THINK SILVERTON!

THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1985

VOLUME 77 NUMBER 13

Good Spring Rain Falls On Silverton

A most-welcome spring rain fell on Silverton and the surrounding area last week, amounting to at least 2½ inches of moisture all over the county.

East of Silverton, the amount of rainfall was reported to be closer to three inches.

The rain fell very nicely, with no turbulent weather. Its timing couldn't have been better for the wheat, pasture grass, yards and gardens. Those who had started pre-plant watering are beginning to continue this farm operation, but they expect to be able to get over the land much faster now. Those who have dryland farms now have some underground moisture with which to begin the growing season.

Most farms look to be in readiness for planting which will probably begin very soon with the corn crop.

As for the wheat, Tobe Riddell said he thought if you "listened real good, you could hear it growing."

April 2 Is Deadline For Absentee Voting

The deadline for absentee voting in the City of Silverton and Silverton Independent School District elections will be Tuesday, April 2.

Absentee voting in the City Officers' Election is being conducted by Jerry Patton at the City Hall. Absentee balloting in the School Trustee Election is under the direction of Jay Towe at the Verlin B. Towe office building.

The incumbents, Mayor A. R. Martin, and Councilmen Riley Harris and Lynn Frizzell, are the only ones who filed for places on the city ballot.

The terms of Trustees John Schott and Perry Brunson are expiring this year, and those who are listed on the ballot are Brunson, Larry Comer, Danny Francis, Becky Thomas-Woods and Terry Grimland.

P-TA To Meet Here Tonight

The regular P-TA meeting will be held Thursday, March 28 (today) at 7:00 p.m. in the Pioneer Room at First State Bank.

All members are urged to attend this important meeting. There will be discussion of the P-TA-sponsored Little Wranglers Rodeo and Fun Night to be held at 7:00 p.m. May 11.

Recently I received the nicest thank-you note from the varsity Owlettes and their coach, Kelly Braisher. It expressed appreciation to the Briscoe County News for covering the girls' basketball activities this year and was signed by the coach and all the members of the team.

It was very nice, and it made our day! But we want you to know that we enjoy our association with the girls and Coach Braisher very much!

Easter Parade Is Theme of Senior Citizens Party

Silverton Senior Citizens will have a party Thursday night, March 28, theme of which will be Easter Parade.

A short program will be held, after which senior citizens will be modeling old-fashioned and modern Easter ensembles, and "The Grandest Lady" will be chosen.

The meeting begins at 6:00 and the program begins at 6:30 p.m.

Dance To Be Held Here Saturday

Caprock Country will be playing for a dance from 9:00 p.m. until 1:00 a.m. Saturday, March 30, at the Briscoe County Show Barn.

The public is invited.

Troy Burson was transported to Amarillo late Sunday night by the Silverton Volunteer Ambulance Service and admitted to St. Anthony's Hospital.

Dr. and Mrs. Frank B. Duncan, Iris Graham and Donna Weathers, all of Amarillo, have been visitors with Jettie Hardcastle.

Tree Planting Contest Planned Saturday

Local civic organizations will jointly sponsor a Tree Planting Contest for all kids 12 and under on Saturday, March 30. Registration for the contest will be from 9:00 until 10:00 a.m. on the east side of the Briscoe County Show Barn. The contest will begin at 10:00 and end at 11:30 a.m. The kids will work in teams of three, the teams having been set up at registration. Individual ribbons will be given to the top four teams.

Following the Tree Planting Contest and Sack Lunch, the 4-H wants all youth and adults in the county to bring their kites to help set a new record for Briscoe County. The 4-H wants to have as many kites in the air at one time as possible. So parents, bring your kids and help them with the fun this Saturday. Come one, come all. The ribbons for the winners of the Tree Planting Contest are being furnished by the Caprock Soil and Water Conservation District. Rainout date is April 4 after school.

Pauline Denham of Skellytown, Agnes Allard of Tulia, Patsy Cox and Barry Ward of Amarillo, and Bertha Mae Allard were guests of Jettie Hardcastle over the weekend.

Local Man Kicks Off Cleanup Campaign

Silverton City Officials would like to thank Charlie Offield for helping get the City Cleanup Campaign off to a good start by beginning with his property on South Main Street.

In order to help city residents make spring clean-up easier, the City of Silverton will furnish a truck to haul off rubbish and unwanted items.

A customer can call City Hall and make arrangements to have a truck delivered to his or her home for overnight or weekend loading. The truck will be parked with the keys removed. The following day, a city employee will remove and empty the truck.

The customer will be responsible for loading and securing the truck in such a way that the loaded items will not blow or fall off while being hauled off.

The City will charge a fee of $10.00 for this service.

Community Kite Fly-Off To Be Held Saturday

A Community Kite Fly-Off will be held Saturday, March 30, at the County Show Barn following the 4-H tree planting contest at the barn.

4-H members, their families and all interested citizens are invited to bring a sack lunch and plan to eat about 11:30 a.m.

Following lunch, everyone is invited to "fly a kite" to see how many kites can be in the air.

If it's been years since you flew a kite, buy one or make one and come on down to the Show Barn Saturday.

Melonie Chandler, SCS employee, was pictured with Silverton School children recently when they planted a tree as their Arbor Day observance.

From Your ASCS Office Certification Dates Given For ACR Cover

Producers who have wheat, oats, barley, rye or triticale as cover on land that will be designated for ACR in 1985 are asked to make note of this information.

All land that is to be used as 1985 ACR with any of the above listed crops as cover must be measured and certified not later than May 15, which is the final disposition date for small grains.

Those who plan to hay or graze ACR with small grain cover must file a request before grazing past May 31, or before swathing for baling. At this time, you will be assessed a $10.00 fee to cover the cost of farm visit.

Any small grain cover on 1985 ACR must not reach the hard dough stage unless you have filed a request to leave it standing to maturity as a cover crop.

Should a producer who is approved for haying small grain cover be prevented from completing haying before the hard dough stage, because of adverse weather, an extension of time may be granted.

Max Burson of Plainview and C. B. Garrison of Las Cruces, New Mexico, both former Silverton residents, visited at the Briscoe County News Thursday of last week. They were in town visiting with old friends.

Sam B. Brown of Jacksonville State University visited in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy S. Brown, recently. He visited and attended to business in Tulia and also visited in Lubbock while he was here.

THURSDAY, MARCH 28, 1985

Berton and Vivian Hughes met ner brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Renfro of Fort Worth at the home of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Hall, in Memphis. They visited from Thursday until Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sarchet were in Amarillo Sunday to attend the joint birthday party for their grandson, Brandon Sarchet, and his cousin, Linden Howard, and his cousin, Ben Howard, at Show Biz Pizza.

DESTROY YOUR ENEMIES

Abe Lincoln destroyed his enemies methodically, it seems, by making them his friends.

It may seem that enemies are for destroying, but the enemy-destroyer destroys himself.

To seek the hurt of my enemy lowers my dignity. Ben Franklin said, "Doing an injury puts you below your enemy; revenging one makes you but even with him; forgiving one sets you above him."

Right thinking people do not wallow in the muck and mire of revenge. They'd make the enemy a friend. If this fails, they are at least clear of any ill feelings themselves.

"Water does not remain on the mountain nor vengeance in a great mind."

My hatred of another makes me a slave to that soul-rottening hatred.

Get out your "putter." Then "put" away: "anger, wrath, malice, slander, and foul talk from your mouth . . . Put on then . . . compassion, kindness, lowliness, meekness, and patience, forbearing one another, and, if one has a complaint against another, forgiving each other . . ." (Col. 3).

of their daughter, Cindy, to Steve Venable, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Venable of Garland, Texas.

Miss Griffin is a 1980 graduate of Valley High School. She received her BGS degree from West Texas State University in August 1983 and will receive her MAR degree from Asbury Theological Seminary at Wilmore, Kentucky in May 1985.

Her fiance is a 1979 graduate of South Garland High School. He received his BS degree from The University of Texas at Dallas in May 1982 and will receive his M.Div. degree from Asbury Theological Seminary in May 1985. He is a member of the Northwest Texas Conference of the United Methodist Church and will be serving as a pastor beginning in June 1985.

The wedding ceremony will take place at 11:00 a.m. Saturday, June 29, 1985, at the First United Methodist Church in Quitaque. Friends of the couple are invited to attend.

Methodist Youth To Be In Charge Of Worship Service

The United Methodist Youth will be in charge of the worship service on Palm Sunday, March 31.

Donna Tomlin and Julie Towe will serve as acolytes. Ushers will be Robbie McWaters, Clay Mercer, Brad West and Neal Edwards. Stephen Stephens will make the announcements and give the welcome.

Tara Nance is the pianist, and Jeff Wheeler will be song leader. The group will sing a special anthem after they present a play,

"We Didn't Know Who You Were."

The play is a series of eight vignettes in the life of Jesus—from His birth to His death. In order of their appearance, the characters include: Jeff Wheeler as the Innkeeper; Clay Mercer, Joseph; Julie Towe, Mary; Bryan Wheeler, Herod; Neal Edwards, Brad West and Timmy Wheeler, the three Wise Men; Donna Tomlin, Martha; Julie Towe, Mary; Jeff Wheeler, Jesus; Robbie McWaters and Timmy Wheeler, the two lepers; Neal Edwards, Rich Ruler; Tara Nance, Pilate's Wife; Clay Mercer, Pilate; Stephen Stephens, Cleopas;

Tracy Tomlin, Mary Magdalene.

The youth invite the public to join them for worship at 11:00 a.m. Immediately following the service, there will be a covered dish luncheon in the fellowship hall and an Easter egg hunt for the children.

Public Invited To Low-Calorie Food Preparation Program

The public is invited to a program, "Cooking and Eating Light," on low-calorie food preparation Tuesday, April 2, at 12:00 noon in the Silverton High School Homemaking Department.

Joy Parnell, home economist with Southwestern Public Service Company in Lubbock, will conduct the program.

Employed homemakers and teachers are encouraged to attend during their lunch hour. Food will be sampled as it is prepared.

The program is sponsored by the County Extension Service and the Family Living Committee to promote family health and nutrition. There is no cost.

Programs of the TAEX serve people of all socioeconomic levels, without regard to race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Mrs. Diamond Williams spent several days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Tena Mattheus, who underwent gall bladder surgery Tuesday morning at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock, and with her grandson, Barry.

CLARENDON COLLEGE EX-STUDENT SEARCH

The Clarendon College Ex-Student Association is looking for all ex-students. If you have completed one course or received your degree and don't receive the Clarendon College newsletter, your current address is needed.

The college reunion will be April 27-28, 1985, and the classes of 1975, 1960 and 1935 will be honored.

Please reply to the Clarendon College Ex-Student Association, Box 968, Clarendon, Texas 79226.

Mrs. Camellia Hudgens, Stefanie, Jennifer and Matt of Woodward, Oklahoma have recently spent a week here with their parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Comer, while Mrs. Hudgens was recuperating from surgery. Sam Hudgens came on Friday of that week and returned his family to their home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Comer of Lubbock spent that same weekend here and Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Comer, Christi and Cami of Snyder visited that Sunday afternoon in the home of their parents, the Leo Comers.

Annual Meeting Held Saturday, March 16, By Swisher Electric

Highlighted by the observance of 50 years of rural electrification, featuring Tommy Stewart singing songs that tied in with a slide program depicting life in rural America before electricity, scenes from the Dust Bowl era, early electric appliances, and the progress that has been made in the 50 years since, members of Swisher Electric Cooperative gathered March 16 at the cooperative's headquarters in Tulia for their 45th annual meeting.

During the business meeting, nine employees and three directors were honored for their years of service with Swisher Electric with a presentation of service pins by Charles Kay, vice president of the board of directors. Employees receiving service pins for 25 years were Ron Lacey, Manager Lyle Robinson and Lewis Cannon; Sherry Malone, 20 years; Jessie McKone and Eleazar Medina, 10 years; Bob May, Richard Guzman and Joe Ann House, five years. Directors receiving service pins were John Culwell and Cone Johnson, 15 years; Eddie Bryan, 10 years.

In a close election, incumbent directors John Culwell, Jack Middleton and Guinn Fitzgerald were re-elected to three-year terms on the cooperative's board of directors. They were opposed by Robert Faught, Buttons Carlisle and Pascal Garrison, respectively. The election was conducted by attorney Tom Boyd from the legal firm of Morehead, Sharp and Tisdell which represents the cooperative.

In other business, Barbee Word of the CPA firm of Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert and Moss gave the independent auditor's report. Word reported your cooperative had a good year in 1984, with margins in excess of $400,000 that will be allocated to members later in the year. Other good news Word reported was that working capital (funds to operate on) were up in 1984 over 1983, and that the cooperative is current on all its long-term debt payments to REA and CFC. Word closed by saying his firm was really proud of the members' cooperative, that they knew the board, management and employees of the cooperative were also proud, and that Word felt that each member could be very proud of the cooperative.

In Manager Lyle Robinson's report to the members, Robinson noted that he was sure members were still reading the same old tired stories that RECs (rural electric cooperatives) don't pay their fair share of taxes, that they're getting money for nothing, etc. "This is not true," Robinson said. "We believe the RECs have been as good citizens as anyone that the government has ever dealt with."

Manager Robinson commented that one of the stories that angers him as much as any is to hear people say, "Well, they're (RECs) getting a handout." "Of the billions and billions of dollars that have been borrowed from REA," Robinson said, "only two loans totaling less than $45,000 (made over forty years ago) have ever been in default." Emphasizing the point, Robinson said the money RECs got to build the lines to you was borrowed—it was not a gift—and that Swisher Electric and other RECs have repaid these loans with interest, and are continuing to do so. Despite what members may read about the attitude of the present administration in Washington regarding REA, Robinson stated emphatically, "Don't feel ashamed to be a member of a rural electric cooperative or to get your electricity from one because you live in a rural area." Robinson added that the members of RECs have contributed significantly to the prosperity of urban cities and towns in the form of the billions and billions of dollars rural citizens spend there buying appliances, supplies and other materials, "and that we (rural Americans) know who has made the money off us."

In his closing remarks, Manager Robinson reported on the death in October of cooperative employee Mike Powell who was killed in the line of service in a traffic accident. Robinson asked the members to stand in a moment of silent prayer in memory of Mike Powell.

Tenneco's J I Case unit unveiled its new "Case International" agricultural equipment product line during recent meetings with 2,200 dealers representing the combined Case and International Harvester agricultural equipment organization. Case President and Chief Executive Officer Jerome K. Green noted that the new Case International organization combines the strengths of Case's leadership in tractor technology with the respected IH dealer network and line of agricultural equipment. New colors and graphics for the Case International product line were unveiled, as well as financing options and rebate programs that will be available. Steps are being taken to increase inventory at existing parts depots to ensure replacement parts support for the Case International organization. Case has acquired much of the former IH parts distribution network and will retain its strengths. All warranty programs for currently inventoried Case and International Harvester products continue, and all warranties on purchased units are in effect. Replacement parts will be warranted under the new Case International warranty.

The big thing on the floor of the House this week was the passage of the college tuition hike. This is about the first time in Texas history that tuition has been changed substantially since colleges and universities were established in the 19th century. For decades, the tuition has been $4 per semester hour. This figure was changed this week and will increase to $8 in September for the 1985-86 college year. In the fall of 1986, the tuition will increase to $14 per semester hour. Thereafter, it will increase by $2 per semester hour until it reaches $20 per semester hour in 1989. Texas has the lowest tuition rates of any state in the nation. The tuition would have to be raised to $24 per semester hour to be in the average range of all colleges nationwide. A study shows the average male graduate of a four-year college stands to earn $20,000 or more annually more than a male with only a high school diploma.

A 120-hour degree would cost about $2,400 in tuition. This could be paid back in less than two months by the increased earning ability of the average college graduate. Tuition at SMU, TCU and other non-state supported institutions exceeds $120 per semester hour. I voted for the tuition bill because more of the responsibility should be on the recipient of the benefit. The state is also better off when the minds of all its people are educated to the fullest.

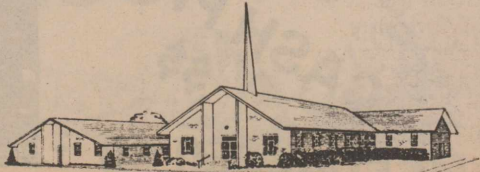

Some say if it thunders on Sunday, goose eggs won't hatch.

NUTS TO YOU!

If you opened a peanut shell do you know what you would find besides the peanut itself? Perhaps you would find lipstick, cooking oil, paint, soap, explosives, paper, flour, milk, shaving cream, shampoo, ice cream, cheese and, of course, delicious high-protein roasted peanuts and peanut butter. The shells, skins and kernels of peanuts can become a vast variety of non-food products also. Shells are used for wallboard, fireplace logs, kitty litter and the skins can be used for making paper.

Peanuts are one of the most versatile and nutritious plants on Earth. In other countries besides North America, peanuts are used primarily for oil, not food. Peanuts are a good source of protein. In fact, they contain 26% protein. If protein from one plant is teamed with protein from another plant, then the effectiveness of their protein is multiplied. This is why a peanut butter sandwich and a glass of milk are a perfect pair. If a piece of fruit is added you have a nutritionally balanced meal. Peanuts contain many of the essential B vitamins (Thiamin, Riboflavin, Niacin), polyunsaturated fats, no cholesterol, and a balanced share of calories. Calories balanced with proteins are essential to your health. This balance of calories and proteins creates quick energy and builds muscle.

During the last half of the 19th century, peanuts were eaten as a snack, sold freshly roasted by street vendors and at baseball games and circuses. Still popular today, Americans eat nearly nine pounds of peanuts annually.

It is believed that the peanut originated in South America. The Inca Indians filled jars with peanuts and buried them with their dead to provide food in the afterlife. Peanuts came to this country with the slaves from Africa. When the slaves arrived they planted peanuts throughout the southern United States.

Contrary to popular belief, peanuts do not grow on trees, like pecans or walnuts. Peanuts, really a legume like peas and beans, grow into a small bush about 18 inches tall. The peanut itself grows underground. From planting to harvest takes four to five months, depending on the variety. Peanuts are grown in 117 counties in Texas. Frio County is the leading county in peanut production. Texas ranks fourth in peanut production in the United States.

March is National Peanut Month, so whether you call them goobers, groundnuts, earthnuts, or plain ol' peanuts, these tiny legumes spell versatility from breakfast straight through to the late evening snack. Try these delicious, nutritious peanut recipes from the Texas Department of Agriculture:

shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all they soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself.

Luke 10:27

The basis of God's first and greatest commandment is love. God gave man the freedom to choose ... and therefore will not force his love on anyone. God took the first step and is always ready to receive any who would come to Him.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Barbary Sheep Is Handsome Animal

An article in the January 1985 issue of American Hunter magazine, the Barbary sheep is described as a truly handsome animal. Adult males stand 36 to 39 inches high at the shoulder and have an overall nose-to-tail-tip length of 70 to 78 inches, of which seven to nine inches is tail. They are large-bodied animals weighing up to 300 pounds.

Barbary sheep appear even larger than they actually are because of the long mane of hair that starts below their jowls and extends along the underside of their necks to their front legs. This mane is about one to 1½ inches long in places. The mane seems to continue on under the brisket, but the illusion is created by the fringe of hair that completely encircles both the sheep's front legs, starting just below the body as if the animal were wearing chaps. The sheep also has a short crest of a mane on the top of its neck. Barbary sheep have a uniform, sandy-red coloration overall.

The horns of Barbary sheep are triangular in shape through the midsection. The horns of the adult male are quite massive and curve outward, back, and downward. Although there are very fine ridges on the horns, these are often worn away when the sheep rubs on rocks or spars with other rams. Some of the record heads have horns that measure 33 inches in length and 13 inches in circumference. The horns of the females, although smaller than those of males, are much larger than the horns of females of most other species of sheep.

Although we refer to this animal as a sheep, it actually has characteristics of both sheep and goats and has been classified as a separate genus unto itself. The Barbary sheep's tail is longer than that of most wild sheep but is hairless on the underside like the tail of a goat. The tail also has scent-dispersing anal glands like those of a goat. Although the Barbary sheep does have ventral throat hair, the animal does not have the beard of "goatee" that is characteristic of all true goats. Barbary sheep also lack the preorbital and interdental glands found on all true sheep.

Research has shown that the protein in the blood of Barbary sheep more closely resembles that of a sheep than a goat. However, there have been fertile offspring resulting from the crossbreeding of Barbary rams with domestic goats.

The eyes of Barbary sheep are large, as is befitting an animal that depends upon its eyesight as its first means of defense. Its ears are almost ridiculously small for an animal its size. The ears are sharply pointed and appear even smaller because of the massive horns.

The names Aoudad and Arvi are names given to this magnificent animal by the natives of North Africa, which is the sheep's native home. The Barbary sheep prefers the arid, rocky hills and mountains of the Sahara region and was formerly fairly common from the Red Sea to the Atlantic Ocean. Overhunting by natives, however, greatly reduced the populations of sheep in their homeland.

Barbary sheep have been imported into this country and are now thriving in areas of West Texas, New Mexico, and California. The arid regions of the Southwest closely resemble those of the Barbary's homeland, and the sheep have adapted very well. There are regular hunting seasons for the animals in the eight western Panhandle counties of Texas and throughout New Mexico. In Africa, Nigeria probably has the highest population, although no estimate of their numbers could be located.

There is some concern that these animals could compete for both forage and water with America's native desert big-horns, but this does not seem to be a problem yet. In the Southwest, the availability of water is always going to be the determining factor in what can survive there. It is this competition for water that makes the feral burros such a detriment to the native sheep.

Whereas sheep usually graze and goats more frequently browse, Barbary sheep feed in both manners upon whatever grasses, forbs, or bushes are in the area. Most of the sheep's water requirements are met from the vegetation it eats.

Many people do not realize how cold it gets at night in most deserts. They picture deserts as being very hot—and most of them are during the daytime, particularly in those regions closest to the equator. Deserts usually have very sparse (or no) vegetation covering most of the area. It is this lack of vegetation that allows the daytime heat to dissipate rapidly when the sun goes down.

Most deserts are very cold places at night. The rapid drop in temperature causes dew to form, and Barbary sheep ingest this moisture when they eat the vegetation. The dew contributes significantly to the amount of water that is needed each day. Most animals prefer to feed at dawn and dusk. With Barbary sheep, this schedule is almost imperative because as soon as the sun rises, the dew evaporates.

The native wild sheep move about very little at night, but this might be because they inhabit higher mountains that give them more protection from predators. These higher mountains have steeper sides and more sheer cliffs, which would be dangerous to navigate at night. Barbary sheep inhabit the lower mountains and hills, which are less dangerous to negotiate. By moving about at night, they also are not as exposed to the enervating, moisture-dissipating heat that scorches the region in the daytime. During the day, Barbary sheep bed down in the shade or even enter whatever caves are available in the area. Their home range varies from five to 20 square miles, the size being determined by the availability of food and water.

The sheep travel in small bands or family groups led by the oldest female. The males are quite solitary, sometimes being found with one or two other males except during the breeding season. Like most creatures, Barbary sheep have a hierarchy of dominance that they constantly reinforce by threats, postures, and aggression. During the breeding season, the dominant rams will battle for possession of the female harems.

When fighting, Barbary rams crash into one another in the manner similar to that of the wild sheep. Starting from about 30 feet apart, they walk rapidly, break into a powerful run, turn their heads clockwise and counterclockwise, and crash into each other head-on, the thick bases of their horns taking the brunt of the force.

At times, the two males will stand side by side, both facing forward. Then, locking their horns together sideways or placing their wide-curving horns over their opponent's neck, they try to "Indian-wrestle" their opponent to its knees. Or they may face head to tail and, by putting their head over their opponent's rump and pushing down, using all their strength and weight, attempt to force the other to its knees.

In most fights, the largest rams have the advantage because of their greater weight. When Barbary rams right standing side by side, however, they also attempt to slash their opponent's body with their horns. In this type of conflict, the younger, lighter-weight males may have the advantage because they may be more agile.

The breeding season extends from September through November although some reproductive activity has been observed at most times of the year. This is true of most equatorial animals.

The gestation period is 154 to 161 days, with most of the young born from March to May. Although twins are common, most females give birth to a single lamb. The young weigh about 10 pounds at birth, and within hours, they are able to scramble about among the rocks.

Let's Get Jumping!
Jump Rope Exercises Let Us Move

Over 100,000 students throughout Texas will "Jump Rope For Heart" in March to benefit the American Heart Association.

New Jump Rope Package Introduced By American Heart Association

During February and March, over 100,000 students throughout Texas will discover that jumping rope is one of the most fun and beneficial ways to exercise. They will participate in Jump Rope For Heart, an educational program for youth, benefitting the American Heart Association.

Jump Rope For Heart coordinators in many of the 1,500 host schools will be aided by a new educational package titled "Let's Get Jumping!" The package contains cassette tapes and instructions for performing six choreographed jump rope routines, ranging from the "Ghostbusters" theme to the "Cotton-Eyed Joe."

Teams of jumpers will enlist sponsors who pledge donations for each minute their team jumps rope. Some sixteen jump rope "tricks" will be used by team members, making the effort both challenging and fun to participate in.

Jump Rope For Heart has been conducted in Texas for over five years, raising over $2.5 million in 1984. The most far-reaching benefit of the event is that the dollars raised will support the medical research, education and community service programs of the American Heart Association in Texas.

According to James M. Atkins, M. D., President of the AHA in Texas, "the Heart Association has developed the Jump Rope For Heart program not only as a fund raising tool, but also to educate youth to the importance of regular exercise for cardiovascular fitness." According to research conducted at Arizona State University, a 10-minute daily program of jump rope is as efficient as a 30-minute daily program of jogging. Jump Rope For Heart is one of many youth-oriented programs designed to fulfill the mission of the American Heart Association: the prevention of death and disability caused by heart and blood vessel disease.

Both schools and students receive a number of side-benefits from the Jump Rope For Heart program. Teachers have reported an increased sense of teamwork on the part of the students, who are learning how to work together for a common goal. A growing number of physical education programs now include rope jumping in their curriculum, due to the fact that Jump Rope For Heart fits virtually every Physical Fitness Education essential element for elementary school curriculum.

Schools hosting a Jump Rope For Heart event receive all instructional materials free of charge. When pledge money is turned in, schools receive prizes in the form of gift certificates for physical education equipment, based on the number of dollars raised.

Schools may still enroll in the Jump Rope For Heart program by contacting their local American Heart Association.
