Vol. 43, No. 6

Feb. 15, 1991

Reese AFB, Texas 79489

This week

□ LOCAL NEWS: Reese's top enlisted performers of the quarter capture honors. — page six

□ COMMUNITY: Nominees in the 1991 Reese Sweetheart competition are highlighted. — page 12

□ SPORTS: The playoffs are near in the Reese Intramural Basketball League. — page 14

□ THE BASE SERVICE STORE CLOSES March 1 for up to one month, the result of a conversion to contract operations. As such, supply officials are encouraging customers to purchase a 30-day supply of administrative and cleaning materials before the closure.

A limited amount of emergency items will be available in Bldg. 250 in the interim, and supply officials said they will support emergency requirements by approving walk-through requests for local area purchases.

For more information, call TSgt. Paul Richard at 3876.

Reese trains tomorrow's best today IG CONCURS!

Displaying the enthusiasm, pride and esprit de corps that was evident throughout 10 days of effectiveness and readiness inspections here, a capacity crowd jammed the Simler Theater for Thursday morning's formal outbrief.

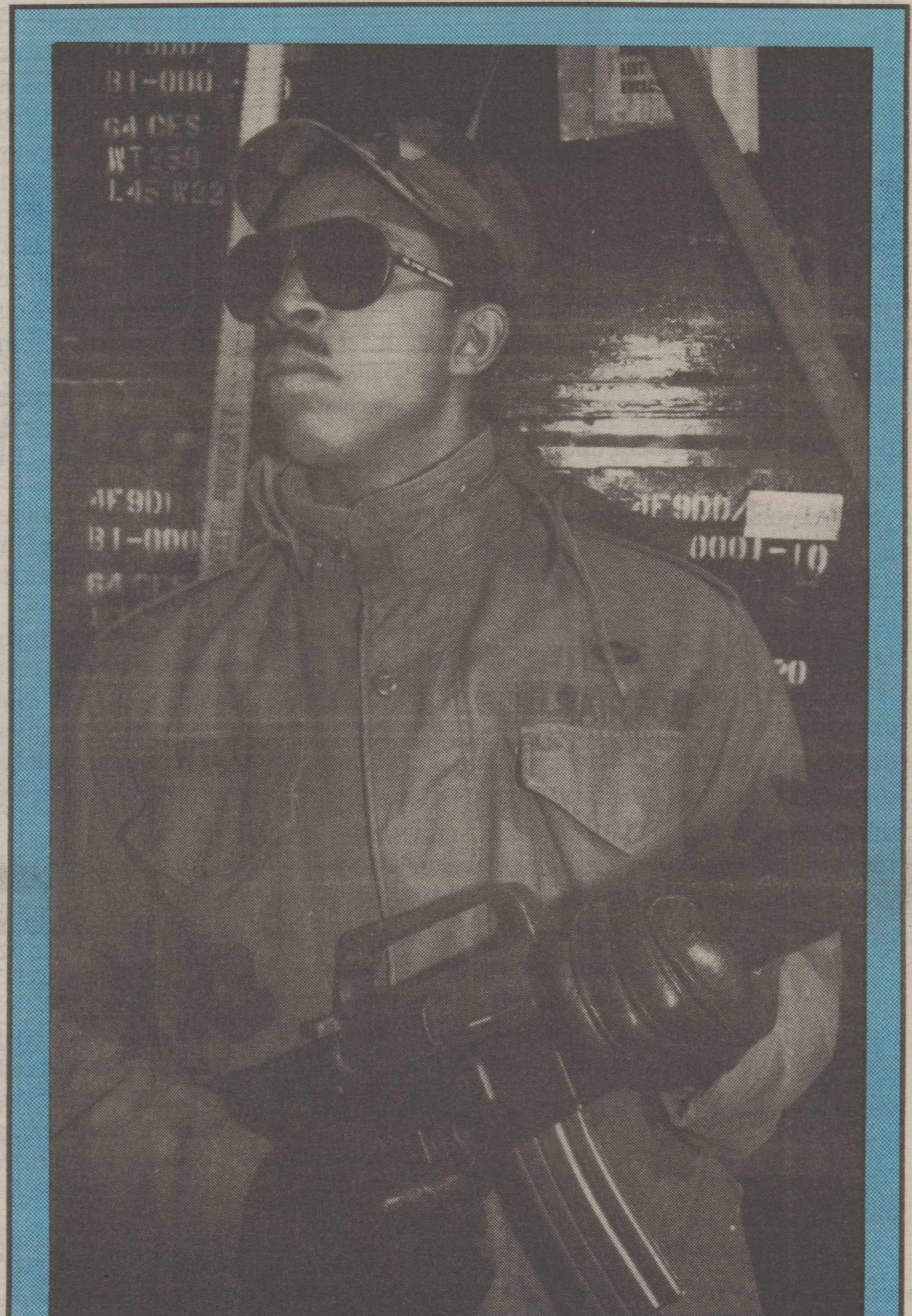

Those on hand rang bells, blew horns and cheered loudly as the outbrief opened with a series of video presentations depicting Reese people accomplishing the mission. Maj. Gen. Robert S. Delligatti, Air Training Command vice commander, called the outpour of wing enthusiasm "awesome."

Brig. Gen. Chalmers R. Carr Jr., ATC inspector general, praised 64th Flying Training Wing personnel for their performance during the unit effectiveness and operational readiness inspections and for the contributions Reese has made to Operation Desert Storm.

"You can be very, very proud of your accomplishments," said General Carr. "You...graduate approximately 350 pilots here each year." The general also said Reese should take pride in "not only the 39 people deployed from the wing, but also in the knowledge that approximately 20 percent of the pilots flying in Desert Storm are Reese graduates."

General Delligatti also praised the wing during the outbrief, noting that the "true measure" of a unit's performance isn't defined in color-coded ratings, but in the performance of those it has trained. The general emphasized the effectiveness of that training is being demonstrated by all specialties, opera-

SSgt. Ken Wiltz, a security police augmentee, stands guard over a freight shipment Saturday during the mobility exercise on base. The exercise was one part of the command inspection here that ended Thursday.

Chief Wilchenski ends 30-year career

CMSgt. Clarence Wilchenski, 1958th Communications Squadron, receives his certificate of retirement from Col. Bill Henny, 64th Flying Training Wing commander as members of his family and the Reese Honor Guard look on during the chief's retirement ceremony Feb. 8. During the ceremony, both the chief and his wife, Corinne, were honored for their service to the Air Force.

From my perspective

by CMSgt. Coy Martin
64th FTW senior enlisted advisor

Did you ever wonder why you didn't do so well on a promotion, professional military education or college test? The answer is quite simple. . . Lack of preparation. The myth that one can "grease through" a test based upon gaming the system is a weak method for attaining academic success.

Skills develop differently

Skills that are tested tend to develop at different rates for different people. Nevertheless, the extent of this development regarding testing procedures is dependent upon the time and effort devoted to it. Although there is no panacea for years of studying neglect, the soundest preparation for test-taking is continuing education and a considerable amount of outside reading.

Being physically and mentally alert are major factors which contribute to one's success on a test. Consequently, a good night's sleep before examination day will enhance your chances of doing well (as opposed to an all-night study marathon prior to testing). Eliminating distractions during the test is essential so that all attention is focused upon the directions, questions and the general format of the test itself.

Anxiety: good or bad?

Examinations and anxiety often go hand-in-hand. Some anxiety can enhance one's mental alertness. However, excessive anxiety can be counterproductive and have a detrimental effect upon test results. Therefore, to alleviate this "crisis," knowing what to expect is the best preparation.

Pacing oneself during an exam by watching the clock is necessary at times, since some types of questions are more time consuming than others. Answer some of the easier questions first, and then go back to the ones that may require more deliberation. Not only will answering the easier questions help to build one's self confidence, but clues may be revealed that will provide a broader scope for answering the "toughies."

To guess or not to guess

This method will help narrow down the questions that you are truly uncertain of. Then one must determine whether guessing is advantageous. For example, if there are four options to a question and you know that two of them couldn't be correct, your chance of getting the right answer from the remaining options is greatly increased.

Useful strategies regarding the aforementioned are essential for today's Air Force professionals, since promotions and career development depend so largely upon one's success regarding PME, promotion tests and college/academic endeavors. The key to excellence requires the bottom line — PREPARATION!

Air Force secretary praises support of desert operation

by Donald B. Rice
secretary of the Air Force

For those of you deployed in support of Desert Storm, we are very proud of you. Every man and woman of the Air Force, whether active duty or civilian employee, is back here rooting for you and praying for your success and safe return. Rest assured we will do all we can to ensure you have the best equipment, supplies and other support to get that job done.

The attention of the rest of us is focused on news of activities in the gulf. The chief of staff and I know how much you want to be doing something specific to help accomplish our mission over there — we hear every day from people offering whatever they can to be able to participate in some way. The outpouring of support for the mission we have undertaken, both by Air Force people and by the public, has been wonderful.

I wanted to take this opportunity to acknowledge your support and desire to help, and to emphasize how very important each of you is to the success of Operation Desert Storm. Whether you are a contracting officer in Okinawa, a finance clerk in Denver, a cook in a Minuteman launch facility or an action officer in the Pentagon, the work you are doing really does directly contribute to our ability to succeed in the gulf.

To perform the mission, our deployed troops must be able to fully concentrate on the task in front of them, secure in the knowledge the rest of the Air Force continues performing its other missions, caring for the families left behind, and keeping a sharp eye out for opportunities to improve our ability to perform the mission. Your work contributes directly to their sense of security, and therefore to our ability to succeed.

The enormous success of our systems so far comes from your past attention to quality as we developed them. The relative ease of transition from homes to tent cities is due to your work in considering what might be necessary in unusual environments. The chief of staff and I, and all the people deployed for Desert Storm, thank everyone back home for your past and continuing hard work. We can be comfortable knowing the future of this operation and the support of our other missions is in your hands. (Air Force News Service)

From YOUR perspective

As wing commander, I need to hear things "from YOUR perspective." Your inputs and suggestions can help Reese maintain its position as pacesetter in the command.

If you see something good, call me. If you have a problem that you feel needs my attention, call me. First, however, consider using your chain of command. You may remain anonymous if you wish, but those who leave their name and number can get a direct response to their call. Calls can be made to the Careline 24 hours a day at 3273.

Time for 'change'?

I was wondering if we could get a change machine in Bldg. 52. Right now, we have to buy chips to get change for the soda machine.

The Army and Air Force Exchange Service is unable to provide a free-standing change machine. It is not cost effective due to the charges to AAFES by the vendor.

We are, however, aggressively pursuing a change to the vending machine contract that will get us machines that will accept dollar bills.

Security at the school

In light of the increased security on base of late, I'm a bit concerned about the lack of security at Reese Elementary School. It's very easy to get at.

What kind of security can we expect there if tensions get higher?

The school's principal informed security police that measures have been taken at the school to increase security. They include increased entry control and monitoring of visitors.

Principal Dan Newberry added that your concern is a topic of concern throughout the Frenship School District, and that additional measures will be taken as circumstances warrant.

There have been no threats to area schools. However, our SPs are working closely with local authorities (who have jurisdiction over the school area) to ensure security at Reese Elementary.

'Brushing up' on dental habits

There's more to choosing a toothbrush than deciding whether blue or green best complements the bathroom towels.

The major challenge is to sift through the overwhelming assortment of brushes available and select the one that will do an effective job of preventing dental disease.

Look at what you have to choose from — brushes with hard, medium or soft bristles, nylon bristles, "natural" bristles, straight handles, curved handles, handles bent at every angle and heads in shapes and sizes galore.

How do you decide which is the "right" brush for you? Here are some recommendations from the Reese Dental Clinic:

Select a brush with soft, end-rounded or polished bristles. Soft-bristle brushes are less likely to injure your delicate gum tissues during brushing.

Factors such as size, shape and color are matters of personal preference, but you should be able to reach every tooth surface with your brush. In general, smaller brushes can reach and clean teeth most effectively. Children need small brushes — brushes made especially for them are available.

Manual or electric? Both are equally safe and effective. Select the type you're most comfortable with and you'll brush more thoroughly and regularly.

If you wear dentures, look for special denture brushes. They clean dentures more effectively because their bristles are arranged to conform to the shape of the dentures. If your store doesn't have denture brushes, use a regular soft-bristled brush; brushes with stiff bristles can damage the plastic in the dentures.

Buy a new toothbrush at least once every three months. As soon as brush bristles become frayed and worn, they can't do their job. Once you've purchased your brush, use it at least once a day with a fluoride toothpaste.

The American Dental Association offers these guidelines for proper brushing:

Angle the brush against the gumline at about 45 degrees.

Move the brush back and forth with short strokes, using a gentle, scrubbing motion.

Brush the outer surfaces of each tooth, keeping the bristles angled against the gumline.

Use the same method on the inner surfaces of every tooth.

Scrub the chewing surfaces of the teeth. Let the bristles work into the grooves.

Finish by brushing your tongue to help freshen breath and remove bacteria.

The Reese Dental Clinic brings you this American Dental Association article in observance of National Children's Dental Health Month. It is the third in a series of dental health articles for this month.

Improvements through suggestions

Got an idea?

The Air Force Suggestion Program wants you!

by Capt. Richard Wooley
64th FTW Management Engineering Team

The Air Force Suggestion Program is designed to encourage any Air Force member, military or civilian, to suggest smarter ways to do business. The following Reese people have recently received awards for their ideas:

□ Marie Matthews, 64th Supply Squadron, received $73 for tangible benefits of $729 from her suggestion, which recommended that a portion of a monthly report be processed on a quarterly basis instead.

□ Leslie Hatchett, 64th Civil Engineering Squadron, got $25 for suggesting a more efficient way to use a popular computer listing in her section.

□ Sgt. Patrick Marquart, 64th CES, received a certificate of appreciation for his suggestion to use old flight suits in units that are authorized to use coveralls.

Other suggesters already recognized this fiscal year are: 1st Lt. Wade Shimoda, 64th CES; SrA. Edward Jonas, 64th CES; and Capt. David Irvin, 35th FTS.

You are a key player in this program because you know how to do your job better than anyone else, where hidden costs lie, where duplication exists, and where production is delayed.

Therefore, you are in the best position to find and suggest ways to improve procedures, reduce waste, save materials/manpower, increase productivity, conserve energy and increase safety.

Submit those ideas today on an Air Force Form 1000 through distribution to "64th FTW/RMM/45," or take it to the Reese Suggestion Office, Bldg. 230, Room 330. If you have any questions, call 3148.

Do you give a Hoot?

by 2nd Lt. Joddy Murray
64th CES

An oil slick of unprecedented proportions is making its way down the Persian Gulf coast, killing wildlife, ruining water supplies and creating environmental problems on a scale never dealt with before.

Saddam Hussein, in a fit of strategic "genius," must have thought the spill would never affect him personally — that the result of such an offensive maneuver would wash away and never be seen again.

Americans, as well as others in the international community, can clearly see the horror emerging as this colossal swath of oil travels in the gulf, and they are outraged. Little do we realize the same abhorrent thing is done here in this country — year after year — by all of us.

It's called nonpoint source pollution. That's another way of saying that the source is everyone who contributes, on an individual basis, to the pollution of our underground streams, riverbeds and lakes.

There is no company we can point a finger at, wrinkle our faces at, or slap with fines. There are no pipelines leaking hazardous goo into some huge lake.

No, this type of pollution is caused by you and me — the person who decides to change the oil in the old car and then pours it along the fence line to kill the weeds; or the person who thinks more is better, and dumps more pesticide on the lawn than the instructions direct; or even the home do-it-yourself enthusiast who uses paints that contain heavy metals and then throws the excess in the garbage rather than storing or exchanging it.

We all play a part in pollution and its prevention

The possibilities are as endless as the number of sources, and even though there is no deliberate attempt to wreck the environment, the resulting pollution is exactly the same.

Of course, the simplest solution is the surgical one — the removal of the problem by stopping its cause. However, you and I know the likelihood of success in that option. Humans are creatures of habit, and knowledge or awareness is often not enough to make a difference.

What's needed is a fundamental change in the concept of what trash is — what can actually be considered normal, non-recyclable waste versus what is toxic waste. Perhaps then, when it comes time to dump something on the ground, or in the trash can, a light will flash that says, "Hold on, this isn't trash — this is toxic waste."

Otherwise, the 240 million gallons of used crankcase oil we Americans dump each year (22 times more than the Valdez spilled in Alaska) will continue to pollute, rather than become recycled.

So what can you do to make a difference? The Reese Auto Hobby Shop will take your old oil and the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron will take any other hazards such as old paint, pesticides or cleaning products. Just call to arrange your delivery (3142 for the oil, 6202 for anything else), and you will already be making a big contribution toward reducing nonpoint source pollution in our area.

In addition, you can follow the directions given with pesticides and exercise caution when working with paints, strippers or any other chemical solvents. As a final suggestion, try to replace products containing hazardous chemicals with ones marked "Environmentally Safe" on the label. These products have been approved for normal disposal, and are properly considered "trash."

The good thing about all of this is that we have changed our habits before. As a nation, we have focused our attention on the declining health of our environment to the extent that problems are being addressed and, occasionally, even solved. If we sincerely want to stop this type of pollution, we can. If, on the other hand, we allow it to continue, the mess Iraq has left for the world may one day be dwarfed by the disaster we leave for our children.

tions and support, every day of the war.

"In my opinion," said General Delligatti, "we (Reese and ATC) are doing a superb job."

Greeted by a standing ovation as he took his turn on stage, Col. Bill Henny, 64th FTW commander, echoed the comments of General Delligatti and General Carr.

"I'm smiling," said Colonel Henny, "and you have a lot of things to smile about. We did very well in the areas of primary mission and operations and that doesn't get done without the support of everybody else."

While commending the wing as a whole, the UEI/ORI teams singled out several Reese organizations. These included: the 41st Flying Training Squadron Learning Center/Visual Information Service Branch; the 64th Supply Squadron's Squadron Section; the Reese Staff Judge Advocate Claims Branch and the 64th Civil Engineering Squadron Financial Management Branch.

In addition, 20 Reese people were named as professional performers. Colonel Henny presented certificates to the professional performers during Commander's Appreciation Day activities Thursday afternoon. The "Best of the Best" are:

Capt. Mitchell B. Ashmore, 41st FTS; Capt. Lawrence G. Gudger,

64th FTW; Capt. Thomas J. James, 52nd FTS; 1st Lt. Richard M. Denton, 54th FTS; 1st Lt. Gregory M. Reiter, 35th FTS; 1st Lt. Robert J. Wetzel, 33rd FTS; SSgt. Edwin A. Forrest, 64th FTW; SSgt. SEXY NEW GIRLS This Week

Best of quarter capture honors

MSgt. Scott Towe
Senior NCO of the quarter

Unit: 64th Security Police Squadron
Duty title: Noncommissioned officer in charge of the SPS Administration and Information Security Section.
Time in service: 14 years
Time at Reese: Four years
Hometown: Edinburgh, Scotland.

Achievements during the quarter: "Sergeant Towe is an ambitious senior NCO who consistently provides outstanding leadership and direction to his unit," said Capt. Danny Thomas, SPS commander.

A sound decision-maker, Sergeant Towe provides superb leadership and guidance as a member of the wing contingency support staff, according to the captain.

On a daily basis, he directs the safeguarding and handling of all classified information within the wing.

He also manages 20 base agencies involved with the information security program.

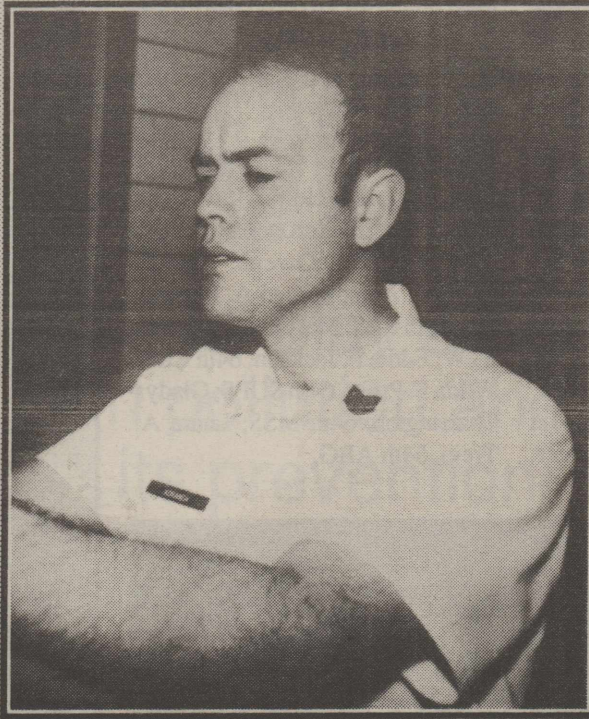

"Sergeant Towe's 'can-do' attitude is contagious and his contributions to both the military and civilian communities have enhanced the Air Force image," said the captain.

Past awards: He has been selected as squadron NCO of the quarter and the year. Sergeant Towe was also promoted to master sergeant through the Stripes for Exceptional Performers Program.

Education: He holds a Community College of the Air Force degree in criminal justice and is working toward a bachelor of science degree.

Goals: Aside from getting his bachelor's degree, he plans eventually get his master's degree in computer science.

Hobbies: Swimming and guitar playing.

TSgt. James Koranda
NCO of the quarter

Unit: 64th Flying Training Wing Hospital
Duty title: Noncommissioned officer in charge of the Hospital Nutritional Medicine Section
Time in service: 10 years
Time at Reese: One year
Hometown: Longview, Wash.

Achievements during the quarter: Sergeant Koranda is highly motivated and dedicated in providing patients the best quality service, according to Lt. Col. (Dr.) Joe Contiguglia, hospital commander.

He implemented procedural changes with the Reese Commissary to better expedite dietary requests. Sergeant Koranda also revamped the nutritional medicine service operating instruction to include current procedures for quality control and management.

The sergeant streamlined appointments by starting same day walk-in visits, which resulted in an increase of more than 95 percent in patient access.

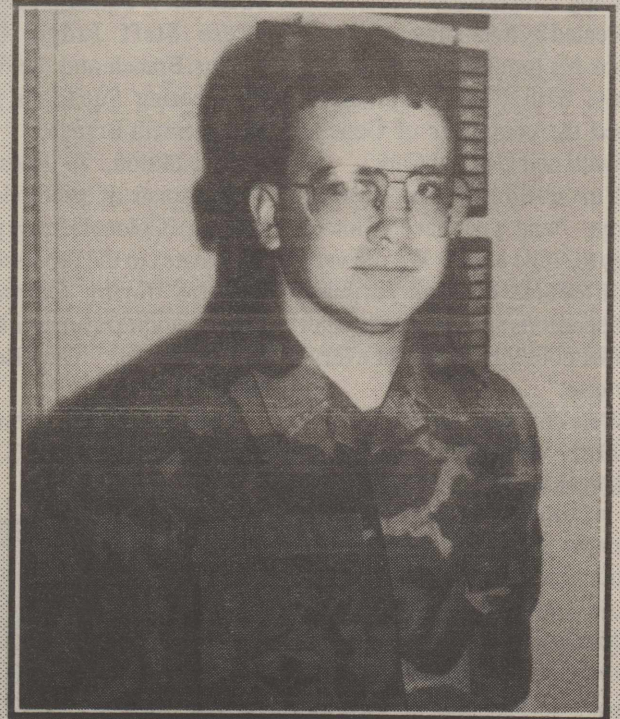

"He continually projects superior ability, image and attitude and definitely portrays the Air Force image," said the colonel.

Past awards: He was a distinguished graduate at NCO Leadership School.

Education: He is currently pursuing a bachelor's degree in management from Park College. He also attended the Air Training Command NCO Academy and graduated with a 91-percent academic average.

Goals: Sergeant Koranda's goals are to get his bachelor's degree and to make master sergeant. A long-range goal is to get his master's degree in hospital administration.

Hobbies: Tennis and fitness.

SrA. Troy L. McKay
Airman of the quarter

Unit: 64th Security Police Squadron
Duty title: Arms and equipment specialist.
Time in service: Three years
Time at Reese: Two years
Hometown: Midland, Texas

Achievements during the quarter: Displaying the "confidence and poise of an effective leader," according to Capt. Danny Thomas, SPS commander, Airman McKay maintains accurate accountability of weapons and ammunition assigned to the SPS. He also maintains and accounts for unit assets costing more than $230,000.

His diverse qualities in both law enforcement and air base ground defense are especially noteworthy, and he continues to strive to remain proficient in both demanding areas, according to Captain Thomas.

As primary armorer, Airman McKay has been recognized by ATC for efficient operation of the armory, as well as the manner in which he has trained other armory personnel. He trains and advises 14 flight armorers, some of which are higher ranking.

"Airman McKay exemplifies all the outstanding qualities we need in our airmen and our future noncommissioned officers corps," said the captain.

Past awards: He was selected as the squadron airman of the year and quarter. He was also nominated for Air Training Command's First-Term Security Police Airman of the Year Award in 1990.

Education: He is currently enrolled in the Community College of the Air Force in pursuit of an associates degree in police science.

Goals: Airman McKay's goal is to become an instructor at the Security Police Academy at Lackland AFB, Texas.

Hobbies: Racquetball, softball and darts.

CCAF changes requirements

Three changes to Community College of the Air Force degree requirements went into effect last month, including a revision in the way College Level Examination Program test scores are credited.

The changes took effect Jan. 1 and make CCAF degrees more obtainable for many active-duty Air Force, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve enlisted members, officials in the Reese Education Center said.

For CLEP tests, students will now be awarded credit at the recommended American Council on Education test score level, regardless of test date. Some students will now receive credit for CLEP tests previously taken but not accepted for CCAF degree programs.

Another change increases the limit of test-based credit from 24 semester hours to 30. Testing is free to military members through the center; materials are available to help students prepare.

The third change to CCAF degree requirements is with the six semester hour leadership, management and military studies, or "LMMS," degree program component.

Any version of Noncommissioned Officer Leadership School or the four semester hour version of the NCO Academy by correspondence will satisfy the LMMS requirement in all current CCAF catalogs.

This is provided the student does not have any other LMMS credit at the time of registration.

Shortfalls in semester hour requirements must be satisfied through program electives.

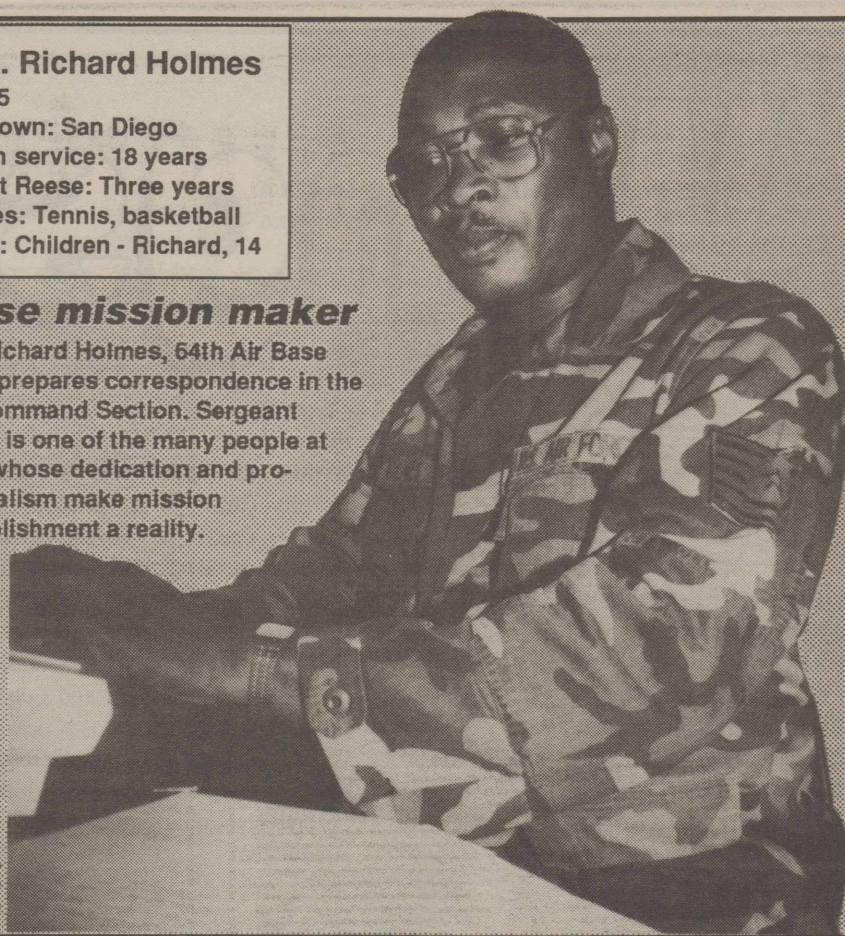

CCAF students on Reese who think any of these changes affect their degree program progression should contact the education center at 3634. (Air Force News Service)

CHICKEN FRIED STEAK

Gardski's Chicken Fried Steak has been declared the absolute biggest and best by those who know. Our huge cutlet is 100% USDA choice beef steak - NO SKIMPING! Each one is seasoned to perfection and carefully hand-breaded. We fry it in 100% cholesterol-free vegetable shortening and then smother each one with our old-fashioned, thick and rich cream gravy. And of course, it comes with Gardski's Famous Fries and a scrumptious slice of Texas Toast. Plus a delicious house salad that's ON THE HOUSE! It's all part of the biggest, best Chicken Fried Steak anywhere. Every menu item at Gardski's is prepared using only the freshest and highest quality ingredients available. Come in and try Gardski's Chicken Fried Steak.

You'll love it,
love it, love it!

Notes

AFA meets Feb. 26

The local chapter of the Air Force Association will hold its quarterly meeting Feb. 26 in the Reese Officers' Open Mess. Social hour begin at 6:30 p.m.; dinner follows at 7:15.

Following dinner, the "Sojourners" of Lubbock will present "The History of the Flag." All AFA members, spouses and friends are being encouraged to attend by chapter officials.

Dinner is $10. Call Capt. Steve Governale at 3809 or Capt. Ed Rinkavage at 3994 for reservations.

Black History Month goes on

The following base events are coming up in observance of Black History Month:

□ A banquet Saturday in the Enlisted Open Mess will begin with a 6:30 p.m. social; dinner follows at 7. Cost is $11 per person; there are 160 tickets available. For more information, contact SSgt. Karen Montague at 3147.

□ A five-kilometer fun run will be held at noon Wednesday; the starting line will be by the car wash on base. Cost is $5 per person and T-shirts will be given to participants. For more information, contact Sgt. Michael Barnet at 3482.

□ A soul food tasting-luncheon will be held from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Feb. 22 in the Mathis Recreation Center. For more information, contact Sgt. Annette Lyons at 3155.

□ A fashion show will be held at 7 p.m. Feb. 23 at the Simler Theater. The theme will be "Attitudes," and the event will showcase professional models. There will also be a special appearance by Tamera Petrash, Miss Lubbock. Admission will be $5.

Chapel plans events

The Reese Chapel has announced two activities for wing members:

□ The singles ski trip to Snow Mountain Ranch and intercommand singles leadership conference have been postponed, but the chapel will sponsor a ski trip March 8-10 to Ruidoso, N.M. The $95 fee will cover lodging, ski equipment (except clothing) and a one-day lift ticket. For reservations and details, call Chaplain (Maj.) Aaron Ray at 3237 by Monday.

□ Ecumenical Lenten luncheons are being held at 12:30 p.m. each Wednesday in the chapel. The film "Jesus of Nazareth" will be shown at each luncheon in 45-minute segments beginning this Wednesday. People should bring their lunch; a microwave and soda machine will be available. The luncheons will run until March 20.

Legal warns of conflicts

Everyone who is a member of the military will eventually leave the service in one way or another. When they do, the Reese Legal Office warns that there are many "legal landmines" for the unwary, some of which carry criminal penalties.

Legal officials said that Air Force Regulation 30-30, which covers some of these laws, prohibits people from participating in their government capacity in any matter that they, their family, or an actual or potential future employer has a financial interest.

The regulation also discusses rules for pursuing employment. It states that people cannot participate in any matter on behalf of the government involving an organization with which that person is pursuing a job or has an arrangement concerning future employment, when that organization has a financial interest.

Legal officials added that this employment issue deals with both employment after leaving the Air Force as well as off-duty jobs while still with the service. Anyone with questions on this issue should call legal at 3505.

Refills available by phone

The pharmacy in the 64th Flying Training Wing Hospital now has a telephone prescription refill system.

To use the system, pharmacy customers should:

□ Call 6507, and give name, telephone number, name of the drug and the number of the prescription. Be sure to give the number of the most current prescription for that medication; older numbers get cancelled out of the system. There is no need to provide quantity or other prescription directions, hospital officials said.

□ When picking up refills, bring the bottles/labels for the medication requested.

□ Once picked up, check the label for the number of refills left. Once they are used up, a new prescription will be required.

Refills called in before 9 p.m. will be ready after 10 a.m. the next day. Refills called in after 9 p.m. will take two duty days to complete. Any prescriptions not picked up within two days will be returned to stock.

Recruiters needed

A decrease in the number of people volunteering for recruiting duty is prompting an aggressive drive to hire recruiters.

All applicants should have between four and 16 years total active federal military service, meet a minimum physical profile, project outstanding appearance, bearing and conduct, and meet minimum eligibility requirements for a permanent-change-of-station assignment.

Recruiter benefits include choice of duty locations, an initial four-year stabilized tour and special pay. About 450 qualified noncommissioned officers are needed to enroll in recruiting school in fiscal 1991. So far, only 157 have graduated or have been scheduled to attend. For details, call the Reese Consolidated Base Personnel Office at 3276; or CMSgt. Tom Strack or TSgt. Larry Tunnicliff at DSN 487-2812. (ATC News Service)

Cancer screenings offered

A skin cancer screening program is offered from 1-3 p.m. every Monday in the 64th Flying Training Wing Hospital. People can have any abnormal growth, rash or sore examined.

Hospital officials said that about 500,000 Americans develop skin cancer each year, and that the greater exposure to sunlight in Texas increases the risk. However, they added that it is both preventable and curable, and early detection is the key.

For a screening, call 3245/3515.

Center offers workshops

Two job search-related workshops will be given by the Reese Family Support Center in coming weeks.

□ A job hunting workshop from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday will focus on employment opportunities strategies for seeking employment.

□ A resume writing/interview skills workshop from 6:30-8:30 p.m. Feb. 26 will help people identify their marketable skills, describe those skills in a resume and then "sell" themselves during interviews.

For details on either event, call Margaret Ramey at 6494.

Blood drive planned

A blood drive in support of people serving in the Mideast will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Feb. 28 in the Mathis Recreation Center. For details, call Glenda Ward, Reese blood drive officer, at 3885.

Asian-Pacific helpers sought

Volunteers are being sought to help commemorate the achievements of Asian-Pacific Americans during that group's heritage week in May. Anyone interested in helping the heritage week's committee should call SSgt. Aliane Glenn at 3640.

Prayer breakfast set for March 7

The annual National Prayer Breakfast on base will be March 7 at 6:30 a.m. in the Officers' Open Mess. This year's guest speaker is Retired Army Lt. Gen. (Dr.) Bernhard T. Mitemeyer, Reese Chapel officials said.

Dr. Mitemeyer is currently the executive vice president and provost of the Texas Tech Health Sciences Center. He previously served 28 years in the Army, retiring in 1985 as surgeon general, the highest Army physician position.

Prior to his assignment as the Army surgeon general, Dr. Mitemeyer served as chief executive officer for Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington D.C., the military's largest tertiary care, research and teaching hospital.

Other assignments included division surgeon and medical battalion commander for the 101st Airborne Division.

The cost of the breakfast is $3. Tickets may be purchased by calling the chapel at 3237. Deadline for reservations is March 1.

Tech game free to military

Wing members and their families can attend Saturday's Texas Tech men's basketball game against Rice University free of charge. This also applies to all others with families members deployed in the Desert Storm area, regardless of branch of service.

Start time is 7:30 p.m. in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum at the Fourth Street and Brownfield Highway intersection. The evening, designated as "Support our Troops Night" by Tech, will feature the Reese Color Guard and Tech's Air Force, Army and Navy ROTC Color Guards, as well as the Texas Tech Band.

Military members and families attending should enter the coliseum's main (east) entrance and follow the signs to sections GG and GGG. Military members are asked to wear their uniforms so they can be readily identified when introduced at halftime.

Hole in one scored

Harry Eastus and Dick Alexander each scored an ace on the High Plains Golf Course recently. Mr. Eastus scored his ace Feb. 5 on the 18th hole. The hole is par 3 and 150 yards. Mr. Eastus hole in one was witnessed by Don Lewis, Lee Reynolds and Gene Seward.

Mr. Alexander scored his ace Feb. 9 on the same hole. His shot was witnessed by Rick Alexander, Danny Thomas and Ron Stryker.

Softball tryouts to take place

People interested in playing on the base men's varsity softball team should attend a meeting at 3 p.m. Wednesday at the Mathis Recreation Center. For more information, contact Joseph Jackson at 3783.

Ski weekend in the planning

The Mathis Recreation Center will hold a trip to the Inn of the Mountain Gods and Ski Apache at Ruidoso, N.M., March 15-17. Cost is $180.50 per person. Space is limited to the first 12 persons to sign up. Registration deadline is Feb. 28.

Tour will depart the recreation center at 8 a.m. March 15 and return at 8 p.m. March 17.

For more information, contact Towanda Harrison at 3787.

Men's varsity drops tough match

The base men's varsity team was in action Sunday, losing a very close game in overtime to the Lubbock Magic, 123-122, in the Reese Physical Fitness Center. The Rattlers' record fell to 21-3.

Each team took the lead back and forth throughout the first half. Magic had four players hit three-pointers during the entire game. The half ended with Magic leading 51-47. Neither team managed to take the lead by more than four points in the first half.

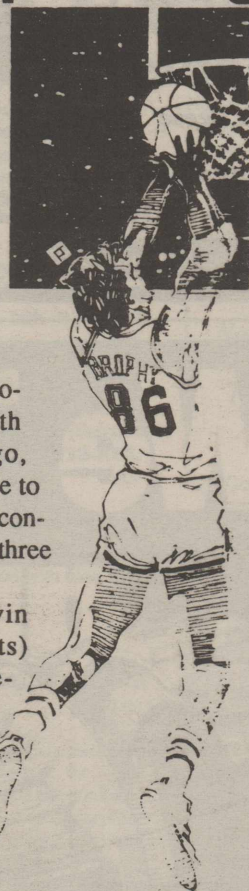

In the second half, a seesaw battle for the lead occurred. Just as either team would take as much as a five-point lead, the other team would catch up. Reese managed to take a 73-64 lead with 12:39 left in the game, but Magic regained the lead 83-82 with 9:08 left.

Every time the Rattlers would try to take the lead, the Magic's fast break would bring them right back. The Rattlers had a late chance to win the game, but a desperation shot by Avery McGee fell short. Regulation time ended with a 107-107 tie.

The Rattler's led most of the overtime, but ran out of gas towards the end. With one minute to go, McGee had a chance to take the lead, but converted only one of three foul shots.

Rattler's Marvin Davis (32 points) scored six three-pointers in the game, but it wasn't enough to get the victory. Reese had three other players in double figures: Frank Parker (24 points), Tony Friday (23 points) and McGee (17 points). Reese had 11 three-pointers, but Magic's 25 were too much to handle for the Rattlers.

Magic had four players in double figures: Joe Torres (33 points), Javier Zaragoza (31 points) and Roland Gibbs (29 points).

The men's and women's teams will take part in the Texas Amateur Athletic Federation Regional Tournament this weekend at the Irons Junior High in Lubbock.

IM playoffs coming up

The intramural basketball playoffs are one week away, and every team is trying to position themselves for the playoffs, which begin Feb. 26 at the Reese Physical Fitness Center.

In the American League, the 52nd Flying Training Squadron "A" team remains undefeated with 12-0 record (as of Wednesday morning). The 33rd FTS team is in second at 10-3.

Resource Management remained in sole possession of first place in the National League at 13-2. The 41st FTS still holds on to second place, with an 8-5 mark.

Feb. 6

□ Resource Management, 59 — Lockheed, 36. In a game that was never close, RM's Marvin Davis led all scorers with 15 points. Michael McMurtry led Lockheed with 14 points.

□ 52nd Flying Training Squadron "A," 68 — 54th FTS "A," 63. 52nd "A" team got a good scare from the 54th "A" that night. Stephen Saleck (18 points) and Mark Slimko (14 points) combined for 32 points for the 52nd "A". 54th "A" was led by Kirk Willburger with 13 points.

□ 1958th Communication Squadron/64th Security Police Squadron, 80 — 35th FTS, 51. After leading at the half by 15 points, the COMM/SPS team never looked back. Joseph Kirby led COMM/SPS with 18 points. 35th's Darin Middleton led all scorers with 27 points.

Feb 7

□ 64th Flying Training Wing Hospital, 51 — Lockheed, 47. Lockheed's Tony Oliver (17 points) was not enough to get the victory. Hospital's Cletis Brown (18 points) and Frank Parker (14 points) were too much to handle that night.

□ 35th FTS, 65 — 52nd FTS "B," 38. In another competitive matchup, Darin Middleton was unstoppable in the first half. 35th took a 28-19 lead and never looked back. Middleton had a total of 17 points. Dane Horstmann led the 52nd FTS "B" team with 12 points.

Tuesday

□ 54th FTS "A," 72 — 64th Mission Support Squadron, 55. 54th "A" took a 36-24 lead at halftime and it was too much for MSS. Thomas Hallett led his team with 14 points, Tony Friday (16 points) led all players in the game.

□ Hospital, 42 — 41st FTS, 35. Frank Parker had 12 points for the hospital in this low-scoring affair. The 41st team was led by Avery McGee with 20 points.

□ 33rd FTS, 49 — 35th FTS, 34. David Rogelstad led all players in this game with 17 points. The 35th was led by Darin Middleton (14 points).
