate for the commodity or the average price received by farmers.

Card and board games are thought to be as old as civilization itself. Carvings on Egyptian tombs from about 2500 B.C. show board games played.

Appraisal District Reviews Tax Collections

The board of directors of the Briscoe County Appraisal District met October 11, with L. B. Garvin, jr., Joe Mercer, Ray Teeple and Robert McPherson present, and Paul A. Ramsey absent. Also attending was Chief Appraiser Carlye Hill.

After the meeting was called to order by Chairman Garvin, the 1984 tax collections through September were reviewed. The percentages collected are Briscoe County, 96.8%; Silverton ISD, 96.3%; City of Silverton, 97.5%, and Mackenzie Water Authority, 97.3%.

Mrs. Hill reported that the firm of Perdue, Brandon, Blair & Fielder, attorneys at law, has taken judgments on five delinquent tax accounts. They also filed four new tax suits in district court and thirteen in justice court.

The 1984 valuation and tax levies for all jurisdictions were examined. They are as follows:

Total Gross Appraised Value (before exemptions and productivity valuation reductions)
Briscoe County, $126,511,183; Silverton ISD, $91,373,460; City of Silverton, $16,480,599; City of Quitaque, $9,532,686; Mackenzie Water Authority, $16,480,599.

FOUR-FOOTED FUN

What has four legs, is furry all over and is good for us both physically and emotionally? You probably guessed it—the family pet!

New research has confirmed what many of us have known all along about our dogs and cats. A national survey of Psychology Today magazine readers found that pet owners are more satisfied with their lives than non-pet owners. The survey also revealed that 98 percent of both pet owners and non-owners strongly agree that pets play an important role in positive child development and family unity.

The summer months are a great time to acquire a new four-footed pal. Take advantage of long summer days to train or get to know your new pet. Also remember the variety of healthy, loving pets available at your local humane society. Your shelter offers lots of lovable puppies and kittens. Or have you thought about getting an older dog or cat? Adult dogs are frequently already trained, have good dispositions and provide a great sense of security. And adult cats make great hammock mates!

By adopting a new four-footed pal, you're not only doing a favor for your family, but for the pet as well!

The average American eats eight and a half pounds of pickles a year.

Reports

AMENDMENT NO. 1

AUSTIN — There will be eight proposed constitutional amendments appearing on the ballots of Texas voters on November 6th.

The first proposal would provide state banks the same rights and privileges as national banks.

Since the mid-1800s, the United States has had a dual banking system, composed of state and national banks.

State banks are chartered and regulated by a state authority. National banks are under the jurisdiction of the federal government.

State banks must follow federal guidelines, and national banks must follow state guidelines unless they conflict with federal law.

The greatest restriction on banks, both in Texas and nationally, has been the prohibition of branch banking. Texas had remained steadfast in denying branch banking; however, the trend of federal banking regulations has been to allow national banks to branch despite state prohibitions to the contrary.

If such a change does occur, passage of the proposed amendment would legalize branch banking in Texas. Already 29 other states have enacted similar statutes which seek to maintain parity with the national bank system by granting automatic equivalent powers to state and national banks.

Any impact on passage of the proposition in other areas besides branch banking remains unclear.

AMENDMENTS 2 AND 3

AUSTIN — Among the proposed amendments to the State Constitution in the November 6 election is one which would dedicate $100 million a year of the state's general revenue for constructing and equipping buildings and other permanent improvements at institutions of higher learning and to restructure the Permanent University Fund.

Amendment number 3 is a proposal for payment of assistance to the surviving dependent parents, brothers and sisters of certain public servants killed while on duty.

The amendment to provide funding for schools not under the Permanent University Fund is the culmination of an effort to find a method to provide funds to such universities as Texas Tech, the Tech University Health Sciences Center, and West Texas State University. These and a number of other institutions of higher learning are not included in the Permanent University Fund. And, since the elimination of the state property tax in 1978, these schools have had to rely on the legislature to make funds available on a two-year basis.

By providing a dedicated fund to the schools, the related bonding authority provides a cost-effective method of providing construction funds and the ability for long-range planning.

Those who oppose the amendment say that dedicated construction funding for universities is past. They say that enrollment at colleges and universities has stabilized and will decline in the future.

The Constitution prohibits grants of public money for private purposes. Therefore, a constitutional amendment is necessary to permit public funds to be given to private individuals. Amendment number 3 would expand the current provision of financial assistance to the families of certain public servants who suffer violent death in the course of performing official duties. The current provision is for the surviving spouse and minor children only. This amendment would include dependent parents and dependent brothers and sisters.

Those opposing the amendment say that there are other ways to compensate the survivors of public servants who die as a result of performing hazardous duties. They say that workers' compensation, local pension plans, social security and private life insurance are available and could be paid.

AMENDMENTS 4 AND 5

AUSTIN — When voters go to the polls on November 6, one of the eight proposed changes in the State Constitution affects two counties only. A second amendment would provide the mechanism by which the office of lieutenant governor would be filled if a vacancy should occur.

Amendment number 4 on the ballot would abolish the office of county treasurer in Bexar and Collin counties. The powers, duties and functions of the office would be transferred to the office of the county clerk. The proposal would only allow voters of each affected county to hold an election to decide whether the office should be abolished.

Those favoring the proposal say that voters in the two counties should be able to decide whether a separate elective office of treasurer is necessary. They say that transferring the duties to the clerk would mean more efficient management of county funds and save county revenue.

Those opposing the amendment say that transferring functions to the clerk will concentrate too much authority in a single office. They also say that this is a piecemeal approach to reorganizing county government and will lead to a rash of proposed amendments as more counties seek to carve out exceptions for themselves.

The Constitution currently does not provide for the permanent filling of a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor. Under the proposed amendment number 5, the senate would designate one of its members to act as lieutenant governor until the next general election. The selection of an interim lieutenant governor would be separated from the selection of the ceremonial post of president pro tempore, who is currently chosen every time the senate convenes or adjourns.

Those favoring the amendment say that great consideration should be given in case of a vacancy in the lieutenant governor's post, due to the importance of the office. They say that permanent selection will provide continuity in that office. They add that such an amendment would remove the senator selected as interim lieutenant governor from continuing political pressure to please his fellow senators in order to maintain that position.

Those opposing the amendment say that the existing mechanism is satisfactory and that the senate takes the vacancy question into consideration when choosing a president pro tempore.

They add that convening the senate when a vacancy occurs would be expensive.

AMENDMENTS 6 AND 7

AUSTIN — Texas voters on November 6 will have eight proposed constitutional amendments to decide. Among them is an amendment that would allow the use of public funds and credit for paying premiums on certain insurance contracts. Another amendment proposal changes the membership of the State Commission on Judicial Conduct and sets out the authority and procedure to discipline judges.

Under present law the legislature is prohibited from authorizing government entities to lend credit or loan money to individuals, corporations or associations. In early Texas, money for investment was scarce and the state routinely loaned money and credit to private enterprises. After the Civil War, many who owed the state money were unable to pay. That debt led to the prohibitions in the constitution.

The amendment would continue the prohibition on purchase of mutual insurance with liability for assessments. The amendment would widen the marketplace in which political subdivisions can shop for insurance. There is no risk to state dollars involved.

Those against the proposal say it is another example of constitutional tinkering. They say there is no compelling reason to change the constitution for a particular interest group. They add that the problem is small and continues to add too much detail to the constitution.

Amendment Number 7 concerns the commission which considers complaints against judicial officials. It would eliminate one of the two positions on the commission for courts of appeal justices and one of the positions for district judges. It gives those positions to a municipal court judge and a county court at law judge. A number of other changes in the way the commission operates would be made.

Those who oppose it say that it would increase the list of possible complaints and the system will be easier to abuse with frivolous complaints. They add that more staff will be required to handle the increased workload and will increase the cost to the state.

Owls Drop Game To Dawson Friday Night

The varsity Owls dropped their match to Dawson, 45-14, here Friday night. The best news that came out of the game was that David Schott, who received a neck injury and was taken to the Amarillo Emergency Receiving Center by ambulance shortly after halftime, was not seriously injured and was able to return home that night.

The Owls rushed for 70 yards and passed for 62 yards for a total offense of 132 yards. Dawson rushed for 382 yards and passed for 56 yards to accumulate an offense of 438 yards.

Ross Estes rushed 14 times for a gain of 45 yards, while David

Schott carried the ball six times for a gain of five yards, Russell Simpson carried four times for 18 yards, and Todd Reagan carried once for five yards.

Cal Brannon completed two of twelve passes for 62 yards.

Todd Reagan was the leading tackler with 14. Sloan Grabbe got seven, Cal Brannon got four, David Schott got four, and Joe Ted Edwards and Corey Robertson were credited with three each.

The Owls punted eight times, the longest of which was 42 yards and the shortest being 19 yards.

The Owls travel to Wellman Friday for a game which is scheduled to begin at 8:00 p.m.

Junior High Owls Extend String With Victory

Silverton's Junior High Owls rolled to a 25-6 victory over Patton Springs last Thursday afternoon.

Neal Edwards carried 11 times for a gain of 63 yards and made a touchdown on a 32-yard run; Jamie Frizzell carried nine times for 68 yards and scored once on a 7-yard run; Frank Lowrey rushed once for a 30-yard gain; Timmy Wheeler ran the ball four times for 16 yards, and Bryan Ramsey rushed five times for a gain of 13 yards. Kendal Minyard scored on a 10-yard pass from Denny Hill, and Brad West scored on a 15-yard pass from Neal Edwards.

The team rushed for 190 yards and passed for 25, for a total offense of 215 yards. Patton Springs gained 29 yards rushing and no yards passing, for a total offensive effort of 29 yards.

Peter Martinez and Clay Mercer were credited with nine tackles each, while Jamie Frizzell and Neal Edwards got eight each. Frank Lowrey got six and Denny Hill added four tackles.

The Junior High Owls now own a season record of four wins against no losses. The Owls host Patton Springs in a rematch at 6:00 p.m. today.

Cowboy memoirs published in book from Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — Old Texas cowboys get to tell their own stories in their own words in a new book from the Texas A&M University Press.

Based largely on a Depression-era oral history project to employ out-of-work clerks and writers, "Texas Cowboys: Memories of the Early Days" (233 pages, $15.95) presents contemporary accounts of life in the Old West.

Edited by the West Texans Jim and Judy Lanning, these stories from the Federal Writers' Project archives represent how old-time Texas cowhands — black, white and Hispanic — and the women of the period felt about their life.

The book is reportedly the first publication of these particular FWP narratives.

Every story relates some bit of cowboy humor or joke, usually played on the newcomer.

Sometimes the grizzled veterans got it, though. One time a complete stranger approached a cowhand and said, "I've been looking for you for a long time. Here's your dollar."

ABOUT YOUR FAULTS

Francois La Rochefoucauld (reckon he got writer's cramp signing checks?) was a 17th century composer of maxims. He wrote, "Most of our faults are more pardonable than the means we use to conceal them."

We get ourselves in sticky places just trying to cover up a mistake. We may lie, shift blame, and put up a smoke screen. We engage every mental calisthenic to try to look guiltless. Solomon was "right on" with: "He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy" (Prov. 28:13).

"... in many things we all stumble" (Ja. 3:2). Even the "apostle of love" declared, "If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us" (1 Jn. 1:8). In Nehemiah's day wayward Israel, having "assembled with fasting, and with sackcloth... stood up in their place, and read in the book... of Jehovah... a fourth part of the day; and another fourth part they confessed" (Neh. 9).

Said the Psalmist, "I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity did I not hide" (Psa. 32).

The Christian who sins has "an Advocate with the Father... And hereby we know that we know him if we keep his commandments" (1 Jn. 2).

When everyone looked puzzled, the stranger explained, "This dollar was given to me six years ago and I was instructed to give it to the next fellow I met who was uglier than I was... so here it is."

Consumer Product SAFETY ALERT

FROM THE U.S. CONSUMER PRODUCT SAFETY COMMISSION, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20207
October 1984

Under laws administered by CPSC, an estimated 325 million potentially hazardous products have been called back from the marketplace and consumers since 1973 (when CPSC was created). Most of these were voluntarily recalled by manufacturers who established programs to repair or replace the products, or to refund the purchase price.

CPSC Warns of Carbon Monoxide Hazard With Oil/Wood Combination Furnaces

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission recently issued a warning to consumers of a carbon monoxide hazard with certain oil/wood combination furnaces. These units were manufactured by Itasca Manufacturing, Inc. of Menahga, MN.

The units involved were sold under the names Itasco Duo Model W0330 and Home Duo Model W0320. CPSC believes the units have demonstrated a pattern of weld failure that could allow carbon monoxide to escape and be drawn into the home. Carbon monoxide can cause headaches, nausea, and lead to death.

Over 100 complaints associated with cracks in the welds of the furnace were reported to the firm. At least one complaint involved various levels of carbon monoxide being emitted into the home. No injuries are known to have occurred.

Approximately 12,000 units have been produced and sold since 1972. The model number W0330 or W0320 can be found on a metal plate attached to the unit.

CPSC urges owners of these furnaces to contact a qualified professional heating equipment installer and arrange for the furnace to be inspected for cracks, particularly at the top of the heat exchanger between the creosote collectors and around the firebox doors. If cracks are found, consumers should have a certified welder repair them. Any welding repairs should be reinspected yearly.

Consumers wishing to verify model numbers may call the CPSC toll-free Hotline at 800-638-CPSC. A teletypewriter number for the hearing impaired is 800-638-8270. (Maryland residents only, 800-492-8104).

Drip irrigation system saves water, money

(STONEWALL) -- Drip irrigation systems in Texas have been used on a relatively small scale basis for the last 20 years. Though the carefully-controlled placement of water on a crop or field is much more efficient and cost effective to operate, most Texas agricultural producers haven't been able to afford installation of the drip irrigation technology.

State Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has said that any Texas water plan must be based on a commitment to conservation, such as provided under drip irrigation systems.

Hightower recently returned from Israel where he viewed firsthand that country's effective drip irrigation system. He's proceeding to have that Israeli expertise adapted for use here in Texas.

Henry Burg of Stonewall is already among the lucky handful of Texas producers. He's been using a drip irrigation system in his peach orchards for the last seven years.

"I've got 200 small trees that I've been drip-irrigating since 1977," Burg said. "Before then, flooding the fields with irrigation water and overhead sprinklers were the systems we relied on, but I found that anything that puts water on the foliage causes fungus problems."

Flood irrigation isn't as effective as drip irrigation, either, Burg said. "You wind up using enormous amounts of water that don't always get into the root system. With the drip method, you can use just 10 percent of the water used in flooding and be just as effective, if not more so," he said.

The system Burg uses gives water to the trees only when they need it. "We use about 30 gallons of water per day per mature tree. On all the trees, the water emitters are at the drip line, also called the shade line," he said.

Water comes from a supply on his property, Burg said, and is filtered in a sediment tank before it passes through pipes that are only five-eighths of an inch wide, running the length of an orchard row.

Besides growing Sentinel, Keystone, Loring, Harvester and Dixieland peaches, Burg also has a few apricot, apple and nectarine trees. They too benefit from the drip irrigation system.

"There can be no water plan without the inclusion of agriculture, which today

Henry Burg of Stonewall inspects the drip irrigation system he installed seven years ago in his peach orchard. Drip irrigation is one of the most effective and efficient irrigation systems available, and the Texas Department of Agriculture wants a state water plan that encourages such conservation practices.

consumes 72 percent of the water we use in the state," Hightower said. "And there can be no effective water plan for agriculture unless we make a commitment to conservation as its centerpiece."

"Our current irrigation practices lose more than 40 percent of the water applied. With adoption of available conservation technology and systems, Texas farmers could save some 900 billion gallons of water a year, which is roughly the same amount that currently is consumed by all Texas consumers and industrial users."

Thank you for every visit, telephone call, card, all the good food and most of all, for your prayers, while I was in the hospital and since I came home.

The cards, letters and flowers were very thoughtful. I appreciated each and every one and I thank you for everything that was done for me while I was ill.
Love,
Lisa Grabbe

Thanks to all my friends, neighbors and relatives for making my birthday party so special. I can't remember when I've had so much fun!
