SECOND NUMBER

The second number of the White-Myers Lyceum will be given by Miss Irene Bewley, Tuesday night, Oct. 30, at the High School.

Miss Bewley is one of the greatest entertainers in America today. She has a wonderfully musical voice. Her method is easy and natural. She is a wonderful artist in the matter of interpretation. Her entire audience will feel her great personality at once.

She is naturally gifted with qualities which go to make a successful public reader. She has a great reputation as a reader and impersonator all over the North and East as a successful and pleasing interpreter of scenes from novels and plays. Audiences which have heard her once want to hear her again, Her style is unique and quaint and always pleasing.

'Miss Bewley is an impersonator who takes each character with a change of voice and face and, charming as she herself is, her individuality for the moment is lost in the character she represents. One seem to be listening to a stage full of actors, and the platform itself becomes the busy Parisian ball room or the lovely farm house in North Carolina, such an impression does Miss Bewley make upon her audience."

"There are a few people who can successfully entertain audiences for an entire evening and Miss Bewley is one among that few."

So we people of the town of Haskell have a wonderful treat ahead for us next Tuesday night, October 30th.

The entertainment Miss Bewley will give us will be as good as the one given us by the Sheehan Company on Oct. 10th. Those of us that heard the Sheehan Company were delighted and pronounced it one of the best lyceum The fast, heavy Knox City football numbers ever given in our town. So

GREAT SINGERS WERE MINERS

Underground Workers Have Contributed Largely to the Ranks of Famous Operatic Artists.

A foreign dispatch calls attention to wonderful phenomenon which has been manifesting itself in the coal fields of Belgium and in other mining districts. From the ranks of the miners, the underground, molelike workers, there has come a series of great singers, not just one or two, but number. The great Dufresne, Bouilliez, Ansseau of the Opera Comique of Paris, Descamps, a famous Faust, and many others were all miners. Of couse, we all know of the unusual rise to fame of the rollicking Harry Lauder, whose irrepressible lilting mirth had its origin in a Scotch mine. But these conspicuous examples are not all. It is reported that in the coal mines of Liege the men have the habit of singing as they work, and often with magnifi-

Press agents for the great singers have been fond of telling how they learned their art from the birds. It is their favorite story. But these miners have no such inspiration. As far away as possible from the blue sky, the free air, the music of the birds and the leaves and the winds and the sea, they still dream of and produce music. It seems paradoxical. But the human soul has its own music. as well as the winds and birds and other phenomena of nature. Possibly, it is all the easier for this human harmony to escape in expression when it is uninterrupted by music from without.—Ohio State Journal.

KILL GULLS WITH MATCHES

Birds Are Poisoned in Search for Food Along Thames Embankment at London.

Proof that the average Londoner is ardently fond of birds was furnished a short time ago when the report of the untimely death of several score of gulls out of the thousands that daily flutter over the foggy Thames was given prominent space in the metropolitan newspapers and called forth general indignation.

One of the oldest customs in London is the feeding of the gulls along the Thames embankment, where hundreds of persons daily stand, throwing breadcrumbs into the air and watching the swirling gul's catch the morsels on the wing with uncanny ac-

The other day the bodles of a number of gulls were found floating in the river. An investigation disclosed that some person, instead of throwing breadcrumbs to the birds, had fed them matches, the phosphorus ends of which poisoned them.

Research in South America.

The Field Museum of Natural History is equipping six expeditions. Two will gather geological specimens from Brazil to Patagonia, while two others will study plant and animal life in Peru. Archeological investigations will be pursued in Colombia and the Isthmus of Panama, and another party takes up the ethnology of the Malay peninsula. The gems and minerals of Brazil and the silver, copper, nitrate and vanadium deposits of Peru and Bolivia will be carefully explored. Specimens of pre-historic vertebrate life will be sought in the Santa Cruz beds, and the great ground sloth and the pampas horse may be represented in the finds. The archeological expedition aims at solving some of the mysterious interrelations of ancient civilizations and may prove a connecting link between the Maya and the Inca.-Scientific American.

American Corn in Europe.

Less corn was imported in 1921 by the United Kingdom, France and Belgium than during pre-war years, according to information compiled by the United States Department of Agriculture. In 1921 the United Kingdom took 78,900,000 bushels, compared with an average of 83,000,000 bushels during the five pre-war years, 1909-1913; France took 12,000,000 bushels, compared with 19,000,000 bushels; and Belgium, 19,000,000, compared with 26,000,000.

Canada and the Scandinavian countries, however, imported more corn in 1921 than during the pre-war years, Denmark's Imports totaling 19,000,000 bushels, an increase of over 70 per Government Lumber in Alaska.

Eighty-six per cent of the lumber used in Alaska is cut from the government torests, and Sitka spruce from the Tongass pational forest is finding an outlet in the markets of the world. The sawmili at Wrangell during the past summer made a shipment of 45.-000 feet, board measure, of Sitka spruce for the London market, and an-other lot of 450,000 feet, board measure, was shipped from Wrangell through Prince Rupert to eastern

DIAMOND NOT NOW SUPREME

Scientists Have Put Forward Prod ucts Which Rival Famous Precious Stone in Hardness.

The diamond has always been re garded as possessing one quality which placed it beyond rivalry, name ly, that of hardness. There are several gems which compete with it in beanty, and at least one, the ruby, when of rare size and quality, outranks it in costliness. But none in the whole list equals it in hardness.

"Diamond cut diamond" is a popular saying. The hardest steel cannot equal the diamond in that respect. The diamond, the text-books used to declare, "is the hardest substance known."

But science progresses, and if nature has set aside for her king of gems the distinction of unparalleled hardness, the art of man has not been equally considerate. There are several products of chemical experiment which have proved, it is claimed, to be as hard as diamonds,

These are produced from the rare metal titanium. One investigator succeeded in preparing titanium in the electric furnace. In the pure form it is harder than steel or quartz, and when combined with silicon or boron, so as to form a silicide or boride of titanium, it matches the diamond itself in hardness. Titanium resembles tin in its chemical properties, and it is the characteristic element in the beautiful red and brown crystals of rutile. These in the shape of needles, are sometimes found penetrating large white quartz crystals, forming gems that the French call "love's arrows."-Washington Star.

RIVAL THE NATURAL PEARL

Artificial "Gems," Cheaply Produced, Said to Be as Beautiful as the Real Ones.

It appears that the lining of a pearly mussel shell or of a pearl oyster is precisely the same material as that which composes the pearl itself. Coat buttons and other articles made of this "mother-of-pearl" are very beautiful, and would bring high prices but for the fact that the material is so

This is the process devised by a westerner who possesses much knowledge of the pearling industry of the Middle West.

A New Jersey man has invented a process to make imitation pearls from beads of highly polished silver coated with a translucent cellulose varnish that contains a little white pigment, Light rays reflected through the costing from the mirror-like surface beneath afford a pearl-like effect. The most familiar artificial pearls of commerce are globules of glass lined with a substance derived from the scales of a fish called the bleak. It is to this substance that the iridescence of the scales of many species of fishes is due.—Exchange.

Roosevelt's Two "Red Rags." Dr. John H. Richards, Colonel Roosevelt's physician during his last illness, writes in the Saturday Eve ning Post:

On my first visit to Oyster Bay it was considered necessary to take blood from Colonel Roosevelt's arm for a chemical examination. He insisted on standing while this was being done, in spite of the fact that his ankles were acutely inflamed at the

While the needle was being inserted he was joking with Doctor Swartz and Dr. W. Martin, who were in the room with us, and I, fearing lest he should move his arm, thereby making another vein puncture necessary, said: "Please do not move your arm, so that I shall not misplace the needle."

"All right," he answered, "but don't anyone mention Wilson or the kaiser."

It Wasn't Hubby.

One night while at a dance I was introduced to a dashing young man by my husband. We stood talking for some time, and I turned to talk to some one else, and as the music started I turned around and, not looking to see whom I was taking hold of, I said: "Well, honey, aren't we going to have this dance?" Roup Can Be Prevented by Providing Dry House Roup can be prevented by keeping the poultry in dry, well ventilated houses and feeding balanced rations. Under such conditions if a case appears the bird should be killed and burned or buried deeply, says a writer in Successful Farming. Treating : case of roup is very discouraging The bird with roup is suffering extreme prostration and the discharges from the disease have a repulsive odor. This odor is the factor that determines whether the hen has roup or a simple

If a hen has a cold it is only a few steps to a case of roup. Isolate hens with running eyes and treat them with one of the coal tar disinfectants or a commercial roup remedy. Place permanganate of potash in the drinking water to keep the disease from spreading. Color the water a deep red. Never return a bird with a cold to the flock until she is thoroughly cured and looks like a healthy, vigorous specimen.

We know of one case where a hen was treated for roup and then liberated before a cure had resulted. In about a week, eight other hens in the flock were sick with the disease, and after another week of fussy unpleasant doctoring, all of the sick hens had to be killed to protect the remainder of the flock.

A hen which has had a severe cold should be banded so she will not be included in the breeding pens the next year. When the disease has progressed until it results in roup the bird is weakened and more subject to a repetition of the disease. This trouble is so serious when once started that the owner of a good flock of poultry must not hesitate to sacrifice the best-looking hen in the flock if she contracts the disease. It is necessary to protect the balance of the flock and prevent a serious financial loss.

Co-Operative Marketing of Eggs Is Profitable

The farm poultry flock has been made a source of cash income as well as for food for the family by many farm women who have learned from their agricultural extension agents the best methods of poultry management and preparation of products for market. The experience of the women of Fairhaven (Ga.) community, is typical of the work in many states. These farm women, desiring to improve the earnings of their flocks, brought eggs to the weekly meeting of the extension club, where the home-demonstration agent showed them how to grade and pack properly for shipment. This was continued each week until the members were able to do the work themselves. They then organized to ship their eggs co-operatively, secured as customer a grocery store in a nearby city, and, according to reports to the United States Department of Agriculture, have been carrying on a satisfactory business for more than a

New co-operative egg marketing associations organized in 1922, according to reports, handled 490,000 dozen eggs; in 1921 some 400 new organizations handled about 200,000 dozen eggs.

All Hens Show Decided

Preference for Wheat A recent test at one of the state experiment stations provided certain amounts of various feeds for the hens, and what they left was carefully weighed back in an effort to see which foods the hens preferred naturally.

Almost all the hens showed a decided preference for wheat, which is generally used as a poultry feed. Kaffir stood next in popularity, followed by corp and cornmeal, but oats, bran and sunflower seeds did not prove very popular. Alfalfa leaves were also passed by pretty generally.

A similar test showed that the use of either beef scrap or sour milk makes the hen's egg record at least twice as good as though she were fed no animal feed whatever, and that sour milk is slightly better than beef scrap for this purpose, in addition to being cheaper and easier to get on most farms.

Proper Care of Poultry

Is Apparent in Autumn Now is a time when the good care of poultry shows up. The flocks which have been underfed through the summer are not ready for winter laying. The pullets which have had a balanced ration have developed plenty of vigor. The poultry keeper who has neglected his flock cannot hope to make up for lost time. The best of rations will help to improve the poorly-fed flock, but they will never equal the birds that have made a rapid normal growth from the start.

Dispose of All Fowls

Weak and Lacking Vigor Cull all hens that are sick, weak, inactive, lacking in vigor, poor eaters, with shrunken, hard, dull or whitishcolored comb; small spread or distance between rear end of keel and pelvic bones; full, firm, or hard abdomen; and those that have molted or begun to molt in August or September. In breeds having yellow legs and skip the discarded hens should also she vellow or medium-yellow legs and yellow beaks and vents.

Properly Prepare Fowls for Holiday Marketing

While November is generally regarded as turkey month, there is also a strong demand for fowls of all kinds and good prices can be realized for almost any kind if they are properly prepared for market.

In this connection it should be remembered that careful grading of poultry pays. All fowls should be assorted according to age and condition, size, color and shanks. Never mix good and poor stock in shipping to market, as the poor birds always reduce the value of the lot. In other words, uniformity of appearance and quality must be considered.

Poultry should be fattened quickly to be tender and juicy. If the fowls have been kept in good condition during the summer and fall, two weeks of liberal feeding should put them in excellent condition for marketing. After they have commenced to fatten give them all they can eat four or five times

Turkeys ought not to be confined for any length of time, but for just a short time prior to marketing. If fed liberally while they have a free run, they can be put in condition for marketing within ten days.

This is the time of year when the chicken flock should be culled closely. The undesirable fowls will bring better prices now than later, and if kept throughout the winter will only be an expense and a detriment to the rest of the birds.

Uniformity in Fowls Is of Utmost Importance

For those who are breeding standard fowls it is essential that they look out for type in the first place, and not allow their flock to run to the do's in this particular, as some we have seen for in the breeding yard if he has a short Wyandotte of Cochin back on him? You might just as well put him in the pot and be done with him, for he is worth more there than anywhere else. Then there is the Orpington standing upon shanks almost like a game. He is of good color, perhaps, but that is all you can say about him. No matter what breed you are attempting to breed or handle, your first duty to that breed and yourself is to get in line with the best possible type to be had. If you find that you do not have that kind, better get rid of them and get the right kind before you waste any more valuable time in experiments. Study the type that goes to make a good one of your kind, both in Get the best color, of course, that is consistent with the right type, but get type at any cost first. Be sure you know your breed or variety as that is of the most importance. Work intelligently at all times, and you will be surprised how well things will go along.

Dealers Can Stop Much of Waste in Egg Supply

How the dealer can help stop the waste in eggs is pointed out on a poster recently issued by the extension service of Colorado Agricultural college, in line with a campaign for better quality. Dealers can help by:

Encouraging production of infertile eggs by paying more for them.

Packing eggs only in good cases, us ing new flats and fillers.

Placing excelsior pads on top and bottom of each case and not using any Keeping eggs in cool, dry place, away from kerosene and never allowing a shipment to stand it the sun. Shipping at least once eve & other day, because holding eggs in temperatures above 60 degrees causes rapid deterioration.

Dried Whey Fed Laying Hens on Government Farm

revealed by a series of investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Four pounds of crude sugar and 1% pounds of dried whey containing about 30 per cent of albumin were obtained from 100 pounds of whey. The dried whey was sold to a laboratory making baby food, at a price giving a satisfactory return for the whey. Dried whey and dried buttermilk are being fed experimentally to laying hens at one of the department farms. In the first half of the twelve-month experiment the pen of hens receiving dried whey produced eggs at a rate comparing favorably with results ob-tained with other kinds of feeds.

Get Maximum Production

of Eggs During Winter If you are planning to add more pullets to your laying pens get them as soon as possible, in order to get the maximum production of eggs this winter. Just as a cow's milk production is decreased by moving her from one place to another, disturbing her reu-tine, laying is delayed where pullets are disturbed by moving them from one farm to another or from their regular quarters. Disturbing pullets also returds growth.

ness that should come before the class. It was voted to have a Laymen's Banquet Friday night the 26th in the basement of the church. Our teacher, Bro. Next Sunday closes our Conference Gambrell, then took charge of the lesson. The subject was Israel in the midst of the nation. Bro. Gambrell brought out some very interesting thoughts on the lesson as to God's promise to the children of Israel. They were commanded to go forward and possess the land, trust in God, and He would be with them.

That is the command to God's people today-To Go Forward. Go in Christ's name and He will fight our battles for us. We hope each and every member of the church will become interested in the work of the church, and let's help our pastor build one of the strongest Baptist churches in all the West.

DOCTOR'S DILEMMA IN CHINA SWEET VOICE WON HUSBAND

Ignorant and Superstitious Natives Beseech Physician to Perform All Kinds of Impossibilities.

The rain was coming in sheets, and we had to stop at three this afternoon. Since then I have had a number of patients. A boy of eleven, who fell over a cliff and broke his arm, eleven months ago, is bere with all his relatives, asking me to make the bones grow together again. There was no treatment for the arm when the accident happened, for the native doctors know nothing of surgery. They bound some vile-smelling concoction to the arm with bamboo splints and put another plaster of the same mixture on the back, "to draw the bone up." The arm is, of course, useless. I suggested an amputation, but the relatives will not consent to a mutilation of the body. The boy tried to prove to me, by opening and closing his hand, that the arm had life, and he would not believe me when I told him that the ends of the bone could not be brought together except by an operation. An old woman, bedridden for many years. is lying in the rain, on a stretcher made of sackcloth and bamboo poles, while her half-blind husband, who almost fell into the water when he came up the plank, pleads with me to give her some medicine to make her "feet walk, her tongue talk and her fingers able to hold her chop sticks." A leper, blind, footless and without hands, is sitting on the bank, begging for relief from the terrible disease that is slowly killing him. He promises to spend his life in making prostrations before me if I will condescend to heal him, A girl with tubercular sinuses in her bound foot tells me that she is to be married soon and that her future husband says he will beat her if she comes to him in poor health. About four o'clock we went out for a bit of a walk. A poor woman on the bank held out her emaciated baby and asked me to make it see. Some ignorant medical practitioner had run needles into its eyes to drive a demon out of its stomach. The mother offered to bow before every shrine within a radius of three miles if I would only give her baby power to look up into her face.-From "A Fortnight in a Cargo Boat," by William L. Hall, in Asia Magazine.

Social Climbers in Germany.

Old decorations and titles are still craved by social climbers in republican Germany. This is shown in a case in which an international imposter and his accomplice, who is a lunatic, were tried for fraud, says the Montreal Herald. The prisoner was charged with having traveled over Germany representing himself to be a papal count and chamberlain of the Vatican and selling papal baronetcles and orders for thousands of marks each. The titles are said to have been solemnly bestowed by the demented accomplice. who was formerly a veterinary surgeon, and whose mania is believing himself to be a ruling prince. A Munich art dealer paid 16,000 marks for a nonexistent Lateran order, while solemn investure as a Maltese knight. But when the new knight did not pay the promised sum he was deprived of his title, which originated only in the fertile imagination of the false papal

The Tipping Problem.

"The tipping problem in Italy," said a traveler, "has been solved-incorrectly. Ten per cent is added to your hotel bill for tips; these tips the management distributes among the hotel staff: you give nothing yourself.

"A solution, but an incorrect one, for by it the Italian waiter who has been rude to you gets as much of your money as the one who has been devoted. That is wrong, of course.

"In a Nice hotel I encountered a solution that was better. There 10 per cent was added to my bill for tips, but I was given paper vouchers, a kind of hotel currency, for the amount, and they told me to distribute these vouchers as I pleased. I did so. The people who had served me well were generously rewarded. Those who had neglected me got nothing.

"A solution, eh? But I asked myself, as I distributed my paper vouchers, how I was any better off by the new system than by the old one."

Learning to Play.

Albanian children are playing for the first time since the beginning of the war and are being taught American games. This has been made possible by funds contributed by American children through the Junior Red Gross. These chlidren have never learned to play nor to laugh, but, every day now, outside the old parliament building in Tirana, schoolboys may be seen playing prisoners' base, burn the city, duck on the rock, hop scotch and other games that have made the American children the brightest in the world.

The girls indulge in all the games and frolics popular among their little sisters in America. During school hours they are taught also to sew, embroider and care for the sick.

Ease and Comfort in Java. Living in Java is so inexpensive that a European resident in moderate cir cumstances may keep many servants: while the Mohammedan residents. whose religion allows them four wives are usually able to support the full number. Of late, however, the H. C. L., penetrating in a degree even to Java, has forced them somewhat to reduce their families. In Java if a sobleman marries beneath him he does not bother to go to the ceremony, but very kindly sends his sword or his hat represent him.

Romance of Fortunate New York Telephone Girl and Wealthy Young Mexican,

A remance was recently enacted enthrely by telephone in one of the New York lotels. Six weeks ago a wealthy young Mexican arrived on business and engaged an expensive suite. A few hours later he was knocked over by a motorcar and suffered a broken leg. He insisted on being taken to his hotel, rather than to a hospital, and since expense was no consideration. be was installed with nurses and attendants in his own suite.

He kept to his room for six weeks and when he felt able to work a litile, he bired a secretary and proceeded to carry on his affairs by telephone. They were complicated and required an immense number of conversations. Within a day or so he became aware that his calls were handled with skill and partence. The next discovery was that the voice at the other end of his private line was easy to listen to. There was a smile behind the Day by day the telephone conversations grew longer. It began with a respectful inquiry as to the patient's health. Gradually the inquiries went more into details. By the end of two weeks the invalid and the voice at the hotel switchboard were on good terms. At the end of a month long conversations were the order of the day. When the sixth week had passed the man's brother arrived just as the patient's leg was strong enough to permit a visit to the hotel lobby.

"Where do you want to go first?" the brother inquired.

"I want you to help me walk down to the telephone switchboard," the invalid explained. "I want to see the girl there. And oh, by the way, I am going to marry her."

"Great heavens, what's she like?" was the natural inquiry. "Haven't seen her yet, but we've fixed it all up over the phone." The voice with the smile is now di-"Curbs Fit for Heroes to Stand In." The New Statesman says that London has not had so many beggars within fiving memory as today, and the worst of it is, they have none of the romance of beggary.

"They are prosaic, dull, hopeless. Most of them look as if they had been born to be commonplace citizens, earning a more or less honest flying like you and me. To speak strictly, indeed, they are not beggars, but collectors. They stand on the curb; they wait in the doorways of restaurants; they haunt the streets of the respectable All the time they keep shaking their narrow white boxes, and asking for is "Deceased" Man Dead?

A Jeffersonville woman, who formerly lived at Greencastle and supposes that is the reason she was chosen to receive the letter, has received a communication from a resident of Putnam county, of whom she had never previously heard asking for information concerning the writer's brother, who dived in Jeffergon. ville for many years, reports the indianapolis News. The writer said she had not heard from him for five years, and letters had brought no answer. She sent a registered letter at last, she said, and it was returned to her marked "deceased." "I should like to know," she said, "whether he is dead." The answer went back. "He is, since November, 1919." But the woman believes the Post Office department should be more explicit.

Found Red Dye in Fruit.

A German medical journal reports the injury of a young girl at Frankfort from the point of a hypodermic needle which she swallowed while eating a blood orange. Investigation developed the fact that the needle had been filled with a red aniline dye.

The girl, it seems, had purchased a dozen of the oranges. These were examined and it was found that all contained an injection of the same nature. It appears that frauds of this sort are no novelty in Germany, similar cases often having been reported-the chemical transformation or ordinary oranges into fake blood oranges.-From Le Petit Parisien, Paris. When Pullets Begin to Lay Get Them Into Coop

Experienced poultrymen have found that if pullets are allowed to remain very long on the ringe after starting to lay, the change to winter houses is sure to check them and may cause a fall molt.

Cornell backs them in saying that as soon as the first eggs are found on the range, at least a third or a fourth of the best-developed birds should be placed in winter quarters.

When the remaining birds show maturity, they should be put in winter quarters also.

A thorough cleaning and disinfecting of the houses and pens in which the pullets are to live is advocated. This is especially true if the birds that formerly occupied the building have been diseased or have had worms.

Artificial lights should not be used on pullets until they have had a chance to respond to normal conditions. If they do not respond quickly enough, or if neck molt starts, then light can be used with good effect.

Many flocks of pullets take cold after their removal to winter quarters because they are kept in tightly closed houses. All windows and curtains in the front of the houses should be wide open night and day until really cold weather sets in. Even in the middle of the winter, the cloth curtains should not be entirely closed.

Lack of ventilation causes dampness in the houses and this, in turn, results in colds and roup.

Emden-Toulouse Cross Is

Favored for Holidays The cross of the African gander with common geese is considered excellent. This mating gives larger goslings than common stock, and they make an attractive carcass when picked. The Rhode Island experiment station made some experimental crosses of geese. The results are:

"The Emden-Toulouse would appear to be the best all-around cross for general purposes for both early and late markets, and especially for the production of large geese for the Christmas and New Year's markets. They are large, hardy and, when aressed, present a fine appearance. . The Emden-African cross seems to be next in desirability, and if goslings are sold early in the summer, or before they are eight weeks old, this cross would be preferable to all others. The Emden-White China cross picked the easiest of these crosses, the birds were white when dressed and, although small, presented the most attractive appearance."

Intestinal Worms Very Harmful to Iowa Fowls

Many Iowa flocks are being ruined through the prevalence of intestinal worms, according to R. T. Parkhorst. poultryman with the extension division of Iowa State college, Such worms cause nonproduction, lack of growth and oftentimes death, besides making the birds susceptible to other poultry allments.

Birds affected with worms will become thin, despite a good appetite. and after a while grow listless and dull. This is especially the case where overcrowding occurs, as with a large flock and a small poultry house.

The best method to get rid of these worms is to feed the chickens a tonic made from 12 quarts of mash, either dry or wet, mixed with one pound of epsom salts and one pound of dry sulphur. Give them daily for three or four days all they will clean up in ten or fifteen minutes.

It is a good plan to see that all refuse is removed from the quarters and sanitary conditions are provided,

Thoroughly Clean House Before Severe Weather

The hen-house should be thoroughly cleaned, disinfected and made tight before the cold weather sets in. If the house has a dirt floor, it is well to remove three or four inches of dirt from the top and to replace this material with dry gravel or sand. On cement or wooden floors four or five inches of fresh straw or litter may be thrown down after the floor has been

Production of Holiday Turkeys Is on Decine

Every year dozens of old-time turkey raisers drop out of the game and the production of holiday birds continues to decrease. This means that it is a good time to go into the business of producing turkeys if there is plenty of range where the birds can get plenty of feed and will not be killed by predatory animals. Fall is the time of year to search for good foundation stock

FICTION WRITERS TO BLAME

Girl With Experience Is Disillusioned Concerning Qualities of the "Strong, Silent Man."

"Deliver me," said the girl with experience, "from any more of these strong, silent men. They make very good fiction herees, but personally I prefer a man whose chief claim to strength does not lie in his breaking all records for silence. I like a man who knows the value of a pause or a moment in which no one says anything, but in which unutterable things

"A man who shatters a time like that, or doesn't even know when it comes along, is, as we say, 'impossible.' If there's anything worse than a female chatterbox, it's a male chatterbox, but that's no reason why a man can't answer 'Yes' when you say, 'Isn't It a levely day?' without thinking that he is violating a secret.

"Writers are to blame, I believe, for building up the fictionally perfect, but realistically terrible, type of man whose stock in trade is an enigmatical smile. Consequently, every man who is shy, bashful or stupid feels that he has an excellent alibi. A girl who is not versed in the ways of men, but knows her story books backward and forward, is led to believe that the man who listens alike to her prattling, her small talk and her profoundest remarks with a mere quirk to the left side of his mouth, is a fiction here come to life. After a season or two, depending on her perspicacity, she knows alas, that he is generally just a very dull man. Of course, if he is dull, it's much better that he should be dumb as well. The only pity is that he appears. at first, to be what he decidedly is

TAKE THEIR PLEASURE NOW

Young Chicago Couple Evidently Be lieves in Verse, "Gather Ye Roses While Ye May."

The Woman knows a couple who've just gone abroad. The husband is young writer who earns a very moderate income and the wife is an artist who receives small returns.

"We're just going to enjoy ourselves for six wee's or two months," they told the Woman. "You see we had a little saved up and we were going to struggle to save more by great economy and self-denial. And then we talked to one of our neighbors. He used to be as poor as we are-once. And by stinting and scraping and wise investment he is a well-to-do man now.

"We asked him why he didn't travel and he said he had always meant to and, yet, while he was young, he felt he should be saving for the future. And now that he has saved-it was saved with such self-denial that he just can't go out and spend it. He took a little trip this summer, but came back in a week-he couldn't bear to see the money which had been accumulated by small amounts go out in

"So we made up our minds that we'd travel when we could enjoy it, and not wait for the days when our enthusiasm and our nerve at money-spending would be gone,"—Chicago Journal.

Records Patient's Rest.

Recording continously the slightest movements of a patient in bed, and thereby determining the hours of complete and untroubled rest he has had, is an idea recently introduced. This result is obtained by first placing a sheet of rubber beneath one of the bed posts and attaching special apparatus to the post. The apparatus consists. briefly, of a lever, one end of which is fastened to the bed post, the other having a recording pen affixed to it. Underneath the pen is located a clockwork drum containing a chart divided into 24 hours, so that a continuous curve of the sleeper's movements is kept and may be consulted if it is desired to ascertain how he has rested. or to convince a patient that he has underrated his hours of rest .- Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Motortruck Used by Loggers. Nothing is more characteristic of logging as it was done from 1800 to 1900 than the sight of a huge truck. piled high with logs, and hauled through the muck and over the corduroy of the woods trails by four, six, or even more husky horses. If there is one place in the world where a truck might be expected to fail, it is here. But with the right kind of equipment it seems just as easy to get the logs out by gas as by horse; and there need be no argument over the proposition that, if it can be done at all by gas, it can be done more cheaply so .-Scientific American.

Municipal Camps Grow in Favor. Counties such as Gila county, Ariz. and Fresno and Mariposa countles, Cal., and cities such as Denver, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and Butte, now have programs of county or municipal development which provide for maintaining county or municipal camps and camp grounds within the national forests. This growing use means for the national forests new opportunities of service of immeasurable public value.

Giant Tree Many Centuries Old. A glant pinacecus timber tree indigenous to New Zenland, locally called Kauri, has been discovered in the northern forest. It has a trunk 22 feet in diameter and 66 feet in girth, and it rises 75 feet clear of branches. The tree contains 195,000 superficial feet of timber and is estimated to be 2,000 years old.

Japanese Deity Whose Favor Naturally Is Sought.

Worshipers at His Shrine, However, Are Comparatively Few Considering His Reputed Powers.

Japan's "Seven Gods of Good Luck" are a clan of delties from which pullosophy, religion and superstition have borrowed much of their origin.

They are a queer set of deities, swept together from many incongruous sources-Japanese Shintoism, Chinese Tuoism, Indian Buddhism and Brahmanism. Orientals all, but cosmopolitan Orientals!

They comprise, to give them their full names, Ebisu, Dalkoku, Benten. Faburopuju, Bashamon, Jurijin and

A full discussion of their origin and attributes would doubtiess reveal how stender a basis the modern popularity of these divinities has been reared on. Their union in one group is the result of nothing more recondite than popular ignorance and confusion of ideas. They themselves never chose to be thus united. They reign in an ideal state, for they have no king or even spokesman among them. Collectively they command perennial, perpetual and everlasting interest. Individually they celebrate their own festivals and each can boast of an entirely different group in his train of dev-

On Dalkoku's birthday a few of his disciples will worship at his shrine at Azabu and in Osaka. It seems so strange to say "a few," for of all the gods in the cycle of Japanese mythology, in this material age. Daikoku, the god of wealth, should find greatest favor! But perhaps he has not proved himself to be gracious to suppliants! Perhaps efficacious influences have not been feit in result of worship at his shrines-or is it that even he, the god of wealth, has failed to live up to the extravagant standard our present-day civilization has set as a basis to contentment?

Daikoku is a Hindu and a Buddhist. The word "Dalkoku" means "great blackness," and when he first came to Japan he was a god of physique and frightful aspect with a face as black as night. Since his naturalization Daikoku has thrown off some of his native characteristics and has adopted a new mode of living, the chief of his models being Okukikushinomokoto, a famous god in the mythology of Japan.

In the old records this god was represented carrying a large bag on his shoulders. As there is a similarity ogy, in this material age, Duikoku, the Japanese people somehow mixed up the two characters and molded them into one perfect delty who combines (Sanscrit) was the original name by which he was known in India, where he was feared as god of destruction. His immigration to Japan has changed his incarnation to that of wealth and rice, having in one hand the usudenokozuchi or the lucky hammer from which he can produce anything in the world he chooses to, from a palace down to gold or silver, man or beast! He carries on his back a bag full of treasures of all sorts, while rats are his earthly messengers and oftentimes he is represented with one on either side of him, waiting to do his bidding.

Daikoku is generally coupled with Ebisu, the god of tradesmen. Though they are of totally different birth. race, religion, etc., they have been linked together and one seldom sees the one without the other in close propinquity. Although Diakoku is not a god to whose shrine worshipers flock, his popularity is told by the number of metallic images of his divinity which are bought and carried as amulets by people seeking wealth.

Shall we test this jovial little man's powers? Go to his shrine and beseech him to command a shower of gold, or carry his image in our pocket and see if we find it gold-lined by night?

We are snobs-all of us-of one kind or another. "We don't care for money," say some haughtily, having "I don't know how to spend my money," complains a millionaire. It's Daikoku's turn to speak and if he but could be would strip the world of its snobbism and no doubt reveal a race of human beings all alike in their allegiance to him, the god of wealth!

Described.

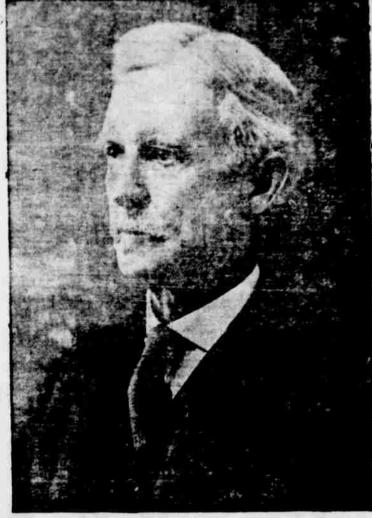

"What sort of a fellow is he?" "Well, were you ever driving along a busy street and held up for several minutes by a man who had discovered that somebody was about to vacate a parking space?" "Yes.

"And were you forced to stay there until the other man cranked up his car and arranged his bundles and finally started up?"

"And then compelled to wait still longer until the hog had maneuvered his vehicle in and out several times in order to squeeze his car into the vacant spot?"

"Yes." "Well, the chances are it was the fellow you just asked about."

The two literary societies this year select a different program for each meeting. The High School faculty felt to another place. that the students would be more interested in miscellaneous programs than in programs treating of subjects that the pupils study every day in school. So such programs as "Edgar A. Guest" "Japan," "Negro Program." "Indian program," "West Texas Program," etc., have already been given this year.

These programs are good and the public is invited out to these programs each Mednesday at 2:30 p. c.

The Glee Club is making excellent progress under the direction of Misses King and Chambers. This organization will sing for the School Lyceum program next Friday night. More of our girls should join this Club and receive the benefit of this fine training.

The High School Orchestra under the direction of Miss Chambers and Ela Stanley is also making fine progress. This orchestra will play for us next Friday night.

The girls have organized their basket ball team. Miss Killgore is the efficient coach. We believe the girls will win the county championship this year in basket ball.

The Debating Club is making real progress this year. There are sixteen members of this club and they are taking a great interest in debating. The general subject for debate is the League of Nations. We have the material in this Club this year out of which to develop both a winning boy's team and a winning girls' team to send to Abilene to win the district championship in debating.

When the mercury placidly commeaces its methodical, if jerky, downward spin toward its winter landing field, it is resultant that man of moderate means must prowl into the old cedar chest or the anti-moth hanging bag for that veteran of many stormsthe ancient overcoat.

He is a thing of many memories and much abuse, this old overcoat. He has served as faithfully and long, and his only reward, aside from a lingering love and estéem, is a summer vacation spent in the attic, where it is probably not less than 100 degrees during the entire period.

But he drags himself out of his cache with a somewhat bedraggled sert of smile and promises to do the best he can for another term, if we will only send him to the shop for a bit of polishing.

"You certainly haven't the crust to send me out on the streets looking like this!" we can imagine him exclaiming, "I'm a perfect sight!"
