RACE HERE AGAIN

An attraction worth remembering, a driver everybody loves, a clean sport and daring speeder, none other than Dick Calhoun, has advised Director Henry Mexander of the Haskell Coun ty Fair Sports and Races Division that he expects to enter for the two days races and is having a car prepared that will "bring home the bacon.

Calhoun passed through Haskell few weeks back on his way to Abilene to get an auto he had there and which has been made ready for real auto races. He left word with several Haskellites, in his pleasing way, that the car that left him behind would know there had been a race.

Those who enjoy Auto Races are go ing to be delighted with this season's offering and some new faces are going to appear on the track and the American Automobile Association representative looks for some of the finest contests to be offered in Texas this season on a 5-8 mile track and the size of the Fair, its class nor its age, is excused from this assertion, nor a better track, as well. With Calhoun among those who race, in every sense of the word, applying for entry, the assurance that some real sport will prevail during the two day program, according to Mr. Alexander, is without any doubt

We can distinctly remember only lew years back when there were only a very small number of people in Haskell county who were interested in good poultry or in any of the methods now in practice to improve the average flock; when the small poultry show was first started here and of the faithful few who brought in their birds, but now the time and the interest have changed and there are those who are ready to bring their birds to the show and are ready to assemble at any gathering where good information is imparted that will be useful in building up a better flock. One-Profit Value Unit-Built Construction

Make Studebakers Bargains in Quality

BECAUSE Studebaker builds for Studebaker cars all bodies, all engines, all axles, clutches, differentials, steering gear, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings—it is possible to give purchasers two advantages:

I. A price advantages Because Studebaker eliminates extra profits which all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts or body makers. Thus Studebaker is able to use steel of extra toughness, fine northern white ash and hard maple, wool upholstery, plate glass, painstaking workmanship to precision standards, and extra equipment, such as gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.—yet charge no more than competing cars.

2. A construction advantages Because all parts are not only designed to constitute one harmonious unit, but are Unit-Built in Studebaker functions as a unit. This results in years longir life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, minimum repair costs and, finally, lighter resale value.

The net of it is this the excepted Studebaker of this size and weight, according its new transport of the Na-

Others, who once built quality cars, have made material sacrifice in order to secure superficial price advantages. These cars are good value for the man or woman who wants that kind of a car. But if he wants a bergain in quality there is only one answer-Studebaker.

"It Certainly Is a Smart-looking Car"

That's what everyone has to say who has seen the latest Ford cars. That such attractive motor cars could be offered without the slightest increase in prices, seemed incredible to a public long familiar with Ford values.

Yet enthusiasm for the smart new appearance can never supersede the fact that it is the quality of materials and workmanship that has made the Ford the world's leading automobile value. New beauty has not crowded out traditional Ford reliability.

The very volume of Ford output demands absolute accuracy of every working part. The steady flow of production is dependent upon parts fitting together perfectly; inaccuracies would interrupt and delay assembly. And to this precision must be largely credited the uniformly fine performance and freedom from trouble of all Ford cars.

Closed cars now shown in color are unusually pleasing; new and finer upholstery gives an artistic harmony to the cars. Bright nickeled radiators feature the closed cars and nickeled headlamp rims are on all types. The fenders are larger and longer, and the running boards are wider.

Comfort is increased by the cars' lower center of gravity, by the low, deep, wide sents, by the added foot room, and by many other refinements that contribute to your case, convenience and safety.

Here is the ideal car for a woman's personal use-goodlooking, trustworthy, easy to handle and inexpensive to maintain. Here, too, is a practical car for any family -that every member of the family can enjoy.
