From my perspective

by Capt. Glenn Barney

Reese Savings Bond Campaign Project Officer

This year's U.S. Savings Bond campaign will end Wednesday. The base co-chairmen for the campaign, Maj. Steven Waters and myself can report that the campaign canvassers are very near their goal of making personal contact with every eligible member of the Reese family.

The real winners in the campaign are the many new savers who will see their savings grow to provide them with financial security in the future.

During the final days of the campaign, the canvassers will be making an extra effort to reach and educate everyone on the importance of a personal savings program. Unfortunately, many of our Reese members, both active-duty military and civil service, still haven't taken that first step toward their future financial security — establishing a personal savings program.

There are four keys to a successful personal savings program. The first is to pay yourself first. This is the only way you can ensure that you get to keep some of what you earn. Buying U.S. Savings Bonds through the payroll deduction plan ensures that you pay yourself first each payday.

Secondly, your savings must provide a market-based rate of return to protect your savings from inflation. U.S. Savings Bonds protect you with a market-based return, adjusted semi-annually. Although the recent guaranteed minimum rate reduction to 4 percent has received a lot of attention, it is important to remember that this is only a minimum. The rate set for this semi-annual period is 5.04 percent, twice the earning rate of most bank savings or certificate of deposit accounts. The average rate for bonds held over the last 10 years is 7.66 percent, a very competitive return.

The third key is safety. U.S. Savings Bonds are backed by the full faith and credit of the United States. And, if they are ever lost or stolen, they can be replaced.

The last but most important key is time. The younger a person is when they start a savings program, the more they will benefit from the effects of compounding interest on their earnings. It is for this reason that our canvassers are making this special effort to reach and educate our junior members, and start them on the road to financial security.

If you haven't yet started your personal savings program, see your U.S. Savings Bond canvasser or first sergeant today. They have full details on the many benefits of saving with U.S. Savings Bonds and can assist you in taking the first steps toward your financial security.

SAFETY

Sunburn pain can be avoided

by Chuck Gerrior
Wing Safety

With the arrival of summer comes the national pastime of getting a suntan.

All too often the suntan turns into a sunburn. These burns can be a mild case of redness or a series of large blisters causing the victim hours of pain and suffering. Most severe sunburns can be avoided by using common sense when exposing your skin to direct sunlight.

You can't avoid the sun, but you can take precautions to prevent serious problems. Some of the easy steps to getting tanned safely are:

- Initially limit your exposure to ultraviolet rays by limiting yourself to 15 minutes; let your suntan develop gradually.
- Avoid the direct sunlight between midmorning and midafternoon hours when the sun produces the greatest amount of ultraviolet radiation.

□ If you must work outdoors during hours of heaviest ultraviolet radiation, wear proper clothing protection, to include your head, face and eyes.

□ If you receive an overexposure to the sun, seek medical attention to prevent infection.

As a preventive measure, use a sunscreen with a sun protection factor number that will provide the proper protection for your skin type.

□ SPF 2 - 4 — for persons who seldom burn but tan easily.

□ SPF 4 - 6 — for those who need extra protection from sunburn.

□ SPF 8 - 15 — for strong protection with little tanning.

□ SPF 15 and over — an ultra rating that permits no tanning: for people who never tan but always burn.

Lawnmower safety tips offered

Editor's note: The following lawnmower safety practices list was submitted by the wing safety office.

- Make sure all guards are in place and securely fastened.
- When starting to mow, stand firmly and ensure your feet are in a safe place.
- Keep your self-propelled mower under control; don't let it pull you around.
- Learn how to disengage the clutch in an emergency, if so equipped.
- Keep children and animals clear of the machine when running.
- Use care when mowing inclines or hills. Mow across, not up and down.
- Inspect the lawn for sticks, stones, glass or other debris before mowing.
- Do not use an electric lawn mower on wet grass or during the rain.

□ When working under a lawn mower, remove the spark plug wire. Tip the mower over using the handle — never grab a place where the rotating machinery can grab or pinch your hand.

□ Keep fuel in an approved container and never fuel a machine when it is hot. Spilled gas can flash immediately when it comes into contact with a hot surface. The resulting fire can be fatal.

□ Periodically tighten all loose nuts, bolts and screws. Replace the missing ones.

□ Do not mow barefooted. Wear sturdy shoes to protect your feet.

□ Always push a mower, never pull. The machine can run you over if you trip and fall.

□ Respect your mower and teach respect to the younger members of your family who may use it. Teach and enforce the safety rules.

Air Force vision: "Air Force people building the world's most respected air and space force . . . global power and reach for America."

Quality Air Force

by Terry Bozman
Chief, Recreation Support Flight

The 64th Morale, Welfare, Recreation and Services Squadron is striving to increase patronage and enhance profitability by use of Quality Air Force customer service concepts.

MWRS is working to achieve its assigned mission to contribute to readiness and improve productivity through programs promoting fitness, esprit de corps and quality of life for Air Force people.

In a continuing effort to improve services, streamline operations and save expenses, a course of action was determined to consolidate the MWRS equipment rental operation and the arts and crafts programs.

By bringing these programs together under one roof, MWRS can offer "one-stop shopping" for many diverse programs and services. These include custom framing and matting, awards, plaques and engraving (all made to order), 24-hour name tag engraving and class patch services, package mail service via United Parcel Service, tickets sales featuring Six Flags, Wet 'N Wild and Texas Tech football, Select-A-Seat for local concerts, plays and performances, (which is tied into the Lubbock Select-A-Seat prepaid advance ticket sales computer system) and recreational equipment rental, which features camping equipment, gardening items, fishing equipment and more.

The consolidation of these activities allows continued services in quality programs in a most cost-effective manner. Services can be provided with lower personnel costs and additional operational hours for customer convenience. By having more services available at the same location, we expose customers to additional services that they may not have been aware of previously.

By expanding services in one location, we have the potential to create a self-perpetuating operation that exposes programs and services to our customers, which adds income to the activity, which in turn allows MWRS to offer additional programs and services to more customers. And so it goes - consistent within the ideals of the Quality Air Force Program.

We invite you to come look us over and try us out.

Chapel plans rededication service Sunday

The chapel staff

SSgt. Mike Breslin

by Chaplain (Maj.) Stephen Hess
Reese Chapel

Thanks to the new ATC-initiated program, "Chapel Way," the creative guidance of Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Thomas Fey and the support of two wing commanders and the wing staff, the Reese Chapel has just completed a comprehensive $330,000 renovation.

The Reese Chapel was built more than two decades ago, and had not previously been remodeled or renovated. To celebrate the completion of the renovation and the blessing the new facility will be to the Reese community, a special inter-faith worship service of rededication will be held Sunday at 10 a.m.

Special guests from both the Lubbock and Reese communities will be in attendance. Protestant Communion and Catholic Eucharist will be offered and administered as part of this service.

The emphasis of this rededication service is the contribution the chaplain service, represented by this building, can make to the spiritual well being of the whole Air Force family.

Improvements in the chapel include, but are not limited to: 80 percent new wall coverings, all-new carpet, all-new ceiling except in the sanctuary itself, new dosal arch and drapes, new choir area, new roof, new chancel and dosal lights, new chancel and dosal computerized lighting system, new storage areas and a new blessed sacrament chapel.

The whole Reese community is invited. The service will be followed by a reception and fellowship. A nursery will also be provided for small children.

Accounting officials announce changes to travel pay system

On July 1, all ATC bases will implement a new travel pay policy designed to take advantage of today's financial technology while assuring the same outstanding service we enjoy now. Our goal remains to minimize out-of-pocket expenses for official travel.

But, instead of meeting that goal through a labor-intensive, pay-as-you-wait system, the new travel policy will stress the use of Diners Club cards, automated teller machines and electronic funds transfer capabilities to move the money to the cardholder's bank account.

All officers, E-7s/GS-9s and above are eligible for a Diners Club card and the personal identification number needed to draw travel advances from local ATMs. In this way, you can eliminate trips to our finance office and draw your advance when and where you need it. Those personnel not eligible for the card will continue to receive cash advances from the finance office.

Reese accounting officials said that since personnel can draw travel advances through ATMs or the finance office before the TDY, accounting offices will no longer offer pay-as-you-wait service for settlement vouchers. Instead, the finance officer here will mail a check wherever the traveler desires. Eventually, an EFT transaction will be offered here, whereby the payment will be sent to the customer's bank account by close of business tomorrow for TDY vouchers turned in by close of business today.

While check payment will still be an option, EFT offers the fastest, most convenient, and safest way to deposit money.

These changes will reduce non-productive time for travelers and government borrowing costs associated with holding large sums of cash in our vaults. Finally, and most important, travelers will not incur any out-of-pocket expenses for official travel.

For more information, call accounting at 3360. (ATC News Service)

Q's & A's

Some common questions and answers about the Diners Club card and the ATM Cash Advance Program include:

Q: Where are the cards accepted?

A: They are accepted worldwide at 2.1 million establishments in more than 175 countries.

Q: Where can I find the closest ATM?

A: Just about anywhere. At Reese, you can find them at both the credit union and the bank. All Air Force bases have ATMs for easy access. Also, Diners Club has a 24-hour customer service telephone number: 1-800-525-5289. Customers may also use the service to resolve billing disputes.

Q: Who pays the Diners Club bill?

A: The cardholder, not the Air Force, must pay Diners Club, using the money from the settlement payment.

Q: Will late payments affect my credit rating?

A: No credit check is made before using the card nor is any information passed on to the credit bureaus.

Q: Does the card charge a fee?

A: The current contract says Diners Club will not charge interest or any fee if the payment is late. For cash advances, a four-percent fee is applied. However, cardholders should keep the receipt and claim it on the travel vouchers for reimbursement.

Dr. Williams

Doctor 'takes flight' to help Reese patients

The sky really is the limit at the 64th Medical Squadron, where visits from a Sheppard AFB, Texas, flight surgeon are saving big dollars for the military and making things easier for Reese patients.

Maj. (Dr.) Ronald Williams, an ear, nose and throat surgeon, has been flying his private plane to Reese about every other month. In just five visits, he has done more than a dozen surgeries and seen dozens of patients. He started holding ENT clinics at Reese last July, and his work here has gone "beautifully" according to the doctor.

Lt. Col. Richard Willis, hospital administrator, said the money saved because of Dr. Williams' visits results from TDY funds not having to be spent on patients and on CHAMPUS money that can be saved by having patients receive treatment in a military facility. However, the money is not the only benefit.

"This program also allows the active-duty member to forego the family separation that occurs when he or she has to go on a medical TDY," the captain said.

Medical officials seek to curb appointment waste

by 1st Lt. Anna Kramm
64th Medical Squadron

What do the Fraud, Waste and Abuse Program and the medical appointment system in our hospital have in common? Two words — waste and abuse!

There is daily waste and abuse of our medical appointment system, as evidenced by our number of no-shows and short-notice cancellations.

Our hospital sees approximately 5,000 patients each month. During the second quarter of 1993, we had 95 no-shows in the primary care clinic alone. The number one reason given by no-show patients was, "Oops, I forgot!" These situations result in lower provider and staff productivity and, ultimately, increased expenditure of your tax dollars.

The vast majority of no-show appointments go unfilled simply because there isn't time to reschedule someone else into that slot, and that means wasteful use of our hospital staff. If a cancellation is made well in advance, there is a good possibility of filling the appointment. On the other hand, if the cancellation is not made early enough, it will most likely go unfilled.

BOTTOM LINE — if you must cancel an appointment, do so as far in advance as possible. According to Capt. Sara Taylor, primary care clinic charge nurse, unavoidable last-minute cancellations should be made directly to the specific clinic. In the case of primary care, that number is 6369. Other cancellations can be made to our 24-hour number, 3151.

Remember, the more notice you give us, the better the chances we can fill your appointment with another patient. This could prevent patients from needing to use civilian medical providers, and paying their CHAMPUS share downtown.

Some folks make and break appointments just because there are few repercussions for missed appointments, and rescheduling them is fairly easy. This amounts to abuse — an intentional misuse of government resources.

If you're one of those folks abusing our appointment system, stop and think a minute. Do you do the same thing when making a hotel reservation? Probably not, simply because it would cost you money. Would you abuse the appointment system if it were going to come out of your pocket? Probably not, for the same reason. Well, guess what? It is coming out of your pocket! If we aren't using our resources efficiently, then we are wasting your tax dollars.

Face it, skyrocketing medical costs are big news, and, if left unchecked, will result in eroding medical benefits. Each of us, in our own small way, can help curtail this trend if we don't abuse our benefits.

The 64th Medical Squadron strives to ensure quality, timely, and compassionate medical care for the Reese populace. You, the patient, can do your part to ensure care is provided efficiently by eliminating waste and abuse of our medical appointment system.

Golfers turn out for enlisted tournament

The annual Reese Enlisted Awards Banquet Golf Tournament June 12 was "a huge success" according to banquet officials.

Participation was very good, as golfers turned out to support the annual awards banquet. The banquet was not the only beneficiary of the tournament, as individual and team prizes were awarded.

First place overall went to the team of Dave Butler, Al Chock, TSgt. Dale Tucker and SSgt. James Samartino. They turned a 10-under-par performance in the tournament.

Second place was decided in a tiebreaker, as two teams came in at 8 under par.

Victory in the tiebreaker went to the team of Larry Million, Joe Mingolla, W.B. Davis and TSgt. Walt Lilley.

Third place went to the quartet of 2nd Lt. James DeLong, Steve Greenwell, SrA. James Fields and Mitzi Million.

March of Dimes and Texas Department of Human Services are Giving Back to the Community by sponsoring:

"Yo, Baby, No, Baby - It's a Guy Thing"

That's right! It's a guys only workshop focused on health issues and pregnancy prevention.

This year's workshops are presented by MALE CONNECTION of Dallas, TX.

Guys, choose the best day for you to attend from:

July 23, Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Garden and Arts Center - 4215 S. University, Lubbock

July 24, Saturday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Garden and Arts Center - 4215 S. University, Lubbock

This second annual teen pregnancy initiative program jointly sponsored by March of Dimes and the Texas Department of Human Services is designed as an educational directive to make young male teens aware of their own bodies and health issues, as well as to make aware the fallacies of sexual myths and the responsibility of sexual activity.

This year the program, most widely known as "Yo baby, No baby," is more inclusive than ever! The workshops set for July 23rd and July 24th have included more dates for attendance, more coverage to surrounding Lubbock counties and communities, and more education and training to local professionals and volunteers.

The goal is to reduce the teen pregnancy rate by just one pregnancy, and to reduce the transmittal of sexual disease by just one unwanted disease and its effects. Any benefit other than these would be bonus.

Tips for Fathers-to-Be

Father's Day is not for fathers only. It can also be a day for fathers-to-be, according to the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation. "On Father's Day, fathers-to-be can look forward to being fathers in the near future and can prepare themselves to be good fathers and good partners," said Alona Hagberg, Chairman of the Board. "By being supportive, fathers-to-be can help their partners have healthier babies."

The March of Dimes suggests that fathers-to-be can support their pregnant partners when they:

- Keep the channels of communications open. "It is important to talk with your partner about your feelings so you can understand and support each other now and after the baby arrives," says Hagberg.
- Learn about pregnancy and childbirth. Read books and articles on the subject. Talk to other men who have been through the experience.
- Accompany your partner to her prenatal checkups. If your schedule won't permit you to attend all checkups, then try to attend the most important ones. "These include the first appointment, the day the baby's heartbeat can be heard for the first time and whenever key prenatal tests are going to be performed," says Hagberg.
- Join your partner in efforts to eat healthy foods. Pregnancy is a time when the nutritional quality of a woman's food is especially important. You can encourage your partner to eat healthy if you make a point of passing up burgers and french fries as everyday foods.
- Avoid harmful substances and make sure she does the same. Having a healthy baby should be uppermost in your mind now. But alcohol, cigarettes and drugs could dangerously affect the health of your baby. "Second-hand" or "passive" smoke from a father is unhealthy for your partner and your unborn baby.
- Exercise with your partner. Find an activity both of you enjoy, as long as it is not too strenuous; and be sure your partner has her doctor's okay to participate.

March of Dimes is a national voluntary health agency whose mission is to improve the health of babies by preventing birth defects and infant mortality. Through its Campaign for Healthier Babies, the March of Dimes funds programs of research, community services, education and advocacy.
